Shortly after midnight a week ago Monday the garage of Mr. James Algie, of Brampton, was burned down. The building was of frame and burned so fast and furious that it was beyond saving when the firemen reached it with the hose. In the garage was a Franklin car that cost $3,400 and that was practically destroyed. The loss is estimated at $5,000 with $3,000 insurance. Mr. Algie put his car in the garage about an hour before the fire was observed. Short circuiting of the wires from the batteries is the only cause that can be advanced for the fire.

SWEEPING THE WRONG WAY

"Our junior partner," said a business man, "Came to us as a boy. We had two boys at that time, both equally promising, but one of these boys has since risen only to be a junior clerk in our shipping department, while the other has now become our junior partner. How did he come to know which was which? I will tell you.

"When I came down to the store one morning I found one of the boys sweeping the sidewalk, and he was sweeping against the wind, and dust and he was going back to sweep it up again. Nice boy, meant well, but lacked the kindling spark of quick intelligence. It did not dawn on him that he was sweeping the wrong way.

"Next day I found the other boy sweeping and he was sweeping the right way—with the wind. No dust and he was not going back to sweep it up again with loss of time, but everything going with him. He was sweeping the sidewalk cleaner, making a better job of it, and in half the time. Even at that age the boy had good sense and intelligence, a faculty for doings things the right way, and this faculty he developed more and more strongly as he went along."

THE POPULAR CHOICE

Night after night for some weeks past a new bunch of electors has appeared at the home of a prospective candidate for Federal election; night after night each delegation went away satisfied but yet apparently without accomplishing the avowed object of its visit, for with the coming of evening, behold, another lot of anxious voters came and spent much time beneath his roof setting forth their claims. Yet always it would seem they departed without presenting the final argument that would clinch his acceptance of the candidature and remove the need for further visits. But such a thing cannot go on forever. The secret has come out at last. He has the best cellar in the division if not the town.—Telegram.

MRS. LEE ON TRIAL

Grand Jury Found True Bill Against Rosemont Woman.

Accused Now Undergoing Trial on Charge of Poisoning Her Husband Last August.

At 3.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon the Grand Jury reported a true bill on the indictment charging Mrs. Mabel Lee with the murder of her husband, Robert Lee, of the village of Rosemont, on the night of August 22nd last. As there was no civil business to occupy the attention of the Court the trial was commenced immediately after the Court had been informed of the Jury's finding. The accused woman was brought from her cell in charge of High Constable Marshall and placed in the prisoner's dock in the court room. When the indictment was read to her and she was asked to plead she replied "Not Guilty" in a low but distinct voice. The task of securing a jury occupied some time, as some twelve or fourteen men were either challenged or asked to stand aside before the jury was completed. Following the Crown Prosecutor's address the taking of the Crown evidence was commenced and when the Court adjourned at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening four witnesses had been examined, including the Rev. G. L. Gray, who is probably the chief witness for the Crown.

Interest in the trial of Mrs. Lee attracted an unusually large concourse of people to the Fall Assizes, which opened before His Lordship, Mr. Justice Latchford in the Court House here at one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Long before the time set for the opening of the Court the corridors of the court house and the entrances to the court room were crowded with people anxious to see and hear the trial. Constables guarded all the doors and denied admission to all except jurors, witnesses and other persons having business in the Court. Later in the afternoon the doors were thrown open for a couple of minutes, but so great was the press that they were closed again almost immediately. As it was every available seat in the court room was occupied and a couple of hundred people jammed the stairways and corridors vainly seeking admittance. There was no other business before the Court, the only civil list down for trial being adjourned by consent of the interested parties. Mr. A. Monroe Greer, K. C., of Toronto, Crown Prosecutor, and Mr. J. L. Island, Crown Attorney for Dufferin, represented the Crown. Mr. C. R. McKeown was present as defence counsel for Mrs. Lee.

When the names of the petit jurors were called out, some half dozen failed to respond to their names. Explanations were asked for and elicited the information that two had died and two others had removed from the county. In two cases there was no satisfactory explanation forthcoming for the failure to appear and the Judge announced that he would impose a fine of $25.00 on each of the absentees.

The members of the Grand Jury were R. A. Duffy, foreman; Alex. Burke, Jos. Buchanan, Fred Clayton, Wm. S. Golden, R. L. Hamilton, Herbert Hughes, Arch. Irwin, J. C. Kentner, Thos. Lindsay, John J. Mills, Geo. A. Mortimer and Irwin Dudgeon.

In his address to the Jury Judge Latchford described Mrs. Lee's case as one of the most serious that could come before a Grand Jury. The crime of murder he described as the most serious crime known to the law. Murder was the taking of human life deliberately, intentionally and with malice aforethought. His Lordship reminded the Jury that it was not their duty to find whether the accused was guilty or not guilty of the crime with which she was charged, but simply to determine whether or not she should be put upon her trial. They were to consider whether the evidence offered by the Crown was sufficient to warrant them in saying that she ought to be tried by a jury of her peers. If they considered the evidence sufficient then it was their duty to endorse the words, "True Bill" on the indictment over the signature of their foreman. If they found the evidence insufficient then it was their duty to endorse the finding "No Bill" in the same manner.

It was about 1.30 when the Grand Jury retired to the Grand Jury room. Two hours later they returned to the Court Room and reported that they had found a true bill.

Twenty-six petit jurors were called before twelve men good and true were finally sworn in as follows:—

Harry Brayford, East Luther; Geo. Cunningham, East Luther; John S. Goodall, East Garafraxa; Thos. J. Burnside, Amaranth; Edward French, Amaranth; John O. Graham, East Luthtr; A. M. Ellis, Orangeville; W. R. Grosskurth, Laurel; Hiram Evans, Amaranth; James Bruce, East Luther; John Duncan, Amaranth; Herbert Conner, Amaranth.

Crown Prosecutor Greer was clear, concise and eminently fair in his address to the trial jury. After defining the positions and duties of the Judge, prosecutor and defence counsel in a trial, he pointed out that the ultimate responsibility for the determination of the case rests upon the jury, who must weigh the evidence and make their decision upon the facts adduced by the evidence. Mr. Greer pointed out the difference between direct and circumstantial vidence, pointing out that in a murder trial the ctime must be almost invariably proven by circumstantial evidence, pointing out or reviewed the leading facts connected with Lee's death and then stated and considered the various theories that might be advanced to account for his demise. His conclusion after examining these was that our minds are forced back to the prisoner at the bar and the part she enacted in this domestic tragedy.

The first witness called was A. P. Van Someren, of Brantford, High Secretary of the Canadian Order of Foresters. Mr. Someren produced a policy register, which he explained his Society was under legal obligation to keep. An entry in this stated that Robert J. Lee was a member of Court Invincible, No. 281, located at Shelburne, that he was initiated on Nov. 27th, 1908, at the age of 39 years and that he carried $1,000 life insurance. The certificate for the insurance was issued on January 6th, 1909, and named Margaret Jane Mabel Lee, wife of the insured, as the beneficiary.

Geo. E. Berwick, Financial Secretary of Court Invincible, testified that Lee had paid an assessment on his policy on August 16th, 1921, and was in good standing at the time of his death. In answer to a question by Mr. McKeown witness stated that he had not seen the insurance policy and that no application had been made to him for payment of the policy. He had notified the High Court of Lee's death and the papers sent him by the former were still in his possession.

High Constable William Marshall was examined briefly respecting the Lee home and certain drawings he had made of the house. One of these outlined the house, another the upstairs rooms and the third the cellar. The diagrams were put in as exhibits. In the course of his cross-examination Mr. McKeown elicited the information that the most easterly room of the house downstairs had formerly been used as a veterinary office and that it contained a number of bottles when inspected by witness. Some of these witness stated were empty, while others were full or partly full, but he had no knowledge of the nature of the contents. The cellar was dirty. He did not see any rats but would expect that rats would infest the place.

"You are not a specialist on rats?" queried Mr. Greer of witness. The question caused a ripple of laughter from the spectators. The merriment called down a stern rebuke from the Judge, who reminded the audience that the trial was not a comedy and sternly threatened to have the court room cleared if there was any repetition of the levity.

Rev. G. L. Gray, Anglican clergyman at Rosemont and one of the chief witnesses for the Crown, testified that he had known the Lees ever since he came to Rosemont nine years ago. He had always found Mr. Lee a man of cheerful nature and had never noticed any suicidal tendency. About 11.30 o'clock on the night of Lee's death after witness and his wife had retired they were disturbebd by the barking of a dog and then by the screams of a woman. He recognized the voice of Mrs. Lee and heard her cry, "Robert is poisoned—he is dying." Witness ran to the door, where he met the woman, who exclaimed, "Robert is poisoned. He is dying. Come quickly, Mr. Gray." Hurriedly dressing he hastened to the Lee home. At the downstairs entrance he was met by Mrs. Lee, who exclaimed, "Oh Mr. Gray, we are all poisoned." She then attempted to vomit, but did not succeed. Went upstairs to Lee's bedroom and Mrs. Lee followed him but did not enter immediately.

Mr. McKeown objected to admitting as evidence Lee's statement to the clergyman when the latter entered the room. The defence counsel objected to the use of the words in the presence of the jury until the question of their admissibility as evidence was decided. The Judge thereupon ordered the jury to retire while the matter was argued. Mr. McKeown based his objection on the contention that there was nothing to show that Lee knew he was dying when he uttered the words, "I am poisoned—I am dying," in response to the clergyman's greeting upon entering the room. The Judge overruled the objection and the evidence was taken after the jury had returned to the jury box. Describing the dying man's position and appearance, witness stated that he was lying across the bed with his head and eyes drawn upward and back, his body arched and his legs over the side of the bed with the heels resting on the floor. His teeth were set, his hands clenched and he was perspiring. So far as witness could judge is pulse was normal although rapid during convulsions. The only thing the witness could see in the room was some liquor and he attempted to give the dying man a little of this from a teaspoon, but was unable to force the liquid between his teeth. Lee was evidently suffering intnse pain and did not want to be touched or moved. At times he was quieter and talked quite clearly. He told witness that Mrs. Lee took her own medicine and gave him two kinds, adding that as soon as he had taken the medicine he knew that he had been poisoned. Lee stated that the medicine he had taken was bitter, whereas his own medicine was sweet.

When Norman Palmer arrived he took Lee by the feet and witness took him by the shoulders and attempted to straighten his body and place him in a more comfortable position. Lee remonstrated, saying "No, No." His body was quite rigid and they found it impossible to mope him. Lee did not change his position from the time witness saw him first until he died. Mr. Gray stated that after Dr. McLean had gone home he had returned to the Lee place about three o'clock in the morning. He sat down in the dining room with Mrs. Lee and tried to comfort her. While they were talking she suddenly asked, "What will I do? Will it be necessary for me to go to Shelburne to-morrow to see about the insurance?"

"Decidedly not. Don't think of any such thing until after the funeral," answered the witness.

Mr. Gray went home about four o'clock. At 6.30 in the morning he 'phoned the news of Lee's death to friends at Hockley. Mrs. Lee intimated when she came to the house that some person had been in her house and had put poison in her husband's medicine. She subsequently professed to be angry at the witness, because he had stated that she had given Robert two kinds of medicine and told him that she had counted upon him to protect her and help her through her trouble.

To Mr. McKeown witness stated that the Lees had not too much of this world's goods. The husband was a laboring man and steady work was none too plentiful. Had never known of anything wrong between them. Mrs. Lee had looked after the school at Stanton, delivered the mail and did her full share of the work about the place. Lee had been badly injured by a falling tree a year ago last spring and had been confined to his room for two months. During his illness his wife nursed and attended to him and provided him with such comforts as were within her means. Mr. McKeown also elicited the information that Lee had been quite ill on the Friday preceding his death. Deceased did not intimate to witness who had poisoned him. He had taken his medicine downstairs, going to his room and undressing himself afterwards.

At the conclusion of Mr. Gray's examination the Court adjourned until 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Lee's trial is the only case before the Court. One civil action, Arnott vs. The Renfrew Machinery Co., was down for trial, but was adjourned by consent of the parties. The plaintiff, Jas. A. Arnott, an Osprey township farmer, is suing the defendant company for breach of contract.

The Court Room was again crowded when the trial resumed at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Norman Palmer, a Rosemont storekeeper, testified that he was awakened by Mrs. Lee about 11.30 on the night of August 22nd. She asked him to come to her house quick, stating that some person had been in the house and put poison in Robert's medicine. She subsequently asked witness to get a doctor and he had phoned to Dr. Cunningham. While in the bedroom of the dying man witness heard Lee exclaim, "Poisoned, poisoned, I'm dying." Whenever Mrs. Lee came into the room her husband seemed to become worse.

Henry Moore, a garage man, told the Court that Mrs. Lee came to his place shortly after 12 o'clock and asked him to take her to Shelburne for a doctor. Witness suggested it would be better to phone and at Mrs. Lee's suggestion had phoned to Dr. Cunningham, then to Dr. White and finally to Dr. McLean. On August 23rd, he had driven Mrs. Lee to Shelburne and afterwards to Orangeville, where she got out of the car at the door of Mr. McKeown's office. To Mr. McKeown witness stated that he thought that Mrs. Lee was using every human effort possible to get medical assistance for her husband.

John Henderson, a retired resident of Rosemont, gave unimportant testimony.

Mrs. Mary Jane Cockerill, who resides 400 yards west of the Lee home, swore that she had been awakened by Bertha Lee about 11.40 at night. When she reached the Lee home she met Mrs. Lee at the landing at the head of the stairs. Prisoner asked her to remain in the room with her husband while she went to get a doctor. When Mr. Gray came in witness left the room and went outside. Subsequently while in the dining room she saw two bottles standing on the table. Later on Mrs. Lee picked up one of the bottles and said, "I will throw this out. Robert was never well since he took it." Prisoner's son, Jimmie, was present and said, "No, don't throw it out. It may be needed." Mrs. Lee went out into the kitchen with the bottle and witness saw her stoop down as if placing the bottle on the floor. She did not see the bottle deposited, but concluded that if Mrs. Lee was actually putting the bottle a[illegible] was putting it on the floor [illegible] as witness knew the other b[illegible] mained standing on the ta[illegible] was in the house when Mr. [illegible] Bertha to bed and the child [illegible] in bed when she left for h[illegible]

Don't Neglect THAT COUGH!

Persistent coughs lead to chronic bronchitis, asthma and permanent chest weakness. Swallowing druggy mixtures into the stomach is useless in bronchial trouble. It needs Peps the breatheable remedy which goes direct to the root of your cough.

As Peps tablets dissolve in the mouth, they give off powerful medicinal fumes which soothe and heal the inflamed breathing tubes, and destroy all disease germs. Peps speedily end chest soreness, clear the bronchials of phlegm and mucus, stop the wheeziness and coughing, and make breathing easy.

Remember, it is far better to prevent pleurisy, pneumonia and other lung diseases arising from neglected coughs and colds than to cure them. Therefore take Peps at the first sign of a cough, cold or chill.

50c. box all druggists and stores, or post-paid from The Peps Co., Dupont St., Toronto.

SAMPLE OF PEPS FREE! If you cut out this paragraph, and send it with 1c. stamp, the Peps Co., Toronto will gladly send you a trial sample. For sore throat, laryngitis, coughs, colds, chills, bronchitis, asthma and other throat and chest troubles, Peps are commended by Dr. Gordon Stables and other medical men.

KEEP HEALTHY DURING WINTER

Colds and Diseases May be Avoided if the Blood is Kept Pure.

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency towards anaemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, and the more restricted diet, are among the many things that combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling lack of appetite and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of thin blood, take a short course of treatment with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white and your eyes dull. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later. This is well illustrated in the case of Mrs. E. Williams, Elk Lake, Ont., who says; —"I take great pleasure in letting you know the benefit I have found in the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I was in an anaemic condition, and was very weak and run down. The least exertion would leave me breathless and it was with difficulty that I did household work. I was advised to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and after the use of four boxes I felt like a new person. In fact my system seemed filled with new energy and new life. I strongly recommend this medicine to all who feel weak or run down."

The purpose of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are for this reason an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad or deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia, after-effects of the grip or fevers. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

You can procure Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BOWLING GREEN

(Intended for last week.)

Our burg is still on the map.

Threshing has all been wound up around here. All that we have for our summer's work is a good dusting and a few light oats.

Miss Ellen Dodds, of Toronto, spent the week-end with friends around our burg.

Miss Bessie Hamilton, of the Lord Dufferin Hospital staff, spent Sunday at W. L. Jelly's.

Robert, the lineman, carries a spare wheel on the back of his rig these days.

As I travel around, read the papers and hear some of the remarks about the U. F. O. I often wonder if the people really know what they are talking about. As every person knows the Conservatives and Liberals have held sway for the last fifty years and have had no person to interfere with them during all that time. The main support of both parties were the city bugs, who cared nothing for the farmer and always crowded him into the ditch. Now the time has come when the farmers are going to have their say. The way I look at the matter is that if the farmer can make the money off the farm, why should he not spend it in roads and other matters that affect his interests?

The teams have finished drawing gravel for the good roads system between our burg and the townline. The road is now in excellent condition.

A number of the young people of the district met on Thursday night last for the purpose of forming a Society, which will serve to bring the young people closer together during the winter months and to help make some of the long nights more pleasant for those who have nothing else to occupy their time. There was a good attendance and more are expected later. Officers of the new organization are:—President, Will Wansboro; Vice-President, Carman Jelly; Secretary, Miss Mae Whaley. Every effort will be made to make the Society a big success.

ORANGEVILLE PRESBYTERY

A call to Rev. J. A. Ross, of Waldemar, from Kilsyth and North Derby in the Presbytery of Owen Sound was one of the important matters considered by the Orangeville Presbytery at its meeting in St. Andrew's Church here on Tuesday of last week.. Dr. Ross expressed a wish to accept the call and in view of this the Presbytery agreed to the transfer. We understand that arrangements have been made for the induction of Mr. Ross at Kilsyth on November 18th, at 2.30 p.m. The allocation of the $50,000 or thereabouts, which this Presbytery is asked to raise for the Budget, occupied the attention of the Presbytery for a considerable time. The allocation works out at $2.90 per member over the whole Presbytery.

Considerable time was also devoted to the new minimum stipend of $1800, which will take effect after the New Year. A strong Committee was appointed to visit all the charges and endeavor to induce all to measure up to the minimum. The Committee will also visit the Augmented charges and make an effort to induce these to place themselves on a self-sustaining basis.

CAMILLA

Mrs. J. A. Marshall is attending the Women's Institute Convention in Toronto this week.

Mr. Will Parks left last Friday for Muskoka.

Miss Bertha Buchanan is visiting her cousin, Miss Lilian Buchanan.

Mrs. John Buchanan and her mother; Mrs. Galbraith, who have been spending the summer with her, are leaving shortly for the latter's home in Detroit.

Misses Bessie and Mary Reid have returned to Collegiate in Toronto after spending the holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ledlow were called to Brampton last week by the death of Mrs. Ledlow's brother.

Messrs. Hamilton McKim, James Buchanan and Ernest Curtis were in Toronto for a few days last week.

Mrs. Fred Thompson and Miss Pearl Buchanan are visiting friends in Toronto and Hamilton.

Miss Helen Bremner is in Toronto this week.

The Italians who have been working all summer on the Prince of Wales Road have finished their work and have gone back to Toronto. Gravelling has been completed on about half the road. All the natives are hoping for an open fall so that more work can be done as the road will be well nigh impassable in places when we are treated to wet weather.

The Y. P. S. continues to progress. A week ago Saturday evening a very interesting debate was held: "Resolved that the Golden Rule can be practised in Business and Politics." Both sides were exceedingly well taken but the affirmative won by a few points. On Friday evening the regular social evening was held. In keeping with Armistice Day a group of our returned men spoke on their experiences overseas. Games and lunch concluded a happy evening.

Owing to the bad weather the open meeting which was to have been held last Wednesday, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, was indefinitely postponed.

CALEDON

As one of our young men goes to Orangeville every Saturday night it is the opinion of an Irish lady, who is interested in him, that he is badly affected with Love. As a friend she sends him the following recipe as a cure for love:—Take 12 oz. of dislike, 1 lb. of resolution, 2 grains of common sense, 2 of experience, a large sprig of time, and 3 quarts of the cooling water of consideration, set them over the fire of love, sweeten it with the sugar of forgetfulness, stir it with the spoon of melancholy, put it in the bottom of your heart, cork it with the cork of a clear conscience, let it remain and you will quickly find relief and be restored to your senses again. These ingredients can be procured at the apothecary's at the House of Understanding, next door to Reason in Prudent street in the village of Contentment. Take when a spell comes on. For speedy release take it all.

Caledon L. O. L. No. 250 will hold a meeting in the Orange Hall on Monday night, Nov. 21st, when Rev. Mr. Atkinson and Mr. McCutcheon, of Mono Mills, will give addresses. All the brethren are requested to attend.

The Young People of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches met in the basement of the Presbyterian Church on Nov. 5th and organized a Union Young People's Society to meet every Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected:—Prsident, Clifford Bowes; Educational Vice-Pres. Jack McDunn; Missionary Vice-Pres., Sarah Tribble; Devotional Vice-Pres., James Hillyard; Social Vice-Pres., Miss Atkinson; Secretary, Elgin Stubbs; Treasurer, Vida Warnock; Organist, Margaret Dods.

Mrs. Ed. Richardson is attending the Women's Institute Convention in Toronto this week.

We wish to extend our sympathy to Mr. John Pratt in his bereavement through the death of his brother, who died in Sarnia the other day.

Miss Lettie Morrow spent the week-end in the city.

HOURS OF VOTING ARE THE SAME ALL OVER

Urban and Rural Polls Do Not Open Until 8 O'clock.

The hours of voting in urban and rural polling districts will be the same in the forthcoming general elections, an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act having been passed at the last session of parliament to provide for this. In the 1920 amendments to the Act provision is made for opening city polls at six o'clock in the morning and keeping them open till six at night. When these hours were put into effect in bye-elections it was found that there were no votes practically cast before eight o'clock and also that candidates had great difficulty to get their representatives to attend at the different polling sections at 6 o'clock.

When a special committee of parliament met last session to consider proposed amendments to the act objections to the earlier voting in the cities were raised from several sources and it was decided to recommend to the House that the hour of 8 be set for the opening of urban and rural polls alike. This amendment was subsequently passed by the House so the polls in all constituencies, on the regular day of voting, will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock at night. Standard time governs all cases.

Provision was made in the act for holding of advance polls for railway employees, sailors and commercial travellers, whose work would take them away from their original polling division on the day of polling. The rules governing procedure at advance polls are given in the chief electoral offices and other official instructions governing these polls. The act provides for the holding of advance polls at practically all railway divisional points throughout the Dominion and similar towns and cities where railwaymen, travellers and seamen would be likely to live in any considerable numbers. Electors voting at these polls are required to take a declaration that they come within the classes for which such polls are provided, the requisite number of advance votes for a poll being placed at 50.

PAINS SO BAD STAYED IN BED

Young Mrs. Beecroft Had Miserable Time Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Compound to several friends."—Mrs. EMILY BEECROFT, 269 Victoria Ave. N., Hamilton, Ontario.

For forty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years' experience is at your service.

POWER SERVICE SATISFACTORY

A New Auxiliary Water and Electric Generator Has Been Installed at Eugenia.

Service to electricity users of the city over the week-end and Thanksgiving could not have been much better considering the conditions. At midnight Saturday power from Eugenia ceased and the local plant took on the task of lighting the city. There was no interruption at all and the local service was as good in every way as the hydro service.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon the plant at Eugenia telephoned up to the local plant that it was ready to start supplying power again. The change was made without interruption to local users. About twenty minutes to seven last evening a break occurred in the power line between here and Chatsworth which threw the city in darkness. This was repaired in the course of fifteen or twenty minutes when a break occurred the other side of Chatsworth. As there are two sets of wires by which power can be brought to Owen Sound it was sent by one circuit to Chatsworth and then switched to the other circuit on through to Owen Sound and in this way the city is being lighted at present. After three o'clock in the afternoon the fires at the local plant were let out but as soon as the break occurred a gang of men were started firing up and they were ready to start the local plant when the hydro arrangement was made.

The work of installing the new wheel at Eugenia is completed. This makes four water wheels and four generators. The installation of the new wheel does not materially affect the amount of current generated. The volume of water coming down is only sufficient to drive two of the four wheels. The other two are simply used in case the regular wheels become useless. The service during the change could not have been much improved and the local plant was most satisfactory.—O. S. Sun-Times.

BOAT BUILT IN MIDLAND FOR MEDITERRANEAN

Cruising Launch Beatrice is Built For New York Man.

The Midland Argus says: The launching of the cruiser Beatrice that has been under construction by G. B. Dobson during the past six weeks for Mr. Morgan Ogilvie, of New York, who, it will be remembered, came down the Trent Waterway last summer in a small launch which was stored here for the winter, was an interesting event. He returned here this summer and placed an order with the Dobson firm for the construction of a special boat for a cruise from New York through the Mediterranean and eventually into Asia. The boat is 31x10 with 6 foot cabin head-room and is fitted out in a most unique manner with every convenience possible at a cost of about $2,500. As speed is no particular object a Hanley 6-horsepower engine with electric starter has been installed and it is expected the boat will be capable of a speed of about 7 miles per hour. Fine sleeping quarters have been provided and every other accommodation that could be desired, including wardrobes and book containers of varied character.

An aerial telephone system will be placed on the craft in New York operated off the engine while in motion and by storage battery at other times, that will enable the owner to carry on conversation with operators of other vessels at a distance of from twenty-five to seventy-five miles. A complete electric lighting system will also be installed.

Mr. Ogilvie's work is a study of the different type of steamers and craft capable of plying between various river ports on the Rhine, and the sea ports of Azores, Portugal, Spain and the countries bordering on the sea and the Mediterranean, and in that respect, along with many others, is a valuable treatise.

JAILER JOHN M'NABB SLUGGED

Three desparate characters in the Guelph jail made an attack on John McNabb and Turnkey Everson about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon of last week, as they were being served supper. The young men, who usually occupied separate cells, had spent an hour or two in an enclosed barred corridor. Just as the officials opened the door the men jumped on them wielding a piece of brass enclosed in soap and wrapped in a handkerchief, and soon laid out Governor McNabb. Everson made a stiff fight but was no match for the three desperadoes who soon got away, passing out through Everson's apartments. Mrs. Everson, hearing the row, telephoned the police and was still at the phone when the men passed through and snatched the receiver, breaking the cord. In ten minutes two of the men were caught but the third is supposed to have got away in a stolen motor. The men had broken gaol before and were awaiting transportation to Kingston.

Governor McNabb has some cuts about the head and a discolored eye, while Everson suffered worse, being badly bruised and had a cut on the head that needed several stitches.

Over 1,100 people registered at the four polling booths in Owen Sound.

The Foundation of Health is Habit

"For every man who has lost his life by what he did in the last five minutes a hundred men have died because of what they had been doing in the last five years."

Life is made up of habits. There is the health habit. And also the habit of ill-health. It is surprising what a lot of people have developed the latter.

What hosts of women have bilious spells and bilious headaches about every so often, year in and year out, and never think of correcting the action of the liver, and thereby removing the cause of this oft-recurring trouble.

They have formed the habit of being bilious.

Many are the men, indoor workers as well as those who spend their time in the open, who frequently suffer from backache, and yet neglect to get the kidneys in healthful condition.

It is the backache habit which is robbing life of its pleasures for them.

These are dangerous habits.

Some people live for many years with their systems poisoned by impurities—they live and suffer.

Others soon develop Bright's disease, diabetes, high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries, and quickly have their lives snuffed out.

The greatest rule of health is "daily movement of the bowels.'

This is also the most valuable of health habits.

To get back to this rule, to awaken the sluggish action of the liver and kidneys, to cleanse the system and purify the blood, there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

By using one pill a dose at bedtime two or three times a week, just as often as is necessary to keep the bowels regular, you will in a few weeks restore the healthful action of these filtering and excretory organs and correct any derangements of the digestive system.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will help you as nothing else can to get back to the habit of healthful living.

You will live a longer and a happier life by reason of their us

These letters will interest you, and a test of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will prove their exceptional merits in relieving the common, every-day ills and preventing the more serious ones. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Bilious Headache

Mrs. John Ireland, R. R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me, and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

Rheumatism

Mr. George Weathers, Huntsville, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with rheumatism for eighteen years, and although I tried a number of different treatments nothing did me any good. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and can truthfully say they completely relieved me."

Kidney Trouble

Mr. George Stevenson, Rounthwaite, Man., writes:

"For seven months I suffered from Kidney trouble, backache and dizzy turns, and could get no relief. My back ached so severely that I could not turn in bed, and finally I had to quit work. One day I received a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac through the mail, and after reading how highly Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended, I gave them a trial. I had tried various other pills and remedies with no effect whatever, but immediately I started using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I got relief, and two boxes made me well."

PRINTERS MEET

At a well attended meeting of publishers from the counties of Bruce, Dufferin, Perth, Grey, Wellington, Waterloo, Huron, Wentworth, Halton and Peel, held in Palmerston on Friday, Oct. 14th, a committee of two from each county was appointed to revise a standard price list of job printing, etc., for Western Ontario.

This Committee met, as agreed, in Fergus on Friday, Oct. 28th, the following being present: Messrs. D. McKenzie, Paisley; G. K. Brown Teeswater; T. F. E. Claridge, Shelburne; B. McGuire, Orangeville; A. W. Rice, Milverton; C. V. Blatchford, Listowel; Wm. Irwin, Durham Geo. Mitchell, Hanover; A. W. Wright, Mt. Forest; J. C. Templin, Fergus; J. McBeth, Milverton; W. H. Kerr, Brussels; C. H. Moore, Dundas, and J. H. Moore, of Georgetown.

The sessions lasted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; a suggested list being carefully gone over and in several instances a reduction in price was made to conform with the times. Mr. J. C. Templin, of Fergus, was appointed chairman, and Mr. A. W Wright, of Mt. Forest, secretary of the meeting.

At the close of the business session the party motored around town and were kindly shown through Monkland Mills and both Beatty Bros.' factories by their foremen, thus bringing to a close a pleasant and profitable day, spent by all.

James Ryan, a North Horton farmer, brought to Renfrew what is regarded as the largest turnip ever raised in the Ottawa Valley. It is perfectly formed and weighs 28 pounds.

RUDDY–VARCOE

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Varcoe, West Broadway, at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Winnifred, became the bride of Mr. Frederick P. Ruddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ruddy, of Georgetown. Rev. H. L. Partridge, of the Methodist Church, officiated in the presence of a gathering of thirty guests, mostly immediate friends of the young couple. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white satin with bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried Ophelia roses. She was attended by a girl friend, Mis Bessie Curry, of Toronto, who wore pink georgette and carried pink roses. Mr. Charles Ruddy, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Prior to the service Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Josie Gray, cousin of the bride. A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony. Later in the afternoon the couple motored to the C. P. R. and left by the evening train for a short honeymoon. They were showered with confetti and wishes by the assemblage of friends who gathered to see them off on their journey. The bride travelled in a becoming costume of brown velvet with beaver trimming and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Ruddy will reside in Georgetown, where they will be at home to their friends after the first of December 1st. The bride is one of Georgeville's estimable young ladies and the hearty good wishes of a host of friends accompany her and her husband to their new home.

ARMISTICE DAY

Commemorated by Impressive Service in the Opera House.

The citizens of Orangeville observed Armistice Day in most impressive manner. The local Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire placed a cenotaph in Alexandra Park. Inscribed on the cenotaph in gold letters were the words "Their Name Liveth for Evermore." Promptly at 10.45 a.m. the members of the Chapter and the pupils of the High and Public Schools marched in a body to the Park, where they deposited wreaths and flowers at the base of the cenotaph. Two wreaths were deposited by the Chapter, one by the First Vice-Regent, Mrs. W. C. McMillan, and the other by the Honorary Regent, Mrs. C. R. McKeown. The Cadets of the Public School added to the impressiveness of the solemn ceremony by forming up in two lines and allowing the other pupils to pass through their ranks to place their floral tributes at the base of the cenotaph. Wreaths were placed in position by the girls and boys of the High School as they filed by the symbol of the sacrificial offering of the brave lads who laid down their lives in defence of their homes and country. Among the many tributes was a beautiful wreath deposited by the young people of St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

At the conclusion of the ceremony all who could made their way into the Opera House, where an impressive service was held. The large auditorium was crowded to the doors and even then scores of people were turned away. Rev. H. L. Partridge, pastor of the Methodist Church, presided and with the Chairman on the platform were Rev. T. Hudson Stewart, rector of St. Mark's Church, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Mayor Parkinson, and Principals Hackett and Firth.

The service opened promptly at 11 o'clock when the great audience rose andremained standing in silence for two minutes. It was a most impressive tribute to the memory of those who had given their all. The musical part of the service, which was under the direction of Mr. J. E. Jessop with Mrs. J. Z. Henry acting as accompanist, opened with the singing of the wel-known hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." Following this came the reading by Mr. Partridge of the beautiful Bible passage, Rev. 7; 9-17. After the singing of "O, Canada," Capt. Stewart spoke in impressive manner, addressing his remarks particularly to the young people in his audience. He made an earnest plea for clean, noble, purposeful living. Pleasures were a necessary part of the lives of young folk, but they should be subordinated to the real purposes of life and should not constitute the chief aim in the existence of any yung man or young wman. The speaker appealed to his hearers to take up the work and place of those who had given their lives in the war and to so live as to make themselves worthy of the great sacrifice these heroes had made. Miss Bessie Lewis rendered a solo, "Flanders Fields," in excellent voice and with real feeling. In the prayer that followed Mr. Mahaffy voiced the universal sympathy for the parents of those who had laid down their lives, thanksgiving for victory and the peace that the world now enjoys, earnest supplication for the success of the Conference now in progress in Washington and a fervent plea for the future of our beloved Canada and the continued prosperity of the great Empire with which the destiny of the Dominion is so indissolubly linked. The service concluded with the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and the benediction by Mr. Partridge. Then while the audience stood with bowed heads and in reverent silence Bugler Auric Aiken sounded the Last Post. As the last notes of the bugle died away there was a long pause, impressive in its solemn silence and then the strains of "God Save the King" brought the service to a close. It was an impressive tribute, that showed conclusively that "their name liveth" and is cherished in proud and loving memory by the people amongst whom they lived and moved in the years before they heard and answered the clarion call of war.

has taken a partner in the fun business. He's Jackie Coogan, the Kid. They're the greatest combination of mirth-makers who ever got together; and the laughs that Charlie maybe overlooks come fresh and happy from the kid. And would you believe us if we told you that here and there, through the six great reels of the biggest comedy the world has ever seen, there's a sob? It's a fact—and that's what makes the laughter bigger still.

DIED FROM PNEUMONIA

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell, East Broadway, have the sympathy of our citizens in their bereavement through the death of their little son, Marvin Hunter. The little chap, a bright, lovayle boy of 8 years, 9 months and 17 days, passed away very suddenly on Tuesday after a short illness from pneumonia. The funeral was held from the home of his parents to Greenwood cemetery at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

SCOTT–JOHNSTON

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. James Johnston and the late Mrs. Johnston, Second Line, west, Caledon, on Wednesday, November 9th, when his eldest daughter, Mary Verna, became the bride of Mr. Frederick A. Scott, son of the late Charles Scott, of Melville Cross. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. L. Partridge, pastor of Orangeville Methodist Church, and was followed by a dainty wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Scott left immediately afterwards for a short honeymoon trip. The bride travelled in a brown velour costume with picture hat to match. The happy couple will reside at Colborne, Ont. The Banner unites with their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous journey through life.

MASONIC AT HOME

The officers and members of Harris Masonic Lodge held their annual At Home in the Lodge Room on Thursday night. The affair was the usual success, attracting a large gathering of the members of the Lodge and their lady friends. During the early part of the evening a delightful musical program was provided in the Masonic Hall, under the direction of W. Bro. J. L. Island, W. M. of the Lodge, who occupied the chair. The numbers were a humorous quartette by the Masonic Quartette consisting of Messrs. J. E. Jessop, Wm. Clowes, F. A. Falconer and Dr. Price, solos by Miss McDonald and Messrs. Clowes and Wm. Dorrington, a couple of well-rendered readings by Mrs. Dorrington an a violin number by Miss Clara Huse. Mrs. W. R. Liddy acted as the accompanist for the evening. Following the program the younger people spent a pleasant time dancing in the banquetting hall, which had been converted into a ballroom for the occasion. Those who did not dance enjoyed themselves at progressive euchre in the Oddfellows' Hall, which had been placed at the disposal of the Masons for the evening. There were something like twenty-four tables. The prizes for points were won by Mrs. J. E. Smith and Mr. R. H. Robinson. The lone hand prizes went to Mrs. C. V. Jeffers and Mr. J. E. Smith. Coffee and light refreshments were served shortly after midnight. Parsons' orchestra provided excellent music for the dancing. tragedy.

E. B. Schell, druggist in Alliston, produced his sales book containing a record of the sale of some arsenic to the prisoner on February 7th, 1921. Similarly J. E. White, a Shelburne druggist, gave evidence of the purchase of 20 grains of strychnine on two occasions—May 31st, 1921, and July 25th, 1921. In each case Mrs. Lee had signed her own name in the book. In the first instance the reason given for the purchase was to get some dogs that were a nuisance and in the second to rid the house of rats. Victor McBride, a drug clerk, confirmed the purchase of July 25th.

Evidence was also given by Drs. Cunningham, of Alliston, McLean, of Shelburne, White, of Shelburne, and Henry, Kyles and Rooney of Orangeville, prior to the noon adjournment. The trial was resumed at 1.30 yesterday afternoon and was in progress when The Banner went to press.

MRS. THOS. BABE

Mrs. Eleanor Jane Snell Babe, wife of Mr. Thomas Babe, died in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on October 29th, after a brief illness. Deceased was born in the township of Mono 80 years ago. With her husband, who conducts a store at 1322 Queen St., west, she had been a resident of Toronto for 37 years. The late Mrs. Babe was one of the first members of Dunn Ave. Methodist Church. She is survived by her husband, one son, J. W. Babe, Brandon, Man., and three daughters, Mrs. A. J. Peppiatt, Mrs. J. P. Standish and Miss Elizabeth Babe the last named living at home. Before their removal to Toronto Mr. and Mrs. Babe resided in Orangeville and will be remembered by some of the older residents of this town. About a year ago they celebrated their golden wedding.

MRS. JAS. M. STEWART

The death occurred on Friday, Nov. 4th, at the family residence, 178 Lansdowne Ave., Winnipeg, of Sarah Coleman, beloved wife of Mr. James M. Stewart, formerly of Corbetton, Ont. Deceased was a prominent worker in St. John's Presbyterian Church since its foundation, and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon to Elmwood Cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. J. M. Niven, assisted by Rev. M. C. Flatt. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss, one son, Russell, and four daughters, Mrs. J. A. Foster, of Corbetton, and Mrs. D. D. Brown Mrs. Jas. H. Waugh and Mrs. George McDowell, of Winnipeg. Two sisters and one brother also survive, Mrs. Wm. Bower and Mrs. Robt. Speers, Markdale, and Mr. John Coleman, of Spokane, Wash.

MATTHEW LEDLOW

Without warning, the summons came for Matthew Ledlow of the 1st line, east, Chinguacousy, on Monday night, and he passed away in his sleep with only a few inarticulate sounds to indicate the passing from death unto life. Mr. Ledlow had been in the best of health, to all appearances, and had spent the evening with a neighbor, and had retired, apparently as well as ever. His wife heard him moaning in his sleep and summoned her daughter. Every effort was made to revive Mr. Ledlow, but he died without regaining consciousness. The cause of death is ascribed to heart failure. Mr. Ledlow was born at Mayfield sixty-two years ago and was the son of the late John Ledlow, one of the early settlers of that district. He was a member of Brampton Presbyterian Church and an adherent of the Liberal party. He is survived by his widow and four daughters, Mrs. Dr. Stirk, of Brampton, Mrs. Duncan McDougall, of Chinguacousy, and Margaret and Gertrude at home. Five sisters, Mrs. Fred Coyne, Brampton; Mrs. Jos. Gray, Mrs. Peter Gray, Miss Elizabeth, Sandhill, and Miss Minnie, Toronto, as well as five brothers, Danby, Orangeville; Aaron John and James, Brampton, and Rev. Thomas, Stayner, survive. The funeral took place this afternoon to Dixon's cemetery, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. M. McArthur.—Conservator.

Mr. G. D. Ledlow, of Camilla, is a brother.

UNVEILED MEMORIAL

A most impressive ceremony took place at the regular weekly meeting of St. Andrew's Church Y. P. S. on Monday night, when a shield bearing the names of former members of the Society who had fallen in the Great War was unveiled. Following the opening exercises and the business of the evening, which were in charge of the President, Murray McKitrick, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of the church, took the chair. The opening number of the program was a reading of Service's "My Son" by Miss Isabel Fife. This was followed by the singing of Col. McCrae's immortal lines, "In Flanders' Fields," by Miss Madeline Leggatt. Dr. Kyles addressed the gathering of perhaps two hundred persons in most fitting and impressive manner, emphasizing the greatness of the sacrifice these young men made for Canada and humanity and the magnitude of the debt of gratitude that all Canadians owe to them. At the close of Dr. Kyles' address the room was darkened save for a spotlight, which played on a white cross bearing the flag veiled shield. Rev. Mr. Mahaffy offered the dedicatory prayer, while the subdued strains of "Nearer My God to Thee" were carried down from the church organ softly played by Miss Elizabeth Nodwell. At the proper moment the shield was unveiled by Miss G. M. Strang, the unveiling being followed by the sounding of the Last Post by Mr. Russell Morrow. The closing number of the impressive service was a vocal duet by Misses Audrey McLean and M. Hanley. This was followed by the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and the benediction pronounced by Mr. Mahaffy.

The names on the Shield are:—Capt. J. Ross Macpherson, Lieut. H. B. McGuire, Lieut. R. B. McGuire, Lieut. O. G. Forsythe, Pte. J. H. Crowe, Sergt. Finley McGillivray, Pte. S. Burt.

ADVICE TO HUSBANDS

Don't kick because you have to button your wife's blouse.

Be glad your wife has a blouse and doubly glad that you have a wife to button a blouse for.

Some men's wives have no blouses to button and some men's wives' blouses have not buttons to button.

Some men's wives' blouses which have buttons on to button don't care a button whether they are buttoned or not.

Some men don't have any wives with buttons on to button.

So button on the buttons of your wife's blouse and be thankful for what you've got.

WHAT IS A FRIEND?

What is a friend?

I will tell you.

It is a person with whom you dare to be yourself.

Your soul can go naked with him.

He seems to ask of you to put on nothing, only be what you are.

He does not want you to be better or worse.

When you are with him you feel as a prisoner feels who has been declared innocent.

You do not have to be on your guard. You can say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you.

He understands those contradictions in your nature that lead others to misjudge you. With him you can breathe free.

You can take off your coat and loosen your collar.

You can avow your little vanities and envies and hates and vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities, and in opening them up to him they are lost, dissolved on the white ocean of his loyalty. He understands.

You do not have to be careful.

You can abuse him, neglect him, tolerate him.

Best of all, you can keep still with him. It makes no matter. He likes you.

He is like fire that purges all you do.

He is like water that cleanses all that you say.

He is like wine that warms you to the home. He understands.

You can weep with him, laugh with him, pray with him.

"DAMN THE PLUMBER"

The following from the October issue of the West Coast Lumberman, outlining the sentiments of one of the largest lumber manufacturers in the United States, is of particular interest to Canadians at this juncture.

Let's Help Restore Confidence

"What can we do to help restore confidence and to start the wheels of industry to hum as they were wont to do?" asks the National Lumber Manufacturing Company, of Hoquiam, in a recent sales letter.

"In our judgment one of the first things that we should do is to quit yelling for lower railroad freight rates.

"The threat or promise of a downward revision of rates in the misty distant future is inducing caution on the part of the entire business interests of the country to such an extent that industry is slackened and business of all kinds is retarded.

"The railroads are in a bad way financially, and there is not a ray of hope for them to secure new money from outside sources for needed repairs and improvements as long as the strangling hand of governmental control is fastened at their throats.

"The railroads in the aggregate are the greatest industrial force in the country and when they are in financial difficulties, you and we are going to suffer in like proportion.

"For years railroad baiting has been popular and we chortled with glee when they were hog-tied with rules and regulations, and told where to head in. We smiled when we saw the one proud management talked to saucily by the common individual that we the 'peepul' had chosen as our spokesman.

"We now find ourselves like the chap that was bothered by a dog barking under his window; wrapping his nightie about his shivering legs, he went to put a stop to it. His wife, becoming alarmed at his continued absence, went to investigate, and found him standing in a snow drift, holding the dog by the hind legs. She yelled, 'For the love of God, what are you doing?' He cried out, 'Go bark to bed, I am going to freeze this bugger to death.'

"It can't be done and we should change our tactics as we are standing on our own foot and not getting anywhere.

"We, on the Pacific Coast, have been harder hit than any other district, as the unscientific, unrailroad-like horizontal advance of last year hit us a wallop that seemed impossible to withstand. We are still groggy, but are adapting ourselves and realize the necessity of securing better service and freer movement of business.

"We lumbermen roar over the additional cost per thousand on our lumber, but a reduction of 10 per cent. on the plumbing bill on a dwelling house would mean a greater saving to the consumer than any reduction in the rate of lumber would bring. So let's damn the plumber awhile and let up on the railroads.

"We hold no brief for any transportation system, nor do we wish to hang wreaths of bay and laurel on the brows of any of the managers, as they are just human like ourselves, and our sole idea is to better our own condition.

"When we view the thousands of worn-out and damaged cars, the many old, rusty locomotives out of commission; when we sway and bump over tracks out of commission, we shudder at our isolation. When business is again normal, we must have service to thrive, and if we suffer you will not be comfortable.

"Think it over, talk it over and get that sub-conscious mind of yours busy on the subject, and we feel sure that you will agree with us—that it is time to hunt for another remedy for our industrial and financial ailments."

DO YOUR BEST

Sometimes we only pass, then part,
In sunshine times or rain,
We hasten on with lack of heart,
And never meet again;
We look into each other's face,
Or hurried grasp the hand,
And do not longer wait, because
We do not understand.

We leave the cheerful words unsaid,
We gaze with vacant stare,
When 'tis perhaps an hour which calls
For sympathy or pray'r.
We tread life's dusty road in haste,
And selfish seek our goal,
Unconscious of the needs which plead
From out a weaker soul.

Thus through neglect we lose from life
What life was meant to hold—
The ministry of helpfulness—
And callous grow and cold;
We meet, but pass with empty hand,
Hearts which appeal in vain;
We pass, and leave our good unsaid—
And never meet again.

To mark the tests of tenderness,
Which lie within the days;
To prove our sympathy and love
In little, helpful ways;
Ah, this will gild life's eventide
With mem'ries that are blest;
For they alone are restful there,
Who did for all their best.

Mrs. Archibald Ferguson, an old resident of Caledon East district, passed over to the majority on Sunday, Nov. 13th, at the age of about 82 years. Her husband predeceased her a few years ago. The remains were interred at St. Andrew's cemetery, 4th line, Caledon, on Tuesday, Rev. Mr. Lockhart officiating.

George Ernest, a young man of Brant Township, met almost instant death at Walkerton when his team ran away while coming down the steep hill north of Walkerton. Mr. Ernest, who was on his way to town to do teaming, was sitting on a board across the wagon box when it struck a telephone pole and he was thrown from his seat onto the doubletrees behind the horses, which took fright, and when the wagon collided with a second pole his head was crushed between the pole and the wagon box.

Neil McKay, of the 12th con., Elderslie, sued his neighbor, Stanley Herron, for $60 for the loss of two head of cattle by poisoning through Herron's carelessnes. McKay sold a granary on his property on 14th Concession, Elderslie, to Herron, who took it down and removed it. In the building was a quantity of paris geren which was left among the debris. Two of McKay's cattle got the poison and died from its effects. McKay entered suit against Herron for the value of the poisoned cattle and was allowed $60 as the Judge held that Herron had shown carelessness in leaving the poison where the animals could get at it.

ALL MOONSHINE

A zealous excise officer was sent to Ireland to try and locate several moonshine stills which were known to exist.

Meeting a native, the excise officer approached Pat, saying:

"I'll give you five shillings, Pat, if you can take me to a private still."

"Troth, an' I will, sir," was Pat's reply, as he pocketed the money. "Come with me."

For many weary miles over mountain, bog and moor they tramped, until they came into view of a barracks. Pointing to a soldier on a step inside the square, Pat said:

"There you are, sir, my brother Mike; he's been a soldier for ten years, an' he's a private still."

BEST AND WOODS

Straight Fight Between Conservatives and United Farmers in Dufferin County.

Large Crowd Attended Meeting in Opera House on Tuesday Afternoon.

A capacity house attended the nomination meeting in the Opera House here on Tuesday afternoon. A number of ladies were in the audience, which taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium to the limit. The sympathies of the gathering seemed to be pretty evenly divided as far as could be judged by the applause received by the two candidates and their supporters. The meeting was very orderly and what few interruptions occurred were good-natured and were taken in good part by the speakers.

The formal nomination proceedings lasted from 12 to 2 o'clock and were in charge of Mr. John Bryan, of Laurel, the Returning Officer for the constituency. At the expiry of the time limit Mr. Bryan announced that Messrs. John Best and Robert J. Woods were the only candidates nominated. The Returning Officer then read the part of the election proclamation stating the polling places and declared the nominations at a close.

On motion of T. C. Hamilton, of Grand Valley, seconded by George Davis, of Campania, the gathering promptly resolved itself into a public meeting for the purpose of hearing the candidates and their platform supporters discuss the issues of the day. The Returning Officer was unanimously agreed upon for Chairman. Mr. Bryan announced that the candidates had agreed that each side was to have an hour and a half. Mr. Best divided his time with Mr. C. R. McKeown and Mr. Woods had the platform support of Mr. T. K. Slack, U. F. O. member of the Legislature. Mr. Best, the late member for the riding, led off and was followed by Mr. Woods. Mr. McKeown then spoke and was followed by Mr. Slack, Mr. Best being accorded ten minutes for a reply at the close.

Mr. Best stated that it was now twelve years ago since he had been selected to succeed the late Dr. Barr as the representative of the County of Dufferin at Ottawa. He had been re-elected in 1911 and again in the election of 1917. As a public man he freely admitted that he had made his mistakes, but he had tried to do his best for the constituency and for the Dominion. He considered his opponent, Mr. Woods, an honorable man and a Christian and was sorry that Mr. Woods did not appear to regard him in the same light, for he had stated when nominated at Shelburne recently that the county should be represented by a gentleman and a Christian. Mr. Best freely admitted that he had his faults much the same as other men and stated that he was not at any rate guilty of the Pharisaical act of thanking God that he was not as other men are. Mr. Best pointed out that the Conservative Government had given the country the boon of rural mail delivery and parcel post. Many other beneficial measures were under contemplation, when everything was upset by the outbreak of the war in 1914. The speaker stated that he had never had as large meetings as in his present campaign. This he thought augured well for his success at the polls. Dealing with the argument that there is not as much sociability now, as 25 years ago Mr. Best thought that the fault for the things we deplored the lack of in others often was in our own hearts. Oftimes when we found fault with our friends and neighbors for lack of friendliness or sociability the fault was in ourselves. Mr. Best took issue with certain statements reflecting upon himself, which he averred had been made use of by Mr. Woods and his supporters. Mr. Woods had stated that it was strange that the speaker was opposed to reciprocity now when he had been in favor of it in 1911. Mr. Best challenged the correctness of the latter part of this statement and countered by stating that if Mr. Woods was in favor of reciprocity in 1911 he had at the least wavered badly in his support. Referring to certain personal charges Mr. Best declared that if there was a man in the Dominion of Canada who could say that he had ever seen him drunk then he was prepared to resign and get out of the fight. A Melancthon man had actually made such a statement and had afterwards signed a document in a lawyer's office admitting the libellous character of his accusation. Referring to the assertion that Hon. Manning Doherty had received extra money from the Government for going overseas to look after the lifting of the embargo on cattle Mr. Best stated that he had it on good authority that a friend of Hon. Peter Smith, the Provincial Treasurer, had been paid $80 a day for going to England to look after certain business that could have been attended to just as well by correspondence. On the question of campaign funds, which Mr. Crerar had declared were the main issue in the present campaign, Mr. Best declared that his campaign funds came out of his own pocket. He challenged Mr. Slack to say as much and doubted if Mr. Woods would be in a position to say as much. In his opinion it was just as wrong to accept $5.00 contributions from farmers as to accept a contribution of $1,000 from a big manufacturer. It showed the calibre of Mr. Crerar that he should endeavor to make it appear that the campaign funds were the chief issue in the campaign. There never was a political leader who had fought the big interests more fearlessly than the Hon. Arthur Meighen, the present Premier. Mr. Best pointed out that eighty per cent. of our manufacturing concerns are branches of United States concerns and it was no more than reasonable to suppose that the capitalists interested in the present concerns would be quite willing to have the tariff wall removed and would not be likely to concern themselves greatly about the success of a protectionist Administration. Mr. Best compared Canada under the free trade regime of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie with Canada under the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald to the disadvantage of the former and declared with emphasis that no policy for the development of Canada equalled the present Meighen policy of moderate protection. Mr. Best condemned calamity prophets and scored the men who go through the country crying down the citizens who are prospering and building up the country. There was not a farmer sitting before him who was not a capitalist. The speaker quoted sworn testimony of Mr. Rice Jones, Secretary of the Western Grain Growers Association, to show that in one year the Grain Growers organization had made a profit of $530,000 on an investment of $100,000. Mr. Best defined the policy of the Meighen Administration as a policy of moderate protection and stated that he was a believer in moderate protection. Mr. Crerar would wipe out the protection in agricultural products that the farmers now enjoy. Without protection it would be impossible for the farmers of Canada to compete successfully with the farmers of the United States, where the climatic conditions were much more favorable and made the large investment that the Canadian farmer has to make in buildings altogether unnecessary. The Progressive platform of free foodstuffs and free implements would not benefit the farmer for the reason that he would lose more on the price of his products than he would pay out in duty on the implements he needs. On thirteen of the largest implements used on the farm the duty amounted to $175.77. The average life of these implements was ten years, which meant that they would cost the farmer $17.50 a year duty. Against this from an average number of hogs he would get at least $67.50 additional in price each year by reason of the protection he now enjoys. Mr. Best expressed himself as strongly against any class, church or interest going into politics as a class party. Even U. F. O. leaders were beginning to recognize this for some of them were declaring that they must divorce their co-operative business from politics or the former would go to ruin. In concluding Mr. Best told his hearers if they believed in the policy Mr. Woods represents then it was their duty to support Mr. Woods. Far better that he (Mr. Best) should be sacrificed than that the country and its interests should be sacrificed. But if they believed in the Hon. Arthur Meighen and his policy then they should support him and his policy and sacrifice Mr. Woods for it was far better to sacrifice Mr. Woods than to sacrifice the country and the country's interests. In his experience of fifty years the speaker had never seen hard times when there were high prices for farm products. No man or woman had ever seen as high prices as had prevailed under the Union Government. As representative of the county he had done his best to serve the people of Dufferin regardless of their politics. He believed that most of the people in the county were honestly in favor of the Meighen Government and its policy and he appealed for their votes as a supporter of that policy.

Mr. R. J. Woods was delighted to see such a large gathering, which he took as an evidence that the men and women of the country are thinking and considering the public questions of the day as they have never considered them in the past. They were considering such grave problems as the public debt of the country, which now amounted to over two and one-half billion of dollars, and the railway situation with huge annual deficits that were going to call for immense sums of money out of the national treasury. Mr. Woods disclaimed any intention of reflecting upon Mr. Best's religious character. In no way had he tried to reflect upon Mr. Best's personal character. Rather had he purposely refrained from making any remarks that could be construed as intending to reflect upon Mr. Best. He had the authority of men who heard him for the statement that Mr. Best had said from the public platform that under the leadership of Mr. Crerar the Canadian farmers would be in much the same position as Russians. He admitted that he had stated at Mono Mills that Mr. Best was in favor of reciprocity in 1911. His authority was the late Dr. Sproule who told him in Dundalk that when the reciprocity issue was discussed in caucus in Ottawa there were certain members of the party who did not want it made a plank in the party platform and that "the man you have in Dufferin" was one of them. Mr. Woods dealt effectively with the charge that during the war he had refused when holding church services to pray for the soldiers overseas. No person had asked him to pray for the soldiers because there was never any need for any one to make the request. While the war was on in no single case did he hold a service without offering up prayer for the boys overseas and the boys in the trenches. Neither had he been opposed to conscription. He and his boy had voted for Mr. Best in 1917 and his other boy who was then overseas had also voted for conscription. The Progressive party, which he was now supporting, stands for progressive and responsible government. Had we responsible government during and since the war? Rather did we not have a few men—a few Cabinet ministers—legislating for the great mass of the people. Mr. Woods denied that the farmers were out for class legislation and stated that seventy-five per cent. of the people of Ontario would not charge the Drury Government with class legislation. The farmers of Canada were practically forced into politics, because they have never had fair representation in the old political parties. In the Meighen Government of seventeen or eighteen members there were twelve lawyers and not a single farmer, notwithstanding the fact that the farmers constituted fifty per cent. of the population of Canada. So acute had been the political partizanship of the past that the friendly relations of close neighbors were frequently endangered by political differences at election times. In reply to the charge that the United Farmers are free traders Mr. Woods declared that the policy of the United Farmers was not absolute free trade. When Sir John A. Macdonald initiated the policy of protection for infant industries the speaker did not think that he intended to continue to protect them until they had grown to be great giants. The farmers were in favor of a free exchange of natural products with the United States, our great market, but believed in a tariff for revenue only—not a tariff to make the rich man richer and the poor man poorer. Mr. Woods was convinced that the free exchange of natural products with the people to our south would be a benefit to the farmers of Canada. Referring to the loyalty cry and no truck or trade with the Yankees, two campaign slogans that played a prominent part in the election of 1911, Mr. Woods asked if the farmers of Canada were any less loyal because they received from $1.00 to $2.00 per cwt. more for their beef cattle after the United States had removed the tariff on cattle. One of the first things Mr. Crerar would endeavor to do if the Progressives secured a majority of the seats at the coming election would be to secure larger markets for our natural products. The United States was becoming largely a consuming nation and was therefore the natural market for the surplus products of the farms of Canada. Any policy that will help the farmers of Canada will help other classes of its citizens. Mr. Woods contended that the farmers of Canada have no home market. Farmers around Orangeville have no home market—they have a shipping point for their products. The same statement was applicable to every other town and village in the Province of Ontario. There should be co-operation and good will between the farmers and the people of the small towns and villages. The great cities do not give the farmers of Canada a home market while they are producing more than the people of the cities can consume. They have to market their surplus products some place else and that some place is the markets of the world. If this country were a consuming nation then protection would be of some benefit to the farmers, but as an exporting nation protection is of no benefit to them. Even under protection the farmer did not get a fair deal. Oats were protected by a duty of 30 cents per cwt., but when it came to oatmeal and rolled oats the duty was 60 cents per cwt. If the farmers of Canada were to rely on the home market entirely they would have to cut down their production to a point where they would only produce what the 8,000,000 millions of people living in Canada could consume. Mr. Woods argued that the manufacturers were not greatly concerned about the welfare of their workmen and instanced the closing down of the Massey-Harris works and other concerns, which threw thousands of employees out on the streets. Why did farm implements go up twenty per cent. in the autumn of 1920 when the prices of farm products were on the downgrade and why was it that the price of farm implements was not cut until after the harvest of 1921, when the farmer had no further need for them until another season? To the latter question someone in the audience interjected the remark:

"There was an election coming on."

"That's right," replied Mr. Woods.

The speaker contended that protection really protects—not the farmers, but the men in the game—the manufacturers themselves. In the case of the textile manufacturers, who are required to pay a duty on the materials they use, the duty is refunded to them less one per cent. Would the people of Canada not be able to buy cheaper clothing if they had free access to the markets of the world? As a concrete instance of the effect of advancing prices of farm implements, Mr. Woods stated that in 1920 the Massey-Harris agent in Dundalk had sold and received his commission on sixteen Massey-Harris binders. In 1921 he sold only one binder. Are the manufacturers of Canada to be cuddled and cared for generations, asked Mr. Woods. As another instance of the way protection boosts the prices of manufactured goods, Mr. Woods instanced ploughshares, which the agents of all the implement companies sold at 90c to $1.20 apiece. Yet in the town of Orangeville Mr. James Armstrong, a local manufacturer, was making and selling ploughshares to the farmers at 50 cents each and he wanted to give all credit to Mr. Armstrong for keeping down the price of his product when the large manufacturers were charging much higher prices. Mr. Woods closed his address with a strong appeal for support at the polls.

Mr. C. R. McKeown in his address in behalf of Mr. Best contended that free trade was the ultimate goal of the Progressive party and claimed that Canada would be much more prosperous under the policy of moderate protection advocated by Mr. Meighen. Mr. McKeown ridiculed the idea of throwing down the trade barriers in order to get into the United States market—a market that exported more foodstuffs than the farmers of Canada had to export. He thought it absolutely absurd that any farmer should be in favor of free trade. The revenue of the country had to be raised either by duties or direct taxation, and if by direct taxation then the farmer would have to shoulder the bulk of the taxes. There were in Canada to-day six hundred branches of United States industries. These concerns would not be in Canada were it not for the tariff. Under free trade the parent concerns could manufacture in the United States and flood Canada with their products.

T. K. Slack devoted his time largely to some personal differences between Mr. Best and himself and to a defence of the actions of the Drury Government. The charge that Hon. Mr. Doherty had received extra pay for his trip to England, Mr. Slack refuted in conclusive fashion by reading a letter from the Minister himself in which Mr. Doherty stated emphatically that his salary was fixed by law and could not be increased or decreased without the sanction of the Legislature and that he had paid $355 out of his own pocket for expenses incurred during the trip. Slack discussed the Backus m[illegible] some length and pointed out th[illegible] stead of receiving $50,000 fr[illegible] limits it sold the Government [illegible] received a bonus of $50,000 in [illegible] tion to all dues and other ch[illegible] payable by the Company under [illegible] terms of the sale. The Prov[illegible] member also took Mr. Best to [illegible] for statements alleging waste, [illegible] management and favoritism in [illegible] nection with the construction of [illegible] vincial highways. The Drury Gov[illegible] ment, he contended, had done [illegible] for the improvement of transp[illegible] tion and comunication in two [illegible] than any preceding Government [illegible] done in twenty years. The sp[illegible] predicted that in two years [illegible] ten ton trucks would be running [illegible] to Orangeville and competing [illegible] seriously with the C. P. R. [illegible] freight business.

In his reply Mr. Best exp[illegible] pleasure that Mr. Woods ha[illegible] tracted practically every charge he had made against him and [illegible] ed the Drury Government [illegible] for appointing so many ex[illegible]

The U. F. O. meeting held in the Town Hall on Saturday night, Nov. 19th, in the interests of Herbert Taylor, the Progressive candidate in the County of Peel, was a splendid success. The Hall was well filled with interested listeners, who gave the speakers a splendid hearing. Melville H. Staples, Educational Secretary of the U. F. O., spoke very clearly on the tariff and other questions. The candidate, after outlining the platform of the Progressive Party, spoke in a manner that left no doubt in the minds of the electors present but that he was well worthy of their confidence.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a very successful Hard Times Social on Monday evening, the 21st inst. A splendid programme of games and music was provided.

MRS. MABEL LEE FOUND NOT GUILTY OF THE DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Accused Woman Testifies in Her Own Behalf—Defence Witnesses of the Opinion that Lee Committed Suicide.

Mrs. Mabel Lee, who was on trial at the Dufferin County Fall Assizes here last week on the charge of poisoning her husband, Robert Lee, of Rosemont, by administering strychnine, was acquitted by the jury late on Wednesday night. It was about 8.30 at night when the jury retired and at 11.30, two hours later, they returned to the Court Room and announced that they had agreed on their verdict. Before the verdict was announced, Mr. Justice Latchford sternly forbade any demonstration on the part of the spectators. In intense silence the crowded court room heard the jury foreman pronounce the fateful words "Not Guilty." The silence was broken by a hysterical sob from the prisoner, who grasped the arm of her counsel, Mr. C. R. McKeown, and cried excitedly, "Charlie, Charlie, God bless you."

The Judge's comment on the finding was brief and caustic. "Gentlemen," said His Lordship to the jurors, "it was difficult in the absence of rebuttal evidence for you to arrive at any other verdict. I hope the verdict will not make poisoning of husbands a popular indoors sport in this country."

Mr. McKeown asked for the discharge of the prisoner. "The prisoner is discharged," replied His Lordship. Mrs. Lee left the Court Room at once, escorted by her counsel and friends who had hastened to her side to congratulate her upon her acquittal.

The line of defence adopted by Mr. McKeown was based on the theory that Lee had committed suicide. Almost every defence witness was examined respecting statements that the deceased had made in conversation. The tenor of these statements was that the unfortunate man was tired of life and in the mood to make an end of himself.

The Crown closed its case shortly after two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. McKeown caused no little surprise by promptly calling the prisoner as the first witness for the defence. The prisoner, who gave her evidence quietly and under evident self-restraint, stated that she had married Robert Lee 25 years ago. Since their marriage they had experienced their ups and downs and had their little quarrels much as other married people. They had a family of five living and one dead. Two daughters were married and there was a son, Jimmie, 15 years of age, and two little girls, Bertha and Dorothy, aged 11 and 8 years respectively. Witness admitted that she had purchased arsenic and strychnine as described by the Crown witnesses. The first purchase of strychnine, she said, was to kill a dog. She used a portion to kill the dog and the balance she burned in the stove.

Later the family moved to Rosemont, and there were rats in the house. She purchased more strychnine, all of which, she said, she put in some chop and placed it in the cellar. She found five dead rats as a result. From that day in July until the present, she declared, she had not seen any strychnine, nor had she handled it.

Mrs. Lee said that after her husband had paid his insurance money on the Tuesday prior to his death, he handed the receipt over to her and said:

"Take care of that, for that is the last insurance I will ever pay."

Describing the events of the day on which the family went berry picking, Mrs. Lee said her husband was the last to leave the house in the morning, having gone in just before they started, in order to take his medicine.

Found Door Open.

On returning at night, she said, she found the door in the house and the doors open, although she had left them closed. She remarked to her daughter that some person had been in the house.

She declared that when her husband fed the horse the night before he died he remarked: "It will be a long time before I feed you again, Dolly." She rebuked him for his words.

According to Mrs. Lee, her husband poured out his own medicine on the night of his death, and afterwards poured out hers for her to take.

It was after they went up to bed that he complained that he was poisoned. Mrs. Lee swore that when he was taken ill her husband had said to her:

"Mabel, don't get excited, God bless you, and be good to the children."

After her husband's death, the prisoner said, she placed the bottle on the pantry shelf and never saw it afterwards. Later she learned that her little daughter, Bertha, had thrown away the contents, but she swore positively she had never suggested it should be thrown away.

Protests Her Innocence.

"I want to ask you," said Mr. McKeown in closing his examination, "if you know anything, directly or indirectly, as to the cause of your husband's death?"

"Not at all, Mr. McKeown," replied the witness emphatically.

"Had you anything to do with it?"

"Not at all, Mr. McKeown," repeated the accused.

Mrs. Lee was submitted to a rigorous cross-examination by Crown Counsel Grier, during which she said she was quite positive that her husband took his medicine himself.

"If your husband, on his death bed, said you gave it to him, he said what was not true?" asked Mr. Munroe Grier.

"Yes."

"You are willing to say that?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"Even if he accused you on his deathbed?"

"Yes, even if he was saying it on his death bed."

"I just wanted to see to what limits you would go," said Mr. Grier.

Witness would not deny that she had said she would throw out the medicine, or that her son, Jimmie, had told her not to do so because it might be needed. She stated positively that she had taken the medicine bottle from the dining room table and placed it on a shelf in the pantry. Pressed as to why her daughter had emptied the bottle, Mrs. Lee answered:

"I had been standing crying with it in my hands and she saw me."

"Do you wish us to really understand that your husband intimated to you that he intended to leave the world shortly?" asked Mr. Grier.

"Yes," answered the witness.

"Are you then accusing your husband of committing suicide?" asked the Crown Counsel.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Lee with emphasis. Mrs. Lee also stated to Mr. McKeown that it was her opinion that her husband had committed suicide.

Bertha Lee, the 11 year old daughter of the prisoner, a bright and rather attractive looking child, sobbed and cried as she told her story of the incidents connected with the tragedy. The little one said that her father came in from the stable, took a glass, went back to the pump, came in again and took his medicine. He took his own medicine and gave her mother her medicine. Asked about the medicine bottle, she answered, "I emptied it." After she got up on the morning following her father's death she saw the bottle on the pantry shelf, emptied the contents in the backyard, brought the bottle in again, washed it out, put in the cork and placed it back on the pantry shelf. She swore positively that no person had told her to do this or had even suggested that it should be done. Pressed for a reason for her action the child said that she had seen her mother crying over the bottle during the night.

"Nobody spoke about it to me. I just emptied it myself," was her declaration. A kindly but persistent cross-examination failed to shake the child's story in any respect. The only point in which her story fell down was with respect to her statement that she had gone into the pantry with her married sister, Mrs. Bradley. Mrs. Bradley, in her evidence later in the day, swore that she had left for home some hours earlier in the morning.

Victor Hamilton, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Lee, testified that when his horse and buggy broke through the ice into a running stream, from which he escaped with great difficulty, Lee had told witness that he wished he had been in the buggy, instead of witness, adding that he would have remained there.

On another occasion he had told witness and his wife that he wanted them to understand that their home-coomings were getting short.

Mrs. Hamilton confirmed her husband's evidence, and also said that her father had been in the habit of making threats to end his life for several years. On one occasion, some years ago, she had taken a razor from under his pillow when she thought him in a dangerous mood.

William J. Bradley, another son-in-law, told of a conversation about the three-months' term for which the Lees had rented their house in Rosemont. Witness said that he would either rent for longer than three months or not at all. Lee replied: "By that time I hope to be moving down toward St. Luke's Church." The point in the statement lies in the fact that the village cemetery is near the church.

"Do you know, Jack, I feel sometimes like making an end to myself," was a declaration that John Boyle testified Lee had made to him last February.

Jas. McClinchy, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Lee, told the court he had often heard Lee talk about his troubles. Witness thought the deceased was given to worrying. On May 24th last he had told witness when they were clipping some sheep that he would not clip these sheep again as he would not be here to clip them next year.

Crown Witnesses.

Witnesses called by the Crown, in addition to those whose evidence was reported in last week's Banner, included Dr. Cunningham, of Alliston, who had prescribed the medicine Lee was taking at the time of his death; Dr. Rooney, of Orangeville, who held the Coroner's inquest; Drs. White and McLean, of Shelburne, and Drs. Henry and Kyles, of Orangeville. The medical men were all agreed that the symptoms attending the illness and the condition of the body indicated strychnine poisoning. Drs. Henry and Kyles, who performed the autopsy, swore positively that Lee's death was caused by poisoning. Linnaeus J. Rogers, professor of analytical chemistry in the University of Toronto, who made the analysis of the stomach of the dead man and its contents, testified that he had not been able to find any traces of strychnine. This however, was not unusual, even in cases where the history of the death showed conclusively that strychnine had been administered.

Mrs. Mary Jane Cockerill, a neighbor of the Lees, testified that the prisoner's daughter, Bertha, had summoned her to the Lee place on the night of Lee's death. While in the dining room after the death she had noticed the two bottles of medicine standing on the dining room table. While she was in the room she saw Mrs. Lee take up one of the bottles and heard her say:

"I will throw this out. Robert was never well since he took it."

Prisoner's son, Jimmie, said, "No, don't throw it out. It may be needed."

Mrs. Lee then took the bottle to the kitchen and witness saw her stoop down as if placing it on the floor. Witness was positive that Mrs. Lee was not out of her sight long enough to empty the bottle. Cross-examined by Mr. McKeown witness stated that she had met Lee frequently during the past summer. When she met him he invariably said something that indicated that he was tired of life.

John Lee, a brother of the deceased, testified that Mrs. Lee had asked him to accompany her to Orangeville to look after her insurance and to get a lawyer to plead her case. He refused to go and by way of reason told her that if she was an innocent woman she did not need to bother about a lawyer to defend her until after the funeral.

Detective Paxton stated that he was detailed on August 26th to investigate the Lee case. He and High Constable Marshall saw Mrs. Lee at her home in Rosemont on August 28th. She admitted buying the arsenic in Alliston, but declared that she had never had any other poison in the house and had never purchased any other poison at any other place. Prisoner finally made the admission, "Well, I have some other poison out here." She then handed the witness a small bottle labelled laudanum, which she procured from a shelf in the room formerly used as a veterinary office.

Counsel Address Jury.

Mr. McKeown, counsel for the defence, addressed the jury for upwards of an hour immediately after the Court resumed at 7 o'clock on Wednesday night. The defence counsel, whose conduct of the whole case for the defence, was skillfully planned and carried out, made an impressive effort and was followed with the closest interest by jury and spectators. He enlarged upon the opportunities that Mrs. Lee had to poison her husband, if she had desired to do so, during his illness and at other times prior to his death. Mr. McKeown also contended that there was not a moment between the time when Lee took his medicine on the morning of the day of his death without any harmful effect and the time of his death at night, when Mrs. Lee had any opportunity to place strychnine in his medicine without the act coming under the observation of some person. The conduct of Lee after he became ill was in keeping only with the conduct of a man who had taken the poison himself. The evidence showed that the deceased was morose and melancholy and acted like a man who felt he had not much to live for. There was more evidence to indicate that he had taken his own life than there was evidence to show that he had been poisoned by his wife.

Crown Prosecutor Grier, who spoke for forty-five minutes, discussed in detail the various theories advanced to account for Lee's death. These he stated, were suicide, the agency of some unknown person or persons who might have placed strychnine in Lee's medicine during the absence of the family, the action of the doctor's medicine untampered with and the administration of poison in the medicine by the prisoner. After examining and rejecting the first three theories as lacking substantial support from the evidence, the Crown Prosecutor proceeded to examine the fourth. He stressed the fact that in response to her husband's request to bring in a man the prisoner had gone to Norman Palmer's house and stated that her husband had been poisoned. Later she suggested that the family had all been poisoned and sought to strengthen her statement by making an unsuccessful attempt to vomit. Commenting on the destruction of the contents of Lee's medicine bottle Mr. Grier told the jury that it was inconceivable that any innocent person would not do his or her utmost to preserve this most important piece of evidence.

His Lordship's charge was distinctly unfavorable to the prisoner. Lee, the Court stated, had undoubtedly died from the effects of strychnine, administered either by his wife or himself. The bottle of medicine was an all-important factor in the case. Prisoner had threatened to destroy the medicine, stating that "Robert had never been well since he took it." As a matter of fact the husband had taken two or more doses of the medicine on Sunday before his death and was in better health Sunday night and Monday morning than he had been previously. In closing His Lordship emphasized the fact that the accused must be given the benefit of any reasonable doubt and that in a criminal case it was necessary for the jury to be unanimous in order to either convict or acquit.

RHEUMATIC PAINS HAVE DISAPPEARED

As a Result of Treating the Trouble Through the Blood.

The chief symptom of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that most quickly relieves and banishes the pain. Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood; when rheumatism is associated with thin blood it cannot be corrected until the blood is built up.

Mr. Ed. Hall, Main-a-Dieu, N. S., suffered from rheumatism for years, but was more fortunate than many victims of the disease for he found a remedy that so built up his entire system that he is now free from rheumatism. Mr. Hall says: "I was taken down with rheumatism, and at times was under the treatment of several of the best doctors in Cape Breton, but they held out no hope for my recovery from the trouble. I was confined to bed for three years and a helpless cripple from the trouble. I could not move, and had to be turned in sheets. My legs and fingers were drawn out of shape, and sores developed on my body as the result of my long confinement to bed. I was in this serious condition when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. The first benefit I felt from the pills was an improved appetite, and then I began to feel stronger, and was finally able to get out of bed and go about on crutches. I continued taking the pills for months, slowly but surely getting new strength, and finally I was able to lay the crutches aside. I will always be lame. As the result of my long stay in bed my left leg has shortened somewhat, but otherwise I am feeling fine and able to do my work as Fishery Overseer. I may add that when the rheumatism came on I weighed 140 pounds, and when I began going about on crutches I only weighed 67 pounds, and now I am at normal weight. There are many here who know and can vouch for the truth of these statements."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AWARDED DAMAGES

Defendant Advanced Case Apparently Unassailable.

Court Takes Occasion to Make Some Pointed Comments on Habits of Some Car Drivers.

Judge Vance has just handed down rather a lengthy judgment in the case Rankin vs. Brown, a case of considerable interest to motorists. C. F. Rankin of Tiny sued I. K. Brown of Midland in Midland division court for $75 damages to his car, due to a collision. Brown counterclaimed for $161, his car also being smashed. The accident happened on July 13 near Firth's Corners where Rankin had stopped his car on the side of the road to make repairs. Brown came along and when passing struck the injured car. Brown claimed that Rankin had only one light burning on his car at the time and Brown was unable to know how close he was to the road. In connection with the judgment the judge says:—

"I formed the opinion at the trial and after giving the matter further consideration and reading Mr. Finlayson's argument, I have not changed my mind that the plaintiff should succeed. If it had been a motorcycle and the owner standing at the side of the car, he would have been struck and likely killed by the defendant, or if a basket had been attached to the supposed motorcycle it would have been struck. I therefore find that the defendant was negligent in going so close to the car he struck, no matter what he thought it was. The law says that the lights on the car shall be clearly visible at least 200 feet. The purpose of lights on an automobile is not only to enable a person approaching to see it, but also to enable a driver to see a reasonable distance ahead.

"The mere fact that defendant's automobile carried only one light while the statute requires two is not decisive against his right to recovery for injuries sustained in an accident at night, but of course it is some evidence that the defendant was not negligent. Where the lights from an approaching car are so bright as to blind the eyes of the other driver, the latter may be negligent if he proceeds. The same principle holds where rain, mist or fog prevail so as to obscure the outlook, or where the eyes are blinded by the sun. In these cases a driver is bound to exercise proper care and if necessary stop his car.

"I therefore hold that the defendant did not take proper precautions in passing that car on the side of the road and that he alone was the cause of the accident. In fact I formed the opinion at the trial that the defendant must have acted like far too many drivers, trying to see how long they can hold the road and postpone turning out to the last fraction of a second, and also see how close they can come to the car passing. Even if this had ben a motorcycle, as the defendant says he thought it was, he went too close to it, taking his own story. He had lots of room to take more. It is better always to be safe and sure.

"I don't think the plaintiff's claim is excessive under the circumstances. It is true it was an old car, but he is entitled to protection and to the same protection that the defendant would for his new car. There will, therefore, be judgment for the plaintiff's claim and costs and the defendant's counter claim is dismissed with costs."

P. S. ENTERTAINMENT

YOUNG WOMEN AVOID PAIN

This One Tells How She Was Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"For two years I suffered from periodic pains and nausea so I was unable to get around. My mother had me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am much better and able to go about all the time, which I could not do before. I recommend Vegetable Compound to my friends if I know they suffer the same way, and you may publish my letter if it will help any one, as I hope it will."—Miss Z. G. BLACKWELL, 2073 Osler Place, Regina, Sask.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sideache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

BOOTLEGGER INJURED

Milton McCullough Found Under His Automobile Near Holland Landing.

As the result of a motor accident, which took place about a mile south of Holland Landing one evening recently, Milton McCullough, a laborer from the Stroud district, is dead, and three others are injured. The most serious injuries were sustained by Mrs. McCullough, who has a fractured skull, and who is not expected to recover. A two-year-old boy has slight skin wounds, a four-year old girl escaped injuries, while Robert Alliston, also of Stroud, was severely bruised about the head. Alliston operates a threshing outfit in the Stroud district.

The exact cause of the accident is not known, as none of the injured have recovered sufficiently to give the details of the accident. The discovery of the accident was made by another automobile party travelling along the road. They found the McCullough car upturned on the side of the road, badly wrecked, and with the motoring party under it. The injured were taken to the nearby farm house of Mrs. Roy Belfrey, and four doctors and a nurse were summoned. The doctors came from Newmarket, while Mrs. Joe Gibson, of Sharon, is the nurse in charge. The injured will be removed to Toronto.

McCullough is the man who was convicted in Alliston more than a year ago on the charge of making whisky in his home in the swamp between Angus and Barrie. Inspector Robinson laid the charge and Constable Williams, when making the arrest, found abundant evidence of a complete still and also secured some of the product. It was at the trial of McCullough that one of the witnesses created a mild sensation when after he had confessed to having drunk liquor made by McCullough, was asked to taste the sample and gubbed it all down. McCullough at that time was given six months in the county jail. When he was delivered into the hands of the jailer he was recognized as the man who had jumped bail some time previous. A sentence for this offence was added to the one for making swamp whisky and McCullough languished in jail a year or more. Since regaining his liberty he has been living in the Churchill neighborhood and has prospered. His wife was placed in the custody of the Children's Aid Society when the father was sent to jail. McCullough also drove a car. He was popularly credited with making liquor and selling it to the men working on the provincial highway now going through Bradford. In the car which caused McCullough's death it is reported two bottles of swamp whisky were found.

ANTS AS HOUSEMAIDS

The inhabitants of certain parts of South America never bother to spring-clean their houses; they have no need to bother, for it is all done for them free of charge and in the quickest possible way.

As is the case in most hot countries, their houses are infested with insect pests, which cannot be got rid of by any ordinary means.

The people simply endure them and pray for the coming of other insects—the ants.

A Large Picnic Party.

The Sauba ant is a terrible fellow, as big as an earwig, and with an appetite that is incredible. Once or twice during the year these ants go on foraging expeditions which may take them for miles. They move in dense columns millions and millions strong, and wherever they pass no living thing is left.

One day a shout is heard in the village: "The ants are coming; the Saubas are here!" Instantly the whole place is in a hustle. Everything movable is cleared out of the houses, and whole families remove themselves and their possessions to a safe distance, abandoning the village to the ants.

The Saubas overrun the whole place; every house is entered and gone through with the utmost thoroughness. Not a crack or chink escapes their attention. Pests of all kinds are simply wiped out, and as they go the ants devour every scrap of grease and remove all dirt.

When the villagers return in the evening they find their houses swept and garnished, and as clean as new pins.

IN MEMORY OF SERVICES

Unveiling Ceremony at the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

On November 7th, Armistice Day, at 3 o'clock, a bronze tablet bearing the names of five men of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff who served overseas in the Great War, was unveiled.

The Manager, Mr. T. S. Little, commenced the proceedings by announcing the purpose of the meeting. He stated that the Canadian Bank of Commerce was placing a similar tablet in each of its branches. He pointed out that while the names inscribed on the Orangeville tablet are those of the four men who enlisted from this branch and of one who enlisted from Danville branch, but was brought up in the vicinity of Orangeville, it is essentially commemorative of the 1701 men of the Bank's service, who undertook military duty, 258 of whom laid down their lives. He read the records of Lieutenant D. B. Hartle, Staff Sergeant J. M. Leighton, M. S. M., Lieutenant F. I. Lewis, Captain R. H. Neilson and Private W. B. Trenouth whose names are perpetrated on the tablet.

He then called upon Col. J. A. V. Preston, late commander of the 39th Battalion, who unveiled the handsome bronze memorial tablet.

Then followed the dedicatory prayer given by Capt. Rev. T. Hudson Stewart, M. C.

The Manager asked Mr. C. R. McKeown, K. C., to address the gathering. In his remarks the speaker said the Canadian Bank of Commerce was doing a splendid work in placing a memorial tablet in each of its branches. He personally would like to see a tablet in every bank, in every school-house, in every institution and in every warehouse so that in future, the children yet unborn might be able to look and see what sacrifices their ancestors had made during the Great War of 1914-1918. He then gave a brief account of each of the men whose names were inscribed on the tablet and who were known to him personally.

The ceremony then closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The names and records inscribed on the tablet are as follows:—

You Can Make the Skin Soft, Smooth and Velvety

by using

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

IT is always interesting to make a discovery.

Women, as well as men, find joy in discovering something which they can tell others about.

Many thousands of women have quite accidentally discovered in Dr. Chase's Ointment, a skin beautifier of rare value.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment is so universally used as a treatment for eczema and the skin troubles of babyhood, its effectiveness as a beautifier of the skin is sometimes lost sight of, until using it for these ailments of the skin its benefit to the skin itself is once more discovered.

With the modern use of powders and cosmetics the skin becomes dry and harsh, irritations are set up, pimples and blackheads are formed.

The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and pliable, and restores the healthful action of the pores of the skin which have been clogged by the use of powders.

The woman who is admired for the exquisitely fine texture and velvety softness of her skin is the one who regularly uses Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can discover this for yourself by giving this delightfully soothing, healing ointment a few weeks' trial.

Eczema

Miss Bessie Stewart, Lanark, Ont., writes: "I first took eczema on my head, and had to have my hair cut. Then the eczema broke out on the fingers of my right hand. It was so itchy I couldn't keep from scratching it, and it began to spread. In reading an old Almanac that mother had, I noticed that Dr. Chase's Ointment was recommended for eczema, so I sent for a sample box. I used the ointment every night, and soon saw a difference. I got a full-sized box at the druggist's, and later another one, but I never needed the second, because after the use of the first box the eczema disappeared from both my head and fingers."

Tender Skin

Many men suffer from skin irritations of an eczemic nature as a result of shaving. In its more aggravated form this is known as "Barber's Itch." If your skin is tender you will find it good to apply Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving. Wash thoroughly with hot water, dry the skin carefully without rubbing, and apply the ointment. This heals the irritated skin, keeps it soft and pliable, and by its antiseptic influence prevents the spread of skin trouble.

Many Uses

There are scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful in the home. It is the standard ointment, and is used with great satisfaction for

Eczema and Salt Rheum
Shingles, Tetter and Ringworm
Scald Head and Baby Eczema
Pimples and Blackheads
Chafing and Skin Irritation
Sore Feet and Toes
Ingrowing Toe Nails
Rough, Red Skin; Erysipelas
Chilblains and Frost Bites
Poisoned Skin; Poison Ivy
Itch, Barber's Itch, Prairie Itch
Hives and Insect Bites
Scalds and Burns
Sore and Cracked Nipples
Chapped Hands and Face
Sore and Inflamed Eyelids
Old Sores and Bed Sores
Hemorrhoids or Piles

Baby's Skin

Mrs. Everett Roberts, 44 Endicott Ave., Halifax, N.S., writes: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for my baby, who had ringworm all over his face. I tried almost everything I knew of without success until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This completely freed him of this annoying skin trouble in a short time. I would not be without this ointment in the house, and trust this may induce others to give it a trial and be convinced of its merits."

GREEK CATHOLICS AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The request of the Greek Catholics of Toronto to be assessed as Public School supporters is a tribute to the general management of the Public Schools in this city. There are only about 2,000 members of the Greek Catholic Church in Toronto; about 10,000 members scattered all over Ontario, and about a hundred thousand in the whole Dominion. They are not strong enough to have Greek Catholic Schools for their own children, even if they desired to do so. In Toronto they can send their children either to the Public Schools or the Roman Catholic Separate Schools, but they prefer the Public Schools.

The Greek Catholic religion appears to be more like Roman Catholicism than Protestantism. There is not much difference, except that the Greek Catholics refuse to recognize the Pope as the head of their Church. It might naturally be expected that the apparent similarity between Greek Catholicism and Roman Catholicism would be an inducement for the Greek Catholics to send their children to the Roman Catholic schools. In spite of all that, however, they declare that they want their children to go to the Public Schools, and the law of Ontario protects them in that right.

The request of the Greek Catholics to have the mistakes of assessors rectified and their children admitted to the Public Schools shows the advantage both to religious minorities and the country at large to have a Public School system open to every class and creed. The educational policy of the Roman hierarchy would compel a minority like the Greek Catholics to either send their children to a school where dogmas were taught which they did not believe, or let their children grow up without any education. The desire of the Greek Catholics to send their children to the Public Schools to mingle with other races and creeds is an example that could be followed by the Roman hierarchy with profit to both Roman Catholics and the country at large.—Orange Sentinel.

FRENCH—MANNING

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning, First St., at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, November 16th, when their only daughter, Ethel, became the bride of Mr. Russell French, of Orangeville. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. H. L. Partridge, the family pastor, in the presence of a few immediate friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her travelling costume and carried white carnations. The wedding music was played by Miss Gladys Ewing. After receiving the congratulations of the assembled friends, the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. French motored to Brampton, whence they left for a short honeymoon trip to Georgetown, Hamilton and Toronto, arriving home again on Monday evening. The bride's travelling costume was of navy blue serge, with long seal stole and hat to match. The young couple are well-known and highly esteemed and the hearty good wishes of a large number of friends will accompany them as they set out on their journey through life. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts. The groom's gift was a cabinet of silver and to the pianiste a gold bar pin with onyx set with pearls.

On Friday night prior to her marriage a number of girl friends and members of the Methodist church tendered the bride a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. James Ewing, First. St. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion and a delightful time was spent in music and other amusements. About forty people were present and the bride-to-be received a large numbr of usful and pretty gifts.

It is something entirely new, simple and easy to apply and will rout any catarrh of the head, nose or throat in SEVEN DAYS OR LESS in your own home.

Every victim knows how filthy and loathsome catarrh is. The diseased mucus is a stench. You are pestful to family and friends. It tires you, weakens you, dulls your mind and your will. And there are millions of germs in the hawking, coughing and spitting which you innocently give to others.

If you are sincere in wanting to be relieved without delay, write at once to "Nurse Jan-O-Sun, Rg'd., Apartment 156 230 Craig St. W., Montreal," simply giving your name and address, and the rest will be attended to promptly so that you can try it seven days.

Friendship-Yes! But—

"The Bill will not let in Canadian wheat, but will save to the American farmer the right to raise a bushel of wheat instead of transferring that right to Canada."—Mr. Fordney, in introducing the Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill which has shut millions of dollars worth of Canadian foodstuffs out of the United States market.

"If we are to build up a self-sustaining agriculture here at home, the farmer must be protected from unfair competition from those countries where agriculture is still being exploited."—President Harding. The very spot chosen to deliver this speech—Minnesota—shows that Harding had the Canadian North-West in mind.

WHILE ties of friendship unite Canada and the United States, the attitude of Uncle Sam is that of "Business First", and Canada cannot and should not hope for any consideration from the United States where the interests of the farmers and business people of that country are involved.

Uncle Sam has built the Fordney Tariff directly against Canadian agriculture, and new additional Tariff proposals are now under consideration to shut out from the United States Canadian goods of every kind.

These measures are due to the insistence of the American farmer that the United States market shall be retained exclusively for him and that the influx of Canadian farm products into that country must cease. They are also due to a like insistence of United States manufacturers and workers, who have seen their country develop tremendously and grow rich under a Protective Tariff, and who believe that a still further increase in Tariff is the only means of assuring continued prosperity.

CONTRAST THE ATTITUDE OF THE UNITED STATES LEADERS WITH THAT OF CANADA'S WOULD-BE LEADERS, CRERAR AND KING

Crerar proposes to allow American goods to enter the Canadian market free of duty.

King proposes that the present reasonable Tariff on the products of the American factory and farm shall be greatly reduced, and that the home market of the Canadian farmer and manufacturer alike shall be thrown open to our Southern neighbour, in the face of the United States Emergency tariff, which practically shuts out Canadian farm products from these markets, and also in the face of the permanent tariff now under consideration at Washington, which gives every promise of being even more drastic than the Emergency Tariff so far as our products are concerned.

In view of the attitude of the United States, what folly it is for Crerar and King to propose throwing open the Canadian market to a flood of both agricultural and manufactured products of the United States when there is not the slightest possibility of any compensative advantage to Canada.

Does any sane Canadian believe that Crerar or King, hat in hand, could persuade the United States Government to completely reverse its Tariff policies and agree to reciprocal trade in face of American public demand for a high protective Tariff?

The people of the United States conduct their affairs and protect themselves by the principle that "Business is business." Why should Canada do otherwise?

Unlike Crerar or King, MEIGHEN stands firm for a reasonable Tariff to protect all our industries — those of the farm, the sea, the mine, the forest, the factory, and for the building up of a bigger and better Canada through the full development of the home market.

FRIENDSHIP WITH THE UNITED STATES? YES, BY ALL MEANS!

BUT— let us defend our home market, our industries, our farms, our workmen, our homes by the same methods as are used so effectively against us.

Let us work out our own destiny—that of a strong, self-contained nation within the British Empire group of Nations, courageous, masterful, self-reliant.

MASONIC BODY ASKS CHARTER

New Preceptory May Bear Name of "Charles W. McGuire."

That London is rapidly becoming one of the most important Masonic centres in Canada is evidenced by the announcement that plans are now under way for the organization of a new preceptory of Knights Templar here. At present there is but one preceptory in London, namely the Richard Coeur De Lion, with a membership of more than 750 Masons of London and district.

It is interesting to note that the name suggested for the new preceptory is "Charles W. McGuire Preceptory," as a tribute to a London business man of that name who was a popular member of the Masonic Order. Prior to his death last winter Mr. McGuire was an officer in several bodies and to his untiring energy the credit for bringing into being the present Masonic Temple, the London home of all branches of the Order, has been given.

The application for a warrant for the new preceptory is in the hands of those interested in its formation, and has been completely filled out by the charter members. It will be forwarded to headquarters this week, and in the near future thenew preceptory will be on a working basis in London, conferring degrees upon accepted candidates. It is stated that several members of Richard Coeur De Lion Preceptory are desirous of identifying themselves with the new preceptory.—London Advertiser.

The late Mr. McGuire, whose memory it is proposed to honor so signally, was a onetime Mono boy, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGuire, of Relessey. Mr. Jack McGuire, Relessey, and Mrs. T. J. Robinson, Zina St., are brother and sister.

DR. BARTON SAYS HARD WORK IS GOOD

Dr. Wm. E. Barton, a well known American newspaper contributor, writes:

I have heard of men working themselves to death, but I do not think I have ever known any one to do it.

I have known a good many men who had died from what was called overwork, but I doubt the diagnosis.

Work is good for men. It does not kill them, and they can do more of it than most of them do.

I believe fully that most men could do much more work and be better for it.

Work is good for body and brain.

But work combined with worry kills men, and worry without work kills them faster.

I never advise men not to work so hard, but I do advise them to vary their work, and not worry about it.

I do not talk on this matter wholly as a theorist. I know what hard work is. I have earned my living with my hands. It did me good. The long, hard days which for three years I put in upon a farm have been a life-long blessing to me.

The hours were long. Five o'clock in the morning found us up and at work, and we were still at it when it grew dark. It did not hurt us. And it was not so hard but that I found time for some good reading. Hard physical labor is good for men.

And so is hard mental labor, the harder the better. Most of our work is not hard enough; it does not compel us to do our best.

But worry will kill any man who lets it prey upon him.

The man who can work and sleep and not worry will never die in the poorhouse.

And when he dies he will not die from overwork, no matter how hard he works.

Work is a great blessing, and most of us do not do enough of it to keep us as healthy as we ought to be.

FOR THE BLIND

Two Jewish tradesmen had shops in Brighton, one in the King's road and one in a side street. Ikey, the "side-street" man, noticed that his friend had a brand new sun-blind and commented on the cost.

"Vy, Mosey, it must have cost you twenty quid?"

"Es, it's a fine blind and worth fully twenty, but, my friend, it cost me nix."

"No, not a penny. You see, in these var times people have plenty of money for charity, so I put a notice up in my vinder, 'Donations for the blind,' mit a collecting-box, and in less than a week I haf the money." — From Sparks from the Smoke-room, by F. Litchfield.

NEGRO WIT

A contributor sends in the following old story for publication:—

Seventy years ago the Southern States kept the negroes in slavery. One rich young planter who had a lot of darky slaves was about to be married. When all dressed up he said to one of his negroes:

"Well, Pompey, how do I look now?"

"Eligant, Massa, you look as bad as a lion."

"How do you know, Pompey? You never saw a lion."

"Yes, Massa; I saw one down by Massa Jinker's stable the other day."

"You great fool, Pompey, that was a jackass, not a lion."

"Can't help it Massa; you look just like him."

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

Detta was bustling round, helping her mother wash dishes and dust, for Aunt Hilda from the city was coming the next day to pay a visit. Detta and her mother even went out to straighten up the garden.

It was chilly for early October. "Dear me!" said mother, "I'm afraid there will be a frost to-night. If there is it will be an end of the asters; and I did so much want them to be pretty when Hilda came!"

Detta went to the fence and looked over into the Bowen's vegetable garden.

"Is frost coming to-night?" she asked Mr. Bowen, who was digging late potatoes.

"Not if it stays cloudy," he said. "But if it clears, we shall have a frost."

"If the flowers were kept warm, would the frost hurt them?" asked Detta.

"No," Mr. Bowen replied, "but it is hard to keep things warm out of doors without our old friend, the sun, to help with the job."

Detta went to bed early, but she did not go to sleep; instead she lay and watched the sky through her window. The clouds drifted away slowly, and the stars began to shine one by one. It was clearing off; now for the frost!

Detta cuddled down under her quilt. "The poor asters!" she said. "They will not be fit for Aunt Hilda to look at"

She lay still for a long while and pondered over the plight of the asters. "Now, if I myself were out in the garden this chilly night, I shouldn't be cold," she thought, "because I'd have on plenty of clothes."

Then another thought came to her. "Why shouldn't flowers wear clothes when they need them?"

She got softly out of bed and put on her flannel dressing gown and her slippers and stockings. Stealing over to the closet where her clothes hung, she piled her arms high with dresses, coats and sweaters. Then she tiptoed downstairs and out into the garden.

The moon was shining bright, and the asters were still holding their brave heads high. But they would soon begin to feel the cold.

Detta stood still and looked at them; she began to feel doubtful. What if the clothes should be too heavy and weigh them down?

Beside the fence there was a pile of sharpened stakes; the sight of them gave Detta a new idea; the stakes could be used to hold up the garments. Laying the clothes on the ground, she set to work.

At last, when she straightened up every clump of asters had a tall slim stick to guard it.

"Now I can go ahead and dress the flowers," she said.

Five minutes later one corner of the garden was a queer-looking place. Two coats and three dresses with two sweaters seemed to be standing there alone, and the asters had disappeared from view. Inside the house a tired little girl was tiptoeing upstairs, to snuggle down under the blanket with a sigh of relief.

Detta waked a little after sunrise. "Dear me," she thought, I didn't leave myself a single thing to wear to-day."

Slipping her wrapper on, she ran out into the garden, hurriedly gathering up her clothes and ran back to her room.

When she went down to breakfast her father and mother were busy talking.

"I can't understand it," her mother was saying. "The frost was so heavy that the other flowers were badly hurt, but the asters look just as they looked yesterday."

Detta smiled to herself over her oatmeal and cream. "I won't tell on the asters," she thought.

But that afternoon when she and her mother were showing their guest about the garden and Aunt Hilda was admiring the asters, Mr. Bowen put his head over the fence.

"Where are your scarecrows, Mrs. Perry?" he asked.

"What do you mean?" said Detta's mother.

"Why, I looked out of my window a little after dawn," said Mr. Bowen, and there were five scarecrows over there in the corner where the asters are. Handsomely dressed, too.

Detta stamped her foot, but she was laughing. "They didn't have on a thing but my old clothes," she said.

Then the secret was out, of course.

Aunt Hilda carried home a big bunch of asters. "I should never have had them but for Detta's coats and dresses."

THE WARDEN'S SUPPER

Popular Social Function Took Place at The Queen's Hotel on Friday Night.

That time honored social function known as the Warden's Supper took place in The Queen's Hotel on Friday night and was the usual unqualified success. About fifty guests occupied seats at the festive board. The guests included members of the County Council, the county officials, ex-Wardens, members and officials of East Garafraxa council and a number of representative men of the county. Mine Host William Savage provided a splendid menu, to which ample justice was done. After the covers had been removed County Treasurer C. R. Wheelock took charge of the toast list in his usual happy manner. The opening toast, "The King," was honored by the hearty singing of the National Anthem. Col. J. A. V. Preston proposed "The Empire" in an apt speech. Eloquent responses were made by Rev. Capt. Harper, of Hillsburg, and Rev. Capt. T. H. Stewart, of Orangeville. Judge Fisher proposed "The Dominion of Canada" in a speech that contained a wealth of interesting historical information. The responses by John Best, late M. P. for Dufferin, and Mr. W. E. Liddy, P. S. Inspector, were of a high order. Mr. C. E. McKeown spoke in patriotic strain when proposing "The Province of Ontario." Rev. W. M. Morris, of Toronto, and Mr. D. B. Brown replied in speeches that bristled with anecdotes and humorous illusions. In a serious vein Mr. Morris spoke at some length on the educational problems of the Province. "The County of Dufferin" was proposed by Mr. A. A. Hughson and responded to by Messrs. C. V. Jeffers, W. Logan Grain, Hugh Falconer, T. J. O'Flynn, A. D. McKitrick, T. W. Reid, J. H. McKee, Wm. McGhee, E. E. Hilborn, J. J. Reith and John Bryan. Toastmaster Wheelock proposed the concluding toast, "The Warden," which was received with great enthusiasm. When Warden James Brown rose to reply he was greeted with a round of the heartiest kind of applause followed by the singing of the familiar lines, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." The Warden spoke briefly, stating that it had been a very great pleasure to entertain the gathering and he hoped all had enjoyed the evening to the full. He made a happy reference to the harmonious year in the County Council and thanked the members of the Council for the attention they had given to the business of the county during the year and for the splendid support they had given him in the discharge of his duties as Warden. The banquet was brought to a close in the wee, sma' hours with the singing of Auld Lang Syne. Altogether it was a delightful evening and an event to which Warden Brown and his guests can always look back with feelings of unmixed joy.

WOODS' MEETING

Three Hundred People Heard Progressive Candidate and His Speakers in the Opera House on Tuesday Night.

Mr. R. J. Woods, the Progressive candidate in Dufferin, held a successful meeting in the Orangeville Opera House on Tuesday night. The meeting was held under unfavorable conditions on account of the failure of the town's lighting system, which was out of commission all afternoon and night by reason of the ice storm. In the absence of the usual lighting the Opera House was illuminated by coal oil lamps and a number of stable lanterns, the latter being hung at intervals along the walls. About three hundred people attended the meeting and gave the speakers a closely attentive hearing. Mr. J. M. McNaughton occupied the chair.

Mr. Woods, the first speaker, spoke in much the same strain as in his nomination speech here last week. He discussed at some length the attempts to remove the cattle embargo giving Hon. Manning Doherty praise for his energetic efforts in this direction. On the subject of protection Mr. Woods contended that the farmer did not need protection as he was obliged to dispose of his surplus products in outside markets. Premier Meighen and his speakers prophesied calamity to the workingmen if protection were withdrawn from the manufacturers, but Mr. Woods pointed out that thousands of workmen had been turned out on the streets under protection. The speaker questioned the political consistency of Premier Meighen on the tariff question and described Hon. Mr. Crerar as an unselfish and a thorough business man. Mr. Woods discussed the bilingual school question at some length basing his remarks on a circular purporting to have been issued from U. F. O. headquarters in favor of these schools. Mr. Woods asserted very positively that the circular had not been issued from the U. F. O. headquarters, declaring that if it had been so issued and authentic it would have borne the signature of Mr. J. J. Morrison. The candidate again refuted the charge that he had refused to pray for the soldiers during the war, stating that wherever he had held services he had always offered up prayers for the boys in the trenches and the soldiers overseas.

Mr. T. K. Slack, M. L. A., drew attention to Canada's heavy debt burden and censured the Government for its failure to cut down the expenditures of the country after the war was over. Last year Canada had continued to increase its debt at the rate of $12,000 an hour. Mr. Slack discussed the loan for the relief of starving Roumania, stated that of the $22,000,000 credit only $3,000,000 was expended in buying and shipping foodstuffs and then drew a picture of the Roumanians digesting self-binders, reapers and mowers. The Provincial member also criticised the Government severely for its failure to collect excess profits tax from the Riordons and other large manufacturing concerns.

Senator Turriff, of Saskatchewan, discussed the abilities and qualifications of the three party leaders. His conclusion was that while Crerar might not be as brilliant as Meighen or King he was the best man and the best Canadian of the three. The Western speaker was severe in his condemnation of the method of preparing the Voters' Lists and pointed out that if the writs had been issued a couple of weeks earlier many of the municipal lists could have been used with a resultant saving of a considerable sum to the country. Mr. Turriff instanced numerous cases of reckless and extravagant spending of public monies during and since the war and when asked if he wanted the audience to infer that certain contractors were making a profit of over $81.00 on every $100 wages they paid on a Government shipbuilding contract, replied that he was not dealing in inferences, but was simply giving the "cold, disgraceful facts." He did not blame the Government for building ships during the war when the Germans were sinking vessels at an alarming rate, but was it good business to go on building ships two and a half years after the war at three times the cost at which they could be purchased. Senator Turriff charged that under the administration of Hon. Mr. Ballantyne $70,000,000 had been put into a merchant marine that could not be sold for $25,000,000 to-day. The speaker further averred that he had the authority of some of the best minds in Canada that the Government could cut the expenditures of the country $75,000,000, or possibly $100,000,000 a year, without interfering in the slightest with any public service. The civil service, he charged, was over-manned and could be cut down very materially without interfering with its efficiency. On the subject of the tariff the speaker spoke of conditions in his own constituency which borders the United States for 100 miles and drew an amusing picture of good Tory farmers near the line, who were protectionists by day and free traders by night. In conclusion Senator Turriff made a strong plea for support for Mr. Woods, declaring his conviction that the farmers of Canada, representing as they do fifty per cent. of the population of the country, should have more to say in the government of the country than they have had in the past.

The meeting closed at 11.30 with the singing of God Save the King and cheers for Mr. Woods and Hon. Mr. Crerar.

RAWN-YOUUG

"Maple Dale Farm," Athlone, Ont., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, November 16th, 1921, at 6 o'clock when their twin daughter, Evelyn Victoria, became the bride of Mr. Henry Wilson Rawn, of Palgrave, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Rawn, Palgrave. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S.D. Dinnick, of Mono Mills, the family pastor, in the presence of about fifty guests. To the strains of the wedding bells march played by her sister, Adrienne the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch of evergreens prettily decorated with bunting and white bells. She was becomingly gowned in a dress of white satin and georgette trimmed with pearls, and wore the customary bridal veil, caught in cap style by a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She also wore the groom's gift, a gold wrist watch. She was attended by little Miss Mildred Rawn as flower girl, gowned in white satin with overdress of blue georgette tastefully beaded and carrying a bouquet of white 'mums. Little Lloyd Pettit, who carried the ring concealed in a basket of white 'mums, wore a dainty suit of white velvet embroidered in blue. After the ceremony the happy couple led the way to the dining room where a sumptuous wedding repast was served, after which the young couple left for their future home, the groom's farm, near Palgrave, the bride wearing a grey cloth coat, fur trimmed, over a dress of blue taffeta, embroidered in sand and duvetyne hat. The gifts were many and costly, showing the esteem in which the young couple are held.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOTES

No action was taken on John Shields claim for $11.95 for damages to his buggy while on the way from Shelburne to Horning's Mills.

The Department of Provincial Highways notified the Council that the Amaranth-East Garafraxa townline to the western limit of the County, the Shelburne-Horning's Mills road and the Hockley Road have been designated as Provincial County Roads.

H. C. Porter claimed $300 for damage to his car through an upset on the Dufferin Simcoe townline and an additional $200 for injuries to himself and his assistant. The Council disclaimed liability.

Council decided to petition the Legislature to supermumate Ex-Governor Bowles.

Warden Brown was granted an honorarium of $150.

Mr. T. W. Reid, Reeve of Amaranth, was voted to the chair, when Warden Brown was asked to retire, while the Council expressed its appreciation of his efficient services during the year. This was done on motion of Ex-Warden Jeffers, seconded by Reeve Bower. Mr. Reid's selection may be taken to indicate that he will have a good chance for the Warden's chair if re-elected next year.

The sum of $568 was paid to the Mothers' Allowance Board.

The Council shouldered a deficit of $144.50 reported by the Children's Aid Society and also voted the further sum of $100 to the organization.

The successful tenderers for gaol supplies were:—F. T. Hill & Co., groceries; Hugh McMillan, meat; Mrs. McKenzie, milk.

The concrete bridge over the Credit River east of Orangeville cost $2498.46. As the bridge is on the boundary between Peel and Dufferin half of the cost will be borne by Peel County.

G. E. Hayes, Orangeville, and Cecil Stewart, Shelburne, were appointed County Auditors.

Gaol salaries were fixed as follows:—Gaoler, $1400; Matron, $400; Caretaker, $400.

By-law 488 relating to Good Roads was amended by eliminating the following clause:—

"In all cases the amount expended in each municipality under the Good Roads scheme shall be in proportion to the equalization of the assessment of said municipality."

The amendment changes the system in this county from a township-county system to a straight county system.

A WORD FOR WOODS

Shelburne, Nov. 28th 1921.

To the Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—

The Banner may not desire to take an active part in the present contest in Dufferin for Federal honors, but as you are always willing to allow fair play to all parties, we would ask space for a few of (our) remarks, not The Banner's.

We have nothing but good to say of Mr. John Best, as a neighbor and citizen, but in the matter of electing a representative for Dufferin for the House of Commons, we certainly need a change. We need a member who will think, speak and act for himself in the interests of his constituents and of the Dominion as a whole, and not be subject to the crack of the party whip. We have such a candidate in Mr. Woods, whom we expect to elect by a handsome majority on Dec. 6th. That the Meighen Government is doomed to defeat and Hon. T. A. Crerar is to become the next Premier, is a forgone conclusion. The prime Minister is a forgone conclusion, is why there has been such a copious shower of judgeships and senatorships filled on the eve of election. With Farmer Governments in Ontario, Alberta and the Dominion, the farmers are becoming a force to be reckoned with.

ELECTOR.

"SAFETY FIRST"

A Play, entitled "Safety First," will be given by the young people of Salem, in the Town Hall, Laurel, on January 11th. Watch for further announcement.

HOW PEEL VOTED

Hon. Kennedy, Conservative Candidate, Had Plurality of 105 in 1919 Provincial Election.

As most Peel County electors in sizing up the political situation in that county, The Banner publishes herewith the official returns of the Provincial election in 1919. The situation in the County was similar to the situation which exists at the present time. There were three candidates in the field—Major Kennedy, Conservative; J. Lowe, Liberal, and Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture in the Provincial Government, U. F. O. In the preceding contest Mr. S. Charters, the late member and an admittedly strong man, is the Conservative standard-bearer. Mr. W. J. Lowe, also a strong candidate, is again the Liberal candidate, and Mr. Herbert Taylor, of Cheltenham, is the hope of the United Farmers. While not as well known as his opponents Mr. Taylor is proving an aggressive campaigner and an effective platform man. In 1919 the Conservatives had a majority of 105 over the Liberals, Doherty running a rather poor third. The figures were—

THE BANK OF HAMILTON, ORANGEVILLE

PALGRAVE

At a meeting recently held, Palgrave Loyal Orange Lodge passed the following resolution respecting the action of the representatives of the Roman Catholic Church in trying to have a portion of the Public School taxes set aside for the use of the Separate Schools of Ontario: "Resolved, that this Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 288, in the Village of Palgrave, in the District of Albion, in the County of Peel, do earnestly protest against the Government of this Province passing any amendments to the Assessment Act as are now being advocated by the representatives of the Roman Catholic Church, as we sincerely believe that the concessions which the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church are demanding would be detrimental to the Public Schools of our Province."

ROBERT M'LAUGHLIN

Veteran Oshawa Manufacturer Passes Away at Ripe Age—Was Born and Reared on Farm.

Robert McLaughlin, prominent carriage manufacturer and general public benefactor of the town of Oshawa, died there on Wednesday afternoon, November 16th, after an illness of about twe weeks. He was born about 86 years ago on a farm near Peterboro. As a boy his hobby was carriage building, he erecting a crude workshop on a corner of the farm, where he studied at night. Although lacking practical experience, his knowledge of different kinds of wood stood him in good stead. His skill as an artist with palette and bruch were of assistance in later years in designing and in securing color effect for carriage and motor cars.

Mr. McLaughlin's real career as a carriage maker began in Enniskillen, Durham county, in 1869. Business increased rapidly and he found it necessary to remove to Oshawa in 1877. He secured a little red brick building on the main street as a workshop, over which he placed the sign: "One Grade, and That the Best."

During his 44 years' residence in Oshawa, Mr. McLaughlin had held every municipal office, including that of Mayor. He was a Liberal and a Presbyterian. Some years ago he was president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and was until recently a member of the executive council.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, George W. and R. S., of the General Motors Limited, and two daughters, Mrs. J. P. Owens and Mrs. M. McCulloch, of Toronto. There are also a brother and sister in Oshawa.

A CHELTENHAM CITIZEN

Simon Fraser, a prominent resident of Cheltenham for 53 years, died at his home in that village on Saturday last at the age of 76 years. Deceased was born in Inverness, Scotland, and since coming to Cheltenham had conducted a blacksmith shop and carriage maker's business. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and is survived by a widow and four children.

EAGLE ATTACKS SAILOR

According to the Collingwood Bulletin, while steaming across Lake Superior the steamer Home Smith was the scene of great excitement when a large eagle swept across the deck and pounced upon one of the seamen as though to carry him away. Three men came to his help and together they drove off the bird. He did not leave the ship, however, and a few minutes later attacked the watchman. This time the second mate came to the rescue and, displaying skill and presence of mind, threw a rope in a half hitch, catching the eagle around the legs. This made the fierce invader almost helpless and the men were soon able to capture and imprison him. The bird was remarkably large and powerful, even for an eagle, his wings measuring almost seven feet from tip to tip. The men had him aboard the boat, but while they were exhibiting him at Goderich harbor he escaped from custody.

MRS. JAMES MARTIN

Alton lost a well-known citizen last week in the person of Mrs. Eliza Ann Martin, wife of Mr. James Martin, who passed away at her home in that village on Friday, Nov. 18th, in her 69th year. Deceased moved to Alton with her husband 49 years ago and consequently will be greatly missed by the many staunch friends she had made in the half century. She was highly thought of as a neighbor and friend and will also be greatly missed in church and charitable work in which she took an active interest. She is survived by her husband and a family of three sons and two daughters, namely, Delbert, of Woodstock; Oliver, of Toronto; Albert, of Mount Vernon, Wash.; Mrs. Robinson, of Grand Valley, and Mrs. Robinson, of Mt. Vernon, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, of Grand Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Martin, of Toronto, were able to be with her to the last. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral, which was held to Alton Cemetery on Monday afternoon, Nov. 21st. Rev. J. F. G. Morris, the family pastor, conducted the services. The floral tributes were lovely and included wreaths from the family, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, Jas. Richardson and family, the Methodist Ladies' Aid and Mr. Hodgins, of Toronto. Friends present from a distance were nor brother and sister, Mr. John Lane and Mrs. Williams, Mr. Martin, Mr. Oldfield, Lew Martin, Herb Wilson and Thos. Martin.

A NEW MINISTER

Rev. John A. Ross B. A., Late of Waldemar, Inducted at Kilsyth.

The induction service of the Rev. John A. Ross, B.A., as minister of the Presbyterian churches of Kilsyth and North Derby, was held in the church at Kilsyth yesterday afternoon and was in every way most enjoyable. The church was filled with a most attentive and appreciative congregation. The sermon by the Rev. J. H. Johnston, of Keady, was a model of how much can be well and suitably said in a few minutes by one who has something to say and knows when he has said it. The interim Moderator, the Rev. P. T. Pilkey, M. A., of Owen Sound, presided with his usual skill and impressive dignity. The address to the minister by the Rev. A. F. Webster of Allenford, was reminiscent of college days and experiences but withal pointed and practical, and the address of the Rev. Wm. J. Patton, M. A., to the congregation stressed the importance of prayer and co-operation, and of the congregation being loyal to their engagements with their minister and of helping him "hold the line" against all oppositions of evil. Other members of Presbytery participated in the devotional services.

After the benediction the new minister and wife and daughter, who were present, received the cordial personal greetings of the large congregation, and a social hour was pleasantly spent in the basement over the beautifully spread tables provided by the ladies to whom the cordial thanks of the Presbytery were given. The church was prettily decorated and the choir with its inspiring lead added much to the enjoyment of the whole service.

Rev. Mr. Ross came from Waldemar in the Presbytery of Orangeville, with the highest of commendation, and best wishes of the people and Presbytery. In Derby he will meet a fine class of people who are appreciative of good works, and from what the Sun-Times can learn of Mr. Ross, there should be no doubt of his pleasing them. He has the best wishes of all for a successful pastorate.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves It

What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your Indigestion or Dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

DR. GEO. ROBERTSON

Death of Prominent California Scholar and Educationist—Was Born in Neighboring Town of Fergus.

Dr. George Robertson, minister, teacher and scholar, died at his home, Clark and Alvardo streets yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. It was a peaceful passing of one of the grand spirits of Redlands, for all who knew "Doc. Robby," as he was affectionately called by the students of the University of Redlands, knew him only to love those rugged qualities which are so attractive in any man.

Dr. George Robertson lived in this vicinity for almost 28 years. For several years he was the pastor in the Congregational Church in Mentone and then, when the University of Redlands was founded, he took the chair of Geology at the University and has been one of the most honored professors there.

Dr. Robertson was born at Fergus, Ontario, Canada, and was 68 years old. He received his education at the Congregational College of Canada, at Montreal, and was also graduated from McGill University, in the class of 1881. He entered the ministry and was married to Miss Kate G. Hopkins, daughter of a prominent New York family, in 1884.

The young student had undertaken too much work, however. He carried theological and university courses at the same time and his health was impaired as the consequence. In fact, so great was his breakdown, that he was compelled to leave the ministry, which he had entered, and come to California. He sought and found restoration in Mentone and Redlands so completely that a long and useful career was possible. It is an interesting sidelight on the character of the young man to know that he served as sergeant in the Canadian militia for a time.

When he came to Mentone his health was such that he planned to retire from active work. He was urged to take the pastorate of the Congregational church there and, although it entailed more hard work than he could give to it, he taxed his strength to carry on the work. His work there was most successful and especially so among the great numbers of sick people who were at Mentone about that time.

When the University of Redlands was founded he became the head of the department of biology and geology. Two years later he assumed a full professorship and has been eminently successful in his work, being not only a fine teacher, but having a wonderful influence over his pupils. Professor F. H. Billings had, this year, taken over biology, leaving Dr. Robertson to teach zoology and geology.

Dr. Robertson became ill just a few days ago. For two weeks he has not been well, but only for a few days has his condition been serious. He was with his classes until Wednesday, but then took to his bed. Friday, trouble with his heart developed and Saturday his condition was alarming.

Dr. Robertson often said that Sir William Dawson was the inspiration that led him into the entrancing fields of geology and botany. His interest in these subjects became so great and the theological associates of his earlier years were so far away, it was a not unnatural step to the realm of natural science, though he never gave up altogether his church work. Dr. J. N. Field, then president of the new university, urged him to join his faculty and he consented.

His son, Dr. G. Robertson, of the University of California, southern branch in Los Angeles, and Mrs. Robertson were with him at the time of his death. Three sisters at the old home in Fergus also survive. A brother-in-law, W. Robert Hopkins, head credit man of the American Woollen Co., was also inexpressibly dear to him.

The students were stunned by the news of his death and many of them said that their very closest friend had passed away. Dr. Robertson was well known and well loved in the town. His research work was well known to experts and his work on the Tri-County Reforestation Committee was fine. His discoveries in geologic formation in this section have attracted great attention.—The Daily Facts, Redlands, Cal.

The deceased was a brother of Mrs. F. Marshall, First Ave.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

This Woman's Letter Tells You How To Pass The Crisis Safely.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ear, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women, and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Brown.

You are invited to write for free advice

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

LATE J. K. M'EWEN

The death of John Kennedy McEwen, the well known auctioneer, came as a great surprise. Mr. McEwen had been ill only a few days. He was removed to a Toronto hospital where death ensued on Tuesday. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Weston, on Friday afternoon, to Riverside Cemetery. The late J. K. McEwen was one of the best known men in York, Peel and Simcoe counties. Born in King 69 years ago he spent his early days in that township. Embarking in the cattle business in Bolton he continued here for some time, removing to Weston about thirty years ago. Since that time he engaged in farming and the live stock business, and as an auctioneer he displayed rare talent. His services in the last named line were much sought, particularly by farmers and stockmen in the counties of York, Peel and Simcoe. At different times he operated large farms in Peel and York. He is survived by his wife, one daughter and several sons.—Bolton Enterprise.

In St. Catharines a number of citizens listened to a service in a Pittsburg, Pa., church, by means of wireless. The Radio Association of St. Kitts arranged the affair.

What Is To Be Canada's Destiny?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

—OR—

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade?

Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging, the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

Canada Needs Meighen

UNVEILED MEMORIAL

Citizens of Grand Valley and District Honour Gallant Dead of Great War.

Following a week of most disagreeably cold weather, Friday last broke clear and mild, securing reasonably suitable weather for at least a part of the unveiling ceremonies of the cenotaph in honor of the sacred memory of the fallen from this part in the great war. To the ringing of bells, "Reveille" sounded by Bugler Morrow, of Orangeville fully 1000 people gathered to do silent homage to those brave souls, whose willing sacrifice meant so much for us and our beloved land.

Sergt. Hazelow and his guard of honor, formed lines on the side of the monument, while W. A. Wansbrough, Chairman of the Committee, with Rev. Major Woodcock, late Chaplain of the 144th Battalion; Rev. (Capt.) Stewart, of Orangeville; Rev. J. Truax, Rev. G. H. Snell and Rev. S. Laudie, occupied a space in front and the school children in ranks lined up the east side of the grounds. Following very brief remarks by the Chairman, the vast assemblage sang the National Anthem, after which Rev. S. Laudie offered the invocation. After the gathering sang "Onward Christian Soldiers," and repeated the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. Willis Potter unveiled the monument which had been draped with the national colors, followed by "The Last Post," sounded by Bugler Morrow. Rev. Canon Woodcock offered the dedicatory prayer, after which the assemblage went to the Methodist Church, where the addresses and rest of the service could be heard with greater comfort.

Following singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Rev. G. H. Snell read the Scripture Lesson. Capt. Stewart, Anglican clergyman of Orangeville, was the first speaker, and paid grateful tribute to the memory of those who suffered and gave their all—the complete sacrifice—in the great war. For years we had passed through abnormal conditions, but now they were becoming normal. Armistice Day, a landmark in our history—the day of peace. Yet there could be no peace without the shedding of blood. There must be sacrifice. That was the teaching of the holy book. And with sacrifice comes release from every bondage, a fact that showed a trend for better lives, more consecrated effort and higher ideals. He paid tribute to the suffering of the mothers in the last few years, whose life had been one long anxious dread. The cross had been hard to bear, but every cross is a reason for new invitation for better service to mankind, for greater unselfishness and living for others. After singing "Abide With Me," Major Woodcock prefaced his remarks with a few complimentary references to the cordial warmth and kindly feelings entertained by the officers of the 164th Battalion toward the people of Grand Valley and vicinity for their consideration to them during recruiting, and for the splendid efforts made by the women for the comfort of the men overseas. It was meet and necessary that recognition be given the sacrifices so nobly made, and the magnificent monument erected to the memory of the dead was a credit to the people. The boys who died, did but their duty that freedom, liberty and righteousness might live—and also that we might live. They stood for justice, for honor, for honesty and for charity, and that for which they died must not die.

Singing "O Canada," and the benediction by Rev. J. Truax, pastor of the church, brought the gathering to a close.

The monument is of pleasing design, some 18 feet high, of standard granite. It is skillfully carved and fashioned, and on the face are the engraved names of the fallen soldiers. On the sides and rear are the names of the famous battles in which the Canadians fought: Doui, Somme, Givenchy, Arras, Sanctuary Wood, Festubert, Neuve Chappelle, Passchendale, Ypres, Hooge, St. Eloi and Vimy. Above the list of names is the inscription, "Their Memory Liveth for Evermore," and the following: "In Honoured Memory of the Men of Grand Valley, East Luther, East Garafraxa and Amaranth Townships, who died in the Great War."

The names inscribed on the memorial are:—Pte. A. Herbert Sergt. Sidney R. Ball, Pte. James Brown; Pte. Stanley Brown; Pte. Frederick Bell; Corp. Harry R. Connor. Corp. Frank Ewing, Pte. Robert Ewing, Pte. James H. Eastwood, Pte. Joseph M Gordon, Pte. Anstead E. Gordon, Pte. Wm. J. Gillespie, Pte. Reuben. G Gillespie, Pte. Clifford N. Hills, Pte. W. H. Linklater, Sergt. Jas. W. Fred Pacey, Capt. Lewis A. Rounding Pte. Austin A. Reilly, Pte. Wilbert S. Reilly; Pte. Fred Rain, Pte. Garfield St. Croix, Pte. Wilfred O'Reilly.—Star & Vidette.

"More Men Than Women Have Nervous Troubles"

This is the statement of a specialist on Nervous Diseases who comes in contact with many thousands of cases. The increase in diseases of the nerves during the last five years has been enormous.

Is it any wonder that men's nerves are giving out?

Look back over the history of the last few years.

Think of the enormous burden of responsibility which has been put upon the shoulders of business executives.

The excessive mental strain.

The worry and anxiety.

The physical effort.

This has surely been great enough to break the nervous systems of the strongest men.

The war strain.

The unsettled conditions of business and employment.

These are responsible for the rapid aging of men which you notice everywhere.

You feel out of sorts.

You do not sleep well.

You find yourself losing your grip on business.

Your daily task is more than you can stand.

There is, perhaps, no organic disease.

But you find your energy and ambition petering out.

Your doctor tells you to take a rest for a few months.

But you do not want to be put upon the shelf.

Your business cannot spare you at this critical time.

Perhaps you cannot afford complete rest when living expenses are so high.

But you can take things easier. And you can profit by the experience of others and build up your exhausted nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This is the most rational treatment available, and is endorsed by more common-sense, reliable people than any medicine recommended for the restoration of the nervous system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is universally used by women as a means of restoring the nervous system. Your wife, or sister, or mother, will be able to tell you something about its remarkable upbuilding influence.

But more men than women now have nervous troubles.

And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is no respecter of persons.

It builds up new energy and strength in the most natural way imaginable by enriching the blood.

It supplies to the blood in condensed, easily assimilated form the elements which nature requires in order to replenish the depleted nerve cells and restore the vitality of the human system.

These certified letters may be from people you know. They are worth reading, anyway. For they are the honest opinion of people who have been benefited by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Overwork

Mr. D. F. Armstrong, R. R. No. 3, Mallorytown, Ont., writes:—

"Through overwork and an extra amount of mental strain, I became very nervous and rundown. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it certainly touched the right spot. It almost seemed for a time as though I fairly lived on it, and I can recommend this treatment to anyone requiring a medicine of this kind."

("Sworn before me at Mallorytown, this 7th day of March, 1921—D. S. Clow, J.P.")

Sleeplessness

Mr. W. J. Van Dusen, Centre St., Napanee, Ont., writes:—

"For some time I suffered from sleeplessness and all the weakness and tired feelings that follow continual loss of sleep. Gas would accumulate in my stomach, and this also caused a great deal of trouble. Upon the advice of a friend I began a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and soon found it to be just what I required. By the time I had completed the treatment my system was in splendid condition and I felt much stronger."

(Endorsed by S. Casey Denison, Mayor.)

Rheumatism

Mr. Charles R. Tait, Newtown, Kings Co., N.B., writes:—

"I suffered with rheumatism and my stomach was in a very weak state. I could eat no fruit of any kind and suffered nearly all the time. I tried several doctors, but got no relief from any of them. I was in a drug store one day and overheard two men talking—one was telling the other about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food completely relieving him of rheumatism. I bought a box, thinking it would be like all the rest of them, but, after taking this one Box, I felt so much better that I continued the treatment, and now I can eat anything and do not suffer any more with the rheumatism."

("This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mr. Charles R. Tait, and believe his statement is true and, to my knowledge, correct."—(Signed) A. S. Mace, J.P.)

U. F. O. OFFICERS

Officers were appointed as follows at the annual Convention of Dufferin County United Farmers in Selburne on Friday afternoon, November 11th:—

County Director, J. M. McNaughton, Orangeville; Township Directors—Melancthon, Archie Vance; Mulmur, Geo. A. Ferris; Amaranth, Wm. R. Rintoul; Mono, Thos. H. White; East Garafraxa, Malcolm McCormick; East Luther, H. H. Hilborn; Secretary-Treasurer, J. A. Marshall.

Secretary Marshall was voted the sum of $10.00 for his services during the past year. This Mr. Marshall demurred at accepting the money.

Mrs. M. J. Matthews was appointed County Director of the U. F. W. O. Mrs. Matthews gave the Convention a number of suggestions for helping to create interest in the Clubs by way of entertainments, etc.

MONO ROAD

Mr. Wilfred Harrigan died at Canmore, Alberta, on October 13th. Mr. Harrigan was principal of the Canmore Public School and his wife was also a teacher in the kindergarten department. Deceased was the eldest son of the late Daniel Harrigan and was born in Caledon just 31 years ago. From Public School to High School he wended his educational way and his course throughout was marked by diligence, perseverance and exceptional ability. After a few years teaching in the county adjacent he went West and was teaching there before the war. He got to the trenches and had the misfortune to get wounded so severely that the loss of a leg resulted. After convalescence he again went West and resumed teaching. Shortly after his resumption of teaching he married Miss Reid and it was one of the pathetic events of his illness that his anxious watching wife reminded him in one of his lucid moments that this was the anniversary of their wedding day. It was pneumonia did the fatal work despite the most careful nursing, the most skilful medical attendance and the courageous fight made by the sufferer himself. Deceased had a most amiable disposition, was a bright, intelligent citizen and was highly esteemed. The youthful widow, in her deep, silent, lonely grief, the sorrowing mother with the many remembrances of the last crowding upon her, have all that sympathy can give them in their hour of trial.

"Ah, if beside the dead
Slumbered the pain—
But death will not have it so."

Mr. David Wilson has sold his fifty-acre farm on the 7th line of Albion to his brother, Mr. Robert E. Wilson.

A meeting of the citizens of Southampton was held in the town hall there the other night for the purpose of deciding on a form of soldiers' memorial for that town, and it was decided that an electric clock and a tablet bearing the names of the Southampton boys who fell in the war would be installed in the tower of the town hall at a cost of approximately $2,500.

FORM AN ALUMNAE ASSOCIA'N

(Intended for last week.)

A large and enthusiastic gathering of the graduates of the Royal Alexandra Hospital took place in the Hospital, Fergus, on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, 1921, for the purpose of forming an Alumnae Association.

Officers elected were as follows: Hon. Pres., Mrs. G. T. Mickle, Supt.; Pres., Miss Pauline Martinoni; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss Brillinger, 18 Appleton Ave., Toronto; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. A. Hutchinson, Fergus; Sec.-Treas., Miss B. Henderson, Fergus.

Plans of organization were discussed, and a move to organize Western Ontario Hospitals will soon be under way. The registration of nurses received full discussion and was unanimously accepted as a necessary step in advancing nursing standards and practice.

The method of electing a Nursing Council, as is done by the Medical profession of the Province, was agreed to be the only satisfactory way of controlling the registration. This will be brought to the attention of the Provincial Secretary. The Alumnae will meet again shortly.

After tea was served by the nurses in training, the visitors left for their homes feeling that they had set up successfully another chapter in the history of the Royal Alexandra Hospital.—Fergus News-Record.

MELANCTHON STATION

Our general merchant reports business brisk at the corner store.

The roads are snow and slush one week and mud the next week, which makes it difficult for traffic.

Most of the farmers have all their fall ploughing done ere winter sets in.

Another fashionable wedding is billed to come off in our midst either this week or next.

The happy hunting season is again ushered in, but about the only good place for securing rabbits or foxes is in George Shoalts' swamp. The former large tract of unbroken swamp unfortunately has been either chopped down or burned by bush fires.

Mrs. Goodeve had been in poor health ever since coming here and because of this was confined pretty closely to her home. By her circle of intimate friends she was beloved and respected for her fine qualities of head and heart. She is survived by her aged husband and a family of four sons and three daughters. The latter are Ernest, of Orangeville; John T., of Duluth; W. H., living on the homestead at Hockley; Alan, a druggist in Toronto; Mrs. W. Pendleton and Mrs. T. Now is your time to see him for 35c, and as I am a shareholder in the First National and give the patrons of the Gem Theatre a chance to see young Coogan in his own picture, which I sold before was one dollar a seat elsewhere, and we are giving you the chance of any seat in the theatre for 35c, if you are not satisfied with this price which I have arranged for Jackie Coogan in "Peck's Bad Boy" on December 7th and 8th, "the kid" who paid $10,000 for a motor car only three weeks ago, then don't come for you will know what you never knew or ever will know, that you are living on suspicion and imagination and that stuff will never hit the gates of heaven.

ST. MARK'S A. Y. P. A.

On Monday evening last the Anglican Young People's Association of St. Mark's Church presented a most enjoyable musical program in the form of an "Olde Tyme Concerte" rendered in "old tyme" costumes, which lent quaint charm to each number. The sincere thanks of the A. Y. P. A. is due all those taking part for their enterprise and diligence in providing this novel entertainment.

The A. Y. P. A. intends holding its annual Bazaar in the School Room on Saturday, Dec. 10th, at 3 p.m. There will be a sale of Homemade Baking and a Japanese Tea Room, in addition to the Fancy Work Booth. WHO IS MR. MONROE?

Some time ago there arrived in town a man of average build with iron grey hair, who looked wise and said nothing. As day after day passed without any apparent business activity on his part, rumors circulated here and there to the effect that he was "known to be" everything from a good fellow to a "government spotter." Up to now these rumors could not be refuted for business reasons. Mr. J. S. Monroe is an oil and gas man, thoroughly acquainted with the varied conditions of prospecting, production and distribution involved in the oil and gas business, and is the manager of the Dover Oil Co. The Company, through him, have secured valuable oil property at Canning's Falls, and 700 acres of most promising gas property in Caledon.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

On Monday evening last a most enthusiastic meeting of the Epworth League was held, about forty of the Laurel Leaguers being present to return the visit paid their League some few weeks ago. A debate between the two Leagues took place, the subject being:—"Resolved that social conditions, rather than economic conditions, have tended to drive the people from the farms in Ontario during the last twenty years." The affirmative was upheld by Mrs. W. Grosskurth and Messrs. L. Johnston and W. Gray, of Laurel, and the negative by Miss E. Budd and Messrs. W. Kearns and E. Liddy of Orangeville. The debating was of a very high order. Mrs. E. Richardson, Miss G. Brown and Rev. Mr. Morris acted as Judges and found in favour of the affirmative. Music and recitations by friends from Laurel, games and refreshments completed a most enjoyable evening.

ELDRED LITTLE

Neighbors and friends of Mr. W. J. Little, of Shelburne, formerly of Camilla, extend their heartfelt sympathy to the heartbroken father in the loss of his only son, John Eldred, who passed away on Monday evening after a short illness from pneumonia. Doctors, nurses and relatives did everything possible to save the precious life, but a weak heart caused a collapse at the critical stage of his illness. The deceased was 15 years, 5 months and 15 days of age and was a bright lad of prepossessing appearance and manner. To his father he occupied the beautiful relationship of comrade and chum as well as son. His mother, the only daughter of the late J. L. Island, of Mono, and a sister of Crown Attorney J. L. Island, died when he was a child. The funeral, which was attended by a large number of relatives and former Camilla neighbors, was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Predestined to Succeed

NEARLY one million people live in Montreal and suburbs. More travellers and tourists pass through, and stay there, in one month, than stay in any other Canadian city in six months. It is also the coming Convention City of Canada.

Yet there are less fireproof hotel bedrooms in Montreal than in one hotel—The Biltmore—New York. Less than one thousand, in fact, whereas Cleveland has 5,000, Buffalo 2,000, although neither Buffalo nor Cleveland are ocean ports or railroad terminals.

For these reasons "The Mount Royal" Hotel is predestined to succeed. Traffic is already enormous—more is coming. It only remains to provide for it.

Consider, too, the Directorate. Do you think fifteen outstanding successful business men would associate themselves with an hotel enterprise doubtful of success? Certainly not!

Then, remember, that the Hotel will be operated by the United Hotels Company of America. This company has made a financial success of every hotel it has managed. It turned the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, from a losing proposition into a profitable enterprise for investors.

Consider these facts, therefore, in the light of making an investment in the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, at par and interest, carrying a 30% Common Stock Bonus.

For our part we have thoroughly investigated every phase of this investment and unreservedly recommend it.

Every man or woman who has idle money, or money earning 3% or 4%, should consider at once the advantages that will accrue from investing in these 8% Convertible Debentures.

In short, you may invest in the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, with the assurance that your money is safe—your 8% interest certain and your prospects good for a substantial profit from your Common Stock Bonus.

The price of the Debentures is par and interest, carrying a 30% Common Stock Bonus. Send your order now or write for full particulars. Address:

This is Mr. Edison's Official Laboratory Model

It is the phonograph which the world uses today for all important musical events.

In a recent Broadway show, it supplied the off-stage music.

When the Prince of Wales visited this country, it played in his hotel suite.

The U. S. Post Office Department used it in its experiments with music for increasing the efficiency of mail clerks.

Dr. W. V. Bingham, Director of the Department of Applied Psychology at Carnegie Institute of Technology, used it in his experiments on the effects of music.

Harvard, Yale, Columbia, and many other universities used it in making tests of music's power to change human moods.

The Official Laboratory Model was chosen for all this work because it sustains the test of comparison with living artists,—and has therefore been accepted as the only phonograph which brings the true beauties and the full benefits of music.

The tests by which the Official Laboratory Model attained this recognition were continent-wide. Premier artists such as Case, Hempel, Muzio, Chalmers, Spalding, have compared their living performances with the RE-CREATIONS of those performances by the New Edison. These comparisons were made in famous auditoriums, such as Carnegie Hall, New York, Symphony Hall, Boston, etc. Thousands of people attended, including leading music critics. Newspapers such as the New York Times, New York Sun, Chicago Tribune, Cleveland Plain Dealer, San Francisco Examiner, published the facts of the Official Laboratory Model's triumphs. Even Bamboschek, leading conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, acknowledged that he could not tell living music from RE-CREATED music.

Hear the Official Laboratory Model,—and you, too, will discover that Mr. Edison has made his phonograph a new and finer kind of instrument.

Compare it with other phonographs and talking-machines,—and you will discover that the Official Laboratory Model stands for new standards in home music.

We cordially invite you to come in and hear the famous Official Laboratory Model.

The Test General Wingate Heard

—was made May 25th, 1921 in the 2nd Field Artillery Armory, Brooklyn, N. Y.,—before Reville Post No. 127, American Legion, and its friends. The illustration (from a photograph) shows Miss Helen Clark making the comparison which so impressed General Wingate.

General Wingate, who commanded the 52nd Field Artillery in its operations against the Hindenburg Line, said he could not tell Miss Clark's living voice from the Edison RE-CREATION of her voice.

POLITENESS PAYS

This is the way an agent got a lesson in manners. He called at a business office and saw nobody but a prepossessing though capable appearing young woman. "Where's the boss?" he asked abruptly. "What is your business?" she asked politely. "None of yours!" he snapped. "I got a proposition to lay before the firm, and I want to talk to somebody about it." "And you would rather talk to a gentleman?" "Yes." "Well," answered the lady, smiling sweetly, "so would I. But it seems that it's impossible for either of us to have our wish, so we'll have to make the best of it. I am the boss, state your business, please."

WALDEMAR

(Intended for last week.)

The people of Waldemar and vicinity united in tendering a formal farewell to Rev. J. A. Ross, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and family, prior to their removal to Kilsyth in the Presbytery of Owen Sound. The farewell took the form of a Supper in the basement of the church and was very largely attended. After the good things provided by the ladies for the delectation of the inner man had been thoroughly enjoyed, a short programme was provided. During the evening several of those present spoke of the earnestness of Mr. Ross in the discharge of his duties as pastor. Feeling tribute was also paid to the valuable assistance given by Mrs. Ross and the friendship and esteem in which the community holds Mr. and Mrs. Ross and their family.

The Council considered the petition of Hillsburg electors and resolved that the necessary by-law be prepared, and the vote taken at the municipal elections in January. Rev. F. C. Harper and Mr. John Carmichael addressed the Council in support of the petition.

Mr. W. L. Goetz, representing Mr. Chas. Buschlen, of Arthur, entered an appeal some time ago against the decision of Magistrate Hellyer, of North Wellington, who found Buschlen guilty of selling liquor and fined him $200 and costs on Oct. 12th. Such was the meagre record of a patient at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives! Meagre, but how full of deep significance!

"I was so frightened," confessed the girl, her blue eyes reflecting the sky overhead, as she lay beneath the pines up there in Muskoka. "I didn't know what to do. I had no money; and, oh, I was so horribly alone."

"Think of it," and she shivered. "I would be dead—now—if it weren't for this hospital. But I'm not," and there was a ring of victory in her voice. "I'm getting well. Oh! I can hardly believe it."

Just a lonely, motherless girl, but how sweet that life given back to her!

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS

The following is the text of Warden Brown's address to the County Council at its recent sitting:—

Court House, Orangeville,
November 23rd, 1921.

Gentlemen of the County Council,—

At this, the closing session of the Council of Dufferin for the year 1921, I wish to thank you one and all for the splendid support and assistance you have at all times so willingly given to me in conducting the affairs of the County. Your ever ready assistance in conducting the business of the County Council has lightened the duties of my office and I can assure you my term as Warden of the County of Dufferin and the friends I have made at the green table, will always be remembered with real pleasure.

The business of the County for the past year has been carefully and economically conducted. The general expenditure, controlled by the Council, has been kept well within the estimates. The expenditure on County Roads has, in some Townships where improvements were badly needed, exceeded the estimates. The main cause of this was rebuilding bridges that were dangerous and could not be left over until next year. However, the Township Councils in the Townships which are overdrawn have agreed to give special grants to make up the overdraft and these grants, together with the subsidy to be paid by the Government, I expect, will bring us out on the right side of the sheet.

A Special Committee appointed by the County Roads Committee met a Committee from the County of Wellington for the purpose of settling the jurisdiction of each county in connection with the two roads on the boundary lines between Dufferin and Wellington which have been designated as County Roads. The joint Committee arrived at an agreement which will be submitted at this session for approval and if approved will require to be ratified by by-law to come into force when a similar by-law is passed by the Council of Wellington.

There has been considerable discussion among the Councillors and others in respect to changing our present system of handling the County Road finances. Under the system we have adopted the County is not looked after as a whole but divided into municipalities. This does not appear to be the intention of the Highway Improvement Act and in the working out causes many complicatins. A straight County System is recommended by the Minister and by the Department of Highways. I would recommend that this matter be considered and a report made at this session as I consider the present Council, every member of which has had at least one year's experience, is better qualified to deal with the question than a new council, many of whom will have had less experience. And if you decide in your wisdom to make the change I would further recommend the appointment of a Special Committee to equalize the County Roads in the different municipalities in the County and to report at the January Session of the County Council.

"Lest we forget." I understand that Colonel Preston has undertaken, as a work of love, the very considerable task of preparing a complete County of Dufferin Roll of Service. This record will be a memorial for future generations of all who served in the Great War. We have heard the wish expressed on all sides that a County record of this kind should be prepared and completed for distribution to Public and School Libraries and other suitable places and to be made available for friends wishing to procure a copy. I do not know that this is Colonel Preston's idea in connection with the work as he has never spoken to me about it, but I do know that this self imposed task, when undertaken by him, will be well and faithfully carried out. The work of procuring accurate records of, say, one thousand men who served from this County, will require a considerable expense for printing, stationery, postage, typewriting, etc. It does not seem fair to me that the Colonel should give his time to this work which should have been looked after by the County and, in addition, pay the expenses in connection therewith. I therefore would suggest that a grant be made to cover the expenses in connection with preparing a Memorial Record.

It will be necessary to pass, at this session, the usual by-law appointing auditors to audit the books of the Treasurer's office.

In conclusion I will take this opportunity to thank the Clerk and the Treasurer for the assistance they have always so willingly given me and the courtesy extended to me on all occasions.

JAMES BROWN,
Warden.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express my sincere and grateful thanks to the Electors of Dufferin for the splendid support they gave me at the polls on Tuesday. I feel greatly honored by your expression of confidence and will endeavor to serve you worthily and to the very best of my ability.

Yours sincerely,
R. J. WOODS.

WOODS WON

Progressive Candidate Carried Dufferin with Majority of 294.

R. J. Woods, the Progressive candidate, carried Dufferin County by a majority of 294 in Tuesday's contest. The winner rolled up a majority exceeding 550 in Melancthon, his home township. He also carried Amaranth, East Garafraxa and East Luther by substantial majorities and had a small lead in Mono. Best secured large majorities in Orangeville, Shelburne and Mulmur and had a lead of 72 in Grand Valley. The contest was not without its surprises. Both sides expected to do better in Mono. The Progressives were counting on a majority of 150, while the Conservatives thought their candidate would likely break even with his opponent. The Woods majority was 70. Perry's Ward, a Tory stronghold, furnished a genuine surprise by giving Woods 4 of a majority. On the other hand Best led in the Glencross and Relessey divisions, where the Progressives figured on comfortable leads. Best got a flattering vote in his home town, Shelburne, but fell down badly in Mulmur, which his supporters expected would give him from 350 to 400 of a majority. The day was ideal for voting and the election, while keen, passed off quietly and without untoward incident so far as Dufferin was concerned. At night a large crowd assembled in the Orangeville Opera House, where the returns were furnished from C. V. Jeffers' up-town C. P. R. office. Details of the vote in Dufferin follow:—

A LIBERAL SWEEP

Meighen Government Badly Defeated at the Polls.

Mackenzie King Will Be Next Prime Minister of Canada.

Returns of Tuesday's election show a Liberal sweep. Three of the eastern Provinces, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, have gone solidly Liberal. In the West the three prairie Provinces have gone almost solidly Progressive. Only in Ontario, British Columbia and New Brunswick have the Conservatives succeeded in carrying any considerable number of seats. Complete returns may make some changes, but it seems certain that the Liberals will have a clear majority in the new House. The Progressives will probably have the second largest group with the Conservatives a close third. The summing up by yesterday's dailies will give our readers a clear idea of the situation:

Samuel Charters, the late member and candidate of the National Conservative party, emerged from Tuesday's free-for-all in the neighboring county of Peel with a plurality of 1157 over W. J. Lowe, Liberal, who finished in second place. Herbert taylor, the Progressive was 223 votes behind Lowe. The north end of the county gave the Progressive majorities, but these were easily wiped out by the large Conservative majorities in Toronto Township Brampton and the villages of the constituency. Mrs. Arch. Ferguson, a lifelong and highly respected resident of Caledon, passed away at her home, lot 5, 5th line, east, on Sunday, November 13th, at the ripe age of 78 years. The deceased, whose maiden name was Sarah Baxter, was a daughter of the late John Baxter, one of the pioneer settlers of Caledon township. She was born and spent her entire life in the township, where she was held in the highest respect by a wide circle of intimate friends and acquaintances. Her husband predeceased her over three years ago. Of a large family only one sister, Mary, survives. Deceased was an old and staunch member of the Presbyterian church, being a regular attendant at the services in St. Andrew's Church, 4th line, east, Caledon. Interment took place in St. Andrew's Church cemetery, Rev. Mr. Lockhart, of Caledon East, pastor of the deceased, conducting an impressive funeral service in the church. RICHARD W. GRIGGS

Amaranth township lost one of its most widely known residents last week in the person of Mr. Richard W. Griggs, who passed away at his home on lot 4, 1th line, of that township, on Wednesday, Nov. 30th, at the age of 74 years. Deceased had been in indifferent health for a considerable time, but was bedfast only one week prior to his demise. He death was caused by uraemic poisoning.

Mr. Griggs was a son of the late A. H. Griggs, of Oakville, and of the late Elizabeth Birdsall, daughter of Squire Birdsall, of Meadowvale. He was born at Oakville on Feb. 1st, 1848, came to Caledon township when a boy and resided there until he removed to Amaranth in 1875. He was married in 1876 to Margaret Johnston, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnston, of Caledon. Deceased is survived by his wife, one son, Samuel Birdsall Griggs, three grandsons and an adopted daughter, Mrs. W. J. Bennett, now living in Alberta.

The late Mr. Griggs was a large-hearted man, kindly in his nature and devoted to his wife and family. As a neighbor and friend he was held in the highest regard. In the community where he spent the greater part of his life and where he was well-known by everybody he had many friends and not an enemy. He took a keen interest in municipal and general politics and generally took an active part whenever there was an election contest. He was a staunch Conservative of the John A. Macdonald school. Deceased was an old member of Laurel Presbyterian Church, with which he united shortly after Rev. J. R. Bell became its pastor some thirty years ago. He and Mr. Bell became intimate friends, the friendship continuing until sundered by death.

There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors at the funeral, which was held from his late residence to Greenwood cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Rev. J. A. Reddon, of Laurel, the family pastor, Rev. J. R. Bell, of Toronto, and Rev. G. W. Lynd, pastor of Laurel Metodist Church, conducted the services. The pallbearers were his son, S. B. Griggs, two grandsons, Hugh and Richard Griggs, S. H. Simpson and W. J. Bell, brothers-in-law, and P. G. Fraser, of Toronto, a nephew. The floral tributes and the large attendance testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held by the community in which he lived. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to the bereaved widow and family in their great loss.

THE DOVER OIL CO., LTD.

Incorporated under the laws of Ontario for the purpose of developing for oil and gas certain properties held by it under lease.

These properties comprise:—

[illegible] acres in Dover township, adjoining the property of the largest natural gas producing company in Canada.

[illegible] acres at Belle River, with 12 wells awaiting only the installation of pumps to become revenue producers.

[illegible] acres in Mono at Canning's, where oil indications are so promising that competing companies have secured leases adjoining our property.

[illegible] acres in Caledon, upon which there is already a well, producing gas.

While the Belle River Property promises immediate returns and early development is planned for the other properties, the gas prospect at Caledon is probably the one of most interest to the surrounding towns of Brampton, Georgetown, Guelph and Orangeville, which are within easy piping distance. "The well on this property is positive evidence of the existence of gas in large quantities in the vicinity," states a practical gas man and the most sceptical, seeing the lighted flow, have been convinced.

Further development in Caledon will commence in March (winter drilling being very expensive, costing about 30 per cent. extra) and there is every prospect that Orangeville will have the benefit of gas for next winter.

As a business proposition it is a speculation but it is a speculation in which all the officers of the company have backed their belief with large investments and unpaid services. They will benefit with other shareholders only when paying production is reached.

Every indication is that the company will be very shortly on a dividend paying basis.

If you are one who requires the security of Government gold bonds and never take a chance, our advice keep clear.

If, on the other hand, you can appreciate the faith of other men backed by their own money and can afford to take a chance with them, then we offer you an opportunity which occurs but seldom.

ALTON

Alton is losing two useful and public-spirited citizens in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Mason, who are about to move to Acton. Mr. Mason has severed his connection with the Beaver Knitting Mills here and on a recent Friday night the employees of the Mill presented him with a handsome electric floor lamp as a token of their esteem. The Social Amusement Club also presented Mr. and Mrs. Mason with a pair of beautiful brass candle sticks. Mr. Mason has been President of the Club for three years. The good wishes of all classes of citizens go with Mr. and Mrs. Mason and family to their new home. Mr. Geo. Ward, of Cleveland, formerly of Alton, will succeed Mr. Mason as manager of the Mills here. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Ward and their little son back to our village again.

Remember the Presbyterian Church Bazaar on Saturday from 3 to 10 p.m. There will be homemade baking, candy, ice cream, a tea room and other attractions. Good music in the evening.

This will be instructive and all should avail themselves of this opportunity. Everybody welcome. Admission free. Meeting to commence at 8 p.m.

The Methodist Sunday School will hold its Christmas Anniversary in the Town Hall on December 23rd.

The Alton Methodist Mission Circle are holding their annual Bazaar in the basement of the Methodist Church Saturday, afternoon and evening, Dec. 17th, when all Christmas novelties will be sold and soup served hot. Come one and all. Don't forget the date, December 17th.

LAUREL

A very interesting meeting was held at the Epworth League on Monday night last. Mr. Jackson Hamilton, 1st Vice-Pres., was in the chair, who, after giving a short and pointed address on the value and place of the League, especially emphasizing the work of the Christian Endeavor Department, called on the President and pastor to conduct a reception service. Thirteen young people, after taking the active members' pledge, were received into full membership of the League. The League meetings are continuing to grow in interest, as evidenced by the large number present on Monday evening. Next Monday the meeting will be in charge of the Missionary Committee.

On Sunday evening Rev. G. W. Lynd gave an address to the young men on the subject, "Faults and Ideals of Young Men as Seen by Girls." Some of the replies that several young ladies had made in answer to the request to point out some of the common faults that they had seen in young men were read, and many interesting suggestions were handed on to the young men present. It is well to see ourselves sometimes as others see us. A choir, composed entirely of young ladies, gave two well rendered numbers, one especially being right to the point, namely, "Have Courage my Boy to Say No." Next Sunday night the choir will be made up of young men, and Mr. Lynd shall speak to the young ladies on "Faults and Ideals of Young Women as Seen by Men."

A goodly number of citizens turned out to Mr. Best's meeting in the Town Hall on Saturday evening. Besides the candidate, addresses were given by Mr. C. R. McKeown, of Orangeville, and Mr. Cook.

The children of the Methodist Sunday School are busy practising for their Christmas entertainment, which will be held in the Church on Tuesday, December 20th.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Orangeville High School Commencement Exercises will be held in the Opera House on Friday evening, Dec. 16th. The speaker of the evening will be Prof. Sandiford, of Toronto University, who will give an address on the subject, "The Educated Man."

BLOUNT

The Ladies' Aid of Mitchell's Church held a fowl supper at the home of Mrs. Geo. Crozier on Friday evening, December 2nd. There were forty present, being the members with their husbands and families After justice had been done to the good things provided by the ladies: there were some choice selections on the grafanola, a couple of solos by Mr. Sloan, which were enthusiastically encored, a piano solo by Miss Ruby Reid, a duet by Mrs. McEwan and Mr. Geo. Crozier, recitation by Mrs. Dinnick and a spepech from Rev. Mr. Dinnick, and some guessing contests to keep the older people's minds retentive. A vote of thanks was given to the host and hostess for the hospitable way they entertained their guests. The meeting was brought to a close in the usual way in the wee sma our ayont the twole.

HILLSBURG

"Review Villa," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Turner, Hillsburg, was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Wednesday, November 30, at 2 p.m., when their daughter, Renna Victoria, became the bride of Frank Goodall, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Goodall, of Belwood. The ceremony was performed by Capt. Rev. F. C. Harper, B. D., minister of St. Andrew's Church, in the presence of about 60 guests, in the parlor of the home, the bridal party being under an arch of evergreens and flowers. The bride was attended by Miss Mayme Goodall as maid of honor, and was escorted by her father to the bridal arch, while Miss Viola Bates played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The bride was prettily gowned in white satin with bridal veil and orange blossoms, roses and maidenhair ferns. During and with bridal bouquet of white the signing of the register, Miss Marguerite Goodall sang "Because," and the happy company sat down to a generous wedding breakfast at tables tastefully decorated with flowers, Mr. Harper proposing the toast to "The Bride," and the groom suitably responding. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver, to the maid of honor an onyx pin, to the pianiste and soloist a cut glass bonbon dish respectively. The happy young couple left the same evening for a trip to Detroit, the bride's travelling dress being of navy blue tricotine with black embroidery and panne velvet hat to match. Their many friends, who presented them with many costly gifts of crystal and silver, wish them every happiness in their new life together.

At the recent election of three elders at St. Andrew's Church, Messrs. W. J. Cunningham, James Cruikshank and Dan Gray were chosen. The increase of the Session to 10 members has been made necessary by the growth in the church during the last two years, there being now a membership of over 250.

A successful bazaar was held in the town hall last Friday by the Gleaners' Mission Band of St. Andrew's. The rain and fog and dark night could not keep the people away, and the generous gifts of fancy goods and home baking from the people of the church realized the handsome sum of $132. The members of the Mission Band also contributed an enjoyable program of choruses, songs and recitations. Capt. Rev. F. C. Harper, B. D., was an efficient chairman.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

Mrs. W. T. Johnston, York St., was pleasantly surprised on Monday to receive a visit from Mrs. Jas. White and Mrs. T. J. Brett, members of the Whittington Ladies' Aid, who presented her with a pyrex pie plate with plated frame in a beautiful pierced design and the following appreciative address:—

Dear Mrs. Johnston,—

We, your co-workers in Whittington Ladies' Aid, have availed ourselves of this opportunity of expressing our regret at your departure from our midst.

We will miss you in our social life, but most of all, Mrs. Johnston, we will miss you in our Ladies' Aid, where you have for so many years entered heartily into every good work. Your keen helpful interest has been an inspiration and has won the admiration of all.

The old proverb is not always true which tells that "a prophet receives no honour in his own country." True worth is always appreciated everywhere.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of our esteem. May it serve ever to recall pleasant memories of your old associates here. In the years which lie before you we can wish you no greater earthly blessing than that wherever your home may be the same genial qualities which have won you friends here may win you many more to share your sorrows and add to your joys.

Signed on behalf of the Whittington Ladies' Aid,
Mrs. James White, President.
Miss Annie Kinsley, Secretary.

THE MAPLES

The Maples Women's Institute will hold its next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Morrow, on Thursday, Dec. 15th, at 2.30 p.m. The roll call is to be answered by Christmas Thoughts. The program will include a solo by Mrs. W. H. Hunter, a report of the Toronto Convention by Mrs. Henry Reid and a duet by the Misses Gillespie. All ladies made cordially welcome.

Matt Ward is still living in the same place and still likes company.

Mr. Bert Geir left for the Guelph Fat Stock Show last Thursday with three head of cattle.

The Y. P. S. met at the home of the Misses Durkin as announced. The meeting was a fine success. On account of the absence of the Secretary the minutes were read by Miss Muriel Durkin and afterwards adopted. There were about twenty-five members present. After the business of the evening had been transacted the remainder of the night was very happily spent in contests and singing.

V. A. JOHNSTON,

HISTORIES

(By Virna Sheard)

I weary of the histories of men—
The garnered store of books in grim array;
Life's bitter salvage, leather-bound and then
Left to the silence and a bloom of gray.

I weary of the stories that they hold;
The clash of arms sounds through them like a knell;
I weary of the Kings, in crowns of gold,
The Kings victorious, and the Kings who fell.

There are too many tears on every page,
Too red a tide sweeps every chapter in.
There is no word of peace in any age,
Except the peace that death rode forth to win.

And old unhappiness, long wrapped in sleep,
And thrice-armed feud that passed in wrath and woe,
And white despair from many a dungeon keep,
Arise to haunt us still where'er we go.

Yet through the years the sun was warm and sweet,
And pipers piped at morn and night and noon,
And there was carnival with dancing feet,
And love and joyance always came in June.

O, to remember when the pages close—
Linked with the vision of the deathless brave;
The nightingale, the moonlight, and the rose,
And all the beauty that the lost years gave!

A Spring Day Up in Muskoka

A Spring day in Muskoka, with sky and water vividly blue; the smell of pine, the song of birds in the air. On a sunny slope a girl gathered trilliums with eager hands. She smiled at the questioning stranger.

"I never picked wild flowers before," she said wistfully. "We lived in the city. Father died, and then—mother, of tuberculosis. I was all alone. I wasn't strong,—worked too hard,—and I got it. They brought me here to the Sanitarium on a stretcher."

"But, look at me now!" exultantly. The glow of health was in her cheeks. "It's the rest and care and good food and fresh air that saved me," and her eyes shone joyously.

Surely she was worth saving, this bonny, blue-eyed girl! Surely the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives deserves her gratitude!

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont.—"I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and that terrible sinking feeling. I felt that I could not live and would fix my house in order every night so there would be no trouble if I dropped off in the night. My husband went to the druggist to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. O. CHURCH, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CALEDON.

The Caledon Union Young People's Society met on Tuesday evening of last week. The meeting was in charge of the Devotional Committee. The subject was "The Life of Joseph." A number of good readings, interspersed with several well rendered solos, made up the program. This week's meeting on Dec. 7th was a Ralph Connor, Night in charge of the Education Committee. The Missionary meeting on Dec. 13th will take the form of a Missionary Post Office. The Social meeting on Dec. 20th promises to be a rare treat.

When the Landlord Raised the Rent

"I never do have any fun," complained a young girl petulantly.

"Come with me, and I'll cure your discontent," suggested a visiting nurse of the National Sanitarium Association.

They visited a humble little home. The mother was struggling to support the three children, while her husband was fighting tuberculosis at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives.

Life was not rosy. It became tragic when the rent was doubled. Hopeless despair looked from her brown eyes. Three pairs of childish eyes watching, sensed something to make even baby lips quiver.

"But there!" with a smile, and the latter smiled too, "I mustn't complain. He's getting better anyway. He writes it's wonderful up there—it's saved his life." And the brown eyes were a prayer.

"We just got to help," exclaimed an enthusiastic young person as she and the nurse walked down the road.

CHILDREN'S AID.

Fourth Annual Report of Dufferin County Society.

Mr. President, Officers and Members of the Children's Aid Society,—

In presenting our fourth annual report, we wish to state that during the past four years we have aimed to impress upon our citizens, a strong sense of responsibility for child-welfare work in this County, and I am pleased to report that our efforts are beginning to meet with some response.

During the past year we have received assistance financially and otherwise from the many organized bodies throughout the County, all of which is very encouraging. Welcome words of appreciation have come to us, and because such are always acceptable, we will pass them on to you.

We wish very much to express our appreciation of the helpfulness met upon all sides, especially for financial aid from the County Council. The closest co-operation and good will should exist between this body and the Children's Aid Society, for under the Children's Protection Act, the County is made responsible for the adequate maintenance and protection of its neglected and dependent children. Therefore, it is the County Council privilege to exact an accounting of all monies expended by our Society, and to receive a report of work done by and through the local Children's Aid Society organization of the County.

It devolves upon me, as executive officer, to make such report, but before doing so, we wish to thank all officers of the law, the clergy, physicians, teachers and neighbors of unfortunates; also the several organizations, especially Women's Institutes and the Hospital, for services rendered. The Crown Attorney, Police Magistrates, and Justices of the Peace have shown a special interest and we are also indebted to the determined efforts to succeed on the part of those who have provided shelter and foster homes for our children, for there are many discouraging features with which to contend.

Because of the heavy increase in the placement of outside and Government wards, we were sorely driven for accommodation for our children, and owing to increased maintenance work, our budget this year has been exceeded.

If this work should increase proportionately, it will not be long before a County Shelter is needed.

In view of the fact that our work grows broader and heavier, we would like to impress upon all citizens of this County, the necessity of making some sacrifice on behalf of child-welfare work, and assisting in every way possible in the struggle toward social, educational and economical betterment. To this end, may we suggest that on account of the great expenditure of time and money and the distances that have to be travelled to get in touch with the different sections of our County, that the members of the County Council be constituted committees in their respective townships, to co-operate with this Society; also, that the different Township Councils in the various portions of the County be made channels through which the requisite information may be gathered; thus, giving your Agent and Inspector the opportunity, as well as advantage, of getting into personal touch with the homes and conditions of each municipality.

In our field work, throughout the County, we are led to believe, that owing to the over-indulgent life of this age, there is little, if any, decrease in the frivolous or evil habits of many of our young people. Profanity is still a prevailing practice in all towns wherever the youth assembles—young men and boys, in a spirit of bravado, seem to think it necessary to express their ideas emphatically by using unseemly language. If there is a cure at all, for this pernicious habit, it may be found in proper organization and supervision of all recreational activities affecting the youth in order to develop a new atmosphere or surroundings where it would be impossible to continue the habit. The same boys, young and old, will conform to requirements, and if properly led, once in line, will not break ranks, as the old habit, for want of practice, will die out. The inborn love of fellowship in our boys and girls demands recognition, and it is only along legitimate lines of organization, that we can hope to keep in touch with our young people.

The auto, movies, pool-room and jazzing, are some of the many attractions that affect the home.

License is still given our town children to frequent the movies and other places of amusement unaccompanied by parent or guardian. Our boys and girls in the country are permitted, also, to drive long distances to town to seek their pleasures, and to remain out until unseemly hours of the night.

Unfortunately, in this age, the home seems inadequate to meet the demands of the pleasure-seeking youth, therefore, parents must go outside to meet them.

If a proper sense of responsibility be aroused, we can provide, in every community, counter attractions to these indulgences. All that is required is organization. Surely a people capable of organizing school fairs, stock clubs, beef rings, and U. F. O. societies for material ends, is competent to provide for the social and moral needs of its own progeny.

You have an excellent impression already of what has been accomplished through Cadet Corps, Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements.

Open air skating rinks and children's slides for winter and children's play grounds, with sand piles and play apparatus for the summer, demand your consideration.

A community hall, a place of instruction and entertainment, under proper control, is a primary necessity in every town, village and hamlet throughout our County. A swimming pool also, under proper supervision, is badly needed for summer diversions. Any or all of these projects are feasible, because they may be undertaken with small beginnings.

Recreational activities have much to do with the development of character, as they touch intimately the contentment and therefore, the happiness of every creature.

We have in all communities, outstanding men and women, possessing initiative and leadership, who realizing the necessity of organization, are giving their time and services to child-welfare work, but there is a crying need for more who will do likewise.

As stated in our last year's report, one of the main objects of the Children's Aid Society, as set forth in its constitution, reads as follows:—"To create a sentiment for the establishment of wholesome, uplifting influences, such as small parks, swimming pools, play-grounds, gymnasiums, community centres and the like."

Surely this objective is sufficient to include all recreation necessary for the comfort and well-being of the youth of every community.

The Humble Home "In the Rear"

A man, gaunt, hollow-eyed, lay on the bed in a little shack "in the rear." The closed window was a silent reproach to an unwholesome garbage heap within twenty feet of the front door. There, the man, his wife and two children existed, miserably.

How could a victim of tuberculosis possibly recover under such conditions?

Ah! the pitiful lack of money to provide for his needs! The dumb agony in his wife's eyes!

The National Sanitarium came to the rescue. He was sent to the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, and the family provided for in healthy surroundings.

That was a year ago. It has taken time, but pure air, perfect rest, proper—and sufficient—food, have done their work.

It is expected that a few months will complete his recovery, and fit him for light work.

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton 223 College Street, Toronto.

Then, I used one box of "Sootha-Salva" and two boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return.

I think it is marvellous because no other medicine did me any good until I used "Sootha-Salva" and "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful medicine made from fruit".

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence healing.

PROMINENT EDUCATIONIST

Dr. W. N. Bell Filled Large Place in Life of Town of Paris.

(Paris, Ont., November 23.)

Walter Nehemiah Bell, B. A., D. Paed., a prominent Ontario educationist, passed away at his home here early this morning after an illness of three months. Born in Somerset, England, 54 years ago, he came with his parents to Orangeville as a youth. There he received his preparatory training, passing on to the University of Toronto, from which he was graduated in Arts in 1894. In 1918 he received the post-graduate degree of Doctor of Paedagogy from his Alma Mater. He taught in the high schools of Strathroy, Simcoe and Glencoe.

He was selected Principal at Paris 23 years ago. Under his able management the school has expanded greatly in size and usefulness, and enjoys an enviable reputation among the schools of its class in the Province. Dr. Bell was a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and has been serving on the Ontario Government's Commission for the revision of the Provincial High School Act.

Locally he was one of the town's most valued and useful citizens. He had for years been President of the Paris Horticultural Society, and was Vice-President of the Paris Board of Trade.

He was married in 1894 to the elder daughter of the late A. J. Donly, then Registrar of Norfolk. Of that union there are three children, two sons and a daughter. His wife predeceased him 22 years ago. His aged father, Mr. E. Bell, of Orangeville, three brothers and three sisters, also survive.

As a mark or respect and esteem for the deceased the flags on the municipal buildings and schools in town are at half-mast and at a special meeting of the Board of Education this afternoon a resolution expressing high appreciation of his character and work, as also the loss to the schools and the community in general at his death, was passed.

The funeral, on Friday afternoon, at 1.30, will be of a public nature, held in the Methodist church, following which the remains will be taken to Oakwood Cemetery, Simcoe.

coe.—Daily Globe, Nov. 24th.

Dr. Bell, whose death was briefly noted in a former issue of The Banner, was a son of Emanuel Bell and the late Martha Bell, of Orangeville. In addition to his father the surviving members of the family are:—Mrs. S.H. Spooner, Hardwich, Mass; Mrs. N. Collins and Miss Lottie Bell, Orangeville; Mr. A. J. Bell, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Edwin E. Bell, Hamilton, and Mr. Henry G. Bell, of Toronto.

The resolution, passed by the Paris Board of Education and already referred to, follows:—

Resolved, that we, the members of the Paris Board of Education, in special session assembled, hereby desire to place on record our high appreciation of the character and ability of the late Mr. Walter N. Bell, B. A., D. Paed., who for twenty-three years has most faithfully occupied the position of Principal of our High School. His scholastic attainments placed him in the front rank among the Educationists of the Province of Ontario; his continuous study kept him ever abreast, and indeed, ahead of the times; his painstaking care in instructing his students made our school an outstanding success at the time of examination; his nobility of manhood; his integrity of character; his devoted loyalty to the highest ideals of citizenship all combined to impress upon the young people entrusted to his care, a strong desire to go out into life fully equipped for all the duties they would be called upon to perform; while the deep personal interest he took in their welfare was an incentive to highest performance.

We also desire to record our civic pride in the high positions occupied by Dr. Bell as a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto; and as an appointee of the Government as one of the Commissioners for the revision of the High School Curriculum.

We further appreciate his efforts, as President, for a number of years, of the Horticultural Society, to beautify the town and make it more home-like and attractive.

To the family of Dr. Bell we would tender our deep sympathy in the loss of father, adviser and friend; at the same time expressing our pleasure at the memory which is theirs of one who was not only clever, scholarly and capable, but also upright, honorable and true in every department of life.

Signed on behalf of the Board.

PRESENTATION TO MR. CLYDE GORDON

On Saturday evening about 10.30 o'clock a number of the friends of Mr. Clyde Gordon, late accountant in the Imperial Bank here, met to bid him a formal farewell and to say some kind words to him regarding the esteem in which he has long been held by the citizens of Fergus.

Messrs. A. C. Steele and L. Sargent represented the business men; F. J. Peabody and Harry Steele, the veterans; and O. B. Brown and A. L. Steele, the Athletic Club.

Mr. L. Sargent made the presentation of a beautiful gold watch suitably engraved, and Clyde, though taken by surprise, made a short reply, after which others present spoke, telling of the loss to Fergus and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Gordon every prosperity in their new home at Grand Valley, where Mr. Gordon has been made manager of the local branch of the Imperial Bank.—Fergus News-Record.

Her position was a difficult one and she has many interesting experiences to narrate.

P. S. CONCERT

Large Audiences Heard Delightful Programmes Thursday and Friday Nights.

Capacity audiences attended the Orangeville Public School concert in the Opera House on Thursday and Friday nights. The quality of the programme provided by the pupils under the direction of Mr. J. E. Jessop, Musical Director of the School, Principal Firth and the Teaching Staff, was a revelation to a great many in the audiences, who had very little idea of the importance or extent of the work the school is doing in the musical training and education of the children of the town. That the audiences were keenly appreciative goes without saying, nor were they slow to show their appreciation and liberal rounds of applause rewarded the efforts of the youthful entertainers. Thursday night's programme opened with a pretty humming song by Miss Porter's class, followed by a song, "Come let us learn to sing," by the members of Miss Irwin's class. The next number was a creditable rendition of a three part song, "Christ Was Born on Christmas Day," by six girls. Miss Lalor's primary class of tots then contributed their two songs, "Mr. Frog" and "The Chicken," to the great delight of the audience, who applauded the little folk in the heartiest manner. The Cadets looked smart and soldierly in their khaki uniforms and sang "We are the Boys of the Old Brigade" in spirited fashion. The rifle exercises given under the direction of Principal Firth were well done indeed and constituted a much appreciated feature of the programme. Miss C. Shain's class contributed a song, "Christmas Bells," in pleasing manner and Miss Kannawin's class won unstinted applause with their Flag Song. Following this Misses Annie Marshall, L. Johnston and B. Sproule were heard in a piano trio.

At this stage the programme was varied by a short address by Inspector Liddy, who spoke in interesting manner of the School and its work.

The audience showed an appreciative interest in the staff notation, modulator and ear exercises by the classes of Miss Fannie Shain, Miss McArthur and Principal Firth. In the case of Miss Shain's class the exercises were followed by the song, "Gliding Through the Meadow," by the whole class. The classes of Miss McArthur and the Principal concluded their part of the entertainment with a Canadian Boat Song, which was excellently rendered. The Fourth Class girls sang, "Summer Morning," and then brought down the house with a graceful and skilfully executed wand drill. Miss McConnell's class contributed two songs, "When there's Love at Home" and "We're Nymphs of the Ocean Spray" and were also responsible for three very pretty folk dances, "The Shoemaker's Dance," "Taffy was a Welshman" and "The Children's Polka." The dances were given under the direction of Miss Clara Hulse, who trained the children for this part of their entertainment. Added charm and variety was given the program by piano solos by Misses Marguerite Arnott, Ethel Trimble and Violet Salter and piano duets by Marguerite Arnott and Marion Kearns, Eileen Daniels and Marion Kearns, and Margaret Price and Margaret Killoughby. The closing number was two verses of "O Canada" by the whole school, followed by the singing of the National Anthem. At the close the children, who gave splendid order all evening, got rid of some of their pent-up energy and overflowing spirits, by giving resounding cheers for Principal Firth, the teaching staff, Mr. Jessop and the School Board.

The program was repeated on Friday night with some minor changes. The pupils, Principal Firth Mr. Jessop and the teaching staff are deserving of every credit for the excellence and success of the Concerts. Apart from furnishing our citizens with two evenings of real entertainment they served the useful purpose of familiarizing them with the work of the school along the line of musical education. We understand that Orangeville has the distinction of being the only place of its size in the Province, where a trained musical supervisor gives regular instruction in both Public and High Schools.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear father, John Betteson, who entered into rest on Dec. 11th, 1919.

The midnight stars are shining
On a lone and silent grave,
Where sleepeth without dreaming,
The one we could not save.

Had we but seen him at the last,
Or watched his dying breath,
Or heard the last sigh of his heart,
Or held his drooping head.

Our hearts, we think, would not have felt
Such bitterness and grief;
But God had willed it otherwise,
And now he rests in peace.

Sadly missed by wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear father, John Betteson, who departed this life December 11th, 1919.

Two years have passed and gone,
Since the one I loved so well
Was taken from his home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.

Forget him, no! I never will,
I loved him then and love him still;
He was the best that God could send,
A loving father, a faithful friend.

His memory is as dear to-day,
As at the hour he passed away;
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear father, how I long for you.

But still I miss my father dear,
For he was loved by all;
I miss his kind and loving voice,
For he was good to all.

Dear is the place where he is laid,
Sweet is the memory that ne'er shall fade;
Flowers will wither, leaves fade and die,
Some have forgotten, never will I.

'Tis hard we know to sorrow not,
For grief will have its way,
But then there's hope to meet again
On the resurrection day.

Then let your sorrows cease to flow,
Since God has called him home;
But let your hearts in every woe,
Still say, "Thy will be done."

His lonely daughter,
Mrs. Geo. Westlake.

NOVEL SPECULATION

A remarkable story of how a young Hungarian made a profit of 4,000,000 crowns by speculating with his wife's dowry and then sending her and her dowry back to her father, has just come to light in Budapest.

Some months ago Joseph Klein, a young merchant of Budapest of small means, married a Transylvanian girl and received with her a dowry of 2,000,000 Rumanian lei (worth at present exchange rates about one and two-thirds cents per lei.) The bridegroom quickly changed his wife's dowry into Hungarian currency and received in exchange 14,000,000 crowns, the crown then being quoted seven to the lei.

After the honeymoon the young of both the Rumanian currency and husband found that his good opinion of his wife had declined and that the crown was now only five to the lei. Klein thereupon bought back his wife's dowry for 10,000,000 crowns and sent her and her dowry back to her father. By this transaction Klein made a clear profit of 4,000,000 crowns and is now said to be on the lookout for another wife.

This is an example of how the marriage market here has been affected by the fluctuation of exchange values. When the Hungarian crown sank very low the value of Transylvanian, south Hungarian and Slovak girls, backed by good Rumanian lei, Jugo-Slav dinars and Czecho-Slovak sokols, rose considerably in the eyes of the Hungarian youths, and at least as many matches were made on the exchange as in heaven.

Slowly, with the improvement of the Hungarian money, the demand for girls from the lost provinces abated and Magyar girls are again very firm in the market. Former marriages with foreign currency girls are now being cancelled for the sake of Hungarian women.—The Teller.

LADIES' AID PRESENTATION

On Monday the members of the Whittington Methodist Ladies' Aid Society gave Mrs. John S. Spence Broadway, a pleasant surprise by presenting her with a fine pyrex casseroie and the following address:—

Dear Mrs. Spence,—

We, your co-workers in Whittington Ladies' Aid, have learned with sincere regret of your removal from our midst. We desire to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the services you have rendered our Society and the serious loss we will sustain through your departure from our vicinity.

We will miss you, not alone in our Ladies' Aid, but also in our Church and Sunday School, where you have entered whole-heartedly into every thing, which made for the advancement of our Master's Kingdom.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of our esteem. May it serve ever to recall pleasant memories of our Society and your associates here. In the years that lie before you we pray that God's richest blessings may be showered on you and Mr. Spence.

Signed on behalf of Whittington Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. James White, President.
Miss Annie Kinsley, Secretary.

Until her removal to Orangeville a few weeks ago Mrs. Spence has been a zealous and untiring worker in the Whittington Ladies' Aid and Church.

PASS A.J. SMALL ACCOUNTS

Committee is Allowed $26,377 for its Services in Managing Affairs of the Estate.

Upon the passing of the accounts of the estate of Ambrose J. Small, the missing Toronto theatrical manager, J. A. C. Cameron, official referee, has allowed the Capital Trust Corporation $15,189.95 for its services and Mrs. Small $11,188 for her services as committee of the "absentee" theatrical manager's estate.

It is found that the capital receipts taken over by the committee, after deducting certain items not properly assets of the estate, amount to $1,347,235, while the capital disbursements are $610,041.66.

On the question of compensation, the referee says:

Unsatisfactory Condition.

"It was urged on behalf of the Capital Trust Corporation that on account of the unexpected disappearance of Mr. Small, his affairs were in a very unsatisfactory condition. No books or records could be found. As pointed out by Dr. Connolly, managing director of the Capital Trust Corporation, the opening of the safety deposit boxes revealed only various documents, bank books and cancelled checks. Mr. Small's desk, office files and general office contained the accumulation of years and all papers and file documents had to be carefully examined. It was also pointed out by Dr. Connolly that a world-wide search for Mr. Small had to be carried on. Subsequently, Doughty was arrested, and convicted of theft of bonds belonging to the estate. It was also pointed out by Dr. Connolly that the fact that the Capital Trust Corporation was a member of the committee saved the estate the premium which would have had to be paid by the committee for an administrative bond.

Mrs. Small in Touch

"On the other hand, Mrs. Small contended that she was in constant touch with the affairs of the estate, and was in almost daily communication with the police authorities, her solicitor and the Capital Trust Corporation, and superintended the preparation of the advertisements for her late husband and for the reward for the arrest of Doughty. She also pointed out that she directed the policy adopted in the investment of the capital of the estate, and superintended the investment of the estate.

"I find that the committee are entitled to compensation as follows:—

One per cent. on capital receipts of $1,347,235.69	$13,472.35
One per cent. on capital disbursements; $619,041.66	6,190.41
Five p.c. on income receipts of $46,200	2,310.00
Five p.c. on income disbursements, $28,103.08 .	1,405.15
	$23,377.91
I also make an allowance in connection with money received by the committee and subsequently paid to Mrs. Small	3,000.00
	$26,377.91

An AMBEROLA in your home brings greater Christmas joy

THE tree—The Yule log—the glad hearts and merry faces! And over the rejoicing come the strains of music—of the sweet old Christmas carols—played by the Edison Amberola!

—That is a picture of what your home can be, if you own this perfected musical instrument! And you can own it because its remarkably low price puts the Amberola easily within reach of everyone.

Don't think that just because the Amberola is reasonably priced, it is an ordinary "talking machine!" As a matter of fact, its startling realism makes it the superior of the usual high-priced "talking machines." And despite the fact that we offer the Amberola as the world's greatest phonograph value, we will gladly let you have it on terms that will suit your convenience.

The Ideal Christmas Gift

If you would really like to increase the joy in your home on Christmas, come in today and select an Amberola. If you can't come in, phone or write us today, so we can deliver the Amberola to you for Christmas.

PRESENTATION AT MONO MILLS

Quite a large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. John A Vance, who has recently sold his fine farm, on Friday of last week, to spend the evening with him previous to his removal to Brampton

During the evening Rev J A Matheson was requested to take the chair and called on Mr. John E. Jackson, of Adjala, to read the following address, while Messrs Geo. McCulloch, H A. Dowling and G J Lemon presented Mr Vance with a large parlor chair:

Dear Mr. Vance,—

Your friends and acquaintances in this neighborhood learn with regret your intended departure from our midst, and a number of us have met here tonight to spend a pleasant time with you before we say good-bye.

We can assure you that this community will feel the loss of your removal very keenly You have always lived here, and you have been held in the highest respect by those who knew you.

You have always taken a deep interest in everything that tended to the welfare of this place Not only have you the abilities that are required in connection with the furtherance of public utilities, but you also whole-heartedly gave your time, thought and money whenever and wherever needed.

You have been a friend of all our churches, and you never failed to give your splendid assistance in the choirs and otherwise when called upon to do so.

You shirked no duty nor responsibility, however onerous or unpleasant the task might be; you did your part faithfully and more than your part. You have always shown your worth as a genuinely practical Christian; a never failing friend, a useful citizen and a real patriot.

You have lived for the good of others and often sacrificed your own interests in doing so. In this world where there is so much selfishness and where self-interests are so often supreme there is nothing that should give as great happiness at this parting as to know that your ideals have always been so different.

Further let us say you have had your share of this world's troubles, but your natural hopeful view of life has enabled you to bear them bravely.

We would ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a small token of our friendship and of our appreciation of the invaluable services you have rendered.

Mono Mills, Dec 9th, 1921

Short speeches, testifying to Mr. Vance's true worth as a citizen and regret at his approaching departure, were delivered by Messrs. R J Potter, Thos McCandless, Cecil Welwood, D N Potter, Robert Rawn, W A Dowling, G J Lemon and others.

The programme closed with singing "God be with you till we meet again," with Mrs. (Rev.) S. D. Dimick presiding at the piano.

11% Promised
11% PAID

A few months ago we offered our Clients the 8% Preferred Stock of the King Edward Construction Co., Ltd., with a bonus of 30% of Common Stock. We then stated that the Common Stock would, at an early date, go on a 10% basis.

This promise has been fulfilled, and the King Edward Construction Co., Ltd., has declared its first dividend at the rate of 10% per annum on the Common Stock.

Those who took our advice and bought Preferred Stock with a bonus of Common, now have an investment yielding 11%.

We are offering the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, with a bonus of 30% of Common. This should ultimately be even a better investment than the King Edward Construction Co., Ltd., as The Mount Royal Hotel Company has a much greater potential earning power.

JOHN CRAIG

John Craig, an old resident of this district, died at his home, lot 3, con. 3, east, Mono township, on Tuesday, Dec. 5th, at the remarkable age of 9 years. Deceased was born in Ireland, but came to Canada 70 years ago, settling on the farm in Mono where he has since lived. He was a widower, his wife having died five years ago. He is survived by one son and three daughters, namely, Thos. Craig, of Mono, Mrs. E. McCullough, of Amaranth Station, Mrs. John Allen, of Glencross, and Mrs. Hugh Acheson, of Albion. The funeral was held from his late residence to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 8th, Rev. T. H. Stewart officiating at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robert McKim, of Orangeville, Robert Stewart, of Inglewood, Wm. Bennett, Mono, Geo. Holmes and Wm. Stewart.

JOHN INGRAHAM

Genial, cheery John Ingraham has passed to the unknown bourne that lies beyond the grave. He has left behind the weakness and suffering, the fatal malady that brought death slowly but surely and the physical infirmity that hampered and handicapped his life here, but was powerless to efface the smile, to stay the cheery word of greeting or to cloud the bright and sunny nature that always saw life and his fellowmen at their best. Delicate in frame for many years his health was sadly impaired some months ago by a severe attack of the summer flu. In September he was compelled to take to his bed and had been bedfast practically all the time since then. For days those, who watched and waited on him with the love that increases and intensifies with the increasing need of the object of its solicitude, knew that the end was drawing near. Quietly it came as the shadows lengthened on Tuesday afternoon and gently the Angel entered the chamber and summoned the soul of John Ingraham from its frail tenement.

The funeral will take place from his late home on West Broadway to Greenwood Cemetery at 2.30 this (Thursday) afternoon. To the sisters, the Misses Ingraham, the sympathy of their many friends is extended in their hour of trial.

JAMES JENKINS

The death occurred at his late residence, John St., on Tuesday, December 6th, of Mr. James Jenkins, of this town, formerly of Caledon, in his 71st year. Mr. Jenkins was born at Sandhill in Albion Township, his father moving to Caledon and settling on a farm near Melville some fifty years ago. Here the subject of this notice successfully followed the occupation of farming until about four years ago, when he moved to Orangeville to spend the evening of life in well-earned leisure. Deceased was one of Caledon's most successful farmers and was widely and favorably known in this district. A man of quiet and retiring disposition, kindly and obliging, he filled well the part of a good neighbor and a kind, loving father. The large number of people from Caledon who attended his funeral attested to his popularity and the high esteem in which he was held by those who knew him best. The numerous floral tributes also furnished convincing though silent proof of the abiding place he held in the affections of his family and friends. Service was held in his late home, John St., on Friday afternoon, December 9th, by Rev. H. L. Partridge, of Orangeville, assisted by Rev. J. F. G. Morris, of Alton Methodist Circuit. The pallbearers were six nephews, namely, James and Richard Jenkins, F. A. Falconer, Nelson Maxwell, Norman Davison and George Johnston. The flowers were many and beautiful. Among those most noticeable were a pillow from the family, a wreath from W. A. Jenkins, Nokomis, Sask., and wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. R. Fines, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lockey, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Dawson, Mr. E. Holloway, and a very fine wreath from the girls of the Bell Telephone staff, where Mr. Jenkins' daughter, Marion, is employed.

The deceased is survived by three sons and two daughters, W. A., of Nokomis, Sask., J. E. and R. A., of Caledon, and Misses Amelia and Marion, of Orangeville. The surviving brothers and sisters are John Jenkins, of Alton, Edward Jenkins, of Mono, Mrs. J. Brett, of Toronto, and Mrs. J. Falconer, of Hillsburg. The late Mr. Jenkins was a staunch member of the Methodist Church and a Conservative in politics. The whole community joins in sympathy with the bereaved family.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S.

The above Society held a successful and instructive meeting on Monday night. Under the able leadership of Miss Jessie Campbell, who occupied the chair, the Consecration Committee provided the program for the evening. The meeting opened with a song service of well-known hymns. Mr. Mahaffy, pastor of the church, gave a timely and helpful Talk on "Following Christ." The musical numbers included a delightful piano solo by Miss Madeline Leggatt and a much appreciated vocal solo, "Abide With Me," by Miss Olive Laird, of Norval.

Next Monday night the meeting will assume a special character to mark the close of the year's work. A splendid musical programme will be provided. Refreshments served. A cordial invitation is extended to all young people.

CHURCH CO-OPERATION

Church co-operation has been a live topic in the mind of the leaders of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches in this district for some time past. Both churches have many small local charges and there is considerable over-lapping in the work. The upshot was a meeting in the Methodist Church here a few weeks ago of a Committee representing the Presbytery of Orangeville and the Methodist Districts of Orangeville and Mount Forest to make a survey of the whole district and suggest if possible a rearrangement and grouping of the charges of the two churches. After carefully considering the situation from every angle the Committee, which had the assistance of Rev. J D. Byrnes and Rev. F L. Brown, Superintendents of Missions in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches respectively, drew up the following list of suggested groupings:—

Group I.—Monticello (M), Campania (M), Providence (M), Tarbert (P), assigned to care of Methodist Church.

Group II.—Caledon (M), Caledon (P), Melville Jct. (M), assigned to care of Presbyterian Church.

Group III.—Alton (M), Alton (P), North Erin (P), assigned to care of Methodist Church.

Group IV.—Horning's Mills (M), Whitfield (M), Horning's Mills (P), Primrose (P), assigned to care of Presbyterian Church.

Group V.—Flesherton (P), Eugenia (M), Eugenia (P), Proton (P), assigned to care of Presbyterian Church.

Group VI.—Grand Valley (M), Waldemar (P), assigned to care of Methodist Church.

Group VII.—Laurel (P), Black's Corners (P), Bowling Green (M), assigned to care of Presbyterian Church.

Singhampton Presbyterian Church to be exchanged for Badjeros Methodist Church.

We understand that the congregations affected are all augmented charges, that is, they receive support from the general funds of their respective churches. The draft prepared by the Committee was submitted to the Orangeville Presbytery and the Orangeville District of the Methodist Church at meetings held here on Tuesday and was unanimously agreed to by both bodies. The matter will now be passed down to the interested congregations for their consideration and decision. If they agree to the grouping steps will be taken to bring the suggested changes into operation. If they reject the proposal no change will be made.

GOOD HORSES FOR DUFFERIN

Geo. Thompson, a prominent stock raiser of Mono Township, has just added to his already high class stock of pure bred animals an exceptionally fine pair of prize winning Clydesdale mares. These were purchased from the well known horsemen, Robt. Duff & Son, of Myrtle. One of these mares, "Lady Corinthian," stood first in a strong class of 14 Canadian bred Draught Horses foaled in 1918 at the recent Provincial Winter Fair at Guelph, and the other, "Queen of Maryfield," stood first in a strong class of two year olds at the late Canadian National Exhibition, and was well up in the prize money in the same class at Guelph. We wish to commend Mr. Thompson on his enterprise and wish him the best of success with his purchase.

At the recent Winter Fair at Guelph, a team of Clydesdale mares sold by Mr. Thompson to E. T. Stephens, of Richmond Hill, made a very creditable showing. The 3 year old mare of the team was one of the first prize team for pairs under 1600 lbs. each, and the 4 year old stood second in a class of 10 Heavy Draughts foaled previous to 1918, and was one of the 2nd prize team in pairs over 1600 lbs.

H. A. Dorrance, Agricultural Representative for Dufferin County, has a Class of Junior Farmers from various sections of the County attending a special Educational Course in Swine work at the Abattoirs and Union Stock Yards, West Toronto, this week. The members of the party are W. L. Ewing, Orangeville; Calvin Dodds and Eugene Garvey, Mono Mills; Albert Page, Horning's Mills, Norman Park, Camilla; Wr Wilmott, Grand Valley; T. Evans, Amaranth Stn., and Clifford Shields, Shelburne. These Courses are being arranged to give the young farmers first hand information on the market requirements for bacon hogs and the proper type of hog to raise to keep up the highest standard of Canadian bacon.

PRIZES AT GUELPH

John Black & Sons, Amaranth, are to be congratulated upon the fine showing made by their herd of Herefords at the recent Guelph Winter Stock Show. Messrs. Black & Sons exhibited six animals and were successful in carrying off six prizes, consisting of four firsts, one second and a third. These included the prize for the four best calves bred and owned by the exhibitor and the much coveted prize for the get of a sire, which they won with Jewel Fairfax, Prince Fairfax and Supreme Fairfax Jr. The sire of the three prizewinners, Supreme Fairfax, was imported from Jas. T. Hill's herd in Ohio and was junior champion of the New York State Fair, grand champion at Detroit and grand champion at Guelph in 1918 and is conceded by many of the noted breeders to be one of the best breeding Hereford sires in Ontario.

Every home in Canada, every Canadian school boy and girl should know the new Canadian Coat of Arms. It is a most beautiful plate and should occupy a prominent place in all true Canadian homes. "BERT" BROWN MAKES CHANGE

Mr. J. B. Brown's many friends here will be surprised to learn that he has severed his connection with the firm of Beatty Bros., with whom he has been associated for the past 14 years. Bert grew up with the business and knew every detail. He has for several years been one of the most successful travellers, and the firm will be sorry to lose him. He has accepted an important position with the Municipal Bankers' Corporation, Ltd., Toronto, and it is hoped that he will be able to make Fergus his headquarters. May continued success be his.—Fergus News-Record.

Through his connection with the Dufferin Lacrosse Club "Bert" is almost as well known in Orangeville as in his own town. His friends here wish him every success in his new venture.

BLOUNT.

A very successful event was the annual tea supper of the Blount Women's Institute, which was held at the home of Mrs. Tho. Allen, when upwards of sixty people were present. A number of good speeches interspersed with several well rendered songs and solos, made up the programme. A vote of thanks was given to the hostess and also to the ladies who had helped. The remainder of the evening was very pleasantly spent in dancing.

ALTON

The Methodist Mission Circle will hold their annual Bazaar in the school room of the Methodist Church on Saturday, Dec. 17th, both afternoon and evening. Booths of Fancy Goods, Homemade Candy and Homemade Baking will be among the attractions. A Tea Room will also be provided. A musical programme is being arranged for the evening. All roads will lead to the Methodist Church on Saturday, the 17th. Booths open at 3 p.m. Everybody welcome.

MARSVILLE

Court Marsville held its annual oyster supper on Friday evening, December 2nd, and the event proved as successful as those of previous years. Notwithstanding the unfavorable evening over fifty members and their wives assembled to participate in the social function. After justice had been done to the dainty menu an interesting programme was rendered. Bro. W. McGowan, C. R. presided in his usual able manner. It was 12 o'clock when the National Anthem brought the happy event to a close, when all dispersed feeling well pleased over the evening's entertainment.

The young people of the vicinity have organized a Literary Society which meets in Disciple Church on Tuesday evenings. The following officers have been appointed:—Pres., Stanley Boggs; Vice-Pres., Elgin Pines; Sec.-Treas., Gladys McGowan; Committee, Mrs. Jas. Taylor, Mrs. L. Woods, Mrs. N. Thompson, Miss M. Hawn, Miss L. Platt, Harold Woods and Stanley Byers. The first meeting was held last week when a debate on "Resolved that country life is preferable to city life" proved an interesting feature of the program. The affirmative speakers were Elwood Nodwell, Elgin Mann and Elgin Platt, while the negative was upheld by Bert Price, Rob McGowan and Earl McGowan. The decision was given in favor of the affirmative. Elgie and Nina Nodwell provided instrumental music, and Miss M. Morrison rendered a recitation in a pleasing manner. The young people are taking a keen interest in the Society and hope to have many profitable meetings during the winter months.

The Marsville Branch of the Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jas. Edwards. There was a very large attendance of the members and a good meeting was held. Mrs. S. Price and Mrs. W. McGowan, delegates to the Convention in Toronto, gave lengthy reports which proved interesting and profitable. The Society is undertaking a worthy act by sending Christmas boxes to the disabled soldiers in Toronto.

HOCKLEY

On Friday evening last, the members of Hockley L. O. L. No. 465 held a very successful fowl supper. On the invitation of the Lodge nearly two hundred sat down to a sumptuous repast. A splendid program was given, consisting of recitations and speeches. Rev. W. G. Atkinson gave an appropriate speech in which he outlined the duties of an Orangeman. Loyalty was the key-note, and the speaker said we were all duty-bound to serve Canada which had been bestowed upon us as a heritage, not only by noble ancestors but from God. An appeal was made to the uninitiated young men to think seriously of how best they could serve the British Empire in the present time. The royal way to serve and witness was to swell the membership of the local Lodge, and thereby do their share in upholding the principles which govern our Empire. The Orange obligation is similar to that which was signed by the Scottish Covenanters in 1638. They pledged themselves together to maintain pure scriptural worship, to protect the King in all lawful and righteous measures, to preserve the liberties of the country, and to die if necessary, in defending the cause of religion, and the well being of the state, a covenant which any Christian patriot might sign. The programme was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and the party was brought to a close by tripping the light fantastic toe, to the music of the Hockley orchestra. Special thanks are extended to the ladies who worked so wonderfully in preparing the fowl and other delicacies, and thus made the supper a grand success.

The members of Hockley Dramatic Club are at present working hard on a Play. Last year the Club was very successful and we are all sure they will keep up their splendid reputation. We will look forward to the staging of the Play with great pleasure.

CALEDON.

The anniversary services in the Methodist Church will be held on Christmas Day at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Rev. J. R. Wilkinson, of Inglewood, will preach at both services.

We are pleased to hear that Caledon is to have electric light in the near future. Mr. Deagle, of Cataract, is now busy putting up the poles.

OFFICIAL COUNT INCREASES WOODS MAJORITY BY 3 VOTES.

Returning Officer John Bryan of Laurel, made his official count of the election vote in Dufferin in the Court House on Monday forenoon. Mr. R. J. Woods, the Progressive, member-elect, attended in person. The winner was in fine spirits and expressed himself as well satisfied with the verdict at the polls on the 6th inst. John Best, the defeated candidate, was not present.

The count made a few changes, the net result increasing Mr. Woods' majority from 294 to 297, a gain of three votes. At Cook's School poll in East Garafraxa Mr. Woods polled 33 instead of 36 votes. This change reduces his majority in that township to 125. The Progressive gained one at Colbeck poll in East Luther and lost one at Perry's School in Mono. The only other change was at Ruskview in Mulmur township, where Best was credited with 80 and Woods with 83 votes. The figures should have been reversed, the 83 going to Woods and 80 to Best. This change reduces Best's Mulmur majority from 201 to 195. The official figures follow:—

CALEDON

The fourth annual meeting of the Peel County U. F. O. was held in Caledon on Saturday, Dec. 10th, and was the most enthusiastic meeting of the kind ever held in the county.

People having been so preoccupied with the election, it was feared that the annual meeting might fall flat, but the opposite was the case. Every one seemed well satisfied with the result of the campaign, and expressed full confidence as to the future of the movement.

After the five township directors had given their reports, a resolution was presented by T. C. Sweeney to authorise township organizations, in addition to existing club and county organization. It was unanimously decided to adopt this suggestion and arrangements were made to put it into effect.

The U. F. W. O. completed their county organization by the appointment of officers as follows:—Pres., Mrs. T. Anderson; Vice-President, Mrs. Norman McLaughlin; Sec.-Treasurer, Mrs. Bert Taylor.

Directors—Chinguacousy, Mrs. H. Caslor; Caledon, Mrs. Vickery; Toronto Gore, Miss May Julian; Albion, Miss May Harper; Toronto Twp., to be chosen. These Directors were instructed to organize U. F. W. O. clubs throughout the county.

The attitude of certain city and local papers towards our movement was freely criticised and the project of making our own paper a daily was strongly advocated.

A committee was appointed to further develop our social activities by means of inter-club and inter-county debates in the winter, followed by sports in summer. Another committee was appointed to arrange a county celebration to be held during the coming summer.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are:— Honorary President, J. G. Hazzard, Ballycroy; President, Cecil L. Gott, Albion; Vice-President, Charles Johnston, Britannia; Secy.-Treasurer, H. Caslor, Cheltenham; Township Directors—Caledon, Thos. Sweeney, of Caledon; Chinguacousy, James McKane, of Terra Cotta; Toronto Gore, James Duncan, of Woodhill; Albion, Wilbur Allen, of Bolton; Toronto Township, Joseph Fewster and Aubrey Might, of Meadowvale.

The high spirit of the gathering reached the climax in prolonged cheering when at the close of business, Mr. Hazzard asked Herbert Taylor to address the meeting. He briefly thanked all those who assisted in the campaign and emphasised the favorable position of our organization politically. The next annual meeting will be held at Cooksville.

We notice that Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Whaley have become residents of our village.

We are all glad to see Miss Bessie Richardson out again after her recent illness.

It will not be long until Christmas now. Mr. Grosskurth has his store very handsomely decorated for the festive season.

The children are very busy practising for a school concert, which will be given in Laurel Methodist Church by Laurel and Klondyke school children on December 16th. Admission, 25c and 15c. Proceeds in aid of Muskoka Free Hospital.

Mr. John T. Goodeve, of Duluth, Minn., returned home last week after attending the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Robert Goodeve.

The rich yet delicate flavour of the perfectly prepared 'green' leaf will always be found in the sealed Salada packet.

Miss Alberta Rutherford, of Brampton local Public School staff, has engaged for a term to teach the higher grade classes in the Mission School in Japan. The young lady is a member of Grace Methodist church and took an active part in the church work.

Early last Thursday morning burglars entered the garage of Fred Robinson in Brampton and stole several hundred dollars worth of tires and auto accessories. Every one of the three garages in Milton have been been broken into and stock stolen.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Kiever.

Vancouver, B.C.—"I am pleased to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a lot of good. I can now walk about without the aid of a support and feel real strong again. A nurse advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and it is certainly helping me. It seems like Heaven to be relieved after months of pain."—Mrs. H. W. Baker, 3874 10th Ave. West, Vancouver, B.C.

Albert Co., N. B.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and they have done me a lot of good. Since then I have been able to do my housework and I have a lot of work to do as we live on a farm. Seeing your advertisement in the papers was what made me think of writing to you. I hope this may help some one else."—Mrs. Wm. B. Keiver, Upper New Horton, Albert Co., N. B.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE CORNER STONE

Workmen Made Interesting Find in Flesherton.

While workmen were engaged tearing out the front of Wright's store one day last week they unearthed an interesting document dealing with the erection of the building, accompanied by copies of the Toronto World and Globe and Flesherton Advance of date Thursday, Sept. 6th, 1883. "This document, with a copy of this week's Advance, are deposited this 7th day of September, 1883 by Mrs. M. Richardson, and the ceremony of laying the corner stone performed by her on this date in the hope that the building may be carried forward to a successful completion without accident or loss of limb."—Flesherton Advance.

DEATH FOLLOWED VOTING

Grand Valley Man Collapsed When Leaving the Polling Booth.

Death came suddenly to Alexander Thompson, a resident of the village for two years, since leaving the farm in Amaranth, just after he had voted on Tuesday morning. He had been in poor health for a long time and suffered an attack the evening before from which he had not fully recovered. Just as he was leaving the polling booth he collapsed and was dead before the car reached his home two blocks away. Needless to say the tragic event cast a gloom over the day's proceedings. Mr. Thompson was a native of Amaranth, having lived in the township up to two years ago. In the last few years his health prevented him doing much work. In 1888 he married Mary Helen Robinson, who with two sons, Wesley and Alexander, survive. In politics he was a staunch Conservative and a Presbyterian in religion. By one of the strange vagaries of fate the funeral of a grandchild took place the day of his death, a feature that intensified the shock of his sudden taking off. The funeral took place to-day to the Union Cemetery. —Star & Vidette.

MRS. WM. MORLEY

Mrs. Sarah Frampton Brown Morley, daughter of the late James C. Brown, 7th line, Erin, died after a brief illness, at her home on Main Street, Erin. Mrs. Morley's health has declined ever since the death of her sister, Jane, in 1920.

Sarah Brown was married to Wm. Morley, of Guelph, Ont., June, 1887, who died March, 1888, in Buffalo, N. Y. One son, Wm. C. Morley, was born to this union and passed away in September, 1911.

Friends well remember her as one of a retiring disposition, a lover of the beautiful and an artist of no mean ability. For many years both of the sisters have taken a very prominent part in Erin fair activities.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, Nov. 29th, at the home, conducted by Rev. J. A. Evans, her pastor of the Methodist church, and was largely attended.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Wm. Nevills, Dan Conley, John Binnie, Geo. Griffin, James Delaney and George Overland.

The surviving members of the family are Mrs. Susannah Boomer, Erin, and Mrs. C. C. Richardson, Lansing, Mich.—Erin Advocate.

CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

Then She Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES" And Has Been Well Ever Since

MADAM SLOAT

Perth Junction, N.B., Jan. 22nd, 1920

"For many years, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion, Constipation and Rheumatism. My Stomach was weak and gave me constant distress, while Rheumatism in my joints made me almost a cripple. was treated by two different doctors but their medicine did me no good.

Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and at once that fruit medicine helped me. Soon the Constipation and Indigestion were relieved and the Rheumatism began to go away, and in a few months entirely disappeared. For twelve years now, my health has been first class, and I attribute it to the use of "Fruit-a-tives" which I take regularly".

THEY KNEW

The teacher was giving the class a natural history lecture on Australia.

"There is only one animal," said she, "none of you have mentioned. It does not stand up on its legs all the time. It does not walk like other animals, but takes funny little skips. What is it?"

And the class cried out with one voice: "Charlie Chaplin."

Mr. Jas. A. Milne, of Fergus, has bought the old homestead on the Belwood road from Mr. Jas. Croft, and has sold Mr. Croft Mr. Elgin Hamilton's 100 acre farm on the 4th con. of West Garafraxa. Elgin Hamilton has bought Wm. Grieve's 150 acre farm in Eramosa.

AFRAID TO BE AFRAID

The exact wording of the aphorism eludes me, and I can't be sure whether it is prose or poetry, but the gist of it is that there is no kind of cowardice allowable, save the fear of being afraid. That sounds a good deal like nonsense, at a first hearing—statements which verge on a paradox generally do—but the chances are that there is something in what one takes the trouble to say in such an odd way.

Like most other things, fear is useful in its place. A right-thinking person is afraid to do wrong, first, because it opens a perilous path for his own feet, and, second, because it grieves God, who is his best friend. Nobody need blush to admit that he is afraid to do evil, and sin against God.

On the other hand, being fearful in the path of duty is distrust of God, for He has girded that path all around with His great and precious promises. "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." That is only one out of many explicit assurances that God's presence and power and protection belong to those who walk in His way, and are sincerely trying to do His will.

When we take that into account, being fearful and over-anxious is not only distrust of God, but it is really doubting God's Word. We do not often think of it in that light, to be sure, but is it anything less? And who would not be afraid to do that?

EXTRAVAGANCE

National extravagance began long before the present era of inflated currencies, and high wages for the workingman. So with many boys and girls of well-to-do parents it begins as soon as they get out of the nursery. I have known of little children eight or ten years old daily drinking half a dozen bottles of sweet drinks or buying half as many dishes of ice cream.

It is all very well to preach economy to grown-up people; but their habits are formed, and are hard to change.

Education in our homes and schools is vitally necessary if habits of economy are to be formed, education in regard to the value and uses of money, that both recklessness and parsimony may be avoided in later life.

RIPLEY PRESBYTERIANS

Have United After Separation of Forty Years.

Since it is sometimes very difficult to get two Presbyterian congregations to unite, one need not wonder that it takes time to bring about union between Presbyterians and other denominations.

After 48 years of separation Huron and Knox Presbyterian churches have decided to worship under one roof again. This decision was reached on Tuesday of last week at separate meetings of the congregations, held under the supervision of a Presbyterian commission composed of Rev. W. A. Bradley, of Teeswater, Rev. A. Overend, of Kincardine, and J. A. McKenzie, layman, of Kincardine.

Some time ago the elders of the two local churches met and asked for a commission to investigate the situation. Forty-eight years ago the two congregations held worship on the sixth concession. It was decided to move into Ripley and it was at this time the break appeared. One faction formed a congregation and opened Huron Presbyterian Church. The other faction opened Knox Presbyterian Church and since then each has carried on independent of the other.

A basis of union was reached at the sessions last week. As soon as the legal requirements are taken care of the two organizations will occupy the same church. Both congregations are to come in free of debt. Worship will be held alternately in both churches until a new edifice is erected.

It is further agreed that the united congregation will use the organ and Book of Praise. It is peculiar to note that since Huron Church was first established the members of the congregation would not subscribe to worship with music provided by an organ. Neither would they sing other than the Psalms. In Knox Church an organ was used and also the Book of Praise.

One of the most outstanding clauses of the agreement is that both pastors are to vacate their positions on the same date yet to be fixed. Rev. R. D. McLean is pastor of Huron Church and Rev. G. A. Gilmore pastor of Knox Church. To this provision the two ministers have agreed. After the pastorates have been declared vacant the united congregation will call a nw minister.

A DISCOVERY

Which are better, man's discoveries or God's revelations? A newspaper cable despatch from Edinburgh reports that a Glasgow scientist announced at a meeting of the British Association that the earth is eight billion years old, and that he has proved that the modest figure of twenty million years, held by Darwin himself, is entirely wrong. This scientist's "discovery" was made as follows: He "assumed" that the sea originally was fresh water. "The next step was to find out how salty was the land, and then how long it would take the oceans to absorb the salt of the land in sufficient quantities to become as salty as to-day?" This investigation showed him that it took four hundred million years for the land to salt the sea as at present; but that figure was multiplied by twenty to allow time for the land to become salty enough to make the ocean salty. And so Darwin's twenty million years, says the scientist, "are of as little use to geology as the seven days of the Pentateuch." It is all very simple and satisfying—to a scientist. Indeed, a Cambridge professor declared that "he had arrived at the same conclusion as to the age of the earth," but by a different method, "which consisted of observing two stars which were originally fragments of the earth, and estimating how long it took them to get as far from the earth as they are now." The scientists' estimates and premises and assumption are naive; the ordinary man would call them guesses. Meantime the Word of God, which does not guess or estimate but reveals, "endureth forever."

CALEDON

Mr. A. W. Stubbs is visiting his uncle at Louis, Mich.

The missionary pageant, "One Day in India," given at Knox Church on Friday evening, drew a large audience which was most enthusiastic over the excellent portrayal of the busy life of a missionary. Miss Atkinson, as the missionary, made an ideal one, while the others played their parts so well that it was an all star performance.

The seven year old daughter of Mr. W. J. Hillock had a most painful experience Sunday morning, accidentally swallowing a cent. After vain attempts to remove it at Orangeville hospital, she was rushed to Toronto General Hospital, and successfully operated upon. We understand it was a Scotchman who recovered the coin.

The delay in mailing cheques to prize winners at Caledon Fair is occasioned by the late payment of donations. These will soon be complete and the balance of cheques mailed before the end of the month.

The Young People's Society of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches held their meeting this week in the Methodist Church. It was a Missionary Evening and proved most entertaining and instructive to a large audience.

The Athletic Club have secured the Aloha orchestra for their dance Friday night.

A grand concert consisting of humorous sketches, recitations, trios, duets, etc., by the pupils, and a farce entitled "Waiting for the Trolley," by the ex-pupils of S. S. No. 9, Caledon, is one of the attractions for the near future. This event will take place on Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd. Outside talent will also assist and a real treat is promised.

WALDEMAR

It is a long time now since we have seen any news from our burg. We wonder what has happened to our reporter.

Mr. Thos. Hewitt, who has been very ill in the Western Hospital, came home on Saturday night. We are glad to report that he is making splendid progress toward recovery.

Mrs. Jenkins left on Friday for Ottawa to visit her daughter, Mrs. T. V. Armstrong.

Mr. Garfield Tolton has his chopping mill in full swing. It seems like old times.

Mr. Henry Patton, of Erin, is visiting friends in town for a few days.

There was a good crowd at the church social on Friday night and everybody reports a good time.

Mr. Garfield Tolton has returned from a visit to Guelph.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Young calf for sale. Apply to Mrs. U. McKenzie, Prince of Wales Road.

—Beautiful Christmas weather these days but a little snow is needed to make it seem like Christmas.

—Municipal councillors are holding their inaugural meeting to-day. This is the last of the Doda Knitting Co. dances in the new addition to the Mill on Monday night. Those who attended report a very pleasant time. The dancing floor and a good time are the order of the year.

—If you are feeling badly, put your troubles away by taking Tanlac. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—St. Andrew's W. M. S. will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. E. H. Brush, First St., at 4.15 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The annual election of officers will take place at this meeting.

—Connor L. O. L. No. 125 held a successful dance and social evening in the Orange Hall at Connor on Monday night. A fine time is reported. Barry's orchestra provided the music.

—In last week's report of the Public School Concert we inadvertently omitted to mention Miss Hunter's class, which contributed a pretty song, "If I Were a Sunbeam." We regret the omission, which was due to a slip of the pen altogether.

—In a letter renewing his subscription to The Banner and forwarding membership fee to Harris Masonic Lodge, Mr. J. H. Taylor, of Carroll, Man., says that like many other Westerners he is always very glad to get the home news from old Ontario.

—The monthly fair last Thursday was the best fair Orangeville has had for many months. There was a very large crowd in town and merchants report a big day's business. The stock market was dull, and in this respect the fair was in marked contrast to the monthly fairs of a few years ago.

—Is your liver out of order? Do you suffer from biliousness, headaches, constipation? If so, Tanlac is what you need. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—Messrs. Alex. Warnock and Wm. Byers, progressive farmers of the Waldemar district, have erected fine brick dwelling houses. Mr. Warnock's house is 28 feet by 40 with a kitchen 16 by 18 and cost in the neighborhood of $4,000. Mr. Byers' house is about the same size minus the kitchen.

—In a letter to The Banner, dated Nov. 30th, for the purpose of renewing his subscription, Mr. G. H. Baker, of Hardisty, Alta., formerly of Mono Centre, states, "The weather has been cold and rather stormy for the past two weeks. We have had two or three inches of snow and it was 20 below zero on the 18th of November. Threshing is pretty all done in this district yet."

PRIZES FOR STOCK

At the Union Stockyards Fat Stock Show held in Toronto last week, W. F. Dodds, of Toronto, was successful in winning a number of prizes. In keen competition he won second prize on purebred steer junior yearling, first prize on grade steer born after June 1st, 1921, and second prize in Wm. Davies special for pen of three bacon hogs.

TEA MEETING

The people of Glencross intend holding a Tea Meeting and Christmas Tree in Purple Valley Orange Hall on Wednesday night, December 21st. An excellent programme is being prepared, consisting of music, dialogues, speeches, drills by the children, etc. Admission, 25 cents; children, 25 cents. Proceeds in aid of the church.

ENTERTAINED CHOIR

A delightful social time was spent in the School Room of the Methodist Church on Friday night, when the Ladies' Aid Society entertained the members of the church choir to a chicken pie supper. Over fifty persons sat down to the festive board. The supper was followed by an informal programme and a general good time.

I. O. O. F. DANCE

Members of the local Court of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows did themselves proud as hosts at the big dance held in the new addition of the Doda Knitting Mill on Friday night. Nearly four hundred guests were present, including young people from Alton, Fergus, Shelburne, Erin and other outside points. The big Addition made a spacious ball room and the floor was in ideal condition for dancing. Cards were provided for the older guests and others who prefer a euchre hand to a dance. Delightful music was provided by the Aloha Hawaiian orchestra from Arthur. Altogether the Dance was the biggest and best function of the kind held in Orangeville for years. Members of the Order and the guests generally are very grateful to Mr. J. M. Dods and The Dods Knitting Co. for generously placing the Addition at their disposal for the evening.

NATURAL GAS

Although natural gas has long been recognised as the ideal fuel for cooking, light and heating, its general economic value is not so well known to the public. Approximately 15 per cent. of the population of Ontario depend largely on natural gas for household cooking, heating and lighting. In 1919 the total consumption in Ontario was 11,563,304,000 cubic feet with a value of $2,583,324.00. Compared to the production of crude petroleum for the same year the relative value is surprising. The total production of crude petroleum for 1919 was 7,703,515 imperial gallons, with a value of $623,789.00. Compared with coal its relative value is even more surprising. The heat units derived from the 1919 consumption of natural gas are equivalent to 578,120 tons of coal, which at a value of $2,583,324.00, is, roughly speaking, about $4.50 a ton.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Jean Atkinson is visiting in Toronto this week.

Mrs. C. B. Reay, of Montreal, is visiting her brother, Mr. R. W. Ellis.

Dr. C. A. Lee, of Toronto, spent last week-end with Miss Jean Atkinson.

Mr. Rice Hill, of Whitfield, an ex-Reeve of Mulmur, was a visitor in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Milton Braiden is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Braiden, for a few weeks.

Mr. Leonard Bramble, of Fraxa Junction, has been visiting friends in Brampton and Kleinburg.

Mrs John T. Lawson, Markdale, spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. U. McKenzie, First St.

Mr. Percy White, of Toronto, is holidaying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, until after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bell, of Boston, visited their daughter, Nurse Bell, and other friends in town over Wednesday night of last week.

Mrs. Robt. Johnston, of Caledon, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. H. Haslam, of Markdale, before leaving to spend the winter months in Detroit.

Miss Olive Laird, of Norval, was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Jas. McMaster, and her cousins, Mr. J. E. McMaster and Mrs. Olive Harshaw, First Ave., over the week-end. The gifted young lady assisted the choir of St. Andrew's Church at the Sunday services and delighted the morning congregation with her solo, "The Voice in the Wilderness." Miss Laird is the possessor of a rich, contralto voice, which has been carefully trained. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Laird, of Norval, both of whom are well known here.

—Tanlac is well advertised, but advertising alone could not have produced Tanlac's popularity. It had to have merit. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

SOLD PATENT

We learned yesterday that Judge Fisher and Mr. D. B. Brown have sold their patent for a tractor wheel to the Grills Tractor Corporation, a Toronto concern, for a price approaching $40,000. Part of the purchase price is spot cash and the balance stock in the Grills Corporation, which will use the invention in their line of tractors. Mr. D. B. Brown also becomes one of the Directors of the Company. It is estimated that the invention will decrease the cost of making farm tractors at least $100 on each tractor and will increase the efficiency of the tractor threefold. We congratulate our townsmen on their inventive genius and also on the very satisfactory manner in which it has won recognition.

83RD BIRTHDAY

Mr. T. F. Reid, Prince of Wales St., celebrated his 83rd birthday on Sunday, Dec. 4th. Our veteran townsman, who is still hale, active and vigorous, spent the day with his daughter, Mrs. B. Cooper, Blind Line, Mono. The Banner wishes him many happy returns of the day.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE

Mr. Sam White's Auction Sale of his livery stock of horses, vehicles and other equipment on Thursday last was a hummer. The Sale attracted an immense crowd, bidding was spirited and excellent prices were the order of the day. Auctioneers Patterson and McAllister were in charge and these two veterans kept things moving and had the big crowd in rare good humor with their jokes and good-natured badinage. We understand that the sale realised over $4,000. The livery building was also put up and was bought by Mr. J. J. White. Mr. Geo. White, who has been in the horse buying business here for a number of years, will occupy the building as a livery and feed stable. Mr. Sam White's plans are indefinite, but his friends hope that he will continue to reside in town. Citizens or travellers, who have had occasion to avail themselves of the services of the livery, have always found Mr. White genial, courteous and anxious to give good service.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our brother, Matthew Lindsay, who departed this life on December 13th, 1921.

In our home he is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to his name;
Hearts who loved him in deepest affection,
Still love him in death the same.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again,
Where parting is no more,
And that the one so dear to us
Has only gone before.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Large congregations attended the Anniversary Services in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday. Rev. Dr. J. J. Edmison, of Toronto, Secretary of the Home Missions Board, who was the special preacher for the day, delivered two earnest, thoughtful discourses that made a deep impression on the hearts and minds of all who heard them. Dr. Edmison is a onetime member of the Orangeville Presbytery having been stationed at Cheltenham a number of years ago. The song service by a choir of some thirty-two members, under the direction of Mr. H. Edmondson, the new organist and choir leader, was a prominent feature of the service. The soloists were Miss Laird, Mr. E. C. Connop and Mrs. Edmondson. The latter, who is a soprano with a voice of unusual power and range, was heard in Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" at the evening service.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Whitfield Jessup, who departed this life on Dec. 11th, 1918.

It's just three years since poor Ettie passed away.
The shock was sudden, the loss severe,
To part with one we loved so dear;
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting with one we loved so well.

On sister, thy gentle voice is hushed,
Thy warm, true heart is still;
And on thy pale and peaceful face
Is resting death's cold chill.

Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast,
Thou art peaceful in thy eternal rest;
But in our aching hearts we know,
We have no Ettie now.

Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Nathaniel Thompson, who departed this life, December 4th, 1919.

Two years have gone and still we miss him,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our hearts,
Which never can be filled.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart,
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word,
We must for a while part.

DISPOSAL OF ARMY CANTEEN FUND

To the Editor of The Star.

Sir:—I hope that you will find space to publish this letter in the hope that it will come to the attention of ex-service men and create a discussion of the scheme I am about to propose for the disposal of the above fund.

There is about two million dollars in this fund to be disposed of. A ballot is being distributed on which are set out certain suggestions for the disposal of this fund, which ex-service men are asked to vote on. I think most of the men will agree that any of the schemes suggested on the ballot will benefit but a few and a good portion of the fund would be eaten up in administration, salaries of officials, clerks, etc.

What I suggest is as follows:—

Set aside one million dollars for the benefit of widows, orphans, and needy dependents of men killed in the war.

Take the other million dollars and make a lottery with prizes as follows:

5	prizes of	$20,000
10	prizes of	10,000
20	prizes of	5,000
40	prizes of	2,500
50	prizes of	2,000
500	prizes of	1,000

A scheme would have to be worked out for the distribution of tickets so that every man would get one ticket.

I do not know whether this scheme would come within the law, but it seems to me that it would be a satisfactory method of disposing of this money. Those who were lucky enough to hold a winning ticket would get something worth while, and those who did not hold a winning ticket would probably be no worse off than they would be under any other scheme.

Chesley, Dec. 1. EX-SOLDIER.

KNITTING MILL FOR ACTON

The Corporation and Mr. Amos Mason, of Alton, are getting together in the matter of the opening of a knitting mill in Acton. Mr. Mason is willing to start business in the electric power house building, which has only been used for storage since the Hydro-Electric Commission took over the electrical business here eight years ago. The Council and the Hydro Commission are working to further the proposal. Mr. Mason is an experienced woollen mill man, and has the ability necessary to carry forward such an enterprise to a successful issue. He has secured a home here. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will be quite an acquisition to the town, and will be cordially welcomed to Mr. Mason's boyhood home. —Acton Free Press.

CLOSE CALL TO A TRAGEDY

W. W. Bruce, of East Luther, had a rather harrowing experience about 2 o'clock Sunday morning that, on top of his recent troubles, is enough to make one shudder. He had retired about midnight and a couple of hours after was awakened by a smothering sensation. Jumping out of bed he found the upstairs full of smoke and he hastily picked up his little ones and placed them out of doors in their night clothes. He dashed back, grabbed a pail and attacked the flames which had now reached the ceiling and burned through it. He succeeded in putting out the fire, but it was a close call. The heat was so intense that the telephone receiver on the opposite side of the wall was melted. The fire was supposed to have started from a piece of wood left on the damper for a time becoming heated and replaced in the woodbox. The whole affair was a close call on a tragedy. —Star & Vidette.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods have a family of five: (Mabel) Mrs. A. V. Brown, Hamilton; Jack, Sarnia, at one time with the Union Bank, Shelburne; Telford, Bob and Margaret, at home. During the war years Jack spent two years in the Canadian Air Force. He received his commission and was ready to go overseas, but was retained in Canada as an instructor.

Few municipalities in Western Ontario have as many municipal drains to contend with as has West Luther, and drains are an expensive necessity. During the past month or so some $30,000 has been raised by West Luther for drainage work, and the Council has raised the entire sum locally.

FIRE IN DUNDALK

Mr. T. D. Macintyre, publisher of the Dundalk Herald, has the sympathy of his newspaper confreres in this district in the severe loss he suffered through the disastrous fire with which Dundalk was visited on Wednesday morning of last week. The Herald office was among the buildings that fell a prey to the flames. Mr. Macintyre was able to save his books and mailing list, which were in the front office, but the remainder of the plant was destroyed. This included a two revolution Campbell cylinder press, a newspaper folder, wire stitcher, paper cutter, Westman & Baker job press, a new linotype machine and the usual stock of paper, cardboard, job type, etc. On the plant Mr. Macintyre carried $5,000 insurance, which he estimates will not nearly cover the cost of replacing the plant. Last week's Herald was issued from the office of the Markdale Standard and, despite the fire and the great loss and inconvenience it caused, was off the press and in the mails on Friday.

Wish them Merry Christmas by Long Distance

"SO you're not going home for Christmas?"

"Afraid I can't afford it this year. It's going to be very lonely here too! I'll get letters, of course, but how I do want to talk to them, be one of 'em!"

"Why that's simple. I can't go home either, but I'm going to call my Christmas greeting to every one of my folks personally—talk to them by Long Distance. I'll wager I'll almost be able to smell the good old turkey cooking."

"What a splendid idea! I'm so glad you made me think of it. Christmas won't be such a lonely day after all, Long Distance will give mother the feeling that I'm not so far away!"

That's just what Long Distance is going to do for distant relatives, sons, daughters, sweethearts, this Christmas day. It's going to make the "Merry Christmas real—bring the missing one so close that the loneliness and pain of separation will be forgotten in the joy of hearing the dear voice again.

Station-to-Station service with low Evening and Night Rates has brought Long Distance within the reach of everyone.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

In Orangeville Mayor Parkinson, who is nearing the end of his second term, will retire. His Worship has made an able chief magistrate and his retirement means a distinct loss to the municipal life of the town. He is well-informed on municipal questions and procedure and has made a close study of the financial problems of the municipality. The retiring Mayor is a pleasing and fluent speaker and this gift made him an admirable presiding officer at public gatherings.

Mayor Parkinson's logical successor is Reeve Jeffers, who has already announced that he is in the field for the Mayoralty. Mr. Jeffers has an excellent municipal record in town and county councils and would make a worthy successor to Mayor Parkinson. He is well-informed on the problems that the incoming council will have to face. As Mayor Mr. Jeffers can be counted on to use discretion and wisdom in guiding the council in its work during the coming year.

At present it looks as if Mr. Jeffers may not be allowed to gratify his Mayoralty aspirations without the ordeal of an election. Mr. Thos. S. Hewson, veteran of many stirring encounters, looms large as Mr. Jeffers' probable opponent. Whatever may be thought of Mr. Hewson's claims for the office it must be admitted that he is a great vote getter. He gave Mayor Parkinson a close run for Mayor two years ago and Jeffers will find him a doughty opponent.

Deputy-Reeve W. J. Gillespie is the only candidate definitely in the field for Reeve. Mr. Gillespie has a pretty satisfactory municipal record and it is doubtful if he will have any opposition. He is familiar with the work of the County Council and as sole representative from the county town will bring experience and sound judgment to the deliberations of the county board.

Events are apparently shaping for a warm contest for the deputy-reeveship. Councillors Josh Reid and Dave Young are both definitely in the field. Councillor Alex. Dalgleish is spoken of as another probable candidate, but it is doubtful if he will make a three-cornered fight

Friends of Walter Fairbairn have been urging him to enter the lists for the Mayoralty, but we understand that Mr. Fairbairn, whose health is not any too good, is not disposed to accede to their wishes. His personal inclination is to retire from the Council but a sense of public duty may impel him to remain in the field for Councillor. Mr. Fairbairn is a municipal veteran and a useful man at the council board.

If Councillor Dalgleish stays out of the fight for the deputy-reeveship, he will likely consent to stand for the Council for another term. He is a useful man and a hard, conscientious worker, whose services will be needed next year. If Councillors Fairbairn, McPherson and Walker will also stay with the job, Orangeville will have the nucleus of a strong council for 1922. This would leave only two places to be filled. So far we have not heard of any new men, who are anxious to break into the municipal game.

It is said that Mayor Parkinson will stand for Councillor if there should be any dearth of aspirants. If he does this His Worship will have proved conclusively that he has the interests of the town at heart.

Those conversant with the situation in Amaranth are looking for an acclamation this year. Reeve Reid is asking for another term in the belief that if elected he will be able to bring the Wardeenship to Amaranth in 1922. There is a disposition to give him the opportunity. Councillor Hammond may spill the beans and precipitate a general fight. He is credited with a desire to run for Deputy-Reeve. If he does Deputy-Reeve Simpson will probably take the field for Reeve and Hammond will be opposed by Councillor Whaley. If Hammond is satisfied to stay where he is for another term it is pretty safe to predict that there will not be any election in Amaranth.

Mono wiseacres are looking for an acclamation in the banner township this year. Reeve Bowers and his colleagues are all satisfied to sit tight for another term. There are mutterings of outside opposition and the unexpected may occur on nomination day. The name of W. A. Donaldson, who sat in the council some years ago, is freely mentioned in connection with the deputy-reeve's chair. If Donaldson should decide to give Sam Barber a race for the position, the contest will be worth watching. Archie McQuilken, of Mono Centre, one of the best known men in the township, is also credited with designs on the deputy-reeveship, but if Archie decides to make the jump it is likely that he will start on the bottom rung by seeking a seat as councillor.

In East Garafraxa it looks like a three-cornered race for the Reeveship with Councillors Hunter, Nodwell and J. G. Brown the central figures in the contest. Councillor Nodwell, who has served as Councillor for seven years, has declared definitely that he is either going up or out. Councillor Hunter declared himself in the field against Warden Brown a year ago, but was prevailed upon to pull out at the last moment. It is unlikely that he will be willing to force his claims again this year. Councillor Brown, who lives in the extreme west of the township, is a comparatively new man in East Garry municipal life. In a three-cornered race he would have a big advantage in position, as he would have the west end of the municipality to himself, while his opponents would divide the vote in the east and centre. The situation is interesting and would seem to call for careful handling on the part of the East Garry municipal strategists.

"What of Caledon," is a question that is frequently asked these days. The situation appears problematical, although it is practically certain that Reeve Quinn will seek re-election. It is also said in some quarters that he will have opposition and ex-Reeve Kannawin and Jas. R. Hillyard are mentioned as likely opponents. Deputy-Reeve McDonald will stand for another term Whether he will have opposition or not is as yet uncertain. Thos. H. Bracken and Cecil Holmes, a couple of progressive north-end farmers, are mentioned as likely candidates for the Council, should an election materialize. Bracken lives in the east of the Melville Cross division and Holmes is on the west side of the Alton ward. The old Council has had a difficult year owing to the telephone tangle and other problems out of the run of ordinary municipal questions. To their credit it should be said that they have handled these questions carefully and have sought to solve them in a way that would be advantageous to the ratepayers at large.

East Garafraxa electors will have three ballots placed in their hands when they go to the polls on January 2nd. One will contain the names of the candidates for Reeve and Councillors, another will be for the purpose of obtaining their sanction or disapproval of a by-law to borrow $15,000 to defray the cost of a new bridge over the Grand River, opposite lot 15, between the 11th and 12th concessions, and the third will give them the opportunity of voting "Yes" or "No" on the question, "Are You in Favor of the Council Passing a By-law to Abolish Statute Labor in the Township of East Garafraxa?"

Warden Jas. Brown, of East Garafraxa, and Reeve Jeffers, of Orangeville, are the only members of the Dufferin County Council for 1921, who are not seeking re-election to the County Council. Brown is retiring altogether and Jeffers is running for Mayor. Deputy-Reeve W. J. Gillespie is in the field for Reeve of Orangeville and if elected will become the senior representative from this municipality. Outside of Orangeville and East Garafraxa indications at the present time are that every Reeve and Deputy-Reeve in the county will seek to hold his present position for another year.

Reeve McClelland, of Grand Valley, will stand for another term and it is reported that he will be opposed by John G. Reith, who gave him an exceedingly close run a year ago.

It is reported that Councillor J. A. Martin of Caledon, will run for Deputy-Reeve if there is an election in that municipality. McDonald and Martin are both south-end men and the outcome of the fight would be problematical.

Members of the Orangeville Public School Board whose terms expire this year are:—J. E. Smith, North Ward; J. E. Hughes, East Ward; W. C. Barber, South Ward, and J. Z. Henry, West Ward

H. S. COMMENCEMENT

Large Audience Attended the Exercises in the Opera House on Friday Night.

The Annual Commencement Exercises of the Orangeville High School took place in the Opera House on Friday night. The affair was well-attended by the students, their parents and friends and an excellent programme was provided.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Sandiford, of the College of Education, Toronto, who gave a very interesting and instructive address on what he considered "The Educated Man." The speaker showed considerable skill in maintaining the interest of an audience so varied in character. From the youngest to the oldest of his hearers his remarks were followed with close interest and keen appreciation.

The chair was occupied by Dr. Price, Chairman of the High School Board. In his opening remarks the Chairman referred to the good work done in the School, with special reference to the work of the Commercial Department. The policy of the Board was to keep abreast of the times. Singing was now a regular subject and next year it was very likely that manual training would be introduced. At present a temporary arrangement was being made for instruction in this subject until provision can be made for it in the school curriculum.

In his report Principal Hackett spoke of the overcrowded state of the school. He felt that the best work possible could not be done under existing conditions. The Board, he stated, had under its consideration the advisability of additional accommodation. The staff would also have to be increased to provide the necessary teaching power.

The programme, apart from the addresses, was given entirely by the pupils, who deserve great credit for the way they acquitted themselves. Miss Brown, who was responsible for the preparation of the greater part of the programme, deserves special credit for the excellent work done in this respect. Miss Jean Currie rendered a very good history of the year and Miss Isabel Fife drew considerably on her imagination in giving a forecast of the future of the School. Arthur Macpherson spoke for the graduating class and in his remarks referred to the heavy burden the Principal had to bear in carrying on the work of the School without a male assistant. Mr. Macpherson spoke in feeling terms of the appreciation the members of the graduating class felt for the help they had received while at High School.

The following class list will furnish our readers with conclusive evidence of the high standard of efficiency maintained by Principal Hackett and his staff:—

MISS ELIZABETH ANDERSON

The death of Miss Elizabeth A. Anderson took place in Lord Dufferin Hospital on Friday last after a rather lengthy illness. Deceased, who was 46 years of age, was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, and the news of her unexpected demise created widespread sorrow. Miss Anderson, who was a daughter of Mr. Jos. Anderson, Second Ave., was born and spent her girlhood in the neighborhood of Relessey, where she was organist and an untiring worker in the Methodist Church for a number of years. In 1906 she moved to Orangeville with her parents and has been a resident of this town since that time. She is survived by her father, two sisters, Mrs. W. D. Bell, of Beeton, and Miss Mary Anderson at home, and three brothers, Robert and Samuel Anderson, of Toronto, and Benjamin Anderson, of Relessey. These have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral was held from the residence of her father to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. H. L. Partridge, the family pastor, assisted by Rev. T. H. Stewart, rector of St. Mark's Church. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robert and Samuel Anderson, brothers, Hilliard Anderson, W. D. Bell, Fletcher Stewart and Wm. J. Stinson.

MRS. ROBT. TRIMBLE

Mrs. Robert Trimble, an old and well-known resident of the township of Amaranth, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. Sawyer, West Broadway, on Monday, Dec. 12th, at the ripe age of 74 years. Here death followed a short illness from heart trouble. The late Mrs. Trimble, whose maiden name was Eliza Ann Lanktree, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lanktree, pioneer settlers in Amaranth. She was born and spent her girlhood on lot 3, 4th line, where she lived until her marriage to the late Robert Trimble some 54 years ago. After their marriage the young couple settled on lot 17, Mono and Amaranth townline, but subsequently moved to lot 6, con. 4, Amaranth, where they resided until her husband's death about four years ago. Since then Mrs. Trimble has made her home with her daughters. She is survived by one son, David Trimble, Fraxa Junction, and four daughters, Mrs. Sawyer, Orangeville; Mrs. John Menary, Mrs. John Porterfield and Mrs. Edward Lang, all of Amaranth, Thos. Lanktree, Orangeville, and Mrs. Carten, Toronto, and Mrs. Ringrose, Whittington, are the surviving sisters. There are also 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and relatives at the funeral, which was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer to Greenwood Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Service was held in St. Andrew's Church and was conducted by the family pastor, Rev. J. A. Reddon, of Laurel, assisted by Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, Orangeville, and Rev. J. R. Bell, Toronto. Deceased was a staunch Presbyterian and had been a member of the Laurel Church upwards of thirty years. She lived a consistent Christian life and was highly esteemed for her fine character and kindly, sympathetic disposition. The pallbearers were her four sons-in-law, her son and brother. The floral tributes, which bore impressive testimony to the sorrow and esteem of friends of the departed woman, included a pillow from the family; a spray from Edith, Edna and Dorothy Lang; a spray from Fred and Mary Sawyers; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Simon Trimble, Orangeville; Mrs. Goddard, Brampton; Mrs. Clinton Lee, Toronto; Mrs. Mason and Miss Millie Simpson, Orangeville. Friends from a distance at the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnston, Mrs. Robert Trimble and Mrs. Clinton Lee, Toronto; Mr. Edwin Trimble, Mr. Ben Trimble, Miss Hannah Trimble, Mrs. Henry Black and Mrs. Fred Goddard, Brampton.

U. F. O. VICTORY

Ross, the Farmers' Candidate, Carried North Oxford by Plurality of 1300 Votes.

North Oxford made history on Monday The riding for the first time in its history is represented in the Ontario Legislature by a member other than a Liberal. With a plurality of 1303 over his nearest opponent, and with a majority of 349 over the other two candidates combined, David Munro Ross will sit in Queen's Park next year as a supporter of the Drury Government and the successor of the late John Calder, deceased Liberal member.

The outcome of the by-election signifies more than the mere transfer of a traditionally Liberal riding to the U. F. O. column. It means that the Drury Government next session will have a majority of two in the House, instead of being, as this spring, in the precarious position of being faced by an opposition numerically equal to itself. It means too, according to Premier Drury, an endorsation of the Ontario Government's hydro radial policy, and it may be interpreted as an effective answer to the contention that the federal election in Ontario marked the beginning of the end for the Farmer Movement.

Mr. Ross' victory came as no great surprise to North Oxford. His majority, however, was larger than had been anticipated in most circles. The Government candidate carried every district of the riding, except Woodstock and the village of Tavistock, which gave a fairly substantial majority to W. W. Day, Liberal. In Woodstock Mr. Ross finished in third place, just six votes behind Homer B. Neely, Independent candidate.

Even Mr. Day's home township of East Nissouri went strongly U. F. O. Blenheim and Blandford townships, which had been listed in the 'doubtful' column, also swung to the U. F. O.

Homer Neely made a better run than was generally expected, although 724 of his total of 954 votes were polled in the city.

A summary of the vote follows:—

	Day	Neely	Ross
Woodstock	1991	724	718
E. Nissouri	379	46	703
W. Zorra	131	11	851
Blandford	89	9	272
Blenheim	291	76	960
Embro	65	1	165
Tavistock	265	28	45
E. Zorra	173	59	872
	3384	954	4587

The late John Calder (Liberal) received the largest plurality in the history of North Oxford at the provincial election of 1919. The vote then was: Calder 5366; Butler 3046; Scott 2846.

KNOW YOUR OWN COUNTRY

Few people realize that 26,445 Canadian ex-service men have been established on the land and are nearly all making good; that Canada's waterpower development represents an investment of $475,000,000, while the power produced would otherwise require 18,000,000 tons of coal yearly; or that nearly 88 per cent of the world's supply of asbestos comes from the Province of Quebec. The Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior has just issued a revised edition of "Compact Facts," which contains in concise form, information regarding Canada; its area, population, trade and industries; their extent, capital invested, wages paid, values of live stock, principal crops and amounts produced; mineral resources and present production; also forest resources and forest products. Copies of the booklet are available on application to the Superintendent Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

WAS CARRIER PIGEON

Councillor W. N. Finer, of Mono, has in his possession a small aluminum ring, which was found on the leg of a pigeon, which some boys shot at a barn near Orangeville election day. The ring bears the inscription, O. H. C. 378, 1921." It is supposed that the pigeon was one of the carrier variety and may have been on a flight when it was shot.

Wash Your Clothes Clean Without Rubbing at Five Cents a Washing

You've never yet been able to use a soap or a washing compound that turned out your washing satisfactorily without rubbing. Even machine washed clothes—labor saving as the machine is—are not as white as they should be unless given a certain amount of rubbing.

Since the days of soap, soap makers have been trying to find something to take the place of rubbing without injuring the clothes—it has been the missing link of the washing problem.

Mir-A-cle The Missing Link

Mir-A-cle—the latest chemical discovery for washing is that missing link. It is the thing that soap has needed all along to accomplish the washing without rubbing. Mir-A-cle isn't a soap—it isn't a washing tablet—it's a liquid cream which adds the chemical properties to soapy water, that act as a dirt solvent without causing injury to the fabric or the clothes.

This is what Mr. C. J. McLennan, Chemist, who discovered Mir-A-cle, says:

"If I were selling a bottle of Miracle Cream direct to a housewife, I would probably say: "Madam, you have never been able to turn out a washing WITH SOAP ALONE without labor and even when you have the dirt removed from the clothes they are not white. That is because some of the soap is left in the fabric

"Mir-A-cle" is intended to be mixed with the soap. It eliminates the rubbing and removes from the clothes every particle of soap, leaving the clothes soft, silky and clean. Understand, YOU MUST USE SOAP as you have in the past, any kind of soap."

Small Bottle, 15cts. Large Bottle, 50cts.

LAUREL

The second annual At Home of R. B. Proceptory, No. 655, Laurel, was held on the evening of November 29th in the lodge room of the Methodist Church and was a decided success. After due justice had been done to a most magnificent menu of roast goose and vegetables, ice cream and cake, together with an abundance of fruits, etc., a toast list was disposed of with W. P. Sir Kt. J. A. Hughes officiating as toastmaster. The opening toast, "The King," was honored by the hearty singing of the National Anthem. "Canada and the Empire" was then proposed, with which was coupled the names of Sir Kt. R. H. Wentbrough and Rev. J. A. Redden, who gave most eloquent and instructive responses. The toast, "The Black Knights and Orange Order," brought delightful replies from Sir Kt. Rev. Mr. Ellis and Sir Kts. Albert Porterfield and Louis Johnston. "Our Guests" brought splendid responses from Rev. G. W. Lynd, E. Hamilton and J. Johnston. "The Ladies" evoked humorous and complimentary speeches from Sir Kts. W. R. Greenkurth and W. L. Ewing. Sir Kt. W. H. Stewart and Miss Morrow interspersed the program with some suitable song selections, while Miss Brett gave a really splendid recitation.

We think the people of this vicinity are tolerant to a fault. One of the most disgraceful episodes we ever knew happened on Saturday night before the elections in the Town Hall, when an old tight-wad who should have known better (but what a man has in him will come out sooner or later whether he intends it or not) used the most insulting and abusive language without any provocation, except probably to get some superfluous bombast off his stomach regarding his financial superiority over the family with which our soldier hero is connected. His age, only, saved him from being severely maltreated. But, why should these things be tolerated? Don't never mind, Leonard, you played the hero that night just as really as you did in the trenches: and all Britishers who witnessed this fiasco will respect and appreciate your services for them and others.

MONO MILLS.

Mono East Presbyterians scored a decided success with their Play, "The Minister's Bride," which they presented in the English Church Hall here on Friday night. The performance drew a good-sized audience despite most unfavorable weather. The cast was strong, well-balanced and the different roles were sustained in admirable manner. The Play is a strong one and as presented by the Mono East amateurs made a delightfully entertaining performance. Excellent music was provided by the Orangeville orchestra. The actors and their parts were as follows:—

The Minister—W. A. Donaldson.
The Minister's Bride—Miss McMillan.
Mrs. Charity—Mrs. Whiteman.

THE FATHER'S HAND

A boy was eager to go down to breakfast with his father, but mother had not quite finished dressing him, and so father, without giving the matter special thought, started downstairs without him. And then, suddenly, a childish wail sounded through the house. It was not cross or fretful or passionate, only the voicing of a disappointed longing in the words, "I want his hand." His mother assured him he should follow father in a few minutes. But that did not meet the need. "I want his hand," was the plaintive rejoinder, as a keen sense of loneliness and a longing for companionship filled the little heart.

Out of the heart of babyhood came the wisdom of the philosopher, the expression of the need of mankind. An unconscious longing for leading, for guidance is voiced in the restless dissatisfaction of humanity, the world over, though oftentimes it knows not what it is for which the heart is crying out. The handclasp of one stronger than itself is [illegible] the soul's need. If only we [illegible]arned wisdom from the little child we, too, would be seeking for Father's guiding hand.

STATELY ST. PAUL'S

Instructive Lecture on Cathedral Church of Diocese of London.

Stately St. Paul's—Cathedral Church of the Diocese of London—beloved no less by the Empire's sons and daughters to the earth's ends, though they may never have seen the storied pile, than by Old England herself, was taken by Mr. Charles Conway as subject for the third of a series of illustrated lectures at Sherbourne House Club.

Situated on the highest ground in the city of London, its mighty dome a prominent landmark from all parts of the metropolis, is St. Paul's superb monument to the great architect, Christopher Wren.

In the year 610, Ethelbert, King of Kent, erected a great church on the site aided in his task by Mellitus, then Bishop of London, and who at the same time was assisting Sebert, the Saxon King, with the erection of the second Christian church on the site of the present abbey at Westminster. For 350 years Elthelbert's church stood —a church of even greater importance than that at Westminster and the Mecca of pilgrims from all parts of the country.

Other buildings followed Ethelbert's church, that known as Old St. Paul's being completed in 1240 and standing for four centuries the most famous building in London. On so grand a scale was it that, according to the historian, Stowe, "The design was looked upon as so vast that men judged it would never be finished, it was so wonderful."

In the Middle Ages the Nave became a public thoroughfare and the sacred edifice was used for divers sacrilegious purposes. The cloisters were rented to a firm of trunk makers, whose noise greatly disturbed the church services, while a baker had the audacity to excavate a hole in one of the buttresses, using it as an oven in which to bake bread and pies. In the reign of Edward VI. a tightrope walker performed on the battlements.

The first service was held in Wren's Cathedral in 1697, while it was still unfinished, the occasion being the thanksgiving for the peace of Ryswick, which had seated William of Orange firmly on the English throne.

In the triforium or gallery is the library of the cathedral and here is found the subscription list for the rebuilding of St. Paul's after the great fire of London, the list headed with the signature of Charles II., who very generously promised a yearly donation of 1,000 pounds. "But," added Mr. Conway, "there is no record of even the first payment being made."

Completely around the base of the immense dome runs the famous "whispering gallery," remarkable for its curious acoustic properties. From the "whispering gallery" one may ascend by a circular stairway to the stone gallery, and thence to the golden gallery. A further climb of 90 steps ends in the ball below the cross, from which is obtained the splendid panoramic view of the city.

On the organ of St. Paul's one of the finest in the Empire, Queen Alexandra, as Princess of Wales, used often to play for an hour or two at a time and, too, the present Queen of Spain.

In the south aisle of the Cathedral hangs Holman Hunt's famous painting, "The Light of the World." The original picture, the lecturer explained, was painted in 1854, finally passing into the possession of Keble College Oxford. Hunt was not satisfied with the manner in which it was shown there and painted the replica, which now hangs in St. Paul's.

"It was originally intended," said Mr. Conway, "that there should be no monuments or memorials erected in the cathedral, and none were placed there for the first century of its existence. Howard, the great philanthropist, was the first to be honored with a memorial within its walls, the nation insisting that his work be recognized thus."

The most imposing monument in te cathedral is that to the Duke of Wellington, who is buried in the crypt beneath. Interesting is the memorial to Sir Henry Lawrence, one of Britain's greatest Indian statesmen and soldiers. His defence of the Residency of Lucknow was one of the great military feats of British history. Also shown was the memorial to Sir John Moore, hero of the Peninsular War, whose death at Corunna is so vividly described in Charles Wolfe's poem, "The Burial of Sir John Moore."

Above Moore's monument is the fine stained glass window representing "The Raising of the Widow's Son," placed there in thanksgiving for the recovery of the Prince of Wales—King Edward VII.—from his serious illness of 1872. A bronze memorial, of more than passing interest, is that (the work of the Princess Louise) to the 4,300 sons of Britain beyond the seas who gave their lives for love of the Motherland in the South African War from 1899 to 1902.

Picture after picture brought to mind such names as Gordon of Khartoum, the soldier-martyr; Heber, of Calcutta, writer of hymns; Dr. Johnston, in this instance a somewhat fanciful figure in classical drapery; Sir Joshua Reynolds who in his younger days could not make up his mind whether to be a painter or an apothecary; Turner, whom Ruskin describes as one of the seven supreme colorists of the world; Sir Arthur Sullivan, who as a boy sang in the choir of the Cathedral, and who later, in association with W. S. Gilbert, wrote the ever-fresh Gilbert and Sullivan operas. The music for "The Lost Chord," by the way, is Sullivan's, too.

The most popular memorial in the Cathedral is that of Lord Nelson, and in the exact centre of the crypt is the sarcophagus containing the ashes of the great admiral, casketed in wood from the main-mast of the French flagship "Orient," destroyed at the battle of Aboukir. The sarcophagus was that originally made for Cardinal Wolsey by Benedetto.

Lord Roberts, beloved hero of our own time, is also buried in the crypt.

Showing the memorial bust of Sir John A. Macdonald, Mr. Conway quoted Lord Roseberry, who pointed out at its unveiling that Sir John had grasped the central idea that the British Empire was the greatest secular agency for good known to mankind, and that this had been the secret of his success.

Mr. Hugh Murdoch has sold his 100 acre farm in West Luther at Gordonville to Mr. Harold Samuel.

Mr. Mike Soper, of Calgary, who came east some weeks ago with a trotting horse, Kate Hal, has sold him in Toronto for a price said to be $4,400. Mr. Soper won a race at Dufferin Park and had him placed on other occasions.

THE ANNUAL DEER HUNT

The boys of the Orangeville Hunt Club again trimmed their lamps and headed for the North where such jollifications existed last year. The gang this past season consisted of Joe McMaster, Vernet Armstrong, Hughie Greenis, Dolson Adair, Chas. Dyer and Ross McKay. Preparations were made for two extra men but unavoidable happenings prevented the other two, who anticipated going. Dougald Large didn't quite qualify, owing to not being a good enough shot to take his place with such men as Hughie Greenis and Charlie Dyer, to say nothing of the other four experts. However, there is every hope that Dougald will be among the boys another year if Charley has a chance to tutor him as he hasdone in off-hand shooting in earlier years, even at the expense of gate posts.

Arriving at Naiscoot Station in the early hours of the morning, hurried preparations were made for the trip up the Naiscoot River, that had afforded such an interesting voyage last year, in the old flatbottomed boat. It might just be mentioned that the old punt had been replaced by a skiff with a steadier keel, though at times having doubtful qualifications of freely admitting water to serve as a ballast when Hughie failed to pull in proper stroke. Anyway, after some thrilling river driving and jam breaking on the part of Dolson, Vernet, Joe and Ross, the river was ascended and the baggage finally deposited at headquarters. Charley and Hughie, leading the dogs, did the tie game around the other way and landed at the high and dangerous dam and falls from Six Mile Lake, so it was swim or walk the dam, and the way Hughie stepped out across that narrow ledge, where foamed the torrent beneath him, was enough to inspire the most timid with courage. With his rifle over his shoulder and a dog grasped under each arm, he presented a picture of reckless abandon, defying the majestic and roaring flood.

Usual camp arrangements over, the following morning found six eager hunters, and no time was lost in getting stationed on likely runways. Scarcely had positions been taken when out blazed on the stillness of the morning a cannonading seldom equalled, and the boys thought that it must be the Armageddon, so terrific was the firing. Later, however, investigation proved that Hughie had stopped a fine deer and wounded another, a fact that promoted in deerland a sinister respect for Hughie and his old 38.

When the tumult was over around Hughie's kill, a shout from away down the river brought Joe and Ross to that vicinity, and nearing the spot, they heard Vernet saying something about getting a deer, but as deer, like the other animals, often take sick and die, they believed Vernet had found one of these. However, they were forced to admit his good luck when they found a magnificent buck still warm and bleeding from a bullet wound in the neck. So immediate arrangements were made to get the kill to the river. Ross brought the boat around to a convenient landing while Joe and Vernet trailed the buck through the bush and over the rocks, and neared the river in quick time. Joe said he was proud of his strength in being able to pull a buck so well and so far alone, although he commended Vernet for the masterly way that he kept enough slack out of his traces to prevent their trailing in the snow. Ross wasn't prepared to say who had done the more pulling, for when helping them into the boat with it, he lifted the most of it, he said.

Be that was it may, no deer has any license to hang around Armstrong with a desire of being healthy, because his Remington 30 is very rude opposition. Two deer the first forenoon was enough to brighten any camp and an evening of jollity was looked forward to, and when it came Hughie and Vernit did justice to all expectations. Vernet put forth some steps that were above par in grace and agility, while Hughie indulged in movements varying in character and beauty from the cake walk to the fling, with occasional steps from the Highland Chauntruse.

Next morning found the mob unbroken, with Joe dogging. Hughie, true to his principle that if he got an encore he would respond, did so, and the result was a nice young buck added to the string. With this demonstration of skill the genial barber was placed as a first-line hunter, fearless in danger, and afraid of nothing that ran from him.

That afternoon, Ross engineering the dogs, drove a nice young doe to Dolson, who, running true to color, saluted twice with his Savage, and the lads counted four. The effect of this roused the spirits of the boys, even to that pitch where they attempted to criticise one another's rifles, and a lively discussion of sights, ammunition, and even marksmen, was carried on, but like all weighty subjects, the decision was withheld indefinitely.

The third day proved a day more for exercise and sightseeing in the bush. A recreation indulged in without complaint, and which had no other result than several partridges being added to the table fare.

When the morning of the fourth day broke six figures were seen trending their way to a new section of the bush Joe, Dolson and Vernet breaking all limits in bush ranging. Why they carried a compass was a mystery. They didn't need it and not likely would have believed it anyway.

It wasn't long until an antlered monarch rushed along to startle Charley's vigilance, but alas, it was a dangerous pastime, for Charley could be no more excited nor confused than when you try to run him off the track in "the Walker Street Reel." In short, his Winchester carbine spoke twice in rapid succession and the pick of the count was headed for the camp. Dyer and MacKay provided the motive power. Some say that a deer doesn't weigh anymore after it is killed, but that is a lame argument, for frequently the boys turned around to see that Dolson wasn't riding on the carcass. It was a long haul but free from adventure, save in crossing a narrow creek, Charley sat down in the water to all appearances as if he were going to take off his boots and attempt to swim across. He said he lost his footing, but that was compensated by getting a good slitting.

When noon roll call was taken, instead of 5 deer the camp learned of six, Joe having bagged a large doe a considerable distance from camp. Like Armstrong, Joe has the bush instincts of an Indian, a silent tread, a quick eye and a lightning movement of the rifle, that brings anything but luck to any game under 300 yards.

The boys unanimously agreed that if Ross should come upon a deer lying down, and get real close to it without being seen, that the deer would have a poor chance of getting away. MacKay agreed with the logic, but indifferently remarked that deer are cunning creatures and refuse to be in the same vicinity with some hunters, thereby giving conclusive proof that there is marksmanship not far away.

The count being certain, other recreations were indulged in. One day a shooting contest was staged, Charley and Vernet vs. Joe and Ross, liberal prizes to be paid by the losers. The contest proved very one sided, Joe and Ross easily winning by their superior skill, although wrongfully accused of adding a sighter to swell the number of points. The prize money must have met with an accident as neither of the winners have yet received any.

It would be unfair to pass along without a word on the cooking. Hughie took charge of the kitchen where nothing short of miracles were performed in the art of cooking. The way he roasted venison, flavoured soup and served up partridge in a sap pail casserole, to say nothing of the white bean salad, would eclipse a graduate from MacDonald's College. Hughie proved an all-round man in camp, and was one of the Jolliest of the party. He did have a little trouble keeping friends with the dogs in the daytime and keeping them out of his bed at night. He well knew that 4 dogs sleeping on top o fa fellow wasn't conducive to good health.

The camp enjoyed the best of weather and harmony among the men. Charley didn't eat nearly as much bread and butter this year as last, and attributed it to missing Dougald's presence at the table. Vernet with timely jokes and anecdotes of past hunting. Several times the door had to be opened to cool the room after these rehearsals, but the spirit of the camp was as it ought to be, always cheery, kill or no kill. The boys were out for a good time and had it. It was no place for a crank as he would have suffocated in his own grouchiness.

After several days of hunting another deer was recorded, and this made the allotment. Preparations were made for home. A nice raft was made to take the baggage and deer down the river, but the boys left it at camp as it gave every evidence that it wanted to stay, from the way it favoured the bottom of the river rather than the surface.

Often during the two weeks the forest resounded with song, but there was nothing to compare with the harmony of the parting song. Hughie, on a stump, led in a sonorous baritone that was ably assisted by the rest of the boys in whatever key they felt most comfortable. They will know that Hughie, on the stump, could reach any note within reason. It was a joyous ending to a splendid hunt, and created a desire to meet again and baffle the cunning and speed of the noble buck.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills — the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

WHO'S TO BLAME?

It was somewhat startling to read recently of the failure of 160 students of a Hamilton school to correctly answer a set of questions as submitted to them by a minister, which were so simple in their requirements that one would have thought that any child in the kindergarten classes could have answered them. In order that the readers may understand how simple these questions were, perhaps we had better republish them:

How many commandments are there?

What happened on Christmas Day many hundred years ago

In what town was Jesus born

Who was the mother of Jesus?

How many apostles did Jesus call?

Name one of them.

On what day was Jesus crucified?

On what day did He rise from the dead?

You would never have thought, would you, that any child coming from a Christian home in this country would have any hesitation in answering such simple questions bearing on the fundamentals of our civilization. Yet we are told that not one of the 160 students to whom these questions were submitted was able to answer all correctly.

What's the trouble? It is evident that our homes—our so-called Christian homes—are that in name only, if such a scandalous state of affairs as that which existed among the Hamillton students is duplicated in the homes of Orangeville children. The only way to satisfy ourselves on this point would be for every parent who reads these columns to call his or her children together, hand them a pencil and paper and ask them to answer the questions submitted above. If they answer them, then so much the better; if they fail, what are you doing, Mr. Man and Mrs. Woman, that such things can actually be in your household? You would be insulted if someone told you it wasn't a Christian home, yet if your children fail to answer such a test as the one submitted above, then your home has failed the test that every Christian home should be able to withstand.

I hope it cannot be said that there are many such homes in Orangeville, the children of which show the dense ignorance on such questions as those Hamilton children did. If they do, then something is surely the matter, first, in our homes, second in our Sunday Schools, third in our churches and fourth in our public schools. There are four directions in which children should receive to answer every one of these four sources in the term "godless." Let's make the test and see where our own children stand in reference to the questions outlined above. We shall then know the extent of our weakness.

MONO COLLEGE.

The third annual social evening of the Mono College U. F. O. held in the schoolhouse on Friday evening last was a pronounced success. Despite the inclement weather there was a splendid attendance, manifesting in no uncertain manner that interest in the progressive movement is very live. Mr. W. E. Island performed the duties of chairman in his usual capable manner. Mr. R. J Woods, member-elect for Dufferin, was present, to express his appreciation of the confidence reposed in him by the people of this vicinity. He hoped that should he prove unworthy of their trust, they would just as strongly express their disapproval. Mr. T. K. Black, M. P. P. for Dufferin, urged that greater attention be paid to education in rural Ontario. He stressed the advantages of community halls where the talent of the youth of the community might be developed. As time goes on we will depend, less and less, on city, and, more and more, on home talent. How important it is, therefore, that latent local talent be developed. Turning to the roads of our province he dealt with their bearing on Canada's future. Just as Britain laid the foundation for her greatness in the wonderful roads of ancient Britain so is Ontario to-day laying the foundation for commercial development in her improved highways.

The musical numbers included a well-rendered instrumental by Miss Elva Brown, much appreciated duets by Misses Henry and Bracken and daughtful vocal solos by Mrs. Edgar Jackson Master George Buchanan, of Primrose, delighted the audience with several fine songs and Miss Beatrice Porterfield executed the Highland Fling in skillful style. Miss Gertrude Porterfield contributed a splendid reading, Masters Clarence Baker and Kenneth Cotton entertaining recitations and scholars of the school took part in an amusing dialogue. After the programme, lunch was served, then followed a social hour, violin music being provided by Mr. Vernet Armstrong and local musicians.

WHITTINGTON

League was held Thursday evening when a debate, "Resolved that Home Missions are more advantageous to the Kingdom of God than Foreign Missions," proved an interesting feature of the program. The affirmative speakers were Miss Jessie Farnell, John E. Spence and Willie Stavely, while the negative was taken by Miss S. Acheson, Harold Cruikshank and Alfred Phillips. The decision was given in favor of the negative.

The Sunday School are holding their annual Christmas entertainment on Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd. A program, consisting of drills, dialogues and recitations. A treat of candies and peanuts will be given to all at the close of the program. Admission 25 cents and 15 cents.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad and loving memory of John Clarke who departed this life December 24th, 1918.
"He rests from his labour and his works do follow him."
Wife and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

COURTNEY—In sad and loving memory of Viola Pearl Porterfield, beloved wife of Samuel Courtney, who departed this life on December 18th, 1919.

Two years have passed and how I long
To see the lovelight in your deep blue eyes so true;
And I long to hear your footstep,
Ere another evening's dew.

I long to hear that loving voice,
Sweet music to my ear;
And I long to press those loving lips,
That are to me so dear.

I long to see my darling,
'Twould make my heart so light;
And I wish that you were coming,
Coming home to me to-night.

For many days our loving hearts
Were closely bound together;
But, oh, that chain is broken now,
And one link is gone forever.

But God will clasp the broken chain
Closer when we meet again;
When alone in my sorrow the bitter tears flow,
There steaketh a dream of the dear long ago.

And unknown to the world you stand by my side,
And whisper, "Dear one, death cannot divide."
Anchored by love death cannot sever,
I sadly miss you, and will forever.
Sadly missed by husband.

IN MEMORIAM

Lines in loving memory of our dear Pearl Porterfield, who died on December 16th, 1919.

Fairer and often our hearts do wander
To a grave not so far away;
Where they laid our darling Pearl,
Just two years ago to-day.

Through days and nights she bore great pain,
We sought for cure, but all in vain;
For God, who knoweth, thought it best
To cure her pain and give her rest.

Short and sudden was the call
To one so dearly loved by all;
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought her death so near.

The golden gates were open,
An gentle voice said "Come."
And with farewell words unspoken,
She calmly entered home.

Sleep on, dear Pearl, thy labors o'er,
Thy willing hands will work no more;
'Twas God's own will, He thought it best
To take you home with Him to rest.

Green is the mound where our dear Pearl is laid,
Fond is the memory that ne'er will fade;
Gone and forgotten by the world she may be,
But the earth that enshrouds her is sacred to us.
Gone, but not forgotten by Father, Mother, Sisters, Brother.

ALTON

Don't forget to come and hear the Christmas Cantata "Santa Claus and His Fairies" put on by the Alton Methodist Sunday School, in the Town Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 23rd. There will be two trees—one for the school children, and one gift tree, for which gifts will be received to be sent to the Children's Shelter at Milton. Silver collection.

The lecture by Miss Yates, of Port Credit, given under the auspices of Girls' and Women's Institutes, was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The lecture was full of information for the flower lover and results will be looked for next summer.

The Mission Circle members of the Methodist Church wish to thank all their friends who so generously contributed articles for the Bazaar; also those who came through the rain and mud to patronize it. We are happy to report proceeds of over $170, with considerable material on hand. Much praise for its success is due our untiring President, Miss Grace Barber, and her assistants in charge of the candy and flowers, Miss Kathaleen Erskine, the tea room, Miss Bertha Lovel, oysters, Miss Mary McLellan, and home baking, Miss Ottie Gibbs.

Mrs. Meilly and Miss Neilly have gone to spend the winter with the former's niece at Tarra.

HILLSBURG

Christmas tree entertainments have the right of way this week. The Presbyterians held a most successful one on Monday night, Dec. 19th, when the hall was unable to accommodate the crowd that assembled to hear each child "say his piece." The Star drill and Poinsetta drill were well put on by the girls, and the Red Indian drill by the boys showed genuine Indian features. The dialogues, "Down East" and "Won by Strategy," were given with some talent that shows promise. But the children's recitations received best applause. Marjorie Gray and Homer Gamble were the lucky ones to receive the special prizes for attendance during 1921, each having the perfect mark of not missing a Sunday. The distribution of presents from the copiously laden tree and the singing of the National Anthem brought the happy feature to a close.

The people of St. Andrew's Church are observing Christmas Day, Dec. 25th, with special Christmas services. The Christmas music of anthems and hymns will be again enjoyed, and Rev. F. C. Harper will speak on "The Message of the Angels" in the morning service, and on "The Glory of the Dayspring" at night. Many visitors have been present on recent Sundays, and a sincere Christmas welcome will be enjoyed next Sunday by all attending.

The ordination of Messrs. Gray, Cruikshank and Cunningham as elders in St. Andrew's Church will be held next Sunday morning, Dec. 25th, being postponed from last Sunday because of the storm.

FARMER HAS FAWN

One day recently two hounds belonging to Dr. W. H. Riddell chased a fawn in the vicinity of Caledon Lake, within four miles of Orangeville, and pursued the little animal until it fell exhausted in the barnyard of Thomas Smith, 2nd line, Caledon. The fawn ran into a wire fence and cut its face before it fell. Mr. Smith heard the barking of the dogs and arrived just in time to save the fawn. He took it to the stable and it is now as frisky as ever. A government inspector called and gave Mr. Smith permission to keep the fawn. A couple of deer have been in the swamps near Caledon Lake for the past three years and occasionally a farmer catches a glimpse of them.

—It is astonishing how quickly Tanlac will produce results. You usually feel better from the very first dose. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Ned Skelley, an Adjala man, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury in Tottenham on Wednesday of last week. He was at the G.T.R. station with a team and wagon, when the horses took fright at a freight train and ran away. Turning a corner the wagon upset, throwing Mr. Skelly off on the hard ground and rendering him unconscious for a few minutes. Fortunately no bones were broken, but he was badly shaken up and received a few severe bruises. After Mr. Skelly had been thrown off the wagon, the horses headed up Mill St. and made straight for one of the stores. Here one of them fell, the fall probably preventing serious damage. Just about this time one hind wheel came off the wagon and bounced through a plate glass window. The other also came off and rolled down the sidewalk as far as the Royal Bank. The horses came through the runaway unhurt.

CONSOLIDATION

Successful Meetings Held in Dufferin County Last Week.

School Consolidation was discussed at four well-attended meetings held in as many Dufferin County centres last week. The meetings were arranged by the Dufferin County Educational Association. The first of the series was held at Bowling Green on Monday afternoon, Dec. 12th, and was attended by some seventy-five ratepayers of the adjoining school sections. Mr. George Gier, of Waldemar, occupied the chair. The speakers were Assistant Chief Inspector W. I. Chisholm, of the Department of Education, who discussed the method and general principles of Consolidation; Rev. J. R. Bell, of Toronto, who spoke of his visit to a number of consolidated schools in the states of Michigan and Indiana and told of the working of the system in those states; Mr. G. R. McWhirter, President of the Dufferin County Educational Association, who spoke of his recent visit to consolidated schools in different parts of Ontario; and School Inspector W. R. Liddy, who directed his remarks to a discussion of the local situation and needs.

Monday night the second meeting was held in the Town Hall, Laurel, and was attended by upwards of three hundred people. Inspector Liddy presided. The speakers, who were the same as at Bowling Green, were given a very attentive hearing. At the close of the meetings steps were taken to appoint committees representing the different school sections of the district. These committees are charged with the duty of making a thorough investigation of the whole question and will also endeavor to ascertain if consolidation would be practicable and advantageous in their districts.

Monday afternoon upwards of one hundred people attended the third meeting in the Orange Hall in Corbetton. Those present represented some four or five of the school sections of the district. Tuesday night the last meeting of the series was held in the C. O. C. F. Hall, Honeywood, and was attended by about one hundred and fifty people. In each instance the speakers were the same as at the Laurel and Bowling Green meetings and in each instance strong local committees were appointed to make further investigation and arrange for future meetings if such are desired. At Honeywood there is a strong feeling for consolidation and local men who are promoting the idea have already made a tentative survey of what they consider would make a satisfactory consolidated school district.

DON'T BE LIKE A THERMOMETER

(By L. M. Cross.)

The human face ought to be different from a thermometer and barometer that records the temperature and changing weather. This instrument is sensitive to its environment. Keep it in a warm room and it registers the temperature of its situation. Place it on the porch outdoors and it records just how it feels there.

All of us know people like this! If they have a pain in their stomachs, or a tinge of rheumatism, a cold in the head, or are suffering from indigestion, they look as disagreeable as they feel.

We met a book salesman somewhere in the West recently on a cloudy, gloomy, disagreeable day, and like the instrument that records the weather, he exhibited it on his countenance and of course he was complaining. "Business was rotten," he said—"absolutely nothing doing." We tried to brighten him with what we thought was a funny story, but he was too busy listening to his gloomy forebodings to heed what we told him, but we reminded him that he could never do business with that face of his! It would do all right for a pallbearer or a hired mourner at a funeral, but not to sell books.

Nobody can sell anything unless he rises superior to the weather, and his own physical ailments, and stands before the buyers with a smiling, confident face. The winning salesman is the one that never has anything unpleasant to say, even about the weather, even about people, even about politics, even about sports—but rises superior to depressing influences and turns his face towards the sun light, smiling and radiating joy and gladness wherever he goes!

"Paper, mister? All about the fair"

The cowboy, leaning on the fair ground fence, half asleep, paid no attention.

"Mornin' Her-ruld! Doncha wanta read about the fair?"

"Kid," intoned the cowboy, opening one eye almost one-half of one per cent., "do I look—as if I'd—missed anything?"—Louisville Courier Journal.

A number of privates were waiting anxiously in the canteen for news of the regimental team, who were playing a cup final.

The orderly-room runner, an Irishman, entered hurriedly. He was asked whether he had heard the result of the match.

"Sure, and I have," said Paddy. "The regiment's won."

There was a great cheering, until Paddy spoke again.

"Yes, me bhoys," he said, "the regiment's one, and the other spadpeens is three."

A captain in the merchant marine who received much commendation for his wonderful courage and endurance during the war, was asked to address a meeting in the West, says the Christian Register. Ex-President Taft spoke first and at considerable length, and when he had finished the audience rose, almost to a man, to leave the building. The chairman sprang to his feet, rushed to the edge of the platform, and called excitedly: "Come back and take your seats. Come back, every one of you! This man went through hell for us during the war, and it is up to us now to do the same for him."

NOT ALWAYS

Hans Schmidt was reputed to be the meanest man in the neighborhood. He died. His body was placed in the grave, and according to an old Pennsylvania German custom the people stood around the open grave, waiting for some one to say some good thing about the deceased before filling the grave. After a long wait, Gustave Schulze said: "Well, I can only say joost one goot thing about Hans; he wasn't always as mean as he was sometimes."

A Spring Day Up in Muskoka

A Spring day in Muskoka, with sky and water vividly blue; the smell of pine, the song of birds in the air. On a sunny slope a girl gathered trilliums with eager hands. She smiled at the questioning stranger.

"I never picked wild flowers before," she said wistfully. "We lived in the city. Father died, and then—mother, of tuberculosis. I was all alone. I wasn't strong,—worked too hard,—and I got it. They brought me here to the Sanitarium, on a stretcher."

"But, look at me now!" exultantly. The glow of health was in her cheeks. "It's the rest and care and good food and fresh air that saved me," and her eyes shone joyously.

Surely she was worth saving, this bonny, blue-eyed girl. Surely the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives deserves her gratitude!

On motion of Mayor Parkinson the gathering resolved itself into a public meeting with Mr. Hughson acting as Chairman.

Congratulating Mayor Parkinson, who was the first speaker called to the platform, expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by his fellow-citizens in making him Mayor for the last two years and then delved into a discussion of the finances of the town, which showed were in a very satisfactory condition. There was a surplus of $5,108.72 in the coffers and a further surplus of $310.71 of uncollected taxes. His Worship referred to the change in the High School Act and explained briefly how it would lessen the expense of maintaining the High School During the year the Council had been as economical and careful in its expenditures as possible. Departments where expenditure had increased were: High School from $6,000 in 1920 to $6,800; Lighting from $2,500 to $3,810; Fire Department from $883 to $3,156; Street Watering from $678 to $715; Town Property from $742 to $959. Departments in which the expenditure had decreased were:—Public School from $12,000 to $11,400; Charity from $1,500 to $385; Roads and Bridges from $3,491 to $2,178; Interest on overdrafts from $1475 to $500; Parks from $2,041 to $1,472. Increases in controllable expenditures totalled $527 and the decreases $1,984, a net saving of about $1,500. The debenture debt stood at $52,850. Of this $52,850 consisted of Hydro and Dods Knitting Mill debentures, both of which are running. Of the existing debenture debt the sum of $2,443 would be paid in 1923, a further sum of $9,871 in 1924 and $9,871 in 1925. He stated that $26,003 of the existing debt would be retired in the next five years. This would bring the debenture debt down to $6,000, consisting of the Hydro and Dods Knitting Co. debentures. This His Worship thought was a highly favorable showing and indicated that in a few years Orangeville would be in a sound financial position. Mr. Hughson explained the submission of the Hospital by-law, stated that it had been approved of by a majority of the property holders of the town and also by more than the three-fifths vote required by statute. After waiting the necessary time to allow of proceedings to quash the by-law, if any elector or group of electors desired to take such proceedings, the council had given the by-law its third and final reading. The speaker had supported the measure at all stages and had no apologies to make either as Mayor or as a private citizen for doing so. Once the by-law was approved of by the property owners the Council had no course open except to give the measure its third reading. Had they declined to do so they could have been compelled by the courts. Mr. Parkinson discussed at some length the shortage of water during the dry spell last summer and the threat of the Fire Underwriters' Association to increase the insurance rates if the situation was not remedied. By undertaking to instal a recording steam guage for the fire hall and a nightwatchman's clock the council had staved off the threatened advance in the rates, but the question of increasing the town's water reserve would have to be solved in the near future. In conclusion the Mayor stated that he had spent six years in the Council. He had pledged himself that the town would be in a better position financially when he quit office than it was when he started. This pledge he thought he had kept. While retiring from the Mayoralty he had been renominated for the Council and he would not object to starting in again at the bottom if he was needed.

Reeve Jeffers had given the town six years service as one of their representatives and had served five years in the County Council. He thought he was now in line for the Mayoralty and anounced that he was in the field for that office. He could have stood for Mayor two years ago, but he thought he saw the opportunity of bringing the Wardenship of the County to Orangeville. In view of this he decided to stay with the Reeveship and had the honour of being elected Warden the following January. To illustrate the improvement that has taken place in the town's financial position, Mr. Jeffers stated that in 1908, the last year that his opponent, Mr. Hewson, sat in the Council, the total debenture debt was $103,923.67; Since then the Hydro and Dods Knitting Co. debentures, totalling some $52,000, had been issued and yet the debt today was only $84,657. The Reeve referred to the introduction of the county roads system and its benefits. There were three kinds of roads in the County of Dufferin—the straight county road on which the Provincial Government pays 40 per cent. of the cost, the county provincial road on which the Province pays 60 per cent. of the cost and the Provincial Highway, which the Government constructs and maintains, requiring the county to pay only 20 per cent. of the money it expends. Mr. Jeffers explained that he had been instrumental in getting the use of the county road machinery for the purpose of improving Mill St. a couple of years ago. As a result the town had been able to place crushed stone on the street at a cost of $1.03 a yard, whereas gravel would have cost $1.22 a yard and would not have made nearly as good a job. The road had stood up well under the heavy traffic to which it is subjected and the speaker had been told that it was one of the best jobs ever done in Orangeville. Mr. Jeffers explained his part in the movement that resulted last July in the designation of the Bradford to Orangeville and Orangeville to Arthur road as a county provincial highway. He stressed the importance of good roads as a contributing factor to the prosperity of Orangeville and expressed the opinion that the town was to be congratulated on the volume of business it was doing, particularly on Saturday nights in the summer months. The Provincial Government had given the County of Dufferin in the neighborhood of $125,000 on its roads and the Provincial Highways Department had spent over $2,000 inside the corporation limits of Orangeville. Mr. Jeffers referred to the increase in the county grants toward the maintenance of the Orangeville High School. In 1918 the County paid $5 a pupil, a total of $735, in 1919 it paid $10 a pupil or a total of $1690 and in 1920 $15 a pupil, a total of $2,880. By a recent change in the High Schools Act the county will be called upon to pay 80 per cent. of all debenture principal and interest charges and to foot the bill for all maintenance expenses. This would mean an important saving each year to the ratepayers of Orangeville in the cost of maintaining the school. Orangeville's population had increased by about 100 during the year, there were no empty houses and no empty stores, Mr. J. M. Dods had built an addition to his already large mill at a cost of $75,000 and Mr. S. H. Rutledge had under contemplation additions to his plant which would mean the employment of at least twenty skilled operatives. Orangeville was prosperous to-day and there was every reason to look forward with hope and confidence. The speaker had gone up the municipal ladder one step at a time and was now asking for support for the Mayoralty. If elected, as he hoped he would be, he would serve the interests of the town to the best of his ability and thought that his experience in the last six years should be of service to the council.

Mr. Thos. S. Hewson, the other Mayoralty aspirant, stated that he had not been in the Council in recent years, but if he had not occupied a seat at the Board he had always been on the track of the council and ready to prod them up if their actions did not suit him. Mr. Hewson stated that during the past year over $90,000 of taxes had been collected and spent. As the taxes are less than $50,000, what he probably meant to say was that the total receipts were over $90,000 as shown by the financial statement. Mr. Jeffers had referred to the fact that in 1908, when he (Mr. Hewson) occupied a seat in the council, the town was more heavily in debt than it is today. What Mr. Jeffers forgot to tell was that the tax rate at that time was only 23 mills in the dollar. Mr. Hewson criticized the council for careless handling of the people's money and concluded his criticism with the declaration that, "You people are in the same boat and if you don't look out you will go down." He had been accused of being opposed to the hospital by-law and felt that he was on trial for his stand regarding the by-law. One of the greatest orators the County of Dufferin had ever known had gone to the Council accompanied by two of the town's fairest ladies and had asked the Council to submit the by-law and the Council had fallen for them. When the vote was taken people had been brought from Toronto, Owen Sound and other outside places to vote for the measure. The Council in the face of all this and the closeness of the vote had hastened to give the by-law its third reading. "Oh, what open-hearted men our councillors are," declared Mr. Hewson dramatically. The speaker proceeded to condemn the council for its failure to require any security for the money voted to the hospital under the by-law The Daughters of the Empire should have been required to give security. Mr. Hewson charged Mr. Jeffers with voting to increase the Warden's honorarium from $100 to $150, which he said simply meant an additional $50 for the Warden's Supper. He felt he was on trial at the bar of public opinion in Orangeville. If he was found guilty he would go down for the next two years. If he was found not guilty then he would be a free man for the next two years. If the people wanted a man for Mayor who would be careful and economical and not throw away their money foolishly then it was their duty to elect him. If they wanted a man to spend their money "free and easy" they should elect Carson Jeffers.

Dr. W. H. Riddell, Walter Fairbairn and Thos. Henderson announced briefly that they were not candidates for office and did not intend to occupy the time of the meeting.

Joe Reid, who was greeted with resounding applause, stated that it was 30 or 40 years since he had addressed a meeting in the Orangeville Hall. The present was an unexpected honor. Previous speakers had not advanced one suggestion for the purpose of endeavoring to build up the town by securing industries. Mr. Reid stressed the need and importance of industries and suggested that the town should negotiate with the Grills Tractor Company, which was looking for a place to start the manufacture of the best and cheapest farm tractor on the market. Mr. Reid announced that he was not a candidate for Mayor, adding humorously that he "was not going to run with these two highbinders, Jeffers and Hewson."

W. J. Gillespie stated that he had served three years as Councillor and two as deputy-reeve and was now in the field for Reeve. He discussed county affairs and pointed out that the county was now called upon to give increased support to the High Schools, the Children's Aid Society and Mothers' Pensions. As there were likely to be a number of new men in the county council he thought that his experience should be of some service at the county board. Coming to town affairs he told of Mr. Dods' request for an assurance that he would be given an increased supply of water when he built the addition to the Knitting Mill, the shortage of the water supply and the consequent negotiations with the Fire Underwriters' Association. Messrs. Wheelock & Christie had been appointed to prepare plans and specifications for increasing the reserve supply and their plans would doubtless be laid before next year's council in good time. Mr. Gillespie thanked the electors for the support they had given him in the past and appealed for their votes and interest in his behalf in the coming contest.

Ex-engineer Wm. Martin professed every confidence in the ability of Mr. Marshall, the present town engineer and electrician, but declared that it was impossible for one man to perform the duties of the two positions in a satisfactory manner. The speaker, who was fired from the position of town engineer some thirteen years ago, denounced past councils for discarding the elevated tank at the waterworks reservoir and substituting the electric pumps at the Fire Hall. He averred that for the past fourteen years the fire fighting system had been a disgrace to the town. The fact of the matter was that "they don't know a solitary thing about the system" was Mr. Martin's sweeping declaration regarding the municipal councils that have held office since his enforced retirement.

As the speaker was leaving the platform some of his statements about the elevated tank were warmly challenged by Ex-Reeve Walter Fairbairn. In the controversy that followed Mr. Martin shouted:—

"I know far more about it than you do."

"You don't know half as much about it as you think you do," retorted Mr. Fairbairn with warmth.

Mr. J. J. White precipitated himself into the argument by giving Mr. Martin a verbal certificate of fitness, declaring from his place in the hall that no man in Orangeville understood the waterworks system as well as Mr. Martin. If Mr. Martin had been engineer the town would not have had the furniture factory and other big fires—"

"Or the Gordon House," interjected a voice from the rear of the hall.

"Yes, and the Gordon House," added Mr. White.

"That was when Martin was in," retorted the voice at the rear to the great amusement of the audience.

David Young, one of the candidates for Deputy-Reeve, said that he was Chairman of the Property Committee, which was responsible for an outlay of $900. Mr. Young told how his Committee had repaired the ceiling in the old council chamber, put the town scales in good shape and secured a man for the coal scales at the station. He thought the Committee had secured excellent value for every dollar it spent. He was in the field for deputy-reeve and hoped the other nominees would retire and give him an acclamation. They had a splendid chance to do so, for they were both nominated for the council, whereas he was nominated only for deputy-reeve.

Joshua Reid stated that he had considerable to do during the year looking after the streets and had devoted a good deal of time to this work. Mr. Reid told of the work his Committee had done on Fourth Ave., Margaret St., Zina St. and elsewhere, advocated making the streets and boulevards of a uniform width and asked for support from his audience if they thought he was fit to represent them in the town and county councils. He had the time and experience and was prepared to give freely of both.

Alex. Dalgleish thought Mr. Reid should have told of some of the things that he failed to do and accused him of refusing to put in culverts where needed and of tearing up wooden sidewalks and failing to replace them with cement or gravel walks. The speaker was sorry that he had given his word that he would not oppose Mr. Young for deputy-reeve, otherwise he would feel disposed to stay in the race. Still he did not like these three-cornered contests, as it was usually the man, who wasn't wanted, who got in.

By this time the audience had thinned out pretty well and at the close of Mr. Dalgleish's address those who had remained began to leave practically en masse, thereby bringing the meeting to an abrupt close.

Only six men qualified for Councillors, so that the Council is elected without a contest. Mr. Martin withdrew from the Reeveship, giving Mr. Gillespie the position without opposition. Mr. J. E. Smith was the only School Trustee nominee to qualify in the North Ward and was therefore re-elected. The only contested offices are the Mayoralty and the Deputy-Reeveship. The Council slate stands:—

Mayor—C. V. Jeffers, Thos. S Hewson.

Reeve—W. J. Gillespie.

Deputy-Reeve—Joshua Reid and David Young.

Councillors—Alex Dalgleish, T. S. Parkinson, Geo. Collins, Hilliard Anderson, William Marshall and Water Fairbairn.

MONDAY'S NOMINATIONS

Contests in Mono, Amaranth, Melancthon and East Garafraxa.

Monday's nominations passed off quietly in the surrounding townships. In most instances there was a large attendance of the ratepayers and the speaking was followed with the closest interest. Contests are taking place in most of the municipalities, Caledon township furnishing one of the few exceptions. In this municipality the 1920 Council was re-elected by acclamation. A brief statement of the situation in the municipalities hereabouts follows:—

AMARANTH

The Town Hall at Laurel was crowded to the doors during the speaking on Monday afternoon. It was generally expected that the 1920 Council would be returned by acclamation, but W. F. Hammond, one of the Councillors, forced a contest by announcing that he was definitely in the field for deputy-reeve. This left Deputy-Reeve Simpson in the difficult position of having to stand against Hammond or step up and fight Reeve T. W. Reid for the reeveship. He chose the latter horn of the dilemma. Hammond got the deputy's seat by acclamation. Thos. and W. H. Whaley of the 1920 council and W. H. Trimble and W. J. Farnell, new men, are in the field for the council. Trimble announced from the platform that he did not intend to do any canvassing. The slate follows:—

Reeve—Thos. W. Reid and Thos. F. Simpson.

Deputy-Reeve—W. F. Hammond (accl.)

Councillors—W. J. Farnell, W. H. Trimble, Thos. Whaley, W. H. Whaley.

MONO

The historic Mono Centre Hall was well filled for the nomination meeting on Monday afternoon. While interest was keen the proceedings were quiet and orderly. Reeve W. J. Bowers, who is just completing his first term as Reeve, received the compliment of a second term without opposition. Deputy-Reeve Sam Barber was not so fortunate, as a formidable opponent cropped up in the person of A. N. McQuilken, of Mono Centre. There are five candidates in the field for the council. The three old councillors, McNaughton, Fines and Parks, are seeking re-election. The new men are William Longhurst and Boyd McLaine. Mr. J. M. McNaughton occupied the chair during the speaking.

Reeve—W. J. Bower (accl.)

Deputy-Reeve—S. Barber, A. N. McQuilken.

Councillors—W. N. Fines, Wm. Longhurst, Boyd McLaine, J. F. McNaughton and T. J. Parks.

EAST GARAFRAXA

As predicted in last week's Banner East Garafraxa has furnished the stage and setting for a three-cornered fight for the Reeveship. The contestants are John G. Brown, W. H. Hunter and Geo. I. Nodwell, all members of the 1920 Council. Reeve James Brown, who had the distinction of winning the coveted Wardenship of the county, retired from the municipal arena on nomination day.

Harvey Heath, of last year's council, Wm. Hawes, James Duncan, Malcolm McCormick, Reginald Hoare, Isaac Reid and Manasseh Ferns were nominated for councillors. Duncan, Ferns and Reid pulled out, making an acclamation for the Council. The slate therefore stands:—

Reeve—J. G. Brown, W. H. Hunter, Geo. I. Nodwell.

Councillors—William Hawes, Harvey Heath, Reginald Hoare, Malcolm McCormick (accl.)

SHELBURNE

Reeve—J. A. Skelding, T. J. O'Flynn.

Councillors—D. E. Dean, P. W. Fewster, G. T. Prentice, W. B. Murray (accl.)

P. S. Trustees—Two years, H. White, J. R. Layton, J. A. Hand, W. H. Lindsay (three to be elected); One year, F. C. Dance, T. C. Lindsay (accl.)

Cemetery Commissioners — One year, J. L. Williamson (accl.); Two years, J. J. Medcalfe (accl.); Three years, three nominated, but all retired.

Hydro Commissioner—Chas. Mason (accl.)

HORNING'S MILLS

Police Trustees—W. J. Fleming, Walter Yokom, Ira Eby, Wm. F. Reddick, Jas. A. Brown (three to be elected.)

MELANCTHON

Wm. McGhee, this year's Reeve, is opposed by Archie Vance, whom he defeated by a narrow majority a year ago. The fight is a keen one and will probably be close. Wm. G. Noble has entered the lists against Deputy-Reeve Russell and as there are four in the field for Council, the municipality is revelling in the delight and excitement of an all-round fight.

Reeve—Wm. McGhee, Arch. Vance

Deputy-Reeve—Wm. G. Noble, J. R. Russell.

Councillors—A. K. Henry, R. B. Oldfield, Fred J. Stewart, Alex. J. Elliott.

MULMUR

The nomination meeting passed off very quiety. The old Council was re-elected by acclamation. The members are:

Reeve—Jas. H. McKee.

Deputy-Reeve—Jas. Henderson.

Councillors—Ed. Reid, R. H. Jamieson, Chas. Bradley.

CALEDON

A large number of ratepayers attended the nomination meeting in the Caledon Town Hall on Monday afternoon. Nominations were made as follows:—

Reeve—Thos. Quinn, Jas. R. Hillyard, Geo. Giles.

Deputy-Reeve — Jas. McDonald, Wm. J. Wilson.

Councillors—J. A. Martin, Jas. McBride, W. J. Trimble, John King, F. E. Wrigglesworth.

Members of this year's Council gave a satisfactory account of their stewardship. The action of the Council regarding the telephone question appeared to meet with general approval. In the end the old Council was re-elected without opposition. The members are:—

Reeve—Thos. Quinn.

Deputy-Reeve—Jas. McDonald.

Councillors—J. A. Martin, Jas. McBride, W. J. Trimble.

A WOMAN'S CURIOSITY

HOW A SCRUB WOMAN TOOK HER FIRST DEGREE IN THE ORANGE ORDER.

A certain member of the Orange Order determined to have their lodge room thoroughly cleaned. It was resolved unanimously that Mrs. K.—should be employed to do the work. After the meeting adjourned the Guardian, who knew the inquisitive character of Mrs. K.—, procured a billy-goat, and placed him in the closet that was kept for the secret things. He then informed the lady of the wishes of the lodge, and requested her to come early next morning, as he would then show her what was not to be done.

Morning dawned and with it Madame K— with her brooms, brushes, pails, tubs, etc. She found the Guardian waiting for her.

"Now, Mrs. K—," said he, "I will tell you what we want done and how we came to get you: The brethren said it was hard to get anybody to do the job without meddling with the secret things in the closet. We have lost the key and cannot find it to lock the door. I assured them that you could be depended on."

"Depended on, I guess I can. My poor dead and gone husband, he belonged to the Masons, or anti-Masons, I don't know which. He used to tell me the secrets of the concern, and when he showed me the marks of a gridiron, made when he was initiated, and told me how they fixed poor Morgan, I never told a living soul to this day. If nobody troubles you to find out your secrets till I do, they will be there till they rot."

"I thought as much," said the Guardian, "and now I want you to commence in that corner and give the room a good cleaning, and I pledge my word and honor to your promise. Now, don't go into the closet."

Then she laughed to herself. No sooner had she heard the sound of his feet than she said, "Don't get into that closet. I'll warrant there's fun or some nonsense just like the anti-Masons, for all the world bewitched. I'll take one peep, and nobody will be any the wiser. I'll keep it to myself."

So at the word she stepped lightly to the forbidden closet, turning the latch, which was no sooner down than "Bah!" went the billy-goat, springing to regain his liberty, which came near upsetting her. Both started for the door, but it was filled with implements of cleaning, which were swept clean from their position down the stairs. The noise and confusion occasioned by such unusual tumbling down-stairs drew half the town to see Mrs. K.'s fate. She was found under the pile of pails, tubs, brooms and brushes in the hall.

When she was released she was not on the spot but the rascally doorkeeper. After releasing the lady that was crippled for life, and uplifting the rubbish that was crushed to the earth, he anxiously inquired if she had taken the degree.

"Taking degrees," said the lady, "if you call tumbling from the top of the stairs with the Devil after ye, taking things by degrees. I tell you what, if ye frightened folks as ye frightened me and hurt them as ye have hurt me, they will make as much noise as I did."

"I hope you will not open the closet, Madam," said the doorkeeper.

Eve eat the apple she was forbidden. If you want a woman to do a thing, tell her not to do it and she will do it. I could not stand it. The secret was there. I wanted to know it. The critter popped the tarnal critter right on my face. I opened it and I broke for the stairs with the critter after me. I fell over the tub, and got down stairs as you saw me."

"Door-keeper, you are in possession of the secret, you must go in to be initiated and sworn."

"Lady, lady, and do you suppose I am going near that ar' tarnal critter without a bridle or a halter? I don't want nothing to do with the man that keeps a billy-goat, wouldn't I? No, never, never shall you either if I can prevent it. No, no. Why, I'd sooner be a Freemason and be burnt at the stake, fire could be kept under it, and a halter, in a pair of old breeches and my dead husband, (and he lived over it) but I know the other side as I took to-day."

MONO COLLEGE

The last meeting of the Mono College Institute was held at the home of Mr. Robert Cooper, Blind Line, Mono, on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 1st. There was a good attendance and a splendid programme. Part of the afternoon was devoted to business and to arranging for the Bazaar. Miss Helen Cooper gave an excellent reading and Mrs. Robert Marshall contributed a valuable Paper on "Christmas Decoration." Many useful suggestions were offered for the Christmas season. The meeting closed with the repeating of the Lord's prayer.

The Bazaar and Home-made Bake Sale which was held in the U. F. O. Rooms in Orangeville on December Fair Day was a grand success, the proceeds amounting to upwards of $70.00. The sum of $10.00 was sent to the Star Santa Claus fund and the remainder of the proceeds are to be donated to Lord Dufferin Hospital and the True Blue Orphanage. Miss Lillian Christian, of Camilla, had the good luck to get the cushion donated by one of the members.

The next meeting will be the annual social evening for the members and their families and will be held in the Mono College school house on Friday evening, January 6th. A good programme will be provided. The members are expected to furnish the lunch.

FOUND DEAD

A. E. Hewitt Expired Suddenly While Preparing For Supper.

Was Well-Known Guelph Man and a Son of Robert Hewitt, of Toronto, Formerly of Orangeville.

Mr. Albert Edward ("Ernie") Hewitt, a prominent resident of the city of Guelph and one of the most popular members of the staff of the Taylor-Forbes Co., Limited, was found dead in his bed-room at the Guelph Y. M. C. A. shortly before 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, December 20th. After leaving his office shortly after five o'clock Mr. Hewitt, who has been with the Taylor-Forbes people for the last eighteen years, went to his room to dress for supper. He appeared in excellent health and spirits and chatted pleasantly with several of his friends in the rotunda of the building before proceeding to his room. He had an engagement with some friends for the evening and when he did not put in an appearance a couple of hours later, two of his friends went to his room and were shocked to find his lifeless body in a kneeling position beside the bed. Coroner Dr. W. F. Savage, who was immediately summoned, declared that he had been dead but a short time before the body was found. He was fully dressed and had evidently been almost ready to go down to supper when he was stricken. Heart collapse was the cause of his sudden death.

Born at Orangeville, the late Albert Edward Hewitt was a son of Mr. Robert Hewitt, one of the pioneer residents and business men in this town, but now living in Toronto. When a mere lad he went to Toronto with his parents, and received his education in the schools at Parkdale. After completing his studies he took a position in the C. P. R. freight offices at Toronto, where he was employed until eighteen years ago, when he moved to Guelph to accept a position with the Taylor-Forbes firm.

Notwithstanding his very quiet and reserved disposition, deceased made a host of friends during his period of residence in Guelph, who learned with deepest regret of his untimely death. The late Mr. Hewitt always took a keen interest in the promotion of all good, clean sport, and as a member of the Taylor-Forbes Athletic Club executive, rendered valuable service to the various teams representing that firm. For many years past he had taken a great interest in indoor bowling and, as a member of the Taylor-Forbes bowling team, was rated as one of the best bowlers in the city.

The active part he took in athletics did not detract from his devotion to the church, however, and deceased was one of the most faithful members of the congregation of St. James' Church, and also of the Sunday School. A singer of ability, he sang in St. James' choir, while since the formation of the Guelph Choral Society he had been a member of that organization. Fraternally he was connected with the Orange Order, and for many years was a member of one of the Guelph lodges.

Besides his father, there are left to mourn his loss, two sisters, Mrs. Williame Reed, Toronto, Mrs. R. H. Brett, Edmonton South, Alberta, and two brothers, James W., contractor, of Toronto, and Joseph A. Hewitt, of the Taylor-Forbes Co., Guelph.

The funeral took place Thursday afternoon to St. James' Church, Guelph, where service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Mackintosh, at 1.45 o'clock, thence to the G. T. R. station, from whence the remains were removed to the residence of Mr. Robert Hewitt, 26 Fuller Ave. Toronto. From Toronto, the body was brought to Orangeville on Friday morning, interment taking place in Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. T. H. Stewart, rector of St. Mark's Church, officiated at the grave. Profound sympathy is felt for the aged father and the members of the bereaved family.

Unusual interest attaches to the following letter which the deceased wrote to his father in Toronto on October 30th, a few weeks prior to his death:—

My Dear Father,—

I have some news to tell you and I know it will do your heart good to hear it, but I don't know if I will have time tonight to tell it as I would like to as it is getting late now. However, I will try.

You know that I have been taught that we (that is men of this world who try to live a good life) will come at some time or other to a turning point in their lives. I have heard this mostly told us in our Sunday afternoon meeting in the Y. M. C. A. I firmly believe that I have come to the turning point in my life. You may wonder how that is.

Well, dear father, in my humble prayers I always ask for more help to lead a better life. The other night I had a dream and I firmly believe that our Heavenly Father spoke to me in that dream. I could hear His voice and that voice told me what my besetting sin was and also said "this is the turning point of your life—come unto Me now, your sins are forgiven. Give up your evil habits, repent, and follow me. Your prayers are heard, follow me and I will lead you over the rough and narrow way."

Dear father, I heard that voice speaking to me at my bedside. I firmly believe it was a voice from Heaven. In fact I coud see Heaven and dear mother and Lile in all their glory.

When I awoke I felt as if I were in a trance. I was thinking very deeply all day what all this could mean and I prayed and asked God to give or send me some light on that dream and the next night I had another dream and I could see a spirit and hear the same voice I had heard the night before, reading the passages of the Bible to me of Christ's love and His pleading for sinners to repent and come unto Him and He would help us in the struggle to gain a place at His mercy seat. I could almost quote you the passages I heard if I had time tonight. When I awoke after this dream I was crying and I immediately offered up another prayer for forgiveness and help. In my prayers I asked if Jesus loved a poor sinner like me and the next night I had another dream and I heard some great instrument playing that good old tune "Yes, Jesus Loves Me," and I awoke singing it.

Well, dear father, I don't know what you will think of this letter of dreams. You may think it a lot of foolishness. Well, if that is the case, all I can say is that I don't. I find that I have had greater strength to live better and nearer to God since I have got these messages and have tried to repent of all my sins. That is what gave me strength to get up and go to early communion this morning.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

One of the pleasing features of the nomination meeting on Monday night was the good feeling exhibited by most of the speakers. The day of bitter personalities seems to have gone forever.

The condition of Mill St. when compared with its condition a few years ago speaks well for the business capacity of Reeve Jeffers. The road carries more heavy traffic than any other road in this district and the manner in which it is standing up under the strain is evidence that the construction work of a couple of years ago was thoroughly done.

With the steady reduction in the debenture debt there is reason to look for an era of lower tax rates in the not distant future. What is needed now is careful, business administration of the affairs of the town. This can be best obtained by electing experienced business men, who have already proved their worth. This is no time to experiment with untried men.

Mayor Parkinson retires from the position of chief magistrate with the satisfaction that comes from the knowledge of duty well done. He leaves the town's finances in much better shape than he found them when he entered the council. His advocacy of the plan of converting a heavy overdraft into a debenture liability has proved sane and businesslike. The debentures will be retired in five years and bank interest payments have been cut from over $1400 to $500 by reason of the change.

Orangeville taxpayers cannot lessen their taxes by knocking local institutions. They will accomplish far more by building up the institutions we have and helping to attract new institutions and industries to the town. New houses, new industries and more people will help to increase the assessment of the town and the larger the assessment the more chance there will be to finance the town, and the institutions that the town assists to maintain, on a lower tax rate. We must build up and not pull down, if we are to have a better town.

From a personal viewpoint it does not matter much to the ratepayers of this town who are elected next Monday. The candidates are all respectable men and good citizens, who are honestly desirous of furthering the interests of the town. From a business standpoint it matters greatly, because the town council has the control and administration of nearly $50,000 of taxes, to say nothing of the revenue from rents, licenses and other sources. No matter how honest a man may be, he is not likely to prove a safe or desirable representative if he is lacking in judgment and business capacity.

The Mayor of a town of Orangeville's size and importance is called upon to preside at a number of public functions, to meet visitors to the town and frequently to head deputations, that visit Toronto or go abroad elsewhere on missions that concern the interests of the town. It follows that he should possess tact as well as ability. He should be able to acquit himsef with some measure of credit if called on to speak on any subject that concerns the town. It should be remembered too, that when he is abroad the importance of the town is apt to be judged by the dignity and ability that its chief magistrate exhibits in the discharge of whatever dutes may fall to his lot.

The annual statement of the Lord Dufferin Hospital appears elsewhere in this issue and should furnish food for reflection in view of the opposition the hospital by-law has received and is still receiving from some of the municipal candidates. Deducting a cash balance of $2580.29 from the previous year, the report shows receipts of $9,099.15 for the year. The payments amounted to $9,894.67. This large sum was nearly all spent in town for supplies necessary to carry on the hospital and its work. The amount of the receipts and expenditure shows that the institution is worth while even from a purely financial viewpoint. It has deserved and is still deserving of the support of our citizens and the hospital knocker should receive scant consideration.

A hospital right at home is a useful and almost a necessary institution in a town the size of Orangeville. In cases of sudden illness or severe accident it may often be the means of saving human life. In case of sickness it offers the citizen or resident of the surrounding district a place where he may be cared for and nursed back to health right at home, where he can be visited regularly by his family and intimate friends. Without a hospital he would have to go to Toronto or elsewhere and would be entirely or almost entirely amongst strangers during his illness. Citizens who believe that the Lord Dufferin Hospital is a useful and necessary institution should be willing to accept some financial responsibility for its maintenance and not leave the burden of support altogether to a few women.

Because my interests are here.

Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.

Because I want to see the goods I am buying.

Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for them.

Because my home merchants will take care of me when I run short of cash.

Because some part of every dollar I spend at home helps work for the welfare of the town and the county.

Because the home merchant I buy from stands back of his goods thus always giving value received.

Because the merchant I buy from pays his share of the county and town taxes.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearse, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

The National Railways Prospects Are Brighter

The improved financial showing of the Canadian National Railways for the months of August and September has received general and favorable comment in the Press throughout the country. It will be of interest to the public to see in graphic manner the monthly advances made since the beginning of the year.

The accompanying chart shows that Operating Expenses, as indicated by the upper line on the chart, were brought down, month by month, and that they drew gradually towards a meeting with the lower line which indicates the Gross Earnings. In August, the lines met and crossed showing a small margin to the good for that month. In September, the widening gap between the lines indicates net earnings of more than half a million dollars. The trend of the "sweeps" or "curves," as they are sometimes termed, predict a much better showing in October.

Those who were in close touch with the situation, and who knew what was being done to bring about operating economies, could see well in advance, that a continuation of these measures, with the usual increases in volume of traffic, would bring the lines together, and that with the seasonal crop movement, they should cross. It was hardly expected that the month of August would show net earnings, but reductions in the costs of materials and supplies, coupled with the readjustment of wages, and the increase in Gross Earnings, were factors which, combined, enabled the management to produce a small balance on the right side for August. The crop movement in September was sufficient to enable the much better showing made in that month.

A feature of the situation, which constituted a great difficulty encountered by the management in their endeavours to wipe out the deficit, is graphically displayed by the chart which shows that Gross Earnings dropped after February; that month's gross is usually the lowest in any year, and, commencing with March, gross earnings invariably improve; but during the present year a new condition prevailed; the earnings in the months of April, May and June were lower than those in the months of January and February. This slump in business was general, and affected all lines. If the usual trend of earnings had been followed, the operating economies effected would have brought the lines together at an earlier date.

The chart also shows that the greater reductions in operating expenses were obtained prior to July; this should dispose of the view that the reduction in expenses was largely brought about by the readjustment of wages, effective July 16th. The Canadian National Railways, earlier in the year, informed the people of Canada, by a series of frank, explicit articles in the public press, of some of its problems, and in particular, of the pressing need of more traffic. The improvement in the relative position of the National lines has been accomplished, not only by the reductions of operating costs, but also through the co-operation of the public that realized the truth of the statements made on the National Railways behalf, and who have met the situation in a practical way.

Celebrate Christmas with the AMBEROLA

If there is one day in the year when good music should be in every home that day is Christmas! Joyous Yuletide carols—hymns—old songs that everyone loves—will make the day a real festival if you own an Edison Amberola!

The Amberola is a sensible and lasting purchase, and a beautiful and welcome gift. It is not a shrill and metallic "talking machine," but a mellow-toned instrument which plays vocal and instrumental music of all kinds with startling realism.

In addition to being the world's greatest phonograph value, the Amberola is remarkably cheap to operate. The permanent Diamond Point Reproducer does away with the bother and expense of changing needles, and the Amberol Records—low-priced to start with—are practically indestructible.

Have an Amberola in your home this Christmas—it will furnish years of entertainment to your family and yourself! And if you have some dear friend to whom you would like to present a really worth-while gift—

Give an AMBEROLA

Come in today and select an Amberola to be delivered for Christmas. Make it your gift to the family.

PROTESTANT GROWTH IN FRANCE

(From The Literary Digest.)

Surviving the age-long religious wars, Protestantism in France is today declared to be in a flourishing condition, according to the first complete report to reach America since the armistice, and there are said to be factors in its growth which indicate that its roots have withstood all efforts to weed them out and are at last firmly established in the soil. Protestantism had its beginning in France in the early part of the sixteenth century under the Huguenots and, in spite of continued and violent conflict, received so many converts that in 1561 there were 2,150 Reformed churches. But, at length, the sanguinary outbreaks against the new faith culminated in the tragic "Massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day," which is branded with other persecutions as "odious" by the Catholic Encyclopedia. These had their effect, and in the early part of the seventeenth century the Huguenots, who had once formed a tenth of the population, were reduced to a few hundred thousands. In 1802, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, there were left only 121 pastors and 171 churches; in Paris there was only a single church with a single pastor. The Church had no faculty or theology, no schools, no Bible societies, no asylums, no orphanages, no religious literature. Now, according to the Statesman's Year Book, there are about 1,000,000 Protestants in France, and a comparative study of the report contained in the Agenda-Annuaire Protestant for 1921 with the report of 1918 writes Reginald L. McAll in The Intelligencer (Reformed Church) reveals some additional interesting facts.

Ministers and the War

Excluding Alsace-Lorraine, there are, according to Mr. McAll's summary, 840 ordained ministers, as compared with 872 on the list of 1918, a decrease explained by the fact that more than one-half of the ministers were mobilized, many of them never to return to their work. In this figure are represented seven denominations, of which the two branches of the Reformed Church number together 644 clergy. The Lutherans have 73, Eglise Libre (Free Church), 42; Evangelical Methodists, 28; Baptists, 28; and various independent churches, 15. In addition, there are ten French pastors working under the American Methodist Episcopal Church. In their home missionary work these churches maintain, or assist in supporting, more than 530 preaching stations, annexes or Sunday Schools, which possess their own buildings. Many of these are under the control of the Societe Centrale Evangelique and the Mission Populaire, while the Geneva Evangelical Society and the British and Foreign Bible Society furnish many lay helpers and colporteurs for evangelistic work. The return of Alsace-Lorraine restores to France a large number of Protestants, chiefly Lutherans. Among them are 209 ministers, who serve 265 churches.

Vitality in Churches

The vitality of all these churches is expressed, we are informed:

"Firstly, in the variety and extent of their Christian philanthropy and social service. They support 53 hospitals and general asylums, including the well-known Asiles John-Bost at Laforce, established in 1848. Local charities and mutual aid societies exist all over the country. Thirty orphanages care for girls and nineteen for boys. Some of the twenty-four institutional plants for special work are noteworthy. One hundred Patronages serve as social centres and homes for children and young men and women.

"Several agencies have developed for sending young people and children to the country in the summer, and permanent country homes are being purchased by the Mission Populaire. There are about sixty Protestant schools, and the number is increasing. The two most important theological faculties of Paris and Montpelier report a shortage of students. Many French pastors, however, come from the five Protestant seminaries in Switzerland.

Foreign Missions

"The foreign missionary activity of French Protestants gives further evidence of their vitality. In the French West African colonies, for which they are entirely responsible there are 179 French missionaries, both men and women. In 1918 the number was 185. This is in the proportion of one missionary for every five pastors at home. The corresponding ratio for the year 1918 in the United States was one in sixteen.

"The record is the more remarkable when it is remembered that most of the French churches are small, and weak financially.

"Yet we find that in 1918 the French churches gave for foreign missions 16.5 per cent. of all the money they raised. At that time American Protestants gave about 8.3 per cent. for their foreign work, or about one-half the proportion raised in France. While the financial data for 1920 is not at hand, we certainly have far to go to equal the sacrifices being made to-day by French Protestants to spread the Gospel in their own mission fields.

"But most important of all, the Agenda indicates that the vigor of French Protestantism is due to the spiritual fidelity and intellectual integrity of its readers. While using institutional methods with great skill, they allow nothing to obscure their first aim, that of saving souls. They have fire, they preach the faith once delivered to the saints and they are reaching the unchurched masses of the French people."

Our New Year Resolution

WELCOME, 1922! We are pledged to one New Year resolve for the coming year—to use Long Distance more for both business and social purposes!

"As a business man, my books show I didn't use it enough in 1921. Those who used it more came out better—and I'll tell you why:—

"Service is the bed-rock of business to-day—and service is personal. There is no way in which so much personal service can be rendered to so many people, as by Long Distance.

"The consumer and dealer look on Advertising and Long Distance as the source of news of new styles and new prices. Long Distance has ended the isolation of small towns. It enables them to keep the rapidly-growing small-town trade at home.

"The Smiths and Browns and Robinsons whose shopping trips to town were formerly planned weeks ahead, now buy advertised goods by Long Distance.

"It enables us to go after sales direct. A letter is a good peddler or order-taker, but it rarely makes a sale. Only salesmen make sales, and they can make lots of them by Long Distance.

"So bring us good luck and prosperity, 1922, and with raised hands we pledge ourselves to use Long Distance more."

As you watch the Old Year out and the New Year in, why not greet distant friends by Long Distance? The Night rate on Station-to-Station calls is very low.

Some Reasons Why the Electors of Orangeville Should Consider it to their Interest to support

C. V. JEFFERS FOR MAYOR

1. He has had six years' continuous experience in Town and County Councils.

2. By reason of that experience he is in close touch with our municipal questions and problems.

3. He is a careful, practical and progressive business man.

4. Largely through his efforts the County Grant to Orangeville High School was increased from $5 a pupil in 1918 to $15 a pupil in 1920. This means an important saving to the taxpayers of Orangeville.

5. He advocated changing the Good Roads system in Dufferin County from a Township Good Roads system to a straight County system. This change will give Orangeville a chance to secure the Government grant on connecting roads inside the town.

6. He is a heavy taxpayer and has therefore a personal interest in keeping down the tax rate.

During his term of office Mr. Jeffers has worked hard and has given freely of his time and energy to the affairs of the town and county. His services entitle him to the honor of a term as Mayor. Besides this he is the logical successor to Mayor Parkinson.

ANDREW McNICHOL

Word was received last week of the death on Friday, Dec. 16th, in the General Hospital, Winnipeg, of Andrew McNichol, a native of Chinguacousy and a former resident of Caledon. Mr. McNichol was born on lot 14, 6th line, west, near Norval, in 1859, and moved to Caledon shortly after his marriage to Miss Mary McKenzie of Mt. Forest, where he farmed on lot 7, 5th line, west, for several years. During the Boer war he and one of his sons went to South Africa as government commissioners with a shipload of horses. He returned to the west about twenty years ago. His wife died 22 years ago. Four children, William, of Winnipeg; Ernie, of Butte, Mon.; Mrs. ..., Moncton, N. B.; and Jessie, of Toronto, survive. Of four brothers and one sister only one brother, William, of Chicago, survives. Another brother, Duncan, was at one time engaged in the harness business in Brampton. The funeral took place in Winnipeg.

CROZIER WALSH

For the fourth time within as many years, death has visited the family of the late Canon Walsh, formerly rector of Christ Church, Brampton. Last week the call came for the eldest son, Crozier Walsh, who has been a resident of New York city for the past eighteen years, where he was engaged in the advertising business. Word was received a week ago Monday morning that he had passed away at his home in that city. His father, his sister, Mrs. Adolphus Brown, of Kingston, his wife and now himself have answered the summons within this brief period, and the deepest sympathy is felt for the surviving members of the family again bereaved. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter. His mother and two brothers, Brooks, of Niagara Falls, Ont.; and Rosebrugh, of Toronto, survive. The funeral took place on Tuesday, Dec. 20th, to Brampton Cemetery, after the funeral service conducted in Christ Church by Rev. R. W. Allen.

ACCIDENT TO TEACHER

Miss Mildred Hanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hanna, Wellington St., met with an unfortunate accident on Tuesday of last week. The young lady has been teaching school at Ravenna, a few miles west of Collingwood. She was riding on a sleigh from which the box had been removed and a single board thrown across the bobs for a seat. She attempted to shift her position while the sleigh was in motion and while doing so her foot caught an obstruction on the ground, breaking one of the bones of the limb near the ankle. The limb was very painful and so badly swollen that the doctor was not able to set the fracture until Thursday. Miss Hanna arrived home on Friday night. She will be confined to the house for six weeks or longer. Her friends here sympathize with the young lady in her misfortune.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Newspaper advertising is the cheapest channel of communication ever established by man. A thousand letters with 1 cent stamps will cost $15 to circulate and not one envelope in ten will be opened, because the very postage is an invitation to the waste basket. If there was anything cheaper, rest assured that the greatest merchants in America would not spend, individually, sums ranging up to half a million dollars and more a year in newspaper advertising. Test it for yourself.

TO LIVE TOGETHER

Committee Authorized to Make Provision for Married Couples at Beeton House of Refuge.

Councillor J. J. D. Banting, of the Simcoe County Council, touched a chord of sympathy in the hearts of his fellow councillors at last session and aroused them to action on a vital matter in connection with the House of Refuge.

It had been reported to Reeve Banting that in the case of a man and wife being asigned to the home they were separated and denied the advantage of social companionship they had long been accustomed to. This, he understood, was the callous rule at Beeton.

"Wrong, wrong," exclaimed a number of voices.

"It is decidedly wrong," continued Dr. Banting. "And it's up to this council to right that wrong. Old couples are sent to the home whose sole offense is poverty. They are denied communion with each other—and this communion is their sole comfort left in life," added the reeve.

It was suggested by one or two that old couples sometimes got into peevish, jangling habits, drew others into quarrels, and had to be kept separate.

"This prohibition should not be applied to those who know how to conduct themselves," interposed one councillor.

Councillor Spicher and Councillor Lowe quoted instances that had come under their observation of a similar nature to which Councillor Banting described and, seemingly, without warrant. Councillor Spicher said he believed this segregation system tended to shorten the days of old folks at the home. The Warden too, thought if such were the case, some provision should be made to guard against distressing measures.

Councillor Fleming said he believed the rules were that men and women should be separated. He believed another wing to the home would be necessary to provide adequate relief.

Councillor Coleman, Innisfil, then made a motion that the House of Refuge Committee be authorized to make suitable provision for the living together of married couples in the County House of Refuge. The motion was seconded by Councillor Banting and at once adopted by the Council.

Governor Swan of the House of Refuge was a visitor to the Council, and was invited to a seat on the dias and to address the body. Mr. Swan referred to the married couples' provisions, and expressed himself as in hearty accord with the action taken.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Arthur and little daughter, Thelma, have returned to Toronto after spending the holiday with friends in town.

SIX MONTHS

Brampton Hotelkeeper Gets Stiff Penalty For Violation of O. T. A.

As a result of a surprise visit on Friday night last Ben Trimble, keeper of what used to be the Graham House, Brampton, is doing six months in the county jail.

Last Friday three officers came out from Toronto and with Inspector Reevely and Constable Herkes raided Ben's place about 11 p.m. In a back room they found four or five men playing cards. In what used to be the barroom they found Ben in the darkness. Flashlights were used and the officers endeavored to catch Ben with what he was carrying. He was in behind the bar and they say he managed to spill and break one bottle on the floor. There was a lot of struggling, plunging and snorting before the five men got Ben handcuffed. He weighs 240 pounds and is about as powerful as a small elephant. Ben was good and mad but five to one was too much for him and they caught him with the goods—the bottle on the hip. He was taken to jail and next day, Saturday, before P. M. Crawford he was sentenced to jail for six months, this being his second offence under the O. T. A. He was charged with having liquor in an illegal place and resisting arrest.

This makes three convictions in all against Ben. He has the reputation in town of being a determined and persistent breaker of the law and is reputed to have made money out of the business since he left the farm and came to Brampton. Of late he has done a very close business. It was known that he peddled from a bottle on the hip and the raid was successful in that it caught him with the goods.—Peel Banner.

A VERY SAD DEATH

The death of Miss Laura Elsie Willis, only daughter and surviving child of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Willis, of Monticello district, on Tuesday of last week, came with a great shock to the friends of the family. A few days before she was operated on for appendicitis and was making very satisfactory progress towards recovery when, entirely unsuspected, peritonitis developed and death resulted. The shock of the girl's death is a very heavy one to the parents who lost their only boy a year or so ago in a harvesting accident, the double bereavement bringing them a full flood of heartfelt sympathy from the neighborhood. Laura was a bright winsome girl of some fifteen years, clever at school, energetic in the home and one of the liveliest in the social and other activities in the district. The funeral on Tuesday to the Union Cemetery, Grand Valley, was largely attended, the services being conducted by Rev. J. A. McCartney, of Keldon.—Star & Vidette.

WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Insufficient Action of The Bowels, produces more disease than any other one cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90% of the disease in the world today—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Insomnia and Rheumatism—the Eczema and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Backaches.

Why is this?

As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter in the system. If the bowel muscles are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, every organ in the body is poisoned by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" positively and emphatically relieves Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen and twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

TEAHERS' AGREEMENTS MAY MEAN MORE

Present indications are that the agreements between teachers, when engaged, and the Trustee Boards employing them, will be in the future more effective, and perhaps more satisfactory to all concerned. At a joint meeting of representatives of Trustee Boards, ratepayers and Teachers' Associations, recently held in Toronto, a resolution was passed, requesting the Minister of Education to amend the Public Schools, Continuation Schools and High Schools Acts so as to require all teachers to enter into a written agreement with School Boards, to be effective until the close of the school year in June, such agreement to be renewable from year to year unless terminated by either party on Sept. 1, by at least 30 days' notice in writing. A resolution was also passed calling upon the Minister of Education to appoint a Board of Reference for the purpose of settling disputes between trustees and teachers. That the school year be made to coincide with the academic year from September to June, instead of from January to September, was the subject of another resolution. The purpose of this proposed change is to insure more uniformity in the annual reports. Some discussion took place in regard to teachers leaving schools before the term was completed. It was stated that certain teachers had accepted positions and afterward withdrawn upon receiving an offer of a position with a higher salary. It was contended that there should be a "code of honor" drawn up to bind teachers to honor their agreements in spirit as well as in letter.

Low number of deaths of children under one year was a feature of Barrie's medical health report.

KEEP YOUR HEAD

When the horses are running away, it is no time to drop the lines and jump out or hang on to the dashboard. You may holler "whoa!" till you are red in the face, but if you don't grab the reins and "saw 'em down" for dear life, it won't be long before there will be a big smash-up.

There are farmers in this country at the present time who are in the wagon with the lines down and the team running wild. Let's stop a minute and think what will be the effect of this runaway sort of farming, if we do not pick up the lines and get back to the only gait which will bring us through to safety.

There is a hungry world! There are more mouths to feed just now than ever before in the history of mankind. What will it mean if any considerable number of men stop producing? It makes one dizzy to think of it. Somehow the world must be fed.

And it can not be very long that prices will be below the cost of production. Just now we are in a stage of transition. But the needle will surely swing back to the north star if we release it and give it a chance. The heart of the nation is right, and will pay it willingly and cheerfully if it once understands the right and the wrong of things. It is a time for producer, and consumer to get nearer together, not farther apart. To know each other better, instead of striking each other down. What, then, is the part of wisdom, so far as the farmer is concerned?

In the first place, let's not think or feel that we are in water that is too deep for us. If we had thought we were in over our heads, maybe we have not straightened up enough. Let's hold our heads high.

Carefully and conservatively we may step out into deeper water, all the time holding our heads up like men who know their worth and are proud of their profession. Have we done our best with the old farm? If not, let's do better this year. Let's make every foot count. Brush lots do not feed starving men. Let's improve our methods wherever we can. Let's work for better markets. Let's work shoulder to shoulder with each other to do it. Let's not expect too much right away. Let's remember that Rome was not built in a day, and that, like the oak, anything worth while takes time to grow. The most contemptible thing on earth is a quitter.

And then, if we have brought the old place up to its best and really feel that we might use a little more land, let's add a bit from the adjoining farm that may be in the market at a reasonable price. Land never made any man poor. It is poor management that does that. Then we can add a few good cows to our herds and let some of the poor ones go. It is a good time to swap cows.

And let's keep a level head and not drop the lines!—Ex.

ING FOON IS GONE

As you will have surmised from the heading, even if you did not know him, Ing Foon is a Chinaman. Not only that, but we may say that he was "Shelburne's Chinaman" for we had but one. Ing Foon had been in charge of Shelburne's only and only laundry for some time, but a change in the ownership of the premises he had been occupying made it necessary that he should seek a new place of business. And a new place of business could not be found, for the present, at any rate. So on Monday Ing Foon departed for Toronto. Ing Foon made about the slowest progress at learning to talk English of any of the Chinese laundrymen who have made this town their headquarters, but he will miss human about it—if you didn't understand him, he thought you were to blame. Let us trust that the city will make a better job of teaching him English than Shelburne did.

By prompt action and hard work on the part of the fire brigade the building was saved from utter destruction. As it is the new part is damaged to the extent of about $3,000. He was cutting wood in his bush lot with a gas engine and buzz saw when his foot slipped on a stick and he fell against the saw, which cut through his clothing and made a dangerous wound between the ribs about an inch below the heart. He was alone at the time, but managed to pull his overcoat about him and lay there until his assistant returned with the team from taking a load of wood out. He was taken home on the sleigh, the doctors dressed the terrible wound, and a trained nurse is now in attendance.

SHOPPING CENTRE OF LONDON SAVED

Shifting River Bed Under Oxford Circus Discovered in Time.

London, Dec. 28th—This city has just narrowly escaped a great peril, the possible caving in of Oxford Circus, the shopping centre of the West End, says a story circulated by a news agency. The danger of the disaster was known only to contractors and workers underground. They were altering an exit from the Oxford Circus tube station so as to make an entrance into a business building, when the contractors discovered a bed of a little, unknown tributary of the Thames River, which was covered over when Regent Street was made.

They also found, to their amazement and consternation, that they were meeting the direct "lines of vibration" of the two underground tubes, the Central London and the Bakerloo.

The news agency says that they realized that if the excavating continued the whole of Oxford Circus might be literally precipitated underground. There were perilous days and laborious nights occupied in underpinning the buildings above ground and overcoming the side pressure which was being felt.

In place of the shifting sands of the old river bed, there was constructed a retaining wall of cement, which, it is declared, has made the greatest shopping centre more secure than at any time since the river flowed down the slopes of the present Regent Street.

SHELBURNE'S MEMORIAL

At a meeting of the District Memorial Committee and other interested citizens held in the town hall, Shelburne, on Wednesday evening of last week a further discussion of the subject tok place. The Memorial Hospital, as previously adopted by a representative gathering of the ratepayers, was found to be an impossible undertaking at this time, and for the purpose of selecting another memorial this later meeting was called. After considerable discussion the following resolution, moved by John Best and seconded by Geo. Ferris, was adopted: "That this meeting recommend the erection of a monument in the Berwick park or some other suitable place and that a committee be appointed to look into the matter and report at a future meeting."

The following were appointed a committee to get plans and prices of a monument and secure necessary data, as to available sites: Melancthon, Wm. E. Reid: Mulmur, G. A. Ferris; Amaranth, W. F. Hammond Mono, Alex. McDonald; Shelburne Dr. C. L. Morgan. Dr. Morgan will be chairman of the committee.—Free Press.

IT PAYS TO BE POLITE

(By L. B. Birdsall.)

I was journeying homeward on a train one night some time ago, sharing my seat with the manager of the busy telephone exchange in the city where I resided. The conductor on the train was one of those crabbed persons who seem to hate the whole world, including themselves. He snarled at everybody as he collected the tickets.

"Pleasant fellow, isn't he?" I remarked to my companion.

"Very!" he replied abstractedly, gazing out of the window at the flying landscape. "He reminds me of some of the operators in our office before the change took place."

"What change?" I asked, my curiosity aroused. I had not been in the city for some time.

"Haven't you heard of how our office has been revolutionized?" he asked in surprised tones. "I thought everybody knew about it by this time," he added.

"It's a new girl whom we hired about eight months ago who has caused the change," he continued, without waiting for me to answer. "She has regenerated—you might say—the entire staff with her polite way of answering calls.

"Before this girl came to work for us there were many complaints being registered about the incivility of our operators—perhaps you remember?"

I did, for I had lost my temper a number of times vainly endeavoring to get connected with parties on the line.

"Well, I assure you, it [illegible] rile the public any more than it [illegible]," said the manager, "but we [illegible] in bad shape. Girls were by no means plentiful and jobs were, and if I reprimanded one of the operators she was always ready to quit." Then along came this little sweet-voiced girl and—presto! my troubles started to vanish.

"At first the other girls made fun of her for her politeness; they said she was wasting the company's time saying 'thank you' and 'please.' In fact the majority of them were of the opinion that it would soon wear off, but it didn't.

"About a fortnight telephone users began to make enquiries at the office regarding the identity of the new girl with the sweet voice. Soon boxes of chocolates and other gifts began to appear. Every week brought more enquiries, and it was not long before she became known as 'the angel of the exchange.'

"I kept quiet and waited for developments, and I didn't have a great while to wait. The other operators began to see the advantages of being polite over a telephone and two and three at a time they started adding 'please' when they asked for numbers, and 'thank you' when they received them, hesitatingly at first, then naturally when they found how simple and easy it was to be nice with phone users and how quickly the users responded and waxed pleasant and appreciative.

"From that time on the little girl's propaganda of politeness has been spreading like a contagion, until to-day we have only a few operators who are still a little snappy—not exactly uncivil. The rest are counterparts of the little glad girl, who demonstrated to them, unconsciously, that it pays to be polite."

The crabbed conductor walked through the car again as the telephone manager finished his story. The conductor's mouth was set in an ugly snarl and he scowled at a young woman with a restless baby who occupied the seat in front of us.

"I don't believe your 'angel of the exchange' would have much effect on that fossil," I asserted.

"I'd like to have her try," replied the telephone manager, confidently. "She has cured some bad ones, I'll tell you."

NOT GUILTY

Orangeville Electors Decide Not To Send Thos. S. Hewson Down For Two Years.

Gave Him 77 Majority in Contest For Mayoralty — Dave Young Rolled Up Record Majority in Race For Deputy-Reeveship.

In his nomination speech Thos. S. Hewson, one of the candidates for the Orangeville Mayoralty, stated that if he were defeated he would consider that the electors of the town had found him guilty because of his stand on the issues of the day and had decided to send him down for two years. Tom will not have to go down for the two years for on Monday the town elected him Mayor by a majority of 77. It was a great day for the Hewson forces and a great day for the successful candidate, who made the run of his life. To win against a candidate like Ex-Reeve Jeffers, who was making his appeal for the Mayoralty on the strength of a record of six years creditable and successful municipal service, was no easy task, but Hewson did the trick and did it decisively. The result was a surprise to the friends of Jeffers, who counted on a close fight, but thought that their candidate would pull out with a small majority. As it turned out he was beaten in every Ward. The result was very close everywhere except in the South, which rolled up a lead of 53 votes for Hewson. The election was keenly fought and a heavy vote went to the polls. The figures are:—

	Hewson	Jeffers
North Ward	132	122
East Ward	131	119
South Ward	178	125
West Ward	119	117
	560	483

Majority for Hewson—77.

The fight for Deputy-Reeve was very one-sided, Dave Young winning with the largest majority ever polled for a municipal candidate in Orangeville. His opponent, Joshua Reid, was a useful member of the 1921 Council, but was badly handicapped from the fact that he has only lived here for a couple of years Young was beaten by W. J. Gillespie for Deputy-Reeve two years ago and many citizens, who felt constrained to vote against him then, sought to square matters by giving him their support on Monday. This factor undoubtedly helped to swell his majority. The victor, who has been an excellent man in the Council, took his victory modestly. The details follow:—

	Young	Reid
North Ward	186	60
East Ward	191	58
South Ward	233	65
West Ward	146	81
	756	259

Majority for Young—497.

At night the Citizens' Band serenaded the successful candidates and other members of the incoming Council. The boys were treated handsomely and the band exchequer will be enriched considerably as a result of the serenade. Mayor-elect Hewson invited the musicians in after making a neat speech. Inside they were hospitably entertained by Mrs. Hewson, who had prepared refreshments for the occasion.

REID BEATEN

Simpson Carried Amaranth Reeveship With Majority of 75.

Trimble and Farnell, New Men, Led In Race For Council Honors.

Thos. W. Reid, the old Reeve, was beaten decisively in the race for the Reeveship of Amaranth on Monday. His opponent, Thos. F. Simpson, last year's Deputy-Reeve, had a majority of 75. Reid made a good run in the Waldemar and Farmington divisions, but did not do as well as his friends expected he would at Laurel. Simpson rolled up a big majority at Maple Grove, the northwest division, where he polled 80 votes against 5 for his opponent. As his majority was 75 the race resulted in a tie outside this division. The details follow:—

	Reid	Simpson
Farmington	47	4
Laurel	67	59
Waldemar	55	25
Coleridge	24	44
Maple Grove	5	80

W. H. Trimble, a new man, headed the poll for the Council. W. J. Farnell, another newcomer, ran in second place. W. H. Whaley got the better of his namesake, Thos. Whaley, in the race for last place. Both men were members of the 1921 Council.

BARBER BEATEN

McQuilken Had Majority of 115 in Fight For Mono Deputy-Reeveship.

Fines, Parks and McNaughton the Successful Councillors, with McLaine a Close Fourth

Archie McQuilken had a comparatively easy time of it in Monday's fight for the Deputy-Reeveship of Mono, defeating Sam Barber, the old Deputy-Reeve, by 115 votes. Norris Fines headed the poll for Councillors with T. J. Parks a close second. Both men were members of the 1921 Council. John McNaughton, the other member of the old Council, finished in third place. Boyd McLaine, one of the young men of the township, made an excellent run, finishing only eight votes behind McNaughton. McLaine is evidently a coming man. William Longhurst, another newcomer, finished in last place. Little interest was taken in the contest and the vote was light. The results:—

GOODEVE AGAIN

Had Even 100 to the Good in Adjala Reeveship Contest.

George Patterson Headed the Poll For the Council.

That redoubtable municipal warrior, Tom Goodeve, did the "come back" act in Adjala on Monday, when he defeated Jas. Sheehan, last year's Reeve, by a majority of 100. Goodeve polled a good vote everywhere in the township, leading his opponent at five of the six polls. George Patterson, of the old Council, headed the poll for Councillor and was followed by Jas. Ronan, a new man. Alex. Ward, who moved back to his native township about a year ago after a sojourn of several years in East Luther, finished in third place. Ward had a good deal of municipal experience in East Luther, where he filled the offices of Councillor and Reeve. John Doyle, also a newcomer, captured the last seat at the Board. Goodeve, the successful candidate for Reeve, sat in the 1921 Council. The other members, John J. Lawler and John Nichol, ran but were beaten. The results follow:—

VANCE'S REVENGE

Downed McGhee By 53 Majority For Melancthon Reeveship.

Noble Worsted Russell in Fight For Deputy-Reeveship—Henry, Elliott, and Oldfield the Successful Councillors.

Last year William McGhee defeated Archie Vance by 29 votes for the Reeveship of Melancthon township. Vance had his innings on Monday, when he won from his successful opponent of a year ago by a majority of 53. McGhee had comfortable majorities at Hornings Mills, Reddickville and Silk's School, but the other five divisions voted Vance. The winner secured his largest majority at Corbetton, his home poll. The vote by divisions was:—

	McGhee	Vance
Hornings Mills	97	48
Shrigley	16	21
Mayburne	39	56
Riverview	29	51
Melancthon Stn.	24	52

Reddickville	43	33
Silk's School	32	23
	312	365

John A. Russell, the old Deputy-Reeve, was beaten by W. G. Noble, who pulled out of the fray with a majority of 159. The vote was:—

JUST TWO

Reeve O'Flynn, of Shelburne, Had a Close Call.

Barrister Layton Headed the Poll For School Trustees.

T. J. O'Flynn, last year's Reeve, was re-elected by the narrow majority of two votes in Monday's contest. His opponent was J. A. Skelding, a member of last year's Council. The Council was elected by acclamation, but there was a contest for School Trustees. In this J. Rufus Layton headed the poll. The results follow:—

HUNTER WON

Had Majority of 31 Over Brown in Race For East Garry Reeveship.

W. H. Hunter, son and namesake of the late W. H. Hunter, who was prominent in the municipal affairs of East Garafraxa for many years, won the Reeveship of that township in a three-cornered contest on Monday. The victory is all the more creditable in view of the position of the three candidates. Mr. Hunter and Mr. Geo. I. Nodwell, who ran third, live in the east end of the township. East Garafraxa is triangular in shape and the east happens to be the small end of the triangle. The other candidate, Mr. John G. Brown, resides in the west, or large end of the municipality. For this reason many thought he would head the poll. Hunter led in his own division, The Maples, the Marsville division in the centre of the township, and The Cook's School division in the southwest corner of the triangle. Brown secured majorities at Hereward and Duffy's School, the two northwest divisions. In justice to Nodwell, who made rather a poor showing at the polls, it should be explained that he did no canvassing whatever, while the other candidates made an active personal canvass. The results follow:—

	Brown	Hunter	N'well
Hereward	40	6	1
Duffy's Sch.	36	6	0
Cook's Sch.	13	19	4
Marsville	15	55	14
The Maples	10	59	13
	114	145	32

The by-law to raise $15,000 by debentures for the purpose of building a bridge over the Grand River near Hereward was carried by a vote of 175 to 89. The measure secured a majority in every division. The voting:—

BY-LAW

	For	Against
Hereward	39	8
Duffy's	26	13
Cook's	18	12
Marsville	51	30
The Maples	41	26
	175	89

East Garafraxa is apparently not yet ready for the commutation of statute labor. On the question, "Are you in favor of abolishing statute labor?" 167 voters answered "No" and 114 voted "Yes." The vote stood:—

	Yes	No
Hereward	31	19
Duffy's	15	25
Cook's	16	19
Marsville	30	45
The Maples	22	59
	114	167

A PROTEST

Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—

I take this opportunity as a Jewish British subject to protest against the manner in which the Jewish residents of the town have been treated in the matter of the franchise. Why were our votes taken away from us at the municipal election on Monday? All the Jewish residents of Orangeville are paying taxes and not one of them has his name on the voters' list. I hope that you will realize the justice of our protest and that you will give it publicity through the columns of your paper.

Yours truly,

J. B. GLASS.

CLOSING our books for the year, without thanking you for the business you have given us, would leave one of our principal debts unpaid.

We take this opportunity of wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Henry Bracken, age 78, of 2226 Dundas Street west, Toronto, died Sunday from heart trouble after an illness of five days. Deceased was born in Caledon township, near Brampton. While a young man he moved to Boston Mills, near Inglewood, where he managed a flour mill for nearly forty years. He moved to Toronto nine years ago and carried on a flour and feed business and auto livery with his son.

When residing in Peel County he was Warden of the county; reeve of Caledon township and also a J. P. and was nominated by the Liberal party on two occasions to contest the riding of Cardwell for the Federal Government. He was a member of the Anglican Church. His widow, five sons, Rev. H. A., rector of St. David's Church, Toronto; Oscar, of the C. P. R., Toronto; R. H., of Inglewood; Arthur E. at home, and Kenneth O., of Central Africa, and one daughter, Mrs. J. Carrick, Toronto, survive him. The late Mr. Bracken was a brother of Mr. Hugh Bracken and Mrs. Edward Jenkins, of Mono.

MRS. SIMON FALCONER

Mono lost an old resident this week in the person of Mrs. Simon Falconer, who passed away at her home, lot 11, con. 3, west, on Tuesday night at the ripe age of 88 years. Deceased had been in poor health for the last month or longer. Her death was the result of a general breakdown due to advanced age. Mrs. Falconer, whose maiden name was Anne Jenkins, was the daughter of William Jenkins and Eliza Allen, early residents of Albion township, where she was born and spent her girlhood. She was married to Mr. Falconer about 61 years ago. For four years after their marriage the young couple lived in Chinguacousy. Fifty-seven years ago they came to Mono, settling on lot 11, con. 3, west, where the husband died some eleven years ago. Deceased was a quiet, kindly woman of a retiring disposition. In the home she was a devoted wife and mother and in the neighborhood was held in high esteem for her kindness, honesty and readiness to extend a helping hand to anyone in distress or need. She is survived by a family of two sons and three daughters. The sons are W. J. Falconer, of Amaranth, and R. J. Falconer on the homestead in Mono, and the daughters are Mrs. James Lang, of Sundridge, Ont.; Mrs. H. J. Cochrane, of Toronto, and Mrs. Frank McAlister, of Erin. The sympathy of the community is extended to the sons and daughters in the loss of a beloved parent. The funeral will be held from her late residence to the Forest Lawn Cemetery at 2.30 o'clock on Friday afternoon. There will be service at the house at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan Send Letter to Their Orangeville Friends.

The Banner has received the following interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. James R. Duncan, who are spending the winter visiting relatives in Glasgow:—

December 18th, 1921.

Editor Orangeville Banner.
Dear Sir,—

The following is a brief report of our trip from Orangeville to Glasgow via Montreal to Glasgow.

We left Orangeville November 21 at 9.35 a.m. and arrived at West Toronto at 11.30 a.m. We were met there by Mr. and Mrs. George Hepton and Mr. Fred Mayhew, C. P. R. engineer, of West Toronto, with an auto. We left West Toronto at 8.20 p.m. for North Toronto. Left there at 9.45 p.m., arrived at Peterboro at 12 p.m. and arrived at Montreal at 7.20 a.m. Left Montreal at 10.10 a.m. by the Pretorian, arrived at Quebec at 5 p.m. On November 23rd the pilot left us at Father Point at 11.30 a.m. Pilot boat covered with ice and could not see the name. On the 24th at 7 a.m. snow was about three inches deep on the deck. Fine and sunshine at noon. On the 25th rain, hail and then turned fine again. November 26th heavy sea and boat rolling bad. November 27th heavy sea but not so rough. November 28th fine until dark and then very rough. November 29th showery but a nice sea. On the 30th rough pitching with a high sea. December 1st a fine day. December 2nd pilot boarded along with excise at Gourock. We had a fine view of the shipbuilding yards and all the watering places and also the residence of the noted Harry Lauder.

We arrived at Princes' Dock at 3 p.m. and were met by my sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Waldie, who had an auto awaiting us and gave us a hearty welcome to their home. We sat up to save the trouble of rising in the morning and had a good doch an' doris for auld times sake. We are being entertained by a great many of their friends and have seen lots of the sights of Glasgow. We accepted an invitation and were present at a Memorial Service attended by 4500. The hall was large but the crowd was larger. The buildings here are beautiful and the parks are lovely. I was up on top of the highest point in the citf, Spion Kop.

We are enjoying the best of health. You will hear from me soon again, but do not expect to see us very soon. We wish you all the compliments of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan enclose the following account of the memorial service to which they refer in their letter:—

To commemorate the 517 Glasgow tramwaymen who fell in the war, an oak communion table and sedilia were unveiled at an impressive service held in St. Andrew's Hall yesterday.

Every seat was occupied, the area being mostly filled by tramwaymen, wearing medals, representatives of the city police force, cadets and members of the Boys' Brigade and Boy Scouts.

The Rev. P. D. Thomson, Kelvinside U. F. Church, who preached the sermon, said that altogether 3507 men from the Tramways Department of Glasgow served during the war. They were embodied on September 4th, 1914, and as the 15th Battalion of the H. L. I., they proceeded to France with the 32nd Division, in 1915. They went through some of the hardest and most memorable fights of the war.

Wood From Cathedral.

Mr. James Dalrymple, general manager of the Tramways Department, in unveiling the memorial, said that it was most appropriate that the oak wood, hewn by the monks in Argyll 800 years ago, of which the memorials were constructed, should have been taken from the old roof of Glasgow Cathedral and given life anew in as hallowed a cause as it had been originally used for.

He thereafter formally handed over the memorials to the Rev. Andrew Douglas, Highlanders' Memorial U. F. Church, where they will be placed.

Ex-Bailie R. Neilson unveiled in the clubroom a brass mural tablet to the memory of members and sons of members of Govan "Ye Cronies" Burns Club who fell in the war.

West Calder Parish memorial erected at a cost of 1200 pounds, to the 180 men of the parish who gave their lives in the war, was unveiled yesterday by General Sir Francis Davies, of the Scottish Command.

MERCHANDISING IN JANUARY.

There is always a comparative lull in business immediately after the pre-holiday activity. This means, for the wide-awake merchant, that sales efforts must be more aggressive than at other times. January is a month when business must be stimulated by artificial means. Profits are not necessarily entirely sacrificed. A few leading lines attractively priced and judiciously advertised seldom fail to interest the buying public. Shrewd customers always wait for the January sales to do shopping that is postponed during the weeks immediately before Christmas. Thrifty housewives are saying each day that they will wait until January to buy staple goods to the best advantage. This makes a genuine opportunity for merchants who are able to capitalize upon it.

The Christmas buying is demonstrating that the public is holding its purse-strings less tightly, and that buying power is not impaired. December sales results, according to the representative merchants, have equalled or surpassed the 1920 totals. Prices are more attractive, for one thing, and there is a growing conviction that values are comparatively stabilized. It will not be difficult, therefore, to follow up the advantage and make the first month of the new year an opportunity for good buying by those who appreciate genuine values, as well as an occasion for merchants to lighten their stocks and prepare room for the new spring merchandise.

It is a recognized part of approved practice to clear out broken lines left after the Christmas trade. Soiled goods, frankly advertised as such, generally find ready buyers when prices are marked down to correspond. The public is discriminating in the matter of values as never before. A special line serves to whet the appetite of prospective purchasers. Attractive displays of staple merchandise prominently set forth will do the rest.

January gives an opportunity for merchants to set their house in order. It is a time when many new friends can be made for a business. A genuine bargain is not soon forgotten. It does not take long for a customer to establish a habit of going to a certain store where good values are assured. Then, too, in the absence of an avalanche of buying, a merchant and his sales force can pay more attention to individual customers. A little extra attention never goes amiss. It builds up good-will, which, after all, is the foundation of all business.

One merchant gets a considerable amount of business in January by advising the public to exchange goods that are not altogether satisfactory. Perchance a pair of gloves bought as a gift are not the right size. When the exchange is made the customer is a logical prospect for other merchandise. Exchanges cheerfully made are great opportunities to build good-will and incidentally to sell more goods.

The January lull has its compensations. It gives opportunity to size up stocks and to buy judiciously for the coming season.

A BURGLAR BOLD

Threw Caledon East Into Great Excitement Last Week.

Wore Mask and Used Revolver in Reckless Fashion—Rev J. G. Rogers Shot Through Foot.

Caledon East was in great excitement Wednesday morning of last week when it was learned that the residence of Mr. R.W. Burrell, which is part of the store building, had been entered by a masked burglar and his son-in-law, Rev. Jas. G. Rogers, shot in the foot.

Mr. Rogers, who is pastor of Prospect Park Methodist Church, Toronto, was formedly stationed at Port Credit. He and his wife were on a visit to her parents during the Christmas holidays.

"It happened about 3.30 o'clock," said Mrs. Rogers. "I was awakened by a noise in the bedroom and gave an alarm. The burglar immediately turned a flashlight on me and started shooting. One bullet missed my head by inches. My husband jumped out of bed and as I pulled him back to save him a bullet struck him in the foot. By this time my father and mother were on the scene and the burglar fired at them as he fled. He fired four shots altogether. One went into the wall and another through a window.

"The burglar was wearing a mask and all I can tell you about him is that he was a tall man. I cannot say whether he was young or old. He got clear away."

Mr. Burrell is police magistrate for Caledon East, and general storekeeper. He is said to have had $800 on hand in his house at the time of the attempted robbery.

There is a story of a high-powered automobile with three men in it awaiting the burglar's call but there is nothing in the story. The man was a lone worker and likely as not a local man, who knew about the store receipts being kept in the house.

Entrance was attained to the house by means of a sliding window in the cellar, and the would-be thief ascended from the cellar to the house, which adjoins the general store kept by Mr. Burrell.

Within a few moments from the firing of the first shot, Mr. James Cannon, constable, Caledon East, was on the scene, and joined a search party that was hastily gathered, but as yet no trace of the intruder has been found, and no clue was left by which to trace him, with the exception of a short iron crowbar.

The village was very much excited over the affair, especially as Mr. Rogers had been pastor of the Methodist Church in the village prior to his removal to Port Credit, and was extremely popular with all classes.

Three bullets were taken from the walls of the two rooms, the one which passed through Mr. Rogers' foot, and two others that were intended for Mr. Burrell, the one which flew through the window not being recovered as yet.

REPORT ON TUBERCULOSIS

The annual report of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis reached our office a few days ago. This year's publication has a striking chart as a frontispiece entitled "Forty years of ups and dow in the Province of Ontario," showing a tuberculous death rate of 1[illegible]0 per 100,000 population in the year 1900, as the highest, and 78 per 100,000, as the lowest in 1920. The Secretary's report records the encouraging progress made in this very essential work. The report of the Federal Department of Agriculture, on its function, as assisting municipalities to obtain their milk supply from herds proven by the Tuberculin test to be free from tuberculosis, shows increasing numbers of communities protected. No shortage of milk occurs and no increase in price has yet resulted in a community taking on the schems. The standardization of herds for breeding purposes is proceeding at a pace limited only by the staff and finances available. The stock men are very keen for its application, as evidenced by the 657 herds now under departmental test.

The Federal Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment reports of their Board of Sanatorium Consultants are synopsised. Dr. Lecler's report upon Paris Tuberculosis Conference also gives an excellent review of the marked advances being made in France, where 16,500,000 francs were expended in 1919 alone.

Several interesting papers presented at the Toronto meeting, together with the record of work of thirty-seven institutions in the different provinces, forms a setting for President-elect Cook's optimistic address as to further activities of the Association.

L. O. L. No. 366, Whitfield, held their monthly meeting on Dec. 7th and the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year:—W. M., Lester Hill; D. M., R. J. Ferris; Chaplain, G. Rutledge; Rec.-Sec., Alf. Frank; Fin.-Sec., W. H. McCutcheon; Treas., J. H. McKee; D. of C., R. M. Bailey; Lecturer, Geo. Miles; Com., R. J. Hall, J. Hamblet, [illegible] M. Clarke, J. Oliver and T. FOR THOSE ABOUT TO JOIN THE MOVIES

Despite the costly kokum that is associated chiefly with his name, David Wark Griffith probably knows as much about the moving picture industry and the selection of stars as any living man. His rise in the business has been phenomenal. Though he is still in early middle age he has won an outstanding position as inventor of camera dodges and as artistic producer, the chief criticism against him being that he spends his time and his talents on doing things that are not worth doing. Recently he has expressed himself on the subject, "How I kknow a movie star when I see one." We gather that it is a gift, or rather a double gift. The movie star, who may never have acted a line or a foot, "has something," and Griffith also has something that apprises him of the fact. Probably he has made mistakes, but naturally he does not mention them. He has had enough success in picking stars to make a great reputation.

Picking Winners

Ability to express thought and emotion vividly and sincerely is the prime qualification for a successfu movie actor, and this ability does not belong to any one class of the community. The late Robert Harron was an errand boy in the studio when Griffith gave him a chance to play in minor roles. He was an everyday lad from the East Side of New York with no particular advantages, but Griffith believes that if he had lived he would be a headliner today. The producer first noticed Mae Marsh one day when she was waiting outside the studio door for her sister, Marguerite, to finish posing and accompany her home. She was watching the struggles of an upset beetle to right itself and the swift play of emotions on her face—hate, love, horror, scorn, humor and tragedy—made a strong impression upon Mr. Griffith and he gave her a trial forthwith.

Best to Be Good Looking

Arthur Johnston he saw leaving an actor's agency. He liked his looks, followed him and engaged him. Had he lived Johnston would to-day be a $5,000 a week man in Mr. Griffith's opinion. Mary Pickford and Dorothy and Lilian Gish sought him out at the studio. He says that it is better for movie actors to be good looking, for "good thought and feeling usually speak through good features," whatever that may mean, but mere prettiness will not do. He says that while a pleasing face and figure and an agreeable voice will often permit their possessor to get by on the regular stage, they are not a passport to success in the movies where the mimetic art is essential. Stage players of repute often fail in the movies for this reason. While it is true that extreme physical types have sometimes succeeded on the stage the unexaggerated normal face and figure are the most suitable.

Hero or Heroine

The normal hero is neither of great height nor undue bulk, while the heroine should tend toward the petite. Fifteen years or more ago tall, queenly women were the favorites, but they have died out, and the slender girl of good home training is picking off the plums. So far as women's features are concerned Mr. Griffith says that the things that help are: Full cheekbones, to catch the angles of light; a fairly broad face; a not very full or strong nose, snub noses not being barred; good teeth, and a pleasing mouth, lips inclining to thinness; eyes preferably dark, if otherwise of a green or bronze tint to reflect the light. These are the physical features that help the owner to photograph well, but having them the actress must have the mimetic ability, the gift of showing on her face what she feels or what she imagines the heroine whom she is personating feels.

A Hard Life, But—

Having the innate ability and also the physical requirements one might lack the supreme requirement, which is the will to succeed. There are great temptations to be met along the road to success of most people and particularly along the road travelled by the young and well-favored. There may be a temptation to idleness. There may be a temptation to gluttony or to dissipation. Only the men and women who live normally clean lives can fully succeed in the movies, says Mr. Griffith. After a hard night the camera will reveal the tell-tale traces, and the photographs are no good unless the scene to be pictured is from a den of vice. Excessive eating will show in the face under the pitiless scrutiny of the camera. It is necessary that the actors and actresses should keep in good physical condition or they will be unable to endure the labor which is often continuous and severe. But at the end there is a goal. The producer says it is a five thousand dollar a week salary. Some performers draw more, but we infer from Mr. Griffith that more than a few are receiving a quarter of a million dollars a year.

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

His son, Dr. R. D. Sloane, of Leamington, had spent the Christmas vacation with his parents and was at the depot on his return to Leamington but was immediately summoned to return. Deceased was 79 years of age and is survived by his widow, one son and one daughter.

THE CHIPPAWA POWER

Thousand Delegates From Municipalities Present at Formal Opening.

Addresses by Premier Drury and Sir Adam Beck — Latter Presented With an Address and a Loving Cup

On Wednesday last, Dec. 28th, with a thousand delegates from perhaps two hundred Ontario municipalities crowding every inch of the great power house at the foot of the Queenston Cliffs, waiting in tense expectancy, Premier Drury and Miss Marinn Beck turned the wheel controlling the pent-up water in the canal three hundred feet overhead. A moment or two of breathless silence followed and then, amid the subdued roar of the water driving its way below, the big generator began to revolve, slowly at first, and presently at maximum speed. The vast Queenston-Chippawa development, the largest Hydro power plant in the world, was generating power. A roar of cheering that drowned out the sound of the big generator came from a thousand throats, breaking out again as an electric display across the length of the power house became aflame with light—the first positive evidence to the laymen that the engineers who planned the magnificent scheme, who carried it out confidently in the face of doubts and questionings from every source, had known their work from the start.

Chippawa will not be operating commercially for a few days yet. Some time is still needed to dry out the big generator, but by the first of the year 55,000 horse-power will be available and the first move will be the cancellation of day to day agreements for approximately 50,000 horse-power which the commission has been buying at high rates in order to carry Ontario through the period of power shortage.

The formal turning on of power on Wednesday was followed by a luncheon in which all the delegates participated and two hours of speech-making. For the first time since the Drury Government came into power, Sir Adam Beck and Premier Drury discussed Hydro affairs from the same platform and if the Premier, speaking as he was to a gathering of men who in the main disagree with him in his attitude toward the Hydro and Hydro Radials, received a chilly reception compared with that accorded the Hydro chairman, he succeeded in getting the position of his Government before the municipal representatives.

PREMIER DRURY

Premier Drury declared himself a supporter of public ownership and resented efforts to make him appear in any other light. He emphasized the fact, however, that it was his duty to see that public ownership was properly conducted. He insisted that the Government had done everything in its power to assist the Hydro in prosecuting work on the development. He reiterated the argument, made on other occasions, of the Government's responsibility for advances made and of the impossibility of it collecting from the municipalities if things went wrong.

One newspaper, he said, was trying to make it appear that the issue to-day was whether the Hydro enterprises were to be managed by a commission or made a department of Government, under a minister of power. "I cannot tell what the policy will be in the future," he said, "out up to the present the matter has never been considered by the Government." This declaration brought the first real applause Mr. Drury had received, and he made it stronger by stating that it had never even been a matter for discussion among the members of the Government.

Hydro Radial Policy

Then Mr. Drury turned to the radials, and after reviewing the radial scheme from its inception he came down to the Government's declaration that it would allow the municipalities to go ahead provided the Government was not asked for a guarantee. That was still the policy.

Mr. Drury then discussed the objections to the by-laws submitted, and repeated his promise that the Government would bring in legislation giving the municipalities authority to go ahead with radials. He said nothing about the suggestion that the means would be the establishing of local commissions to operate the radials.

Gift to Sir Adam Beck

Then followed a pleasant interlude—the presentation to Sir Adam of a silver loving cup and an address on behalf of the Hydro-Electric Municipalities. It was accompanied by such a demonstration of enthusiastic loyalty as has seldom been given to a public man in Ontario by such a representative gathering. The Hydro chairman was cheered again and again, and was visibly affected by the warmth of the reception given him. The presentation was preceded by eulogistic addresses by J. W. Lyon, Willoughby Ellis, of Hamilton, president of the Municipal Electric Association, and Mayor-elect Maguire, the latter spicing his eulogy of Sir Adam with some plain speech addressed to Premier Drury.

Then Mr. Elliott, of Kingston, George Wright, of Toronto, and the Mayor of Windsor, stepped forward and presented the cup. The address accompanying it, read by Mr. Maguire, referred to the great debt of gratitude felt by the municipalities for Sir Adam's unremitting labor on their behalf, culminating in the success of the Queenston development, and recalled the fact that had Sir Adam been allowed to go ahead with it when he first recommended it the costs would have been enormously reduced.

Sir Adam's Address

Sir Adam, in the course of his address, stressed the fact that the great Hydro scheme, with an investment now of $220,000,000, had been built up without a man or woman in the province being called upon for a dollar of taxation. They had never been called upon to contribute a cent. "Have we any fear of any other conditions arising at this time?" he asked and the gathering voiced its confidence in the future with its applause. Sir Adam reflected the confidence of the Commission when he referred to the fact that in buying the right-of-way the Commission had bought not for one, but for two great canals, and had room for a second one beside the new one now finished.

Before closing Sir Adam stated that he did not intend to discuss the radial question then, but he paused for a moment to give a word of warning to the Premier. He did it by recalling the fact that when the Hydro power scheme and later the radial scheme came into being the first proposition had been that local commissions should govern. The municipalities at that time had soon realized that only through a central commission responsible to the Government could there be successful operation. He made it plain that Premier Drury's tentative plan to go back to the discarded system of local commissions in radial development could not succeed.

Government Must Control

"I believe it possible to have representation on this commission on the part of the municipalities, and to satisfy them. But control must be in the Government of the country. Ownership will always be in the municipalities unless you default. There can be no such thing as estranging any part of this project from that principle."

Sir Adam in closing declared that while, if he thought only of personal matters, he would welcome relief from his responsibilities, he would not shirk so long as he had sufficient capacity of body and mind to carry on the work he had been associated with so long. "But if I do," he said, "it will only be if I can retain the confidence and trust of the people of the Province of Ontario, whose trustee I am."

The Hydro Chairman's last words were a feeling tribute to the members of the Hydro staff, the engineers and the lesser employees whose unswerving loyalty to the commission and to the enterprise had made success possible. He closed amid another outbreak of approval and the meeting wound up "a perfect day," by singing the National Anthem.

A special train met the crowd at the power house and took everyone into St. Catharines.

BIGGEST ANIMAL ALIVE

The largest animal alive to-day, and probably the largest living thing the world has ever known, is the blue whale. The whale reaches a length of 90 feet and weighs more than 75 tons. Ten or twelve men can stand upright in the mouth of a blue whale, although its throat is only nine inches in diameter. It lives almost entirely on little red crustaceans, and from a partly filled stomach of a blue whale more than 1,000 pounds of shrimps have been taken. Its strength is enormous, and time and again after it has been harpooned it has dragged a this-sized ship, with the latter's engines racing full speed astern, through the water for many rods as if it were a rowboat. It is one of the so-called "whalebone" whales, and yields fish to eat, sperm oil, and bone, so that a single large whale will almost pay for a ship's voyage. It is a vigorous fighter when protecting its offspring. A finback whale, a close relative of the blue, can make a speed equal to that of a fast steamship.

A PESSIMIST SPEAKS

FEARS CANADA MAY BECOME A VASSAL STATE.

Prof. Archibald MacMechan Talks of the Danger of Peaceful Penetration and Tells How the United States Has Been Exerting Dangerous Influences on Our National Life.

A GLOOMY picture of Canadians slavishly imitating Americans and of Canada succumbing commercially and politically to the United States is limned by Archibald MacMechan in the Canadian Historical Review. While most red-blooded Canadians will resent his charges as overdrawn he nevertheless strikes some true notes. For American influence is strong in this country and Canada's debt of $400,000,000 to the United States for goods is tangible evidence of a commercial bondage, though only temporary.

But infinitely worse than this commercial serfdom in MacMechan's opinion is what he terms "the subjection of the Canadian nation's mind and soul to the mind and soul of the United States."

Yet between 1913 and 1917 the last people in the world to have accused the Canadians of such weaknesses as "subjection of mind and soul" would have been those very Americans. Would they indeed so accuse us to-day?

Strong for the British connection MacMechan deplores the tendency of some Canadians to see despotic designs in every attempt of Britain to draw the Dominion into closer commercial union. "Does any sane man, woman or child in Canada really believe that Great Britain would send one ship or fire a single gun to retain this country in unwilling allegiance?" he asks. The great danger threatening Canada to-day, he insists—and not one of forcible conquest either, but the insidious peril of absorbtion—lies to the south. And Canadians for the most part seem unaware of it.

Though he doesn't mentibn them, evidently the masses of American settlers in the West are on Mr. MacMechan's mind when he harks back to annexion. He reminds one that in 1776 Nova Scotia sent delegates to the Philadelphia Congress, that there were tea riots in Halifax and active sympathy with the American revolutionists. That Gen. Cruickshank had trouble with disloyal American settlers in Ontario in 1812.

He said that had William Lyon Mackenzie and Papineau had their way in 1837 Ontario and Quebec would both to-day be states of the American union. He lastly submits that though the Canadian people rejected the national suicide of commercial union with the States in 1891 this end is being accomplished to-day by the far more subtle means of commercial and social penetration. But Mr. MacMechan might have added that in former times the United States attracted Britishers because it was an almost completely Anglo-Saxon country. To-day it is a vast polyglot nation and even American settlers in Canada are glad to be away from its complex problems.

"It is inevitable that the United States should exert a tremendous influence upon Canada," continues the author. "Our domains march together for 3,000 miles. The same speech, the same laws, the same religions prevail on both sides of the border as Goldwin Smith was never weary of preaching. Intercourse between the countries is easy. A standard gauge and common courtesy have made the continent one country for purposes of railway transportation. C.P.R. cars may be seen in Texas, and Omaha and Santa Fe in Cape Breton. Traffic between Canada and the United States is far easier than between the separate colonies of the Australian Commonwealth. Then our neighbors are many and rich; we are few in the land and until lately were very poor. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians have been drawn across the border because of the better opportunities of making a living and for making money, under the Stars and Stripes."

"All these are straws showing which way the wind blows," says he. "No Canadians even invents a new slang term. All our slang is brought in and distributed by American shows of one kind or another. We have imported Thanksgiving Day, a heathen festival of autumn as Goldwin Smith points out, Labor Day, Arbor Day, Mothers Day. As soon as our cousins south of the line decide to celebrate Great-grandmothers' Day we will uncritically adopt it too."

A wholesome but unpleasant truth has been uttered by an American historian, says Mr. MacMechan. At the end of his "True History of the American Revolution" Mr. Fisher speculates as to what Americans would have developed into had they not broken away from England. His judgment is: "We might have been a tamer, less inventive, people like the Canadians."

Had the American historian written his book after the Great War he would never have dreamed of tagging Canadians with that adjective "tame." Who is this Mr. Fisher anyway to pose as an authority? Readers will probably agree that Mr. MacMechan is far too pessimistic of his own country. They will also agree with his more cheerful conclusions that it is unthinkable that a country which produced the Canadian Army Corps could degenerate into a vassal state. No; Canada, which sprang to arms at the first clarion call, whose soldier sons thrilled the world with their glorious deeds; Canada whose men and women won universal respect for their bravery and devotion during those years of peril, has to-day within her the spirit of nationhood stronger than ever in her history.

CULTIVATION OF THE SMALL-TOWN NEWSPAPERS

City Residents Fail to Get the Right Angle on the Small-Town Merchant and the Local Weekly Newspaper.

(Lorne A. Eedy—Nov. Marketing)

Psychologists tell us that we interpret everything that comes to our attention in terms of our own personal experience. That is a fundamental law of human nature. And as we look around us we all see illustrations of this truth. The financial magnate, with his keen commercial training, is impressed with nothing so much as dollars and cents multiplied into huge figures. Similarly the metropolitan newspaper executive will measure the value and importance of a newspaper term of thousands of circulation. People are to him units of circulation—one thousandths of a thousand circulation, which is commodity to be sold to advertisers. His training and experience tells him to interpret things so. Having spent some time myself in daily and trade newspaper work before becoming the owner of a rural newspaper, I have seen a good deal to justify this conclusion. A daily newspaper executive, well-known throughout this country, suggested to me what a good proposition it would be to get control of a string of half a dozen weekly newspapers, to run half a dozen sheets in as many towns and make a fortune. That might strike some of my hearers as a proposition worth considering. But to a country newspaperman like myself, my friend's suggestion indicated very clearly that he had not the first conception of what a local newspaper is or what it means to its constituency. He overlooked the fact that a prime necessity in the making of a local newspaper is that its publisher be a citizen of the town, closely identified with the life of the community and taking a keen personal interest in its well being. In other words, that personality is an important factor in the small town field. My friend, who thus misjudged the local newspaper and its place in the rural community is just another example that what the psychologists say is true. He interpreted the small town field in terms of his city experience. Were this man to put on a national advertising campaign he would overlook the importance of the local press because he measures all advertising proportions with a yard stick. The truth applies to the advertising field. You cannot measure the small town field by big city standards or you will miss its importance and possibilities. If I can drive home this one point and present one or two facts regarding the local field that will help my hearers to get the small town viewpoint, in the few minutes at my disposal I shall be well satisfied indeed.

Field All to Themselves

The local weekly newspapers today have a field all to themselves, not in competition with any other class. Our best weeklies publish outside of their editorial page, practically nothing but local news, local features, and advertisements mostly local. Our news is not "world happenings," with display headings telling the latest scandals and the misfortunes of humanity, but the real news of the world, that of Mr. and Mrs. Common Folk and their family. A local manufacturer said to me: "We take three local newspapers and we read every word of them." Can the same be said of the metropolitan press with its ocean of syndicated features? The home town paper is not bought for a penny and carelessly thrown aside, but is welcomed at every town and rural fire-side, like a dear and familiar friend, there to be eagerly studied by every member of the household. The town paper is gaining wider recognition to-day as a force that is helping to build up the rural community and in thus serving his town and country, the publisher is in active co-operation with local merchants, members of the local boards and organizations. These men see what the local paper is doing and they are already "solid" on its merits as an advertising medium. It is to local rather than to general advertising that the town weeklies are looking to-day.

This fact can be easily illustrated. The nearest small town to this city as shown on our concentration map, is Burlington, population about 2,000. I happen to have a copy here of last week's Burlington Gazette. You will see that it is bristling with live advertising. It contains 32 cols. of local display and not an inch of general advertising. The first small town in the other direction is Grimsby. The Grimsby Independent's prosperity is reflected in its advertising columns. A recent issue contained no less than 83 colums all local. The Thamesville Herald published in a village of 800 inhabitants not far from here, had 100 columns of local display in a recent special issue. The Oahawa Reformer, a member of our Association, had 221 columns of ads. in a recent shopping edition. The St. Mary's Journal has a record of having carried a yearly average of 41 columns display per week. The Tilsonburg News published in an ordinary edition on Sept. 8th, 52 columns of display; of this 47 cols. were local, 3 cols. general dealers and 2 cols. placed by agencies. Gentlemen do not get the idea that I am talking about small things. The average American, or Canadian citizen, does not live in Cleveland or Pittsburg, or Rochester, He lives in the town like the one I come from. Canada and the United States are made up of such communities. The year 1920 census of the United States shows that 60 per cent. of the population live in the small towns and on the farms. The rural field is the "Sixty per cent. field," and for the general advertiser it should be, and is the most important field.

Sixty Per Cent. Field

I could multiply instances like Burlington, Grimsby, and the other towns noted indefinitely to show that the Town Weeklies are getting a large volume of advertising to-day but that it is nearly all local. The rural publisher cannot employ trained solicitors with their follow-up campaigns to cultivate the general advertising field for him, to sell his proposition to the general advertiser, but he has a responsive constituency at home among his merchants who are more easily interested to-day in using the local press than they have ever been in the past. Thus local advertising has increased in the country field the past few years out of all proportion to the increase in general advertising.

But, gentlemen, I ask you in view of all this, is not the general advertiser missing a great opportunity? The retail merchants are your friends, your selling organization in the "Sixty Per Cent. Field." They understand the rural field, they have the small town viewpoint and they are using the rural press as never before. If you would get the best results, study their viewpoint, co-operate with them and the small town field will be a fruitful field for you. A large paint manufacturer of New York City, after studying the small town, put on a successful campaign last year. His experience taught him something which he has summed up briefly: "You no doubt will be interested to learn that our direct orders exceed previous years by 100 per cent. This large increase confirms our judgment that the weekly newspaper which circulates among the local merchants' customers is the most satisfactory advertising medium to pull business for the advertiser. The business pulling power of the weekly newspaper is, in our opinion, due to its keeping in close touch with its town people, their habits and ways; and it's part of their life and becomes a welcome member of the household and read by all."

You, Mr. General Advertiser, could profit just as abundantly as this New York manufacturer who found that one cannot measure the "Sixty Per Cent. Field" by big city standards. There is a rich reward in store for the general advertiser who grasps this truth and acts upon it.

YOU SHOULD VARY YOUR ANTISEPTICS

Germs Become Immune to the Same Germicide by Long Usage.

Vary your antiseptics; otherwise the disease germs will get used to them. The distinguished French physician and bacteriologist, Charles Richet, has recently laid before the French Academy of Sciences a note on researches made by him, together with Henry Cardot, on acquired characteristics and heredity in microbes. He experimented, among other things, on the influence of antiseptics, to determine especially whether bacteria may acquire immunity to toxic substances in the same manner that the higher animals do. His studies have been especially concerned with the bacteria of pus for the reason that these are readily cultivated, reproduce rapidly and possess properties which make it easy to estimate their activity by observing their power to produce lactic acid. Says the Comptes Rendus of the academy in part:

"It was found that the bacteria are sensitive to extremely small does of poison, but, that, on the other hand, they rapidly become accustowed to the toxic medium and flourish well therein, although bacteria not thus accustomed quickly perish. By multiplying and varying their experiments Richet and Cardot found that the immunity thus produced bore a definite relation to the quantity of the poisonous substance. This immunity is not produced when the poison is bichloride of mercury—on the contrary, the bacteria appear to be less resistant.

"The immunity is specific; for instance, bacteria acaustomed to sulphate of thallium become immune to this substance alone and not to other poisons, the acquired immunity persists; that is, when a race of bacteria which has become accustomed to thallium sulphate is afterward cultivated in a normal medium, it retains its immunity for a varying length of time. If the immunity was acquired by months of contact with the poisonous substance, it persists longer than if it is the result of only a few days' habituation to the poison. In other words, the acquired immunity is only temporary.

"The immunity does not appear gradually, but abruptly. Futhermore, it does not appear to strengthen the general vigor; on the contrary, microbes which have been rendered immune appear to be particularly feeble in other respects. At the same time their fermentative capacity is enhanced, developing as the concentration of the poison increases. On the other hand, their fertility is diminished.—Literary Digest.

The Railways of Canada Draw to Your Attention the

NEW RAILWAY RATES!

FOR PASSENGERS

The advance on sleeping and parlor car tickets authorized in 1920 has been cut in half—the advance made on ordinary fares at that time having been completely taken off many months ago.

FOR SHIPPERS

The percentage of advance granted to the Railways in 1920 has been reduced ten points. In addition to a five point drop at the first of the year.

These changes became effective December 1st.

Your cost of Living

YOUR cost of living should be directly affected. If it is not it is because (1) as the railways have pointed out before, the actual money paid for their services is an almost negligible factor in making prices, and because (2) even the huge sum now cut out of the railways' revenues and amounting to approximately—annually—becomes a very small fraction of a cent when split up among the billions upon billions of small and large articles which constitute the freight traffic of Canada during a year. And because

$25,000,000.00 *

(3) the Court which has the power to control railway rates is not able to direct who is or is not to get the benefit of reductions. In other words, whether these savings in railway charges are passed on to you—or whether they are absorbed in marketing, cannot be controlled either by the railways or the public.

BUT this fact remains: a very great sum of money—enough to build every year a small city, or a Quebec Bridge, or four hundred and fifty of the newest and most powerful locomotives—is now removed from the revenues of the Canadian Railways and should be reflected, at least to some extent, in the family budgets of all Canadians!

WHETHER your railways can continue to function without the revenue thus lost to them, is an experimental problem facing the various managements. It depends largely on whether traffic keeps up or falls off—and whether costs rise or decline. But the managements are attempting the problem cheerfully and with determination to keep Canada's railway service the cheapest, mile for mile, and among the most efficient in the world!

HAMMOND EXPLAINS

Shelburne, Dec. 30, 1921.

Editor Orangeville Banner.

Dear Sir:—Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to correct a statement appearing in your issue of the 29th inst., regarding the Amaranth nominations.

The statement in question was that "W. F. Hammond, one of the Councillors, forced a contest by announcing that he was definitely in the field for Deputy-Reeve." This I claim to be absolutely untrue. What I did state definitely was that; "In case an acclamation could be arranged, I was willing to remain as a Councillor, and that in case of the Deputy-Reeveship being rendered vacant by the decision of the present Deputy-Reeve to enter the contest for Reeve, I was willing to accept the responsibility of that office."

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

W. F. HAMMOND.

ROD AND GUN

Lovers of the out-of-door life will welcome the January edition of ROD AND GUN IN CANADA, which contains many interesting and instructive articles and stories dealing with Nature and her children, in the winter. "Teens Less Twenty," is the title of a romantic story by Charles Dorian, the well known short story writer, which appears in this issue along with several other stories by such well known writers as F. V. Williams, Harry M. Moore, E. T. Martin and others equally famous. For the firearms crank there is the usual valuable Guns and Ammunition department and special articles on rifle and revolver shooting. The fisherman takes a trip along a Nova Scotian trout stream, by Bonnycastle Dale, while Robert Page Lincoln's articles open the road to the thrills of ice fishing. The trapper is taken care of by M. U. Bates and Archie Joscelyn, in the Trap Line department. The January issue of the national sportsman's magazine of Canada is published monthly by W. J. TAYLOR, LIMITED, WOODSTOCK.

BROKE LEG AGAIN

Mr. Gordon Hunter, of East Garafraxa, is surely experiencing more than his share of misfortune. At the Orangeville Fall Fair last September an animal which he was exhibiting fell on him breaking one of his legs. It was only a few weeks ago that he began going about on crutches and just as he was getting to the stage when he was able to dispense with these aids to locomotion he had the limb broken again. The second break occurred on Wednesday night of last week while Gordon was going on horseback from the residence of his brother, Reeve W. H. Hunter, to his own home. The horse slipped on some ice and fell breaking the leg a short distance below the former fracture. Mr. Hunter struck his head when he fell and sustained a slight concussion of the brain. He was in a semi-conscious condition for some hours after the accident. Dr. Macleod set the fractured limb and the patient is doing as well as could be expected. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter extend their sincere sympathy to them in their misfortune.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

One of the most peculiar accidents which has occurred for some time resulted in the death on Saturday, Dec. 24th, of Mr. George Drinkwater. For the past year Mr. Drinkwater has been living with Mr. Ferguson on the 7th concession, Amabel Township.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. Drinkwater was skating with the Ferguson boys on the ice which had formed on some of the fields of Mr. Dunn's farm. While skating backwards Mr. Drinkwater's skate caught in a weed frozen in the ice and as a result he was thrown heavily on the ice striking the back of his head in the fall. For a few moments he was stunned but then he got up and proceeded home without complaining of suffering any pain. On retiring for the night his head began to pain him and medical aid was summoned but he passed away that evening, his death being a result of internal bleeding.

Mr. Hutch Keith, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. Percy Leighton over the New Year at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Leighton.

Miss Olive I. Speers left town on Monday for Toronto, where she will start training for a nurse in the Toronto Western Hospital. Her many friends join in wishing her success.

Messrs. Geo. A. Hillock and Geo. Jenkins attended the funeral of their uncle, the late Henry Bracken, on Tuesday. Interment took place in Providence Cemetery, near Mono Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Huston and son, Chester, of Brantford, were guests of their parents in town over Christmas. Mrs. Huston remained with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Peavoy, for the week.

REV. J. J. ELLIOTT

Rev. J. J. Elliott, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, Midland, dropped dead in his home Tuesday morning. He had moved to Midland 24 years ago, when the congregation of that church was small, but by never-tiring energy, he made it one of the largest in the community. He assisted in the conduct of the services on Sunday, and spent Monday afternoon in the curling rink. He was the father of Dr. Elliott, of Christie St. Hospital, Toronto. He took an active interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the town. He was an Orangeman and an Oddfellow, and also belonged to the Chosen Friends. Mr. Elliott was pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Hillsburg, and Bethel Church, East Garafraxa, before going to Midland.

DOROTHY MORRIS

Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Morris, of Toronto, have the heartfelt sympathy of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church and our citizens generally in the loss of their little daughter Dorothy, who died of diphtheria in the Isolation Hospital in Toronto early on Thursday morning. We understand that the child was taken ill only a few days before her demise. The little one was two years old last September and was a sweet attractive child, who was in truth the treasure of the home. The burial took place in Toronto on Thursday. At the services in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday the pastor, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, made feeling and sympathetic reference to the bereavement of Mr. and Mrs. Morris and at the close of the evening service the Session met and passed a resolution extending the sympathy and condolence of the congregation to the sorely stricken parents.

THE LATE J. J. CARROLL

Citizens were cast into a gloom on Christmas Eve, when the sad news came that J. J. Carroll had passed to his eternal rest at the Toronto General Hospital a few hours before. Mr. Carroll, with his family, spent a number of years in Erin, having been proprietor of Stanley Park and also of a livery business, and served the municipality as Councillor and Reeve. He was generally known as a good fellow and was fond of all kinds of sport. He was a sufferer for many years from an infection of the stomach, for which trouble he had undergone an operation at the Toronto General Hospital and was not sufficiently strong to recover. The interment took place from the Anglican Church, Erin, on Tuesday, December 27th, Mr. Gallagher, B. A. officiating, and the Orange and C. O. F. Orders, of which deceased was a member, taking charge of the service at the grave. He is survived by his widow, one son, Dalton, of Winnipeg, and Laura, of Toronto.—Erin Advocate.

Deceased was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Carroll, pioneer settlers in the township of East Garafraxa. He was born and spent his boyhood on the 17th line of that township. Messrs. Jos. and William Carroll, well-known East Garafraxa farmers, are brothers. Mrs. Carroll is also a former East Garry girl, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donaldson, of Reading.

FIRTH-PURDON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Purdon, Ballyc[illegible], on Wednesday, December 28th, 1921, when their eldest daughter, Margaret E. Thelma, became the bride of Charles Parker Firth, only son of the late William Firth and Mrs. Firth, Alliston. The bride entered the drawing room, supported by her father and little Miss Dorothy Hewitt, of Toronto, to the strains of "Mendelssohn Bartheldy," beautifully rendered by the bride's sister, Miss Beryl Purdon. The ceremony took place in the drawing room under an arch of evergreens and white blossoms and bells, banked by ferns and rubber plant. The Rev. G. L. Gray, of Rosemont, officiated. The bride was gowned in white kitten's ear crepe, draped with silver lace and beads and wore a veil of tulle caught up with tiny rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and wore the gift of the groom, a necklace set with emeralds and pearls. Dorothy Hewitt, of Toronto, made a winsome ringbearer, wearing a dress of charmeuse and a crown of ferns and narcissi. She carried the ring in a basket of narcissi. The pianiste was dressed in white silk marquisette trimmed with pink and blue forget-me-nots. After holding an informal reception in the drawing room the happy couple led the way to the dining room, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served. The gifts to the bride were both numerous and costly. The newly wedded couple left on the evening train for Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in a navy satin dress, black velvet hat with blue plumes and seal coat with beaver trimmings. After a short trip they will take up their residence in Strathroy. The Banner joins their friends in extending its best wishes.

LOST RIGHT ARM

Ross Elliott, a Mono Road Youth, Shot While Rabbit Hunting.

A very unfortunate and sad shooting accident occurred near Scott's Lake last Friday shortly after noon. Alex. Hutchinson and Ross Elliott, of Mono Road, two young lads of about fifteen years, were out rabbit hunting. Young Hutchinson had just fired at a rabbit and was reloading his gun when in some manner the shell, probably a tight one, stuck and in trying to force it in the gun was discharged and the full load of shot struck Ross in the right forearm mangling it terribly. The boys, after staunching the blood as well as they could, walked back home. Unable to procure medical assistance on account of the doctors being away two nurses of the village dressed the arm as well as they could, and on the evening train the lad was hurried to the Emergency Ward of the General Hospital where an X-ray photo showed one bone of the arm demolished in part and the other broken and splintered even above the elbow. The attending physicians, trying to save the arm, fixed it as best they could, but in a few hours blood poisoning set in and the arm was amputated above the elbow. On Sunday morning the doctors found that the poison has circulated through his system and his life was despaired of, but youth and a robust constitution pulled him through and good progress towards recovery is expected. Great sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Elliott, the parents of the unfortunate youth, and Mrs. J. Hutchinson, whose son was a close pal of Ross, the two being almost inseparable.—Peel Banner & Times.

A DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER & Zam-Buk

Well-known Salvationist Tells of Mother & Son Saved from Blood-Poison & Disablement.

"One cannot speak too highly of this wonderful Zam-Buk," says Mrs. Jane E. Zealley, an ex-Major of the Salvation Army and daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, South Wales.

Called upon at her home, 3, Bushness Avenue, Toronto, Mrs. Zealley said: "Eight years ago my boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace and blood-poisoning set in. I had used various ointments on the sore, without doing good, when, hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. You can imagine my relief, when, after a few applications of Zam-Buk, I saw that healing had already started. Continued treatment quickly removed every trace of the obstinate sore. It made me realise what pain and suffering I might have saved the boy, had I got Zam-Buk at first.

"When I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, I again used Zam-Buk My daughter, who was a nurse, thought an operation would be necessary to remove the mass of inflammation and pus, but I hadn't forgotten my previous experience with Zam-Buk. Again regular applications of the balm took out all pain and swelling and healed the wound in a few days. The knee has never given further trouble." Herbal Zam-Buk is 50c. box, all dealers.

LATE DISCOVERIES SUSTAIN BIBLE

Stories That Have Been Questioned Find Topographical Justification

London, Dec. 28—The truth of ous parts of the Bible narrative was demonstrated by Dr. A. Schofield in a lecture at the Royal Service Institution in London on 'Recent Discoveries in Palestine."

The story of the Gadarene swine was attacked years ago by Professor Huxley, who said that it could not be true because nowhere around the Lake of Galilee did the hills run directly down to the water. But Dr. Schofield claimed that he had seen and photographed one steep place, the foot of which was actually in the water.

How Joab captured the Jebusite stronghold of Zion in the time of David was explained by a recent discovery. This stronghold had held out for 400 years from the days of Joshua, and it was told that Joab got up by a gutter and took it. No one knew what this gutter was until one of our Royal Engineers, bathing in a pool at the foot of the precipitous rock of the stronghold, discovered a tunnel which led up through the heart of the rock to the top of the hill.

As to the story of the walls of Jericho falling down after Joshua's host had walked round it for seven days, he said the top of the old wall had been found in the ditch which formerly surrounded the city outside the wall. Dr. Schofield's explanation was that the walls, built only of sun-dried clay, were pushed outward by the pressure of people within the city rushing to learn the meaning of the mighty shout which the Israelites gave on the seventh day of their perambulation.

A siwple explanation of the drying up of the Jordan was afforded by the fact that a short distance above Jericho the river debouches from a narrow gorge where to this day there are frequent landslips which temporarily block the river and leave the bed dry down to the Red Sea.

Another question dealt with was, "Where did Elijah get the water with which to flood the altar he built on Carmel when he confounded the priests of Baal?" The answer was, "There was a spring of water on top of the mount, which had never been known to run dry in the memory of man."

A motor truck elaborately equipped as a medical and dental clinic is visiting the remote California Indian tribes, acompanied by a physician and a dentist, says the Scientific American.

Lumbering in British Columbia

The greatest industry in British Columbia is lumber. Many thousands of men are employed in handling it, from the adventurous prospector who sets out for parts unknown and unexplored to look for fresh and profitable timber-licenses, down to the expert polisher who finishes off the beautifully veined panel of Douglas Fir at the factory.

It is estimated that there are 400 billion feet of merchantable timber in the Province, more than half the forest wealth of Canada, and experts say that over five times the amount at present cut every year could be used without encroaching too much on the timber resources of the Province.

The value of forest products for 1919 was $70,285,094, but this was large owing to the high prices prevailing for all lumber, wood-pulp, etc., due to a world shortage and a great demand.

The Douglas Fir is the most famous of all British Columbia's trees, growing to a height of 250 ft. and 9 ft. in diameter. It is used for house construction, boat-building, mine props, poles, railway ties, bridge and trestle timbers and many other things.

Then there is the Red Cedar, famed all over the world for the shingles it produces, doors, frames and finely dressed panelling for lining living-rooms; the Sitka Spruce for aeroplanes, and Western Hemlock for box-manufacturing and pulpwood.

Vancouver is a city of saw-mills; there is a fringe of them lining the creeks and inlets of the coast around the city and one seldom looks out to sea without watching some little tug towing a huge boom of logs behind it that have come perhaps from some camp hundreds of miles away up the coast.

Who shall say the lumberjack's life is not one of the best there is? Care free and next to nature, he spends his day in the great outdoors with the scent of the sap that oozes out of the fresh-cut cedar, the smell of the wood-smoke of his camp fires, of wet moss and bursting balsam bark.

Instead of the deafening din of peopleless humanity he hears the roar of a distant waterfall, the call of wild geese or the warning cry of his fellows — "Timber!" — re-echoing thro' the silent forest before thunderous thud tells him that another giant fir has fallen beneath their hands.

His good day's work done, he has nothing else to think about but his evening meal all ready waiting for him at the cook-house — and a pipe and sound sleep.

There are in British Columbia 6 pulp and paper mills, 212 saw-mills and 70 shingle mills, so it will be realized that the lumber world in this Province is a vastly important one to all those who have their being in it, from the lumber-king himself down to the expert sawyer who can command almost any wage he asks by reason of his rare ability. —H. G.-W.

A New Duke of Edinburgh.

In due course Prince Henry is to follow in the footsteps of the Duke of York and become a duke in his own right. North of the Tweed the hope is being expressed that he will be created Duke of Edinburgh. When the King was at Holyrood recently he was informally approached upon this matter, and promised to give it his best attention.

Before this title could be conferred upon Prince Henry, it is probable that the King would like to confer with the Queen of Roumania and other daughters of the late Duke of Edinburgh in order to learn whether they would have any objections to this title being revived. It is probable that this dukedom will be conferred upon Prince Henry upon his twenty-first birthday at the end of next March.

Ireland and Literature.

"There are people in Dublin who seem to believe that Ireland has produced a greater literature than England and will denounce you as a traitor to your country if you protest that she cannot show poets of the stature of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, Shelley, Keats, Wordsworth, Browning and Tennyson, with the exception of Mr. Yeats," writes Mr. St. John Ervine in the North American Review.

"I am the sort of patriot who would like to see his country raise herself to the level of other countries, but I am not the sort of patriot who will pretend that she is on the level of England, France, and Germany when, in fact, she is far below it."

Viscount Elibank's Heir.

The Hon. Gideon Murray, M.P., who became the heir to his father, Viscount Elibank, by the lamented death of his elder brother, the former Liberal Chief Whip, is as widely known in West Indian as in political circles.

For six years Mr. Murray was administrator of the beautiful island of St. Vincent, where the arrowroot comes from. His popularity was shared by Mrs. Murray, who, on their departure for St. Lucia in 1915, received many farewell gifts, including a diamond star, from the women of St. Vincent. Mr. Murray's political courage found expression in a scheme which he propounded for solving the difficult problem of the West Indian federation.

Mistaken Identity.

An elderly and short-sighted lady who was a stranger to London was on a motor-bus from Brixton to the Elephant and Castle. She had worried the passengers on either side of her as to whether she was nearing her destination. Finally, getting really anxious, she reached over and deliberately poked the conductor—who was collecting fares on the top—with her umbrella. "Tell me, my man," she said. "Tell me, is this the Elephant?" "No, ma'am, it isn't," sharply replied the man. "It's the conductor."

LONDON'S FIRST THEATRE.

It Was Once a Crime to Attend a Play.

There was a time, shortly after the first theatre was opened in London, when the opposition to the new form of entertainment was so great that an order was passed by Parliament for the compulsory closing of these "palaces of amusement," and making it a crime to be present as a spectator at a play.

This was in 1642, when only two theatres existed in London. The first building specially erected for dramatic purposes was built by an actor, James Burbage, at Shoreditch, in 1576, and called "The Theatre." A year or so later a second theatre known as "The Curten" was opened, also at Shoreditch, and these two playhouses catered to London audiences until the suppression of the theatres.

When plays were once more permitted several new theatres appeared, including "The Globe" at Southwark, which was built by James Burbage, "The Rose," and the "Blackfriars" and "Whitefriars" theatres.

Probably the most luxurious of these early theatres was "The Fortune," built by Edward Alleyn, an actor, in 1599, and so christened because it cost its owner the then fabulous sum, including the ground it stood on, of £1,320.

The only illumination during the performance was that afforded by candlelight, gas being unknown until 1817, when the first performance by gaslight was given at Drury Lane.

The Japanese Woman.

Mr. Sydney Greenbie has a high opinion of the Japanese woman. The Japanese man, he says in Japan Real and Imaginary, has been made effeminate by the attentions of the woman. He occupies the same place in his society as does our woman in ours—

"Foreigners seldom get a chance to look into the home life of the Japanese simply because in the majority of cases there is no such thing," he writes. "Even were you to speak the language fluently, what would most women talk about? They are not trained for social lives, and the reason is as much that they are too bashful as that the Japanese is wilfully reserved. I have been in the homes of a few well-to-do Japanese, and in each case the woman would be introduced, but would retire soon after. The homes are then quiet. Among the educated and the converted, the woman does come forward a little, but generally finds more pleasure in serving delicacies than entering the conversation. This is due to the absence of natural selection in the matter of mating. Were a man free to choose, he would decide upon one who would not only be wife and mother, but also companion. As it is, only rarely are the dull and stupid eliminated. The parents are more concerned about having meek and obedient daughters-in-law whom they can manage than that their sons should have pleasant companions.

CHINA'S MINERAL WEALTH

The coal fields of China now roughly surveyed are estimated to be as large as all the coal lands of North America. Coal occurs in most of the provinces of China proper and in nearly every province of Manchuria. Shansi is a province of China proper scarcely three hundred miles from Tientsin, the port of Peking, with which it has railway connection. The coal fields of this province underlie about thirty thousand square miles of territory, and, according to British authorities, several of the coal seams are twenty feet or more in thickness. Much of the coal of Shansi is anthracite of excellent quality, and it is estimated that these deposits constitute about four-fifths of the world's supply of hard coal.

Iron ores are about as abundant as coal, and the deposits of Shansi have been worked for many years. The mills and ameleries at Hankow, in the province of Hupeh, are quite as modern as any in the United States and are probably the largest in China. The output of these plants has an outlet by rail to Tientsin and by the Yangtse to the Pacific.

British, Japanese and German companies in the past have operated these ventures and they have been profitable undertakings. In recent years public sentiment has set strongly against granting further concessions to foreigners, and, inasmuch as such concessions have usually carried with them a certain amount of railway control, all to the disadvantage of China's economic freedom, it is not surprising that the Chinese should resent the loss of their resources.

The extent of the copper deposits is not fully known, but there is enough ore in sight to supply the nation's electrical requirements for a century or more to come. Not much is known concerning the petroleum supply, except that the oil horizons of the upper Yangtse watershed are reported to be extensive.

Power fuel, iron and copper are resources of economic development that are not surpassed by those of any other nation in the Old World or the New. The possible future of China is a prospect at which to marvel. But railways and more waterways are necessary to put these resources in competition with the rest of the world; and when one considers the enormous possibilities of cheap labor in China—in many instances cheaper than machine operation elsewhere—competition with China might be a difficult problem to meet. Perhaps science and education may enable the competitors of a future China to hold their own. Because of labor troubles in the Occident, manufacturers are establishing plants in the Orient for the purpose of manufacturing wares that now are a part of our export trade.—New York Herald.

THE BOYS WE LIKE

The boy who never makes fun of old age, no matter how decrepit or unfortunate or evil it may be. God's hand rests lovingly on the aged head.

The boy who never calls another names, no matter what anybody calls him.

The boy who is never cruel.

The boy who never lies. Even white lies leave black spots on the character.

The boy who never makes fun of a companion because of a misfortune he could not help.

The boy who never hesitates to say "No" when asked to do a wrong thing.

The boy who never quarrels.

The boy who never forgets that God made him to be a joyous, loving, helpful being.

THE PASSING YEARS

Years bring a tender satisfaction to one who has lived a good life. The good deeds one has done will be so many song birds to make sweet melody in his heart. The association of friends fill be more precious the longer we cherish them. The consciousness of growth in grace, the master of ourselves with the passing years, will add to our peace when we realize that we are growing old, assurance that we are becoming and that our span of life is becoming narrower.

CAN COMPANY GIVES $26,000 BONUS TO ITS 200 EMPLOYES

A bonus totaling $26,000 was distributed just before Christmas by the Rochester Can Company to about 200 employees of office and factory. Everyone in the plant from the office boys to the superintendent participated. According to Malcolm E. Gray, president of the company, the bonus came as a balance to a wage cut of 20 per cent. which went into effect December 1, 1920, and was imperatively necessary at that time, he said.

However, although the working hours were cut 5½ hours at the same time, the company has done a larger business in the past year than ever before and consequently the officers felt that the money the men had lost by the cut and reduced hours should be returned to them as a bonus.

In spite of the cut in hours, Mr. Gray said, the production of the plant has increased. Another reason he assigned for giving the bonus was that large sums received in a lump, in his experience, meant more saving and better thrift. One office girl received $500 and one man in the plant $2,000 in the bonus and Mr. Gray promised those employees who could show bank books with the bonus intact on December 1, 1922, would get as much or more for that year.

President Gray is a former Orangeville business man.

THE ORANGEVILLE ARENA, LIMITED

The statutory first general meeting of this Company was held in the Auditorium of the Public Library on the evening of January 11th. Some thirty shareholders were present. The provisional President, Mr. J. B. Adamson, occupied the chair.

The by-laws for the guidance of the Company were presented and taken up clause by clause, amended and then adopted as a whole.

The Directors were next elected. These were:—Messrs. J. B. Adamson, W. C. Barber, Raspin Scott, J. A. Matthews, W. C. Hopkins, C. R. Wheelock, E. C. Clark, Albert Walker S. H. Rutledge, J. M. Aiken and Drs. W. J. Price and G. H. Campbell. Mr. F. J. Patterson was elected Auditor.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors J. B. Adamson was appointed President, E. C. Clark, Vice-President, J. M. Aiken, Secretary and Dr. Price, Treasurer, until the first annual meeting in April 1923.

The following Committees were appointed to carry on the work at present:—

To visit Rinks and gather information about plans, prices, etc., of a new Rink—E. C. Clark, Raspin Scott, J. A. Matthews and S. H. Rutledge.

To petition the Town Council for concessions—Dr. Campbell, C. R. Wheelock and E. C. Clark.

To formulate a financial policy—A. Walker, J. B. Adamson, Dr. Price and W. C. Hopkins.

Great difficulty is being experienced in securing a satisfactory site. The Directors would welcome suggestions looking to a satisfactory solution of this difficulty.

"SAFETY FIRST" AGAIN

As the result of several requests for a second performance and owing to the fact that many could not be accommodated in the hall on the evening of the first concert, the Salem young people have agreed to present the popular comedy drama, "Safety First" in the Town Hall, Laurel, on Friday evening, January 20th. Good orchestra in attendance. Orchestra at 7.30. Curtain at 8 sharp.

BLOUNT

On January 4th, the Blount Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. Crozier. The meeting was opened by singing the Maple Leaf. The Secretary read several items of interest from Government pamphlets and a half-hour was spent discussing Hot Suppers. Mrs. Matheson gave a reading entitled Purple Springs from Nellie McClung's book of the same name. This was very much appreciated by all. Several Victrola selections were also rendered. The hostess served a dainty luncheon before the close of the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. John White's. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S.

This Society held a successful and well-attended meeting in the school room of the church on Monday night. The main part of the programme, which was provided by the Literary Committee, consisted of an illustrated lecture of some ninety slides on the subject, "Across Canada by C.P.R." The first part of the lecture was given by Gordon Adamson and the second part by Murray McKitrick. The musical numbers were a quartette by Misses M. Leggatt and Mary Hanley and Messrs. Carl and Will Hanley and a solo, "I Love You, Canada," by Miss M. Gardiner. Mr. R. W. Ellis occupied the chair.

For next Monday evening the Missionary Committee is preparing a novel and interesting programme. Watch for particulars. Every person made welcome.

HILLSBURG RIFLE CLUB

On Saturday afternoon, January 7th., the Hillsburg Rifle Club had a Shoot, the first of the winter. Geo. Barbour and Ross McKay were captains, the former side winning the match. The winners were entertained to a Supper at the Exchange Hotel as the guests of the losing side. Some good scores were made as the following list of the prizewinners will show:—

First Match, 60 yds, eight shots from a rest, possible 200 points—1 and 2, Geo. Barbour and W. E. Nodwell, equal, 187. 3, Chas. Dyer, 186; 4, Herb Dyer, 185.

Second Match, 40 yds, offhand, 8 shots, possible 200 points—1, Thos. Lang, 174. 2, Jas. Johnston, 169; 3, Chas. Dyer, 168. 4, Anson Dyer, 164

Twenty-two calibre rifles were used.

After all had done justice to a splendid Supper the Club was reorganized for the winter, the old officers being re-elected as follows:—President, Geo. Barbour; Sec.-Treasurer, Chas. Dyer, Chaplain, Jas. Milloy.

There will be six meets this winter. The rest shooting will be three matches at 60 yds., and three matches at 75 yds. There will be six offhand matches at 40 yds. The Club expects to hold some really interesting matches as there are several first-class shots among the members.

It may be interesting to add that the Club, which was first organized in November 1888, is now in the 34th year of its existence. Five of the original members were present at the shoot on January 7th., namely W. E. Nodwell, Chas. Dyer, Jas. Milloy, Robt. Nodwell and Herb Dyer. In 1888 the five originals were all school boys in S. S. No. 5, East Garafraxa.

CLOSING our books for the year, without thanking you for the business you have given us, would leave one of our principal debts unpaid.

We take this opportunity of wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

BOWLING GREEN

And it came to pass that on the third day, being Wednesday, the 28th day of the month, the day set for the Y. P. S., the members did girt up their loins and went thither into the home of Bert, surnamed Gier, and did hold counsel amongst themselves, and when they had sat thus for at least two score minutes the Secretary rose and rebuked them, saying why dost thou sit there and look at each other? Where is thy President? And Professor Connor spoke up saying, "La jeunesse l'amour, mon chere' which, when translated, meant, "He is not here, my dear." Now when the Secretary found that their chief officer was not there she spoke, saying, "Thus saith thy kinfolk, let us be merry." And they did all make merry. And it came to pass that after they had tarried there for awhile Professor Connor again spoke up, saying, "Je t'aime bien, tu la sois ma petite," which being translated met with the approval of those present. After they had sung God Save The King they each one departed to their own homes.

Mr. Fred Clark, of Minburn, Alta., is spending a few weeks visiting around this burg.

Miss Bessie Hamilton spent New Year's with friends on the 8th.

The school trustees of Waldemar Branch School met with the trustees of Bowling Green School on Friday, the 6th., to talk consolidation. The meeting was very satisfactory.

CALEDON.

The regular meeting of the Young Peoples Union on Tuesday evening of last week, brought out a large attendance. It was "missionary night" and Mr. H. Hillyard gave a splendid address on David Livingstone. A reading by Mrs. Robt. Chambers, Violin Solo by Miss L. Dodds, and a duet by Misses Coleman and Glassford completed a delightful program which was heartily appreciated.

Mrs. Wm. Sanderson has her sister Mrs. Robert McMullen of Tugaske, Sask., and her son, Mr. George Sanderson, of Vancouver, visiting her.

The Peel Co., Shorthorn Breeders Club met in Caledon on Tuesday of last week with Geo. Laughlin, township director, presiding. At a meeting of the directors in the morning arrangements were concluded for a sale of Shorthorn cattle at Bolton on February 23rd. At the afternoon meeting Mr. Geo. E. Day, Secretary of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders Association, gave an address which dealt with breeding, feeding and preparing animals for sale. While not ignoring the late condition of the cattle market he viewed with optimism the near future and reminded his hearers that the man who makes money out of cattle is the one who is not afraid to continue through a temporary decline.

Mr. J. A. Carroll, District Representative of the Department of Agriculture, gave a detailed account of the aims and organization of the club. Messrs. M. J. Kehoe, W. K. Westlake and A. Goodfellow, of Bolton, directors of the club, were also present. There was a large attendance and the interest manifested indicates an increase of Shorthorns in the county.

$25.00 FOR A LETTER

CAN YOU WRITE ONE?

Thirteen Prizes to be Awarded In a Letter Writing Competition.

Some years ago the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Brockville, Ont., offered a series of prizes to residents of the Province of Ontario for the best letters describing the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, either in the case of the writer of the letter, or some member of the writer's family. Hundreds of letters were submitted in this competition, and yet there must have been thousands of other users of the pills who did not avail themselves of the opportunity to win a prize. To all these another letter writing competition is offered. There are thousands who have experienced great benefits from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, whose cases have never been reported. These will furnish the material for the letters to be written in this contest. There is no demand upon the imagination; every letter must deal with facts and facts only.

The Prizes.

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Brockville, Ont., will award a prize of $25.00 for the best letter received on or before the 15th day of February, 1922, from residents of the Province of Ontario on the subject: "Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." A prize of $10.00 will be awarded for the second best letter received; a prize of $5.00 for the third best letter and ten prizes of $2.00 each for the next best ten letters.

The Conditions.

If you are describing the benefits you have derived in your own case, or that of some other member of your family, the symptoms of the illness should be fully described, and the letter signed with the full name and correct post office address of the person sending it in. If the case relates to some person other than the writer of the letter, it must also be signed by the person whose case is described, as a guarantee of the truth of the statements made.

The writer of each letter must give the name and date of the paper in which he or she saw this announcement.

Fine writing will not win a prize unless you have a good case to describe. The strength of the recommendation and not the style of the letter will be the basis of the award.

It is understood that The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. shall have the right to publish any letter entered in this contest, if they desire to do so, whether it wins a prize or not.

This contest will close on February 15, 1922, and the prizes will be awarded as soon as possible thereafter. Do not delay. Write your letter now. Observe the above conditions carefully or your letter may be thrown out.

Address all letters as follows:

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Letter Contest Department.

C., sends The Banner in a letter dated January 5th. Mr. McBride reports a very pleasant Christmas in Vancouver. The weather was keen and frosty with just enough snow to whiten the ground. ELECTION RETURNS AND PROHIBITION VOTES

The statement has frequently been made that the votes cast in the referendum which sustained the Ontario Temperance Act, and in the Referendum last April on non-importation of liquor, showed such a slight interest and represented such a small proportion of the electorate as to discredit the mandate. We have now had a general election on substantially the same voters' lists. Let us compare the results in Ontario:—

Gen. Election, Dec. 1921, votes cast 1,057,891
Referendum April 1921 votes cast 912,238
Referendum, October 1919, votes cast 1,137,406

The figures for the Referenda are official, and for the recent election the best available and approximately correct. Despite the fact that three political organizations worked their electoral machinery to its utmost efficiency to bring out the vote in December, the vote polled last April is almost ninety per cent. of that which was thus secured. More significant still is the fact that when the Ontario Temperance Act was sustained 80,000 more voters went to the polls than in this last general election.

In the Referendum of 1919 the vote given for sustaining the Ontario Temperance Act was 100,000 in excess of the combined votes of the Liberal and Progressive parties in December, and the actual majority by which the Act was sustained, was itself almost identical with the total Conservative vote in this recent eletion. In the vote last April the majority for non importation was twice the majority of Conservatives over Liberals in December.

Moreover, in this recent election forty-eight out of eighty-two members are seated in spite of the fact that a majority of the votes cast in their constituencies were opposed to them. The Progressives alone have a majority of their members representing a majority of their constituents. If we bear in mind that this is the one party which has a clear record and definite policy in favor of prohibition these facts suggest further reflections.

This review of electoral returns completely discredits the efforts to belittle the electoral support given to the two prohibition measures.

THE SECRET OF POWER

Anarchy never results in order. Lawlessness invariably produces confusion and chaos. Have we ever grasped the full significance of the centurion's statement to our Lord: "I am a man under authority," and yet notice, "having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh?" Because he was under authority himself he could be entrusted with authority. Rome had overpowered him, but in doing so it empowered him. In his excellent and original study of "Paul's Conversion," the Rev. Charles F. Reitzel uses Elijah, of whom we are now studying in the International Sunday School Lessons, as illustrating how a man obedient to God becomes a marvellous channel of divine power. As the wind pump, by obeying the laws of the wind, can command water to run through the house, and the electric plant, under authority of the electric spark, can order light into a city, so Elijah, utterly obedient to Jehovah, could pray down fire and rain from heaven when God desired him to do so. Have we learned the secret of authority? A worldly Christian leads few people into the paths of salvation or separation.

Prisoner—"I had some, but didn't get a chance to use them."

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N.B., writes:—

"For years I was in a very nervous, run-down condition, was much depressed in spirits and suffered a great deal at times. The least noise would irritate me and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I consulted different doctors to no effect.

"A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can truly testify today to the great benefits received. There was a marked change before I had finished the second box and when I had used a dozen boxes my nerves were thoroughly restored and I was entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have. I shall ever be ready to testify to the benefits of this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will give to others the quick and permanent relief it has given me."

THE GREAT ELECTION DAY

OR WHO'S TO BE THE MAN

The whole place is in an uproar! Nothing but canvassing and election speeches! What excitement; And soon it will be voting day; and then the excitement will reach its height. Meanwhile the cry is, "who's to be the man?"

And strange to tell, that was just the cry in a certain great city many hundred years ago. It was voting day in Jerusalem. And what excitement there was then. The governor of the city took the vote of the people as to whether they were for Barabbas or Christ—Barabbas, the murderer, or Christ, the Saviour of lost sinners. "Who's to be the man?" That was the question soon to be answered. Their choice was made and Barabbas elected. They would rather have Barabbas, murderer though he was. And what is to be done with Christ? "Away with him; crucify Him," and so Christ, the rejected one, is led forth and nailed to a cross on Golgotha's Hill, and hung up between heaven and earth, as if unworthy of a place in either.

But God has not forgotten that terrible deed—the murder of His own Son; and the day is coming when the world shall have to stand before God, and tell Him what they did with His Son. And you, reader shall have to answer the question: "What have you done with Christ?" The question before you is the very same one that Pilate asked: "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" Have you receiveved Him, or have you rejected Him? Remember that that is the question God has in store for you. He will not say, "whom did you vote for in this election" or "what party did you sympathize with," or "who was your favorite?" But He will ask "what have you done with my Son?" You need not say, "I'll be neutral; I'll neither receive Christ nor reject Him." Pilate tried that, but failed. There was no middle ground. It was simply Christ or the World—Which?

Does the world think any more of Christ now than 1900 years ago? Oh no. Go into that company there, and say, "let us have a little talk about Christ," and they say, "away with Him; we don't want to hear about Him; we'll talk of anything, anybody, but Him." The vote of the world is still the same. God says, "Seek first the Kingdom of God." But the people say, "No, we must see this election over first." But, reader, wether voter or not, may I ask the question, "Are you born again, is your soul saved?" If not, what will this great ado profit you if God were to shy, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." What then? Ah! "Lost for over." Look at the great excitement that prevails just now. If you got only half as excited about your soul's salvation, the world would say you were getting into "too great a state!" How Satan is blindfolding the people! But don't be deceived. Let others get excited about the election or whatever they like—"Make your calling and election sure." Take the lost sinner's place, and claim the lost sinner's Saviour, while others are crying up this one or that one, and wondering who's to be the man, let the language of your soul be, "The man Christ Jesus for me."

"My heart is fixed eternal God—
Fixed on Thee;
And my eternal choice is made—
Christ for me."

THE TWILIGHT STORY HOUR

There is, to my mind, nothing more potent to discipline or for creating confidence between a mother and her child, than a "twilight story hour."

A daily story time may sound like romance, but it is very practical and accomplishes more good than a thousand scoldings. There is a story somewhere for every phase of character growth, and any librarian will help a mother to find these stories. If there is no library available, there may be no better investment for the character-building of your child than the purchase of a few good story books. The child lives in a world of companionship in that legitimate, fascinating realm.

There comes in every day small vexations, irritations, because a child does not comprehend grown-up standards or is mischievous or wilful. Never let your boy or girl go to bed with the day's tangle unsmoothed. I have heard mothers say: "I'm too tired when night comes!" or: I'm going out to-night—I can't be bothered." The one who can't be bothered perhaps does not realize that a man or woman with a breadth of vision and an imagination to accomplish great things may be in the making during the few minutes of every evening. The mother who is "too tired,"—and there are so many what a blessed restfulness it is to of them—perhaps does not know have the children on her lap or about the fire with her, quiet after the day's excitement, listening with wide eyes to the twilight story. It is soothing to the mother as to the children, and there is an intimacy growing out of that time which never ceases to be a blessing in after years.

You may say you have not the time to learn stories ;would reading them do as well? For a score of reasons it would not. If you are really desirous of the best for your children and are looking for some way to make a beautiful harmony out of your lives together, you will find the time. It does not take more than a few minutes to read a story, and you can go over it in your mind while you are washing the dishes or preparing the vegetables for dinner. Perhaps the longest time required is in choosing the right story to tell at the right time.

As you study these stories, you will find that your own character is expanding, too. There is a lesson for grown-ups in all the old fairy tales and in many of the new ones. The story hour will keep your imagination from becoming dulled, it will quicken your sense of humor, it will make you young with your children and better able to enter into every nook and cranny of their child life.

Do not think this method of disciplining is too indirect, that the moral o fthe story will be lost in the interest of the story itself. It has been proved repeatedly that this is not true, even when it may seem so at first.

Be consistent in the story-telling if you undertake it. Do not do it one night and neglect it the next. Make it a part of every day and it will soon come to be the sweetest, most restful and helpful time, both to yourself and your children.

J. D. McDermott, of Oakville, a barber, who was running for Mayor, was fined $200 last week by Magistrate Shields for violating the Ontario Temperance Act. Mr. McDermott, in company with some friends, entered a Chinese restaurant for lunch and there became unconscious. He was carried to the detention room by the police.

Uncle Eb.—"Hank, what did yo think o' thet Uncle-Tom's Cabin troupe thet played et the opery house last week?"

Uncle Hank—"I thought the dogs was pretty good; but they had poor support."

Mrs. Jones was entertaining some of her son's little friends. "Willie," she said, addressing a six-year-old, who was enjoying a plate of cold beef, "are you sure you can cut your own meat?"

The child, who was making desperate efforts with his knife and fork, replied:

"Yes, thanks. I've often had it as tough as this at home."

He uses a razor which strops itself: which can be cleaned without being taken apart. He shaves in three minutes.

WHITE AND CLEAR IS THE NEW YEAR

White and clear is the New Year
When it is ushered in.
What shall it be in a twelvemonth—
Darkened and soiled by sin?
If we could keep it always bright,
How the world would be filled with light.

Bright and sweet is the new day,
When on the hills 'tis born,
Cleansed in the fires of sunrise,
Washed by the dews of morn.
If it were sweet till the coming eve,
What a glory on earth 'twould leave!

Fair and pure is a new lift
Seen at the gates of birth.
What will it be at the ending—
Soiled with the dross of earth?
If from taint it were ever free,
What a joy to the world 'twould be.

All God's years are stainless;
All His days are white;
All His numberless eons,
Spotless as is the light.
Fair are His worlds as they wheel and run,
Bathed in the light of their eternal sun.

Only man in delusion,
Hatred and wrong and pains,
Sees with an evil vision,
Being divided in twain.
Looks on a life misunderstood,
Makes it evil that erst was good.

Centre the thought on the noble,
Whiteness of mind and soul;
See the world as God made it,
[illegible]nd clean and whole.
[illegible]im with a single eye,
and error die,
[illegible] it came to earth;

[illegible]l the year be beauteous,
[illegible] the eye be stainless
the day at birth.
[illegible]ll life on its brighter side end seem glorified.
—J. A. Edgerton.

While Charlie Spiers, youth of 16, was coasting down the icy incline of Guelph Street, Georgetown, he collided at the foot of the street with a horse and buggy driven by Alfred Thompson. The impact smashed a buggy wheel to atoms. The coaster continued his course until he struck a telephone post where he received a terrible gash on the scalp and his sleigh was shattered. It required thirty stitches to close the wound.

THE LATE JAMES SLOAN

Last week's Free Press reported briefly the sad and sudden passing on the 27th ult. of one of our most esteemed and well-known citizens in the person of James Sloan, and promised a more extended obituary this week. By request, the writer attempts this painful and somewhat difficult duty, rendered the more difficult because we had the pleasure of knowing him so intimately for such a long period of time—since our childhood. It is not an easy task to write the obituary of a familiar friend. One by one the old neighbors pass with the recurring years from the field of action and although the late Mr. Sloane was not one of the first pioneers of Melancthon, he resided here continuously for about half a century, during which time he took a very active part in the development and well-being of the community, until recently, when decling years forced him to retire from the active duties of life. Deceased was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, where after receiving a thorough grounding in the essentials of a liberal education, he learned the mercantile business in his father's store. He came to Canada about fifty-two years ago and after engaging in business for some two or three years in Toronto came to Melancthon and purchased the general store and the Toronto Grey & Bruce Railway Hotel business, which had recently been established by the late Wm. Moorey, a few rods below the four corners, which afterwards came to be known as "Sloane's Corners," until the advent of the C. P. R. station a few years later, when the place took the name of Melancthon Station. When we consider the merit and magnitude of the business conducted by Mr. Sloane and his staff in the "Old Bruce" during the early 70's as the general store and hotel, and again for a number of years later in the milling business, the deceased may fittingly be called the "Father of the Village." When the subject of our sketch retired from mercantile life about 1876, he cleared the front of the corner fifty acres, which was then an unbroken forest, and built a residence where the family have lived ever since. With that courage and enterprise that characterized his whole life he erected a large saw and shingle mill and conducted an extensive business in the manufacture and shipment of lumber and shingles, providing employment for several families of the neighborhood, in which he played the role of a true benefactor. He also erected all the buildings on the corner between the Gravel Road and the C. P. R. station. The stock of liquor in the ordinary country tavern in those days consisted of a gallon of whiskey, while some of the better class houses carried as much as a ten gallon keg, and a barrel of beer, but "Sloane's Hotel" not only kept a full assortment of the various liquors sold by the better city hotels, but also conducted an extensive wholesale business, supplying the country taverns in the district. In short, the "Bruce" was recognized as one of the best hostelries between Toronto and Owen Sound. His general store was also one of the largest in the county, not barring Orangeville stores. The late Mr. Sloane never sought municipal or other public office, notwithstanding his superior fitness for the same. Being a deep reader and profound thinker he always kept abreast of the times and it was both pleasing and profitable to spend an hour in conversation with him. Although he lived beyond the allotted time of man of three score years and ten, his demise leaves an empty void in the community. The funeral was held to the Gravel Road church on Thursday and was largely attended, the Rev. A. E. Thornley, pastor of Knox Church, Shelburne, officiating. The pallbearers were: Wm. McGhee, George Hogg, James Brown John Kirkton, Wm. Stone, Thos. McClelland. Mrs. Sloan, son, Dr. Robt. D., and daughter, Corinna, and sorrowing friends have the sincerest sympathy of the community in their bereavement.—Free Press.

THE TELEPHONE QUESTION

On Friday evening last the citizens assembled at the Town Hall, Erin, to reconsider the telephone question. After a number present expressed their views in the matter it was the voice of the meeting to appoint the Village Council as a Committee to meet the commissioners of the Erin Municipal Telephone System and, if possible, bring the dispute to a settlement. There was, however, a limit set, as to the extent of their authority, which briefly amounts to the fact, that the present telephone holders in the village are willing to pay a rental fee per year for the use of the telephone, in proportion to, or the same as those in the township, coming under the act as tenants, and are not willing to become liable to the system to any further extent. At time of writing we have not heard of any settlement in the matter. We fail, however, to see where our township friends can gain anything by refusing to accept the offer and make an attempt to force the villagers to sign up, as the loss of a large number of telephones from a small system is not as fresh milk to a kitten.—Erin Advocate.

License Inspector O'Brien, who for the past ten years has been the license inspector for South Wellington, has tendered his resignation to the License Department at Toronto on account of poor health.

The Springbank Brewery Co., Guelph, and the King Edward Hotel, of that city, were fined $1200 and $1000 respectively by Magistrate Watt a week ago Monday for selling intoxicating liquor.

WILL QUEBEC BE BETRAYED BY TREACHERY?

(Montreal Star)

Quebec Province decided at the late elections to entrust its defence to the Liberal party.

That decision may have been prudent or imprudent; but it was taken, and taken with a unanimity never before equalled in the history of this once strongly Conservative region.

Quebec sent its whole sixty-five members to Ottawa to support the Liberal flag. It could not do more. It entrusted its fate for the coming five years to the men who have assumed the mantle of Laurier.

Its sixty-five members constitute considerably more than half of the Liberal phalanx. It would be impossible for any Liberal Government to "carry on" without Quebec men unless its members should form a shameful alliance with forces which they fought in the elections and frequently pledged themselves never to sell out to. Quebec can only be overlooked and ignored by the most unblushing betrayal of a trusting electorate.

If this political crime is committed, it will be perpetrated for the open purpose of humiliating, ostracising and disarming Quebec. It will be the most flagrant abuse of the confidence of Quebec, the most insulting isolation of Quebec, the most vicious attack upon Quebec simply because it is Quebec, that has ever been accomplished in Canada.

Let there be no doubt or haziness regarding the matter. It is an anti-Quebec "drive" which is in progress. No other sixty-five members anywhere are threatened with offensive segregation. What other Premier, in the first flush of his Premiership, ever dreamed of sending more than half of his own Parliamentary party to Coventry in order that he might strike an iniquitous bargain with another political party whose policy he was hardly done denouncing on the platform?

Let Quebec make no mistake about it!

She is under fire. She is being pilloried. She is being threatened with ejection from her own house by the very leader whom she herself called in from the cold when, without her loyal support, he would not have had even the proverbial "dog's chance."

Under such circumstances, is it possible to imagine that there is a Quebec member who would dream of deserting his Province?

Could such a hybrid, hyphenated Government, built upon the betrayal of his native Province and her exposure to the laughter of her envious enemies wherever they may dwell, count upon the support in Parliament of a single Quebec deputy who only goes to Ottawa at all by virtue of the sacred trust reposed in him by his fellow citizens of this ancient Province?

All the Quebec delegation need to do is to stand firm and united; and twenty weak-kneed and ungrateful "leaders" cannot sell them out to the schemers from Toronto or the baby Bolshevists from the West. A solid Quebec will compell respect for Quebec. A divided Quebec will open the postern gate for the enemy.

Is there a traitor in the Quebec guard?

If there should prove to be, what chance has he of being re-elected for any Quebec constituency when he comes back with his portfolio, purchased, metaphorically, with the thirty pieces of silver which a Judas traditionally gets for his unspeakable treason?

KING WILL ESCORT PRINCESS MARY

British Monarch to Ride With Daughter on Her Wedding Day

London, Dec. 26th—Arrangements for the wedding of Princess Mary, which it has now been decided will take place the last week in February, will be undertaken immediately after Christmas. Already the order of procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey has been mapped out. King George will ride with his daughter in a closed carriage to the Abbey, but an open carriage will be used on the return from the Abbey to the Palace.

The Queen with other members of the royal family will be seated in the sacarium of the Abbey during the ceremony, while the King will stand with his daughter at the rail of the high altar. Immediately after the ceremony the couple, followed by the royal family, will proceed to the Chapel of Edward the Confessor and sign the register. If his health permits the Archbishop of Canterbury will celebrate the wedding ceremony in person.

A reception is planned in St. James' Palace, with more than two thousand invited guests. However, it will be confined strictly to those who have an entree at court and already it is hinted that many disappointments are likely.

The young couple will pass part of their honeymoon at the beautiful Villa Merdici, near Florence, which has been offered to them by Lady Sibyl Scott, a cousin of Viscount Lascelles. Also they will travel in France and Belgium and possibly in Switzerland.

The most exquisite textures will be used in the Princess' wedding dress, which already has been placed in charge of a one-time war service worker. Work will be begun on it next week in the little town of Braintree, Essex. The romance surrounding the details of the dress will make it truly a poem in silk. The wedding ring will be made of British gold.

The Princess is often seen nowadays driving and shopping with Viscount Lascelles. She is more popular than ever with the people.

The Halton Brick Company have closed down for the winter, also the Hinds and Logan brick yards has closed down.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Steele, Fergus, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Henderson, to Mr. Samuel Russel Hatch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hatch, Whitby, the marriage to take place the latter part of January.

BRADLEY-GRAY

At the Methodist Parsonage, Mimico, on Saturday afternoon, January 7th., Miss Bya Elizabeth Gray, of Orangeville, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell G. Bradley, of Toronto, Rev. J. O. Johnston officiating.

The bride wore her travelling suit of heavily embroidered navy blue serge and hat to match, with corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. She also wore the groom's gift, a beautiful opposum scarf. Miss Marjorie Quinn, of Toronto, was the maid of honor. A dainty buffet luncheon was served, after which the happy young couple left for Orangeville, where a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, John St.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, bearing eloquent testimony to the high place of esteem held by her in the community.

LAUREL

Mr. I. A. Hughes, the energetic manag of the Laurel Creamery Compan has just finishing sawing about 200 cords of wood for use in the Creamery during the coming year. This is a splendid way of overcoming the coal shortage as well as providing employment for a large number of men.

Laurel Presbyterians held their annual business meeting on Friday evening of last week. After all business had been completed the ladies provided a sumptuous lunch, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

The Salem School young people scored a splendid success here on Wednesday evening last with their Play, "Sa y First." By 8 o'clock every ava ble seat in the hall was occupied and the hallway and porch were packed by those who were unfortunate enough to be late, while quite a number were unable to gain admittance. "Safety First" is a comedy—clean, interesting and very entertaining—and proved very popular with the large audience. Each role was cleverly taken and the Salem young people are to be congratulated on the entire success of the concert. The orchestra, a local one, led by Mr. Roy Bryan, a one-time Salem boy, provided an abundance of splendid music before the Play and between acts.

Mr. Geo. Hornett, the village smithy, continues to be the busiest man in town. By strict attention to business, good workmanship and his efforts to satisfy his customers, Mr. Hornett has built up a splendid general blacksmithing business.

News is a little scarce owing to the Traveller not having been around lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushby, of Station St., gave the young people of the town and vicinity a real oldtime dance on Friday night last. It was one of the best parties held here for some time. Music was furnished by McPherson, Evans and oldtimer Joe, while the floor was managed by Mr. Miles Johnston in his usual able style. Messrs Johnston, Evans and McPherson did some high stunts tripping the light fantastic. Mr. and Mrs. Bushby treated everyone to the very best.

Bob McConachie, our well-driller, has completed Mr. Keys' well at a depth of about 200 feet and is now drilling for Menary Bros., hay merchants of Grand Valley. Why not get Bob to drill for gas in town? There was quite a flow near St. David's Ave., one night recently—natural gas—flowing for years.

FINED $1.000

On Wednesday, January 11th., Magistrate Hugh Falconer handed out a fine of $1.000 and costs to Joseph Sullivan, 73 Sydenham St., Toronto, on a charge of "unlawfully having liquor in a place other than a private residence without a license." Sullivan was arrested by License Inspector Robinson and Constables Jas. and Sam Ewing in the lane south of Broadway between 3 and 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon January 8th. He was driving a Ford car at the time and when they searched the car the officers found 58 bottles of whiskey and a bottle of gin concealed in three sacks. Sullivan claimed that he was bound for Fergus, but got stuck in the snowdrifts out in Garafraxa and had just returned to town when he was nabbed. The authorities do not place much cre e in this story, as they strongly su pect that the liquor was intended for local delivery. Sullivan, who was defend by C. R. McKeown, was remanded or a week in order to give him an opportunity to raise the amount of the fine. We understand that the fine has been paid. The seizure was the largest ever made by local officers and Inspector Robinson and his aides are naturally pleased over the outcome of the affair.

CALEDON EAST

Rev. J. G. Rogers, who was shot through the foot by a burglar who made an abortive attempt to rob Mr. R. W. Burrell a few weeks ago, had recovered sufficiently last week to allow him to return to his home in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Hutchinson, for many years a resident of this village, passed over to the majority on Wednesday, January 4th. Deceased was born on lot 19, con. 7, Mono, and was supposed to be the last of the pioneers of that section, and had reached the venerable age of 89 years and 6 months. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, Jan. 6th., when service was held at the house, conducted by Rev. H. F. Battersby, of St. James' Anglican Church, of which deceased was a member. The rector preached a most appropiate sermon, speaking chiefly upon the "preparedness for the great change." The remains were then taken to St. James' Cemetery and laid to rest. The pallbearers were Messrs. John Moffatt, John Matson, Hilliard Anderson, Willie Murphy, John Brett and Hilliard Little, the first three being nephews of the departed and the last three nephews of Mrs. Hutchinson. The deceased leaves a widow, two daughters, Mrs. R. S. Blain and Mrs. David Graham, of Belt, Montana, and three sons, Robt. J., California; W. A. and E. A. at home. There are also five grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Friends present at the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lee, James Maguire, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, John Brett, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Wm. McDowell, Mrs. Geo. Moore, Mrs. Hilliard Little, Mr. and Mrs. W. Murphy and Mr. Herb McCracken, all of Alliston, and Mr. Hilliard Anderson, of Creemore. The late Mr. Hutchinson was a staunch Conservative.

A sad and very sudden death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swinton. Mr. and Mrs. Moore (nee Miss Kirkaldy) of Toronto, came out on New Year's eve to spend a couple of weeks with them, and on the following Saturday, Mr. Moore was suddenly seized with illness, which quickly developed into pneumonia, annd on Monday morning he passed away. The deceased was about 35 years of age. His father was called up and came out by motor, when the remains were taken same day to Toronto for interment.

The Rev. H. Francis Battersby, rector of St. James church, Caledon East, has tendered his resignation to the Bishop of Toronto to take effect at the end of this month.

Mr. Mills, who took over the blacksmithing business of the late W. J. Matthews, has engaged a first-class man, who is able to do all kinds of work in the blacksmithing line.

A week ago Sunday morning Mr. William Toase slipped on some ice near his house and sustained severe injuries, which confined him to the house for several days. He has been making satisfactory progress under the skilled care of Dr. Allison.

Mr. H. J. Glassford, one of our rural mail couriers, met with a most unfortunate accident a week ago Monday morning. He got out of his buggy on the 3rd line, Albion, to attend to one of the mail boxes and in some way slipped and fell on the ice fracturing his hip. He was at once taken to Lord Dufferin Hospital in Orangevile, where we are glad to learn he is making satisfactory progress.

Thos. Coulter, our potato king, has been paying $1.00 a bag for the murphies for the last two weeks. He has been handling a lot of them too.

The village school has been closed for the last two weeks on account of an outbreak of scarlet fever.

Jas. Parsons shipped two squash, each weighing 130 lbs., to Rennie's, the widely known seed growers. We understand he received a fancy price for them.

Grand Organizer Rutherford visited Caledon East L. O. L. on January 5th and delivered an excellent address to the brethren.

We understand that a True Blue lodge will likely be organized here in the near future.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is dangerous [illegible] cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds, and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ice harvest has already commenced and Mr. Ed. Johnston is cutting on Green Lake every day. Ed. reports the ice the best yet—17 inches of clear stuff.

Mr. Patrick Lorin, who resides with Reeve Quinn, was taken very suddenly ill on Saturday last. Dr. Thomas was summoned and diagnosed his case as appendicitis. The Union Young People's Society held a splendid meeting last week. It was missionary night and Mr. Homer Hillyard gave a very interesting and instructive Paper on the life and labors of Dr. David Livingstone. Notwithstanding the much talked of depression in trade the SALADA Tea Company had an increase in 1921 of Two Million and one third, making their total output over eleven million five hundred and ninety-six thousand pounds. If these packets were all placed in line, end touching end, they would stretch for two thousand one hundred and ninety-six miles.

THE FIDDLER OF DOONEY

(By W. B. Yeats.)

When I play on my fiddle in Dooney,
Folk dance like a wave of the sea;
My cousin is priest in Kilvarnet,
My brother in Moharabuiee.

I passed my brother and cousin:
They read in their books of prayer;
I read in my book of songs
Bought at the Sligo fair.

When we come to the end of time,
To Peter sitting in state,
He will smile on the three old spirits,
But call me first through the gate.

For the good are always the merry,
Save by an evil chance,
And the merry love the fiddle,
And the merry love to dance.

And when the folk there spy me,
They will all come up to me,
With "Here is the fiddler of Dooney"
And dance like the waves of the sea.

Two large and fully equipped stills were found near Wilno, Renfrew district.

MRS. T. C. HAMILTON

Mrs. T. C. Hamilton passed away Tuesday morning after some months of ill health, her condition the last few days precluding any hope for her recovery. Her maiden name was Isabella Cowan, and she was a native of Tecumseth Township, where she was married to Mr. Hamilton 52 years ago. The young couple came to Garafraxa, first settling on the old Hamilton homestead, lot 13, con. 10, and later on lot 15, where they spent nearly forty years. Fifteen years ago they removed to Grand Valley and enjoyed the fruits of a life consecrated to thrift, perseverance and hard work. Mrs. Hamilton was one of the finest types of Christian character; lived in practice what she professed. Possessed of a bright, active mind, and a heart of great sympathy, she exerted a great uplift in any gathering or community. With this she had the happy faculty of leadership and also the splendid ability for public speaking. On many occasions she addressed missionary gatherings in a masterly way, her mind being richly endowed by wide reading and careful thought But as a comforter for those in sorrow and trouble, and a wise counsellor in the home, she was best known; and they will miss her most. She took an active part in all the activities of the Methodist Church. Besides her partner-in-life, she leaves the following daughters:—Mrs. W. C. Duffy, of East Luther, Mrs. Wm. Woods, of East Garafraxa; Mrs. W. A. Walker, of East Luther; Mrs. J. A. Hand, of Shelburne, and Mrs. Wm. Curtis, of East Garafraxa.

SUFFERING GONE SHE IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Dame Edmond Roy Singing the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

For Six Years She Was Troubled With Pains and Aches But Found the Relief She Looked For in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petits Mechins, Matane Co., Que., January 16th (Special.)—Rejoicing that she is again in good health after six years of suffering, Dame Edmond Roy of this place is singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"You can tell everyone," says Dame Roy, "that the pain in my side has disappeared and that my strength has come back."

"I suffered for six years," she continues, "I was also troubled with rheumatism, cramps in the muscles, bachache and headache. I took only eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The reason that Dame Roy got such prompt help from Dodd's Kidney Pills is that every one of her troubles is a sympton of Kidney trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CHEER UP

It is so easy to become cynical, suspicious, envious and disagreeable. And why?

The span of life is short.

So short we can not, should not, waste any of it.

The cynic fails to get the joy he should possess because he is suspicious.

Suspicion carries with it cold aloofness, and that does not make friends.

"Use the Bell to Sell"

The Ear of the Public!

IS it waiting for your message? The telephone is at your elbow—and over the telephone you always get a hearing.

How much of your traveller's time is spent in selling? While he is on the train or cooling his heels in an outer office, waiting, you or he might be talking to the customer by Long Distance, making another sale.

One merchant estimates that 46% of a salesman's time is spent in travelling—that only 15% of his time goes to actual selling. He sells only while the other man is listening! "It enables a salesman to cover ten towns a day and stay at home," writes the Banking Service Corporation, Limited, Toronto.

A banker tells us that every day's delay in turnover costs Canadian business men one million dollars. If you placed orders by Long Distance and secured shipment the same day, or next, by how many dollars would it increase your turnover?

We have yet to hear of a business that has not been benefited by an increased use of Long Distance.

Apply the classified Long Distance schedule to your business consistently, and you will secure good results. Our manager will give you hearty, intelligent co-operation.

HE GAINED TWENTY POUNDS IN A YEAR

THAT'S WHY THIS MAN PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mr. Carl Boutelier of Mason's Point After Four Year's Suffering Took the Advice of a Friend and used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mason's Point, Heart of St. Margaret's Bay, N.S., Jan. 23rd, (Special) —"When I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was twenty-three years old and weighed 105 lbs. In one year I gained 20 lbs." This is the statement of Mr. Carl Boutelier, a well known and highly respected resident of this place. It is one more addition to the great mass of evidence that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies.

"I was laid up for four years with kidney trouble." Mr. Boutelier states further: "One day a friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I made up my mind to give them a trial. I used just six boxes in all."

The road to health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are strained out of the blood. But if they are weak and out of order the impurities stay in the blood and disease is sure to result.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.

Cases ended in death in a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Mayor Hewson Outlines His Programme for the Year.

The following is the text of the address which Mayor Hewson delivered at the opening meeting of the Orangeville Council:—

Mayor Hewson delivered the following address at the opening meeting of the council Monday evening.

To the Members of the Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I desire to thank the electors for the honor conferred upon me in electing me Mayor of the Town of Orangeville. I assure you I appreciate the great responsibility which I have assumed with office and the confidence you and the electors have placed in me. Allow me to congratulate all members of the Council Reeve, Deputy-reeve and also our Clerk, Mr. Hughson, who has been with us so long to advise us what to do and in most cases he has been a good guide. I feel satisfied that you are men who will discharge your duties in a most creditable manner to yourselves and to the honor of the chair. It will be my ernest endeavour to fill my position and look after the best interests of our town in all matters coming under the jurisdiction of the mayor to the best of my ability.

I hope we will be able to give a lower tax rate this year than last year, but to do so we must not neglect our roads and waterworks system and town property. You will, no doubt, have our water system to enlarge, according to the report our worthy ex-mayor, Mr. Parkinson, gave us at the nomination. You will have to be very careful to find out the best way to enlarge the system of water supply for fire protection and domestic use. It is very necessary to have lots of water if we want factories to come here.

The Roads and Bridge Committee will not have to spend this year as much as last year. I would recommend that Broadway be fixed so that it will be a credit to our town. At present it is in a very bad condition, full of holes, very rough to drive on and, so many travelling through our town, we want it in good condition so it will compare with other towns.

I would ask you to be very careful in granting bonus by-laws and to see that you have the best of security for our money, as there has been a lot of hard feeling over the grant to the hospital on account of no security. I would request that the council would appoint a committee to call on the Daughters of the Empire and try and get a guarantee from them for the grant. I feel it will be better for the Daughters in the future and more satisfactory to the electors.

There are two companies wanting to locate here if we can give them some inducement. One is the Grill Tractor Company—you have all heard of it. The other is the Dover Oil Company, no doubt, they will call on the council soon and then you will hear what they have to say. I hope we will get them to locate here.

You may have the sewerage system to contend with. I am informed that the government may force us to put it in, so we will have to be very careful this year or our taxes will be very high and high taxes are a very bad inducement to factories or those looking for a home to locate here, so want to guard against high taxes by all means, but not neglect anything that is wanting.

We will have the law of our town to enforce. I would request the council to have advice from our clerk what he thinks of appointing a magistrate to try all liquor cases, as the government is trying to collect all fines tried under their magistrate. I would request every council-man to do his duty to see that the law is enforced and that all will get justice alike and that our chief will see that we get our share of the fines instead of the government getting them.

There are complaints by residents on Factory street that they have no water service. They tell me that it can be got from Miss Austin's if the pipes were laid from her place up Factory street. They are all willing to pay for it, so I would ask the Water Committee to see about it in the spring and have that grievance remedied.

I will not tke up any more of your time but I hope we will have a pleasant time, and that we are all spared to give an account of our stewardship at the end of 1922.

THOS. S. HEWSON,
Mayor.

SIMPSON IS WARDEN

Mr. O'Flynn then retired and Reeve McKee, of Mulmur, was nominated. The vote on the next ballot was: Simpson 6, Bower 5, McKee 3. Mr. McKee withdrew his name and the final ballot stood Simpson 7 and Bower 6, one member not voting. The choice was then made unanimous.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH

You Can Do This by Keeping the Blood Rich and Red

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These worries cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found most useful. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite and bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people.. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength through the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is shown by the case of Mrs. Minnie Swick, residing near Simcoe, Ont., who says: "A few years ago I was in a deplorable state of health. My blood was weak and watery and the circulation poor. My appetite was poor and what food I did take distressed me. I was not able to do my housework, and ofte able to do my housework, and often my nights were sleepless, and head ache and backache added to my misery. I was finally persuaded to drop other medicines and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This I did, and after taking the pills for a couple of months I could do my housework with ease, eat well, slept well and had gained in weight. From my own experience I cannot praise these pills too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IN EDINBURGH

Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan go Sightseeing in Scotland.

Under the date of January 7th., 1922. The Banner has received another letter from Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan, who are spending the winter in Scotland. The epistle reads:—

James Duncan and Mrs. Duncan and Jessie and my sister, Mrs. John Waldie, started on tour on the 19th of December. Our first visit was made to Edingburgh, where we stayed in Cranston's Waverly Hotel, Princess St.. We visited Edinburgh Castle, Holyrood Palace, the Nelson monument and Sir Walter Scott's monument and all other places of interest. In the evenings we went to various places of amusement. We left Edinburgh on the 23rd., at 7.40 a. m. by the Aberdeen flier for Dundee, where we made several visits and then proceeded to Carnoustie, a fashionable watering place, where we booked rooms with a Mrs. Strachan, a friend of Mrs. Waldie. We all went to the theatre together in the evening and then left for Arbroath, a place famed for its abbey erected by the monks in the year 1047. We have several views with us which we will describe when we come home.

We left that evening for the home of the Duncans, a place they call Carmylie, six miles from Arbroath and three hundred feet above the sea level. Our arrival, which was on Christmas eve, was like the return of the prodigal son. We paid visits to all our relatives and friends during the following week. My brother Alex. held a welcme home on the 2nd of January, when all my brothers and nephews and nieces met to congratulate us on our return to our old home. We spent a very enjoyable evening. My party and several of my relatives and friends were along with me at a concert and dance in aid of the Abroath Infirmary, where we also enjoyed a splendid evening. We then left on the 5th, of January for Glasgow. As the weather was bad we did not complete our tour as we intended. We returned to Glasgow by the Tay and Forth bridges.

I was present at a Draughts Championship arranged by the Scottish Draughts Association and saw players engaged playing for the Scottish Championship, but up to the present it has not been completed. I also intend to be present at the World's Championship, which is to be played on January 28th, in the Lesser Hall of the City Hall, Glasgow, where the S. D. A. was played. The players for the World's Championship will be Banks, of Detroit, and Stewart, of Glasgow.

ORANGE CAMPAIGN

Rev. Dr. S. T. Simpson, the Field Secretary of the Orange Association, commenced his campaign in Dufferin County on Monday night, when he met the Shelburne brethren in their fine hall. He gave a lengthy and valuable address on the work of the Order, discussing the Ne Temere decree, the Forward Movement and the demand of the Roman Church for Public School money in aid of Roman Separate Schools. The County Master, W. Bro. T. H. Bullock, was present and gave a short address, confining his remarks to the Public School question. At the conclusion of the addresses a hearty vote of t[illegible] was accorded to the two speakers. This made the forty-third meeting that the County Master has attended during his term of office. Dr. Simpson is spending this week in the Melancthon district. Next week he will be in the Eldon district and on February 6th. it is expected that he will be in Orangeville and neighborhood for a stay of perhaps two weeks.

GEORGE M'AULEY

George McAuley, one of Orangeville's highly respected residents, passed away at the residence of his son, West Broadway, on Wednesday, January 18th., at the ripe age of 84 years. Death followed an illness of only twelve days duration. Prior to that Mr. McAuley, who was an active, vigorous man for his years, had been in the enjoyment of his usual good health.

The deceased was born in the County of Donegal, Ireland, and came to Canada in the year 1858. He was educated in Ireland and held a first-class teaching certificate. As he desired to follow the teaching profession he was required to rewrite his examinations in Toronto, when he was successful in getting a first-class Provincial certificate. He subsequently accepted the Principalship of the Streetsville Public School, where he taught with marked acceptance for twenty-one years. After retiring from teaching he moved to his farm in Melancthon, where he lived until 1901, when he retired and moved to Shelburne for two years. While here his wife, formerly Sarah Williamson, of the township of Trafalgar, died. Eventually the subject of our sketch moved back to his farm in Melancthon, where he remained with his son, William George McAuley, until the year 1916, when the latter sold the farm and moved to Orangeville. Deceased was a lifelong Presbyterian and was an elder for many years in Hornings Mills and Shelburne churches and an honorary elder in St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville. In politics he was a staunch Conservative.

The late Mr. McAuley was a quiet man and the possessor of a bright, cheerful disposition, that endeared him to all. He was fond of reading, well-informed and a pleasing, intelligent conversationalist. During the few years he resided here he made a number of warm friends, who will keenly regret his passing. He leaves to mourn his demise a family of two sons and three daughters, namely, John, of Elmvale, Ont., George, of Orangeville, Mrs. Hugh Allen, of Toronto, Mrs. Harry Wolfe, of Cooksville, and Rose at home.

After a short service at his son's residence on Friday morning at 9 o'clock the remains were taken to the C. P. R. Station and then to Shelburne, where a large number of former neighbors and friends had assembled. Interment took place in Shelburne Cemetery. The services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, of Orangeville, assisted by Revs. J. A. Black, of Hornings Mills, and A. E. Thornley, of Shelburne. The pallbearers at Orangeville were Messrs J. E. Smith, J. B. Adamson, A. D. McKitrick, D. Young, J. Copeland and D. Currie, and at Shelburne Messrs J. Copeland, T. Sloan, J. Shook, Jas. Stinson, Alex. Hunter and R. Hamilton. The floral tributes included a beautiful spray from the Session and congregation of St. Andrew's Church.

MRS. JOHN ROWLEY

Mrs. John Rowley, a one-time resident of this district, passed away in Penetanguishene, on Thursday of last week at the age of 66 years. Deceased, whose maiden name was Jane Ann Farnell, was the oldest daughter of the late Thomas Farnell, of East Garafraxa and Orangeville. BROADWAY, ORANGEVILLE.

HOCKLEY

I am going to sing a song
About a quiet little town;
A place near here called Hockley,
Where the people dress up brown.

Now, here's to M. J. Varey,
The man we know so well;
You may hear him every Sunday,
Ringing the old church bell.

If you saw him climbing Dunn's hill,
A coon who lives near here;
And next there's Charlie Grenslade,
You'd think his end was near.

And then there's Joe Irwin,
Who's looking for a farm;
He says he's got a girl in Hockley.
Who'll keep him from all harm.

And here's to Clarence Coleman,
A fellow who lives in town;
If we are hard run for fun
He can either work, or act the clown.

Next we'll sing of Milford C.,
A stout and stalwart man,
If you ever look for him,
Look down in the swampy land.

And here's to James McK.,
A funny lad is he;
If you should want to see him,
Look around Parker's old plum tree.

Then there's also Ted Parker,
Of whom there's nothing much to tell,
Except he's going with a girl,
Whom you all know quite well.

And next we'll sing of Mark Wilson,
A fellow who stays out nights;
And if you want to find him,
Just look on "Poplar Heights."

And here's to Earl Willson,
Who thinks he is a masher;
But if it wasn't for his fur-lined coat,
He'd only be a common splasher

And then there's Stanley Parker,
With eyes of blue, so fine,
Will anyone please tell us
How often he travels the second line?

And we'll sing of Lee Armstrong,
The man who comes here from the West;
Can the people in Orangville tell us,
When he's going to feather the nest?

Now here's to Herman McFarlane,
The man we know can skate;
Who was the girl he had at the rink,
And did he meet her at the gate?

And last of all there's Jack McArthur,
A fellow who knows it all;
And if ever you need assistance,
He's always at beck and call.

The Scribe.

CALEDON

On Thursday evening last a merry meeting took place at the home of Mr. Thos. Jones, formerly of Mono Mills. Many of the well-known farmers were present. The fun waxed loud and fast and their laughter was heard through the silent night. Many new dances were attempted, also other unusual stunts. Ample refreshment was provided by the jolly host and except that a couple of gentlemen got excited for fear a certain medicine had been placed in their tea instead of the usual granulated everything passed off splendidly until 4.30 a.m., when all departed feeling that they had enjoyed a very jolly time at Tommy's party.

The young people west of Caledon village have formed a euchre club which is proving the life of the neighborhood. The first meeting held at J. McCormick's was a big success and J. McCormick's was a big success and poor Willie won a prize that will be a comfort to him all his life. Their second meeting was at A. Speers', where Frazer won a splendid prize, that will always him of the good old days when wine glasses were really necessary. Clayton felt very badly, because he was not the happy recipeint of this prize, but cheer up, Clayton, and maybe Frazer will lend it to you for awhile. Sinclair tried very hard to win the heather socks, but Amos was too fast for him. Maybe at the next meeting you will have better luck, so cheer up and look happy. All's well that ends well.

The Caledon Women's Institute will hold its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Nichols, on Wednesday evening, February 1st., commencing at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Meek, the District President, will give a short Talk. There will also be a demonstration on Cocoa Making by Mrs. J. Torrance. All ladies welcome.

Mr. Parks, the President of the last Company in the field, states that he is most favorably impressed with the prospects for both oil and gas in Caledon.

GREAT STRENGTH IN TINY BODIES

Probably the most wonderful feature of a mosquito is its muscularity. This may seem a ludicrous statement, but a great surprise awaits anyone who, for the first time, examines one of these insects under a glass. Size for size, a mosquito's wing-muscles are equal to an eagle's. Even on a calm day, a mosquito can fly forty or fifty miles without a halt; and with a helping wind, three times this distance. The ordinary housefly, too, has astonishing wing strength; tests have shown that when it desires really to hurry, it can "dash" 160 feet in a second—110 miles an hour straight-away.

Imagine a man who could lift 73,800 pounds! He would have all known "strong men" of the past and present beaten so far that comparisons would be ridiculous. But that is what our average men could lift his size, as a crab; a weight 490 were he as strong in proportion to times his own is just a good average lift for a crab! The muscles of a large oyster, too, will support a weight of thirty-seven pounds.

A Belgian scientist found that a bee, weight for weight, was thirty times as strong as a horse. It has been found that an ordinary house fly can lift a matchstick, and that, in doing so, it exerts as much power in proportion to its size, as a man uses when he holds aloft on his feet a beam fourteen feet long by thirty inches square. Even a very small bug can drag six inches—the equivalent to a man's pulling 330 beams as large as himself.

One writer states that an ordinary ant can carry ten times its own weight. Personally I have seen them do far more than this.

Officers for Shelburne Inter-Church Young People's Society were elected as follows:—President, Miss Ellen Dance; 1st Vice-President, Miss Kate Chalmers; 2nd Vice-President, Miss Addie Jelly; 3rd Vice-President, H. L. Lee; 4th Vice-President, L. Tansley; Secretary, Miss Zella Campbell; Treasurer, Murray Douglas; Pianist, Miss Edith White; Assistant Pianist, Miss M. Barber; Ushers—Chas. Ireland and Wm. Gray.

THE thing that has impressed those who have investigated The Mount Royal Hotel Company's 8% Convertible Debentures is the statement of Mr. George H. O'Neil, General Manager for Canada of the United Hotels Company of America, as contained in a special circular issued by us.

This estimate goes fully into every detail of income expenses and estimated profits. The calculations are not visionary, but are based upon successful experience gained in operating profitable Canadian hotels, plus the advantage of having access (for comparative purposes) of the accumulated statistics of the United Hotels Company of America (and their chain of sixteen existing hotels).

The figures, which are understated, rather than overestimated, will help you to understand our confidence in associating ourselves with this enterprise and our responsibility in putting behind it the reputation and standing of W. A. Mackenzie & Company, Limited.

We repeat, that this investment carries our considered and unqualified recommendation. We unhesitatingly recommend the purchase of these 8% Convertible Debentures, carrying a bonus of 30% Common Stock, and give it as our belief that substantial profits should accrue from the Common Stock which is now given away as a bonus.

To W. A. Mackenzie & Co., Ltd.
38 King Street West, Toronto.

Dear Sirs: Please send me a copy of the circular describing the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, and oblige.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicine I have taken during the last fifteen years. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles with excellent results."

A Victorious Defeat

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Swathed in furs, her soft cheeks rosy with excitement and the tang of the crisp fall day, Margaret Demorest sat on the running board of her father's luxurious car, sipping gratefully aromatic coffee hot from the thermos bottle. She was thinking partly of the big game three hours away; partly of the momentous decision she had to make some time before her return.

She had steadily refused to wear any telltale colors or even flowers which might be construed to indicate a preference for either team, even though she sat with her father on the side held by his alma mater.

The decision was forced upon her, so to speak, by the odd coincidence that the two most persistent suitors for Margaret's fair hand were to play that afternoon on opposite sides—Perry Endicott as quarterback, Peter Spaulding as left tackle. Each had begged her to let him know on this occasion—her answer to that most vital of all questions, "Would she marry him?"

Yet even in her heart of hearts Margaret could not choose. Both were friends for many years. Each offered her much besides his heart. Perry had more money, quantities of it, and was in a fair way to make more with a seat in the stock exchange awaiting him and any number of influential friends. Peter had less money, but was the descendant of a long line of successful professional men, and himself possessed the training and brains and instincts to carry on their traditions. And Margaret need never marry for money alone. Sometimes she wished that Perry was less handsome and debonair, or Peter less well got up and merry-eyed—anything to swing the balance.

She sighed as she settled back beneath the robes as the chauffeur swung the car back into the unbroken line of traffic headed for the greatest game of the season.

Wrapped in his blankets, Peter Spaulding sat huddled on the side lines waiting the umpire's whistle. He lifted his gaze to the colorful crowded stands opposite, where, rising tier on tier, massed the cheering, singing multitude, come to see him and a small handful of men defeat or go down under an equally meager group of opponents. Somewhere in that throng, he knew, sat the girl of his heart. He visualized her from her softly curling hair to her dainty little feet. What wouldn't he give to call her his!

And yet he realized that beyond question Perry Endicott, whom he would presently see out on the white lined field of battle, stood quite as high a chance as he of winning her. Well, she was a prize for some one and—the whistle gave the signal. Throwing off the blanket, Peter ran with his companions to position. The crowd of spectators waited alert, excited. The game was on.

At the end of the third period the teams stood tied. Margaret clasped and unclasped her fingers in the shelter of her huge muff. Her father, his cigar tipped at an angle which suggested jaunty hopes, was confident that the trick would be turned in the final period. If he was right, thought his daughter, Perry Endicott would come to her for his answer with all the subtle influence exerted by the man who has won.

Oddly enough, Peter at the same moment, surreptitiously nursing a strained ankle, was thinking the same thing.

And Margaret's father was right. In the midst of the pandemonium Margaret, her hands beating a tattoo with her muff on her mother's arm, saw the tumbling yellow ball picked up by a man she presently realized was Perry Endicott and borne, all obstacles swept away, behind the goal post 20 yards down the field.

"Touchdown! Touchdown! Touchdown! Endicott! Endicott! Rah! Rah! Rah! The crowd involuntarily brought to its feet when the ball first hit the ground, went wild. The last rays of the sun, setting red in the west, shone on thousands of waving flags and pennants and released balloons. Peggy clapped her gloves in ribbons.

"Wonderful, isn't it?" murmured Peggy's mother, a little later, as the triumphant stream of men flowed zigzagging within the stadium in shouting, surging, singing, hat-throwing ecstasy.

"Yes, indeed; it is!" agreed Margaret. She was telling herself that the decision had been taken out of her hands. There was no question as to whom she wished to marry.

"Let's hunt up Perry," she said to her father. Without much difficulty they found him presently in the midst of a joyous bunch. He broke away to greet them, but was evidently impatient to get back.

"Great game, wasn't it?" he replied to their congratulations. "Well, the others didn't stand a show when they bucked up against our little team. What are your plans? The fellows are giving the team a sort of love feast, and I've got to be there, of course. I'll see you later somewhere." With nothing more definite than that, he was off.

Peter they found an hour or so later. "Why, Peggy!" he cried, "and Mrs. Demorest! I've been hunting the whole place over for you. Great game, wasn't it? Sorry we lost, but the other team was a crackerjack and we were simply outplayed. Great stunt Perry pulled off! But let's forget about the game. Can't I take you out somewhere? How about dinner at the hotel? I reserved a table for just such an emergency."

Hours later he and Peggy stood apart from the crowd gathered about the mighty bonfire, sending skyward its smoky symbols of victory.

"Watching the other fellow's celebration isn't very cheering," he said. "Let's go." Wandering along the quieter paths of the back campus they found a deserted stone bench in the corner of the massive memorial arch.

"I want to ask you something, Peggy," he began as they sat down.

"Wait," said Peggy gently. "Before you ask it, let me tell you that I think I know what you are going to say, and—well, I decided this afternoon what my answer would be."

Peter looked startled. That did not seem favorable. How could any one, especially a young, impressionable girl, do anything else than decide in favor of the hero of the day?

"Margaret," he said huskily, "I know that means but one thing. And I had hoped—"

Margaret threw back her head and laughed a low, delicious laugh. "Peter, you old silly, what do you suppose happened when every one was shouting for Perry? I found all of a sudden that I wasn't a bit glad his side had won, because I was being so sorry that you had lost. And so I knew—"

"Oh, my little sweetheart," breathed Peter, longing to hear the words he hoped were coming.

"That I—I love you," she whispered.

Peter gathered her close in his sheltering arms and kissed her.

"Besides," added Peggy, when she had the chance, "the kind of man you want to spend your life with is the one who takes being beaten better than the other man takes being victorious."

"I wish," said Peter softly, "that every defeat of my life could be turned into such a glorious victory!"

BABEL TOWER MERE MYTH

Ascribed to Fact That City of Babylon Had a Great Population of Many Tribes.

The story of the tower of Babel and the confusion of tongues while still taught in many Sunday schools as a literal and historical fact, is generally conceded by theological leaders to be just what science has discovered it to be—a myth and folk lore, based on a very small foundation of fact. The tower in reality was the temple tower north of Marduk temple, and was but 275 feet in height, being built of six platforms or stages, the lower being the highest, with 121 feet to its credit, the second 66 feet high and the remaining four but 22 feet in height. At the time it was built it probably was the highest building in the world, and the Babylonians were not slow in bragging about it. The Jews, active enemies, probably seized on this to tell the story of the "false god worshipers" trying to reach heaven. The power of Babylon passed with the success of Sennacherib, and later, some time between 1410 B. C. and 1004 B. C., an Elamite sought to rebuild the city, and his plans included several towers.

By this time the city had a great population of many tribes, and Sumerian, Akkadian, Chaldean, Aramaic, Iranian and Hittite was spoken by those affiliated with each of the various races. A Jewish poet observing this, wove the story, and to give it color, declared the name "Babel" meant "confusion" of tongues." In reality, it means "Gate of God," from the words "bab," meaning "gate," and "ilu," meaning a god.—Detroit News.

Hailed as Center of World.

The idea that the earth is not a flat disk, but a globe, does not seem to have "caught on" in India, for they still talk about a certain "center of the world." In Delhi stands a lofty monument that goes by the name of Kutub Minor, a structure towering high above the temple of which it is a part. The appearance of this curious piece of architecture is that of a number of tiers of columns, seemingly tied together in bundles. At big intervals there are balconies.

The Kutub Minor is of especial interest and note in the world over which the religion of the teacher Buddha holds sway. Here, long ago tradition has it a meteorite fell, sent by the ruling powers of the mystic world beyond this life to mark the exact center of the world. In commemoration of this miraculous event the Kutub Minor was erected on the spot that mankind might never forget it.

Maurice Barrymore's Wit.

Did I ever tell you the witticism of Maurice Barrymore concerning a fiasco made by a foreign-born actress of a certain reputation at the Manhattan opera house? Barry supported the lady, whose voice was not powerful enough for the big auditorium. I asked him how she succeeded—I was at another theater. "Obscene but not heard," he answered.—From "Steeplejack," by James G. Huneker.

Price-Boosting.

"My great-great-grandfather," said Farmer Cornstosel, "could have bought this entire county for a few glass beads and a jack-knife.

"And yet," commented the man who is always making a struggle to be cheerful, "some of us have the assurance to talk about the way the prices of things have gone up in the past few years."

Mr. J. A. Hiscox, manager of the Bell Telephone Central at Teeswater since the opening of theoffice there nearly forty years ago, died suddenly on Monday morning, Jan. 9th. He was operating the switch and had been talking to Walkerton Central shortly before his death.

Over 200 deer have been slaughtered in a weeding out process which has just been concluded at Government Park, Rondeau. The venison thus obtained has been sold by the Government at 10c. per pound to the local butchers. It is stated that the herd of deer is very numerous, nearly 3000 head running about the park.

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while an liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence healing.

FREE TRIAL Cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c. stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c. box.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away on January 28th., 1920.

Oh, how we miss her words cannot tell,
Her bright, happy face we all loved so well;
The sweetest of memories is all that is left
Of our dear mother gone home to rest.

Not dead to us we love her still,
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory still,
And will for evermore.

Daughters and Sons.

IN MEMORIAM.

HILLOCK—In loving memory of Levi Hillock, who passed away on January 26th., 1921.

One year has gone—
We do not see your smiling face,
But we have often thought
About the past.

We see your empty chair,
The vacant place you filled in there;
But we know that you have gone
To a better place afar,
To be with Jesus there.

Sadly missed by Brothers and Sisters.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels, and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MELANCTHON STATION

(Intended for last week)

We wish to congratulate Archie Vance, Esq., of Riverview, upon his election to the honorable position of Reeve of Melancthon for 1922. This is the third time that the picturesque village on the Grand has supplied the township with its Reeve, the former occupants of the office being T. R. Dryden and Jas. R. Clarke.

The present has been a comparatively mild winter so far with just snow enough to make sleighing.

The U F. O. are certainly becoming a potent force in this locality with increasing numbers as time rolls on. Verily the time has arrived when the farmer becomes the dictator.

Another important real estate deal is in progress in our midst. Particulars later.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hammond, of Mulmur, visited friends in the village.

(Our correspondent concludes his budget with a lengthy account of the death and career of the late James Sloan, of Melancthon. As an extended obituary has already appeared in the Banner we have taken the liberty of deleting what would be largely a repetition of facts that have already appeared in print.)

BIG EDUCATION FIGHT

Roman Catholics Make Their Impossible Demands

The controversy which has been going on for some time between the separate school board and the educational authorities of the province has as its object the securing of three important demands which the Catholic Church is making on the department of education. They are: First, the division of corporation and public utility taxes; second, separate high schools, and third, a share of provincial grants to primary education.

The separate school educationists claim that the provisions enabling directors to divide corporation taxes, according to the religion of the share holders, is unworkable under present conditions and the rapidity with which stock changes hands. They also claim that taxes paid by public utility bodies should be divided between separate and public schools according to the portion the Catholics form of the population.

The withdrawal of the separate school representatives from the boards of education is the beginning of a provinle wide movement which will probably lead to an appeal to the federal government and finally be settled before the courts.

Roman Catholics claim that the B. N. A provided justification for their demands. Premier Drury has already indicated that the legislature will not accede to the request to allow separate school boards to take care of secondary education. One set of high school or Collegiate Institutes in a Province is quite sufficent. The church when it sets out for a definite objective is ruthless and relentless in its operation so a bitter fight may be expected. It may come by making a demand to the legislature, to the Dominion Government for a division of government railway taxes acceptable to them. At present they are paid to the public school boards of interested municipalities, because there is no provision in the act under which a division between the two bodies is permissible.

This is to be remembered, however, and it is vitally important. Whatever changes are made in the assesment act regarding financial aid to Separate School are permanent. There can be no annulling of the legislation. Make it legal for Separate Schools to have a stated share of corporation taxes now, and it stands for all times. Corporations should be divided on religious beiief of the shareholders, for it would be just as unwarranted for the taxes of a Protestant shareholder to go to the Separate School purposes, as the opposite.

The legal end of the matter as far as the B. N. A. is concerned, seems clear. As applied to Saskatchewan and Alberta, when organized in 1905, secondary education was not affected only primary.

Section 93 of the British North America Act provides for the continuance of denomination schools in existence "by law in the province at the union."

It appears that the only schools of this kind that existed at the time were public schools, or what are now known as separate schools, although public schools in the eye of the Ontario law. It is well to bear in mind the words "by law" for the Separate Schools Act was finally passed as applicable to Upper Canada in 1863. Confederation took place in 1867. The question, therefore, devolves itself upon history more than law.

BRAMPTON POLICE COURT

Caledon Woman Fined $50 for Adulterating Her Butter—Caledon Youth Sent to Jail for Sealing from His Employer.

Rozner, the Toronto Jew, failed to show in court on Friday last to receive his sentence from P. M. Crawford on the charge of stealing chickens from farmers in the neighborhood of Meadowvale. A fine of $100 and costs with three months in jail was imposed on Rozner. The Jew was out on cash bail of $1,000 and after deducting the fine and costs of the Court there is about $876 left. They expect the thief will turn up and go to jail and earn this money back.

Mrs. Acheson, the Caledon East farmer's wife, charged with selling adulteated butter, was fined $50 and costs. She was defended by Mr. E. B. Graham and it was announced that an appeal would be made. The butter was spotted in Toronto market by a government inspector. It was being offered for sale by a man named Wallace, who said he bought it from McCartney, the Caledon East storekeeper. The inspector cut a roll of butter in two and put one half into a jar for Wallace and the other half into a holder which he sent to Ottawa. This was in October last. When the report came back stating that the sample was adulterated with something that was not butter fat the prosecution began. The inspector had also found the butter short weight, but nothing was done about that. Wallace had brought down from Caledon East some sixteen prints. He took most of them back to McCartney, who said he disposed of them for baking purposes. McCartney swore that the butter he had supplied Wallace, who swore that it was the butter complained of by the inspector, had been bought from Mrs. Acheson. He was very positive about it. The butter was wrapped in ready printed butter paper of a kind in common use in the vicinity of Caledon East. McCartney said he had called all the butter from Mrs. Acheson in one place. The accused denied absolutely ever having sold adulterated butter and claimed to be a maker of the best dairy butter. If Ottawa has made a mistake an independent analysis of Wallace's sample should set the matter at rest.

Fred Swain was found guilty of stealing a watch and clothing from Thos. Speers, of Caledon, and sentenced to four months. The evidence given went to show that Swain was a bad lot, wouldn't work and was suspected of several thefts. In this case he was caught with the goods.—Banner and Times.

"Oh, It's Good to Hear Your Voice!"

THE night wind rattled the sash as she sat on the bed in her drab hall bed-room. Lonely, discouraged, she seemed to have lost her grip of things in the big unfriendly city. And then — the telephone jingled imperatively. A clear voice called up the stairway, "Miss Jackson, your mother's on the Long Distance."

How many of us realize what that means to the girl in a little hall bed-room eating her heart out with loneliness?—to the boy at College or school plugging in a half-hearted way to make good in "exams"?—to the shy school girl surrounded by strange faces?—to the traveler deprived of home and dear ones?

Why don't you call her or him to-night?

She needs the encouragement that only your voice will give. He needs a helpful word, doubly welcome because it comes from you. A Long Distance chat will give them a new outlook on life—stimulate them to new efforts—help them to make good. Their faces will glow with the light of a new courage, and, "It's good to hear your voice" will be music to your ears!

Station-to-Station service with low Evening and Night after 8.30, has brought Long Distance within the reach of every one. After 8.30 P.M. Station-to-Station rates are about half the day rate. At midnight they become about one-quarter the day rate.

ALADDIN rubbed his lamp and summoned anyone to his presence. The same thing is being done to-day — only Aladdin's lamp has changed to a telephone.

Call the man you long to do business with, by Long Distance, and he is virtually in your presence when he lifts the receiver to listen. Practically, you are face to face. Long Distance makes him more accessible than if he lived next door. The man you might hesitate to borrow a monkey-wrench from greets you cordially when you call him. While others cool their heels in outer-offices, waiting, you sell him.

He is in a receptive frame of mind. His curiosity is appealed to. He realizes the conversation will be brief, and lets down the bars. And where a salesman knows his goods there is something in the tones of his voice that carries conviction—puts over the deal. Your goods go through doors that were formerly closed to them.

Because of the very low rates on Station-to-Station calls after 8.30 P.M. Evening and Night calls by Long Distance are being used more and more for business purposes. It only requires a little planning.

ORANGEVILLE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The season of 1921 proved to be a very satisfactory one for the Orangeville Horticultural Society. The members, while not so numerous as in the previous year, were quite enthusiastic in extending the work of the Society, and as individuals experienced excellent results in their several gardens and lawns. The weather conditions were exceptionally favorable for the growth of gardens and flowers.

The work of civic improvement was extended considerably and six additional flower beds were placed at street corners. These together with those established in former seasons, not only beautified their immediate surroundings, but proved a great inducement to property owners in those localities to improve the appearance of the streets, lawns and boulevards.

They also played an important part in bringing the work of the Society and its requirements to the notice of our citizens. Our Town Council, which had, up to this time, been somewhat negligent in its attention to the Town Park, was induced to devote systematic attention to the Park and we believe was so satisfied with the result that the work will be continued annually.

The distribution of seeds among the school children of the Public School returned most gratifying results. Not only were the little ones interested in the care of their little plots, but in the school children's exhibit held in connection with our Agricultural Society's Fair a most creditable and meritorious display was provided.

The following are this year's officers of the Society:—Hon.-President, Dr. G. H. Campbell; President, Mr. E. A. Parsons; 1st Vice-President, Dr. Rooney; 2nd Vice-President, Miss Shain; 3rd Vice-President, Mr. T. S. Little; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Arkell; Directors, Miss Hunter, Mrs. Liddy, Miss Howard, Messrs H. F. Tuck, Geo. Nicholson, E. Still, A. Mills, S. Mills, S. Wild and Col. Preston; Auditors, Jas. A. Matthews and Capt. A. Firth.

"THE LOTUS MOON"

Will Shine in Orangeville on February 13 and 14.

What will undoubtedly be the musical event of the season will be presented in the Opera House, Orangeville, on February 13 and 14, when the Lord Dufferin Chapter, I. O. D. E., will offer Louis George Neville's latest and best Musical Comedy, "The Lotus Moon." This Play which is being produced by the Neville Productions, is a colorful, Oriental musical comedy with very funny situations and startling climaxes. With a caste of sixty, special tropical scenery, beautiful costumes, snappy singing, real ballet and pony dancing the citizens of Orangeville have in store for them a rare treat and one long to be remembered. Following is the story of the Play:—

"Ki Ku San, a beautiful young Japanese maiden and daughter of Count Tomoka, formerly an ambassador to England, was stolen from her father's gardens by Chinese pirates taken to India and held for ransome. She escapes and wanders into a portion of the country inhabited by moon worshippers. These people are making preparations for their great celebration, the feast of the Lotus Moon, which consists of burning alive the most beautiful maiden in their midst. This honour has been bestowed upon Ki Ku San. Count Tomoka appeals to England for assistance. England despatches a young Canadian naval officer to India, who rescues Ki Ku San. Incidentally he discovers that Ki-Ku San was a co-ed at Varsity at the time he was a student there. They all return to Japan, arriving there in time for the Fete of the Chrysanthemums. In the end Ki-Ku San becomes the wife of her noble rescuer."

The ladies of the I. O. D. E. assure us that this Play will surpass by far anything ever attempted by local talent in Orangeville and we trust that the good citizens of Orangeville and the surrounding country will turn out and pack the Opera House to the doors. The price of admission, 50c. and 75c., is within the reach of all. Reserve Plan at The Banner Office.

MILLOY IS WARDEN

The Banner takes very real pleasure in congratulating Mr. James Milloy, Reeve of Erin Township, on his elevation to the Wardenship of the County of Wellington. There were three candidates for the coveted position, namely Reeves Milloy, Wilson, of Erin village, and Richards, of Drayton. On the second and final ballot the vote stood Milloy 12, Richards 8 and Wilson 3. Mr. Milloy is now serving his fourth term as Reeve of Erin township. He is an old East Garry boy and was a deskmate of ye Editor in No. 5 school in that township in the days when we were boys. Mr. Milloy is well-posted in municipal affairs, a ready and pleasing speaker and will fill the office of Warden with credit to himself and the people of the County of Wellington.

—It took seven ballots to settle the Wardenship of Peel County this year. The real struggle was between Reeves Orr, of Toronto township and Milner, of Brampton, with Reeve Church, of Streetsville, the third contender for the position. The sixth ballot stood Orr 6, Church 2 and Milner 6. When the Streetsville man dropped out his two votes went to Orr, giving him the election by 8 to 6.

—According to the statement published last week John Best's election expenses in the recent Dominion contest amounted to $556.28. The three chief items were personal expenses $150.00, hire of premises $146.35 and advertising $108.78.

Mr. Charles Storey has returned home after spending a week very pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Leigh, Mr. an dMrs. Stanage Shaw, of Orillia, and Mr. Seymore Shaw, of Gravenhurst.

Mr. B. McGuire, of The Banner, was in Toronto on Monday attending the funeral of his aunt, the late Mrs. Hubertus McGuire, 404 Jarvis St., who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Coram, 81 Pleasant Boulevard on Friday in her 68th year after a brief illness from pneumonia. Deceased, whose maiden name was Margaret Ann Kennedy, was the oldest daughter of the late Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, of Orangeville. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Coram and two sons, Messrs Chas. M. McGuire, of San Francisco, and Edgar D. McGuire, of Winnipeg. Rev. WOMEN AND GIRLS WANT ROSY CHEEKS

They Can be Had by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

Every woman—every girl—wants rosy cheeks. They mean not only beauty but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anaemic her color fades, she looks debilitated, is short of breath and her heart palpitates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headaches, or pains in the back or sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and can only be cured by making the blood rich, red and pure. For this purpose try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and in this way bring new health and strength to weak, ailing people. Mrs. Isaac W. Howell, Petitcodiac, N.B., tells of what Dr. Williams Pink Pills did for her as follows:—"For some time I had not been feeling well. I had been gradually growing weaker, and found it constantly growing harder to do my housework. I was very pale and had frequent headaches. I consulted a doctor and took his medicine for some time, but it did me no good. I found myself growing weaker, and taking faint and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and although I had nearly lost faith in all medicine, I got a supply and began their use. After a time I found they were helping me, and I gladly continued taking them, and ultimately found that the troubles that had afflicted me had vanished. I am giving this statement in the hope that my experience will be of benefit to others."

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THOMAS ARNOTT

Orangeville lost an old and widely-known citizen this week in the person of Mr. Thomas Arnott, who passed away at his residence on First Avenue on Sunday morning in his 71st year. Mr. Arnott had been in poor health since last September and his demise was not unexpected. Death was due to a general breakdown. The late Mr. Arnott was born and spent his boyhood near Churchville, Toronto township. When a young man he moved to Osprey township, where he farmed successfully until about 32 years ago, when he moved to Orangeville. He ran a flour and feed business here for several years and afterwards conducted an implement agency. Deceased was a genial, kindly man, who had a smile and a pleasant word for everybody. As a neigbor and citizen he was held in the highest esteem and the sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved widow and family in their hour of loss. Mr. Arnott took an active interest in politics and was on several occasions a successful candidate for municipal honours. He served the town as Councillor, Deputy-Reeve and Reeve, displaying the same energy and sound judgement in public affairs that he exhibited in his private business. He was a member of Court Gardiner C. O. F., Orangeville Council of the Chosen Friends and Aaron L. O. L. No. 427. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a staunch Conservative in politics. Deceased is survived by Mrs. Arnott, formerly Miss Margaret White, of Amaranth, three sons, Jas. A. Arnott, a Broadway business man, Dr. Chas. Arnott and Lester Arnott, of Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Irwin, Toronto. Mr. Henry Arnott, of Churchville, is the only brother and Mrs. Jas. A. Spence, of Campbellville, and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Orangeville, are the surviving sisters.

There was an unusually large attendance at the funeral, which was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. H. L. Partridge, the family pastor, conducted the funeral service. The pallbearers were Messrs D. B. Brown, J. L. Island, Wm. McConnell, D. Macpherson, John Bower and M. Varcoe. The floral tributes, which were numerous and beautiful, included a pillow from the family; a wreath from the brother and sisters, pillow from Miss Sinclair, Toronto, wreaths from the Chosen Friends, Court Gardiner C. O. F. and Aaron L. O. L. and sprays from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Watt, Mr. and Mrs. A. White, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. White, the W. M. S. of the Methodist Church, Lord Dufferin Chapter I. O. D. E. Mrs. Will Dale, Mrs. Robt. Charlton, Mr. Will Arnott and Mr. Jas. Rutledge.

Friends here from a distance were:—Mrs. Wm. Arnott, Jas. Arnott, Will and Marshall McCutcheon and Mrs. J. J. Marshall, Toronto; Jas. Arnott, Dundalk; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arnott, Jas. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Rebecca Simpson, who died on February 2nd., 1920.

We miss a mother, kind and true
No friend on earth like her we find.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her Home to suffer no more.

Son and Daughters.

WINTER ECZEMA

CHAPS & COLD-SORES

KEEN wintry weather brings a host of skin troubles. Cold-sores, chapped hands, unsightly face-sores and itching eczema cause a source of discomfort and annoyance. To end the trouble and make your skin clear, healthy and flexible, give the face, arms and hands a nightly dressing with pure herbal Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk instantly soothes the smarting irritation, kills disease germs, and quickly heals all soreness, roughness and chafing which neglected, often develops into eczema or other chronic skin disease. Use also Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap and enjoy real skin health.

This was an obstinate case.

Mrs. Clents Ames, 42 Lyall Avenue, Toronto, writes: My daughter's face and neck were a mass of eczema. Her doctor prescribed treatment for over two months. But to little avail. I was about to call in a skin specialist when I heard of Zam-Buk. Scarcely a sufferer other sufferers from this loathsome disease. So I got a box of Zam-Buk and a tablet of Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap. In a few days there seemed a decided improvement. Day by day the sores gradually healed, and within a month my daughter's skin was thoroughly cleared of the terrible disease."

FREE SAMPLE BOXES of this great skin remedy! Send 1c. stamp (for return postage), give name and date this paper, and address Zam-Buk Co., Dupont St., Toronto. 50c. box, all dealers.

HILLSBURG

(Intended for last Issue.)

Mr. and Mrs. George Hillock of Vanguard, Sask., and Mr. Watson Faulkner, are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. McConnell, Mr. Faulkner being a former inhabitant of Hillsburg and the brother of Mrs. McConnell.

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell have received the bronze memorial medal and silver service medal and bronze plaque from the Department of Militia, presented to them as parents of the only Hillsburg boy to make the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, the late Pte. Harold F. McConnell, formerly of the 147th Grey Batt. The plaque is a beautiful work of the artist in bronze, six inches in diameter and a quarter of an inch thick, with the legend "He fought and died for Liberty and Honor." Accompanying the medals were two letters, one from His Majesty King George:

"I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War." George R.I.

The other letter was from the Deptr. of Militia, expressing the regrets of the Militia Council that the deceased soldier did not live to wear the honours thus conferred. Such words and honours are a comfort to those who have lost deeply in the great but dark days not forgotten.

REV. F. C. HARPER, B.A., B.D., Pastor, St. Andrew's Ch., Hillsburg

The Hillsburg Public Library By-Law has become law, and the Library Board were appointed at the joint meeting of the Police Trustees and the School Trustees last Friday night. Mrs. G. Barbour, Mrs. A. Gibson, R. R. McKay, Rev. F. C. Harper and Fred. McMillan will form the first Board of Hillsburg Public Library, the first library to be instituted under the new regulations. At its inaugural meeting on Monday, January 23rd, the Library Board, appointed the following executive:

Chairman, Rev. F. C. Harper; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Barbour.

Plans were made to secure the latest books, and to open the library on Wednesdays and Saturdays, afternoon and evening, and to combine a reading-room and rest-room for the benefit of the public. The position of librarian has been opened for tenders.

Another good year in St. Andrew's church was manifested in the reports of various organizations presented at the annual meeting of the congregation last Monday night, January 16th. The church was filled, and there was a good discussion of the reports of the past year and of plans for the future. Rev. F. C. Harper conducted the devotional exercises and was elected chairman of the meeting. Mr. Jno. Carmichael was secretary. There were many features in the reports that showed the highest mark yet set by this church in its 72 years history. The membership is higher than ever at 230. The additions to membership 31, of whom 17 were by profession of faith, were the largest received in any year. The attendance at the three Sacraments was 166,164, and 185, the first and last breaking all previous records. The attendance at morning service averaged 113, at evening service 73. The Mission Band raised three times the amount for missions contributed in the previous year; the W.M.S. increased its thankoffering to $95, a 13 per cent. advance over 1920. The balance on hand in all organizations was $659, a very creditable figure when one remembers the decrease of prices and also that this church was $200 in debt in 1919. During these two years since the induction of Rev. F. C. Harper, the people have had good leadership and have had a mind to work. The congregation subscribed $1789 to the Peace Thank-Offering of the Forward Movement, and this year paid in the amount in full.

Three additional elders needed for the administration of the growing church were elected and ordained during the year. There are now 100 families in the village and district to which this historic church ministers. The past year is promising of a better future. Messrs. R. Barbour, Eph. Barbour, Thos. M. Barbour, were elected managers for three years, and Wm. Rathbun for one year vice Daniel Gray, promoted to the eldership.

C. W. McMurchy, Geo. Lacey, W. Gordon and J. W. Turner were elected Offertory stewarts for 1922. The social hour at the close of the meeting was a great success thanks to the capable committee (Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. E. Griner and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gray.)

The Short Course has continued to draw large numbers to the village this week. 139 ladies have been enrolled, and about 170 boys and men. Last week home cooking was the subject of addresses and demonstrations in the ladies' meetings, and this week Home-Nursing is the subject under Miss Alexander's capable leadership. The men say that after experiments in the home-cooking, may be the nursing may be handy knowledge! The boys have been hearing about the butchering of sheep and hogs, last week, while public speaking and judging of cattle and horses are occupying their attention this week. There was keen interest taken in the contest for points, and the leaders will be announced on Friday, and published next week.

Wm. Johnston was re-appointed Caretaker of Shelburne school at a salary of $600.

MONO CENTRE

(Intended for last Issue.)

Once more Election Day is past,
And Archie's in the Deputy's chair;
We hope, we trust, his pluck will last,
His courage great to do and dare.

Great plans are now upon the slate,
If they can ways and means devise;
Some roads to build and some to vacate,
We hope they'll all materialize.

George Aikens and Sir Adam Beck,
By Quigley's barn, the third line to,
If Drury's wish they can sidetrack,
May push a Hydro Radial through.

Lyme Waller will, with John Gray's consent,
Up the hollow run a parallel line;
And Sam Holmes may, if none resent,
To Section Ten his farm consign.

The Council of one, nine, two, one
Got praise and blame with generous will;
But we admit 'twas work well done
To deviate 'round the great Rock Hill

When Still's big barn was all ablaze,
The greatest flame of this decade,
All they could do was stand and gaze,
There was no road for a Fire Brigade.

Now, some go out by Morton's hill,
And others come by Prince of Wales;
This roadway's fit for Ballard's mill
And pastures all Pete Wilson's mules.

Lord William views from lofty height
And smokes that pipe of fragrance rare;
But oh! his sleep's disturbed at night
By honk of horn and headlight glare.

Doc Dundy now his Ford can take,
And come and go in highest glee;
High rocks no more a prison make,
Nor Von Cluck's bars a cage, says he.

The Motor League by signs appeal,
On grades and curves the speed beware;
And to safeguard the public weal,
A traffic cop will be placed there.

The river's surging, foaming tide
Is stemmed by bridge of modern art,
Close railed to bar the suicide,
And well designed to play its part.

This roadway smooth, with brown clay top,
Puts in the shade the Biggs' Highway;
Though Drury may the radial stop,
The Crown Prince road is there to stay.

MARSVILLE

(Intended for last Issue.)

The funeral of the late Geo. Hill, Esq., a respected old-timer of East Garafraxa, took place from the residence of his nephew, Sam Boggs on the 13th, Con. East Garafraxa, at 2 p.m., on January 13th, and many friends were present in spite of the stormy day. The three sons, one daughter and son-in-law of the deceased were among those from a distance. The services at the house and at interment in Bethel Church Cemetery, Price's Corners, were conducted by Rev. F. C. Harper of Hillsburg.

Marsville L. O. L. No. 345 held its installation of officers in the lodge room last Tuesday night, January 17th, with a goodly number of members present. Leslie H. Woods who has been the popular Master for two years past, and Stan. Boggs were the installing officers, who capably did their work. The officers installed included: W.M., V. Armstrong; D.M., Wm. Donaghy; Chaplain, Rev. F. C. Harper; Rec.-Sec., Donald Smith; Fin.-Sec., Stan Boggs; Treas., Wm. Thompson; Lecturers, Orton Donaldson and H. Howlett; Committeemen, Ben and Percy Boggs and Wm. Howlett.

The annual business meeting of Bethel Presbyterian Church, East Garafraxa, took place at the church on Monday afternoon, January 16th, with a good attendance on a stormy day, and the meeting was featured by a fine sociable spirit. Rev. F. C. Harper was chairman and Leslie H. Woods, secretary. The reports of last year's work showed fine progress made during a year of decreasing prices of produce, all expenses paid and a balance on hand of $308, for all organizations. The membership is at highest mark yet on the purged roll at 186. 39 members added of whom 31 were by profession of faith, the largest number ever received any year in the past. To explain such success, the chairman stated that it was not due to himself or any other worker, that the people had a mind to work and to work together for Christ, that he had only organized the work and earnestly preached the Gospel. Referring to the many young people coming into full communion, it was the Gospel which has borne results in the response of the young people to take their stand for Christ.

Norman Turner and Herbert Simpson were elected Managers for three years. Elgin Mason and Lawrence May were the newly elected Offertory stewards, while the chairman mentioned the regular attendance and efficiency of the 1921 stewards, Howard Ferguson and Thos. Cook. Jas. Johnston and Leslie Woods were elected ushers. The congregation decided upon holding an Every Person canvass for ordinary revenue and Missionary Budget at once, and also to install the individual Communion cups. This last was placed in the hands of the ladies to carry into effect, while the arrangements for the canvass will be attended to by the Session and Managers. This congregation lost five elders by removals to town in the last two years, but is going stronger than ever under the leadership of their successors, and the minister, Rev. F. C. Harper, has proved an effective organizer of the work in charge.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 P. C. AIR

A new lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electicity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 universities and found to be 10 times as efficient as 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise and is simple to clean and safe to operate. It burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene, (coal oil).

The inventor, F. N. Johnson, 246 Craig St. West, Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

MONEY DUE TO SOLDIERS

Although more than three years have elapsed since the conclusion of the Great War, nearly 1,000 accounts of soldiers and dependents in the Department of Militia and Defence at Ottawa remain unsettled with credit balances, due principally to the lack of proper addresses to which closing-out cheques could be forwarded.

Thomas Watson, of Grand Valley, sustained a bad gash on his left wrist the other day. In passing to the store room it is usual to open the swinging doors with the foot and when doing this the top hinge pulled out and Mr. Watson's feet tripped on the falling door sending him through the glass. Besides a nasty gash the tendon of the first finger was severed, but fortunately the arteries escaped injury.

FAMINE IN CHINA.

Horrors of 1878 May Be Repeated This Year.

Wolves attacked grown-up people in the village streets, and so terrible was the starvation of the populace that cannibalism became rife, and it is estimated that out of every ten persons five got to know the taste of human flesh. Older Chinese can recall these horrors of the famine of 1878. Once more North China is in the grip of famine, and 'tis said that 40,000,000 people are in danger. Indeed the cannibalism and wolves of forty years ago are almost equalled by the horrible tales of suicide, child murder and suffering that are coming over the wires to-day.

Despite immense natural riches, China has frequent famines of more or less extent. Lack of railway transportation and primitive farming methods are mainly responsible. Antiquated implements and complete ignorance of the rotation of crops keep down production. China is a land of such varieties and contrasts that it is possible for her to have a crop failure in two or three of her eighteen provinces which will kill scores of thousands, although adjoining provinces have good harvests, which they are unable to transport to the sufferers. China, a nation of 350,000,000 souls, with an area of 4,278,350 square miles, has only 8,000 miles of railway though Canada has 43,000 miles. And this lack of railways which spells starvation in famine districts also means a glut of foodstuffs and a depreciation in prices in the provinces which have good harvests.

China, of which fish and rice are the staple foods, is climatically divided into three zones. The southern zone lies along the seas and is very warm. The central zone, which enjoys a mild winter, is more temperate and grows even better products than the southern. Central China, whose midst is termed the granary of China, produces splendid crops of rice, wheat, the better kinds of tea, silk, cotton, jujubes, oranges, sugar cane and bamboo, etc. It is in the northern zone that the present famine exists. This northern zone, too cold for tea and rice, is mainly devoted to the growth of millet, barley, wheat, peas, beans, maize, etc. The prevailing soil in the north is a porous yellow earth occurring in deposits which cover thousands of square miles and which are sometimes hundreds of feet deep. This soil is extremely fertile, requiring little cultivation. But on account of its porous nature it demands a plentiful supply of water. Since its character makes artificial irrigation almost impossible, seasons of indifferent rainfall, such as the past has been, mean famine.

China is not, as many Canadians might suppose, densely packed with people. The greatest congestion—a congestion which forces folk to live in rafts on the water—occurs along the seaboard, the rivers and canals. In Southern China the density of population and the intensity of cultivation is such that a single peasant farmer will frequently make a living off one-sixth of an acre. In the north, however, the farms are larger, running to from three to ten acres and more in parts. In marked contrast to the densely populated areas are large tracts of fertile land sparsely populated owing to lack of transportation.

Incredibly rich in minerals is China. Her coal deposits are the largest in the world. Vast seams of the finest anthracite and soft coal underly large areas. It was estimated some years back that the coal deposits of the province of Shansi alone would supply the whole world at the present rate of consumption for thousands of years. Yet the Chinese have scarcely scratched these supplies and coal any distance from most of the few existing mines is quite dear. Clever and very industrious, the Chinese have yet, through lack of enterprise, failed to develop the abundant natural resources which would free their country from the dire effects of famine and revolutionise life in that country.

Which Is the Best Elephant?

The most distinguishing point of difference between the Indian elephant and the African elephant, is the size and shape of the ear. The ear of the African elephant is much the larger. The African elephant itself is larger than the Indian, but it is not commonly seen in parks or shows. Jumbo, an Abyssinian, measured 11 feet and was the largest elephant ever shown in captivity, but a wild African elephant of 11 feet 6½ inches is on record. The tusks of elephants, the chief source of ivory, are the incisor teeth. A single tusk of an East African bull elephant has been known to weigh 235 pounds, but the average tusk of the old wild bull elephants of to-day is said to be not more than 40 pounds. The tusks of females are smaller and more slender. The record length is believed to be 5 feet 10 inches, the weight of one specimen being only 36 pounds.

Early Copies of the Bible.

The first book printed from movable metal types was the Latin Bible in the year 1455, the famous Mazarine edition. The first Bible printed in the United States was in the Indian language in 1663, by John Eliot. The first English Bible printed in the United States was in 1782 in New York, and George Washington owned a copy. The Bible is now printed in more than 500 different languages, representing the speech of eight-tenths of the population of the world.

Port Wine.

Oporto, Portugal, despite revolutionary conditions, exported in a recent month, 2,124,950 gallons of wine. England was the largest purchaser, followed in turn by France and Brazil.

Naval Ranks.

The highest rank in the navy is that of admiral, then in order of rank are vice-admiral, rear-admiral, captain, commander, lieutenant-commander, lieutenant and ensign.

Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loverna, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, become very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicines and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

Mr. William Moore, Owen Sound, was the victim of a serious accident. On his way to work he was getting a lift on a sleigh, when the tail board came out and he fell backward on the road, fracturing his shoulder.

Owen Sound should have considerable weight in the councils of the mighty this year. They have a Mayor that weighs 234 pounds, a President of the Board of Trade that weighs 225 pounds, an M.P. that weighs about the same, and a Secretary of the Board of Trade that weighs well over 200 pounds.

A terrific explosion occurred at Gorrie on Saturday evening, January 14, last, at about 6 o'clock, when the acetylene gas plant was completely destroyed. The plant has been in use for about 16 years, and the cause of the explosion, is unknown. Parts of the building were blown more than 25 rods, and the tanks were twisted into all manners of shapes.

John T. Rettinger, a prominent farmer of the Culross-Carrick town line, near Formosa, died as a result of injuries sustained when gravel pit on his farm, caved in. Rettinger was completely buried under a chunk of frozen gravel weighing several tons and it took a team of horses to remove the frozen earth from his body. Twelve ribs were broken and he was severely injured internally.

ANSWER THIS PUZZLE WIN $1000.00 or "Special" OVERLAND

How Universally Popular Are the Movie Stars?

That is the question which the Movie Editor of the CANADIAN FARMER is trying to solve. We believe that the Movie Stars are just as well known in every town, village and farming community of the Dominion as in the big cities and just to prove it, our artist has devised this puzzle.

How To Solve The Puzzle

In this picture the artist has depicted the inside of a Movie Theatre. The operator of the Movie machine in this theatre decided to play a joke on his audience as he threw these re-arranged movie players' names on the screen. To solve the puzzle, all you are required to do is to rearrange the letters so that they will spell the correct actors' or actresses' names. For example:— No. 10 is Charlie Chaplin. Can you name the others? If you can, you can win $1,000 in cash or the "Special" Overland Touring Car which would otherwise cost you $1,112. Don't give up too easily if at first you find it a little hard. Do your best and win the best prize. See the full list of prizes below.

WHO ARE THEY?

1. WAR IS NO SLOGAN
2. BET LUCY FAK RAT

All Ties Receive Duplicate Prizes

Can You Solve this Puzzle?

Anyone living outside of Toronto is privileged to take part.

Put on your thinking-cap and solve the puzzle and send in your answer. Probably you know the names of most of the famous stars, but just to refresh your memory we give below a few of the most popular ones.

Cost Nothing to Try

Wouldn't you be the happiest person in the world if you were the winner of the $1,000 in a contest like this which took only a few minutes of your time? Well I should say you would be happy! And you can do it too. It's just thru such little opportunities as this that hundreds and thousands of common folks have obtained their start and have risen to be the great men of today. You probably know of some such cases yourself if you think. This is the CANADIAN FARMER'S offer to YOU to give you a like chance. And it won't cost you one cent.

Only 185 Points Wins $1,000.00

The answer gaining 185 points (which is the maximum) will win the $1,000 in cash (or the beautiful "Special" Overland). Second highest will receive $500.00 and so on down the list of 25 prizes.

For each Movie Name that you correctly arrange you will receive 10 points, or 100 points in all if you arrange all ten names correctly.

Then you can get 60 more points by "qualifying" your answer. That is, by proving that you have shown a copy of the CANADIAN FARMER to three people during this Big Publicity & Booster Campaign. A qualification blank will be mailed you on receipt of your answer.

The final 25 points will be awarded by three prominent and independent judges on the neatness, style, handwriting and spelling of your answer.

Strike while the iron is hot, and send in your answer today.

Rules of Contest

1. Write all ten Movie Names on one side of a sheet of paper.
2. Write your name and address plainly in the upper right hand corner of the same sheet.
3. If you wish to write anything else, use a separate sheet of paper and sign your name and complete address on it also.
4. Three prominent judges, having no connection with the CANADIAN FARMER, will judge the qualified answers and award the prizes.
5. The answer gaining 185 points, which is the highest number obtainable, wins First Prize. Ten points will be given for each correct name you send, or 100 points if you get all ten names correct. Sixty additional points are gained by qualifying your answer, and 25 points will be given for neatness, style, handwriting and spelling.
6. When the Movie Editor receives your solution, he will send you a letter telling you just exactly how many points your solution earned and also send you a sample copy of the CANADIAN FARMER to help you in "qualifying."
7. The Contest closes on Saturday, March 11, 1922 and announcement of Prize Winners will be made in the CANADIAN FARMER shortly after.

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little ones out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little ones healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SAFETY FIRST

A capacity audience attended the performance of the comedy drama, "Safety First" in the Opera House, on Wednesday night of last week. The Play, a bright and sprightly performance with plenty of life and action, was skifully presented by the young people of the Salem School Section is Amaranth.

HIS RHEUMATISM GONE HE REJOICES

MR. MIKE KARAIM PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Saskatchewan Man Who Suffered For Two Years Gives the Reason Why He Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stoney Lake, Sask., January 30th. (Special.)—"I suffered for two years from rheumatism but I am glad to tell you I am well again." In these words Mr. Mike Karaim, a respected resident of this place, gives the reason why he recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all his friends.

"I spent a lot of money on other medicines before I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Karaim continued. "I only used two boxes of them and now I feel fine."

Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid in the blood. The natural way to treat it is to strengthen the kidneys so they will do their full work and strain all the uric acid out of the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for more than a quarter of a century. They have grown in popularity year by year because of the work they have done.

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

GRILLS TRACTORS

Representatives of Company ask Financial Assistance to locate in Orangeville.

There was a large and representative turnout of citizens to the meeting held in the Library Auditorium on Friday night for the purpose of hearing addresses by officers of the Grills Tractor Company. Mayor Hewson occupied the chair and introduced the speakers of the evening, Mr. Grills, the President of the Company, outlined the plans and requirements of the Company in a brief address. The principal address was made by Mr. Metter, who went into details as to the Company's plans and the assistance it would expect from the municipality. The speaker suggested a straight bonus of $50,000. secured for eight years by a mortgage on the Company's building and plant. If everything was satisfactory at the end of the eight year term the mortgage was to be discharged and the building become the absolute property of the Company. Mr. Metter emphasized the need and field for farm tractors, declared that none of the tractors now on the market met the needs of the farmer and declared that the Grills Tractor, because of its light weight and low price, was suited to farm work and the requirements of the farmer. Once it was manufacturing the Company would have at least three hundred selling agents. If each of these men sold only one machine in a year their sales would ensure a profitable output. The speaker was confident, however, that most of these salesmen would sell five or six tractors in the year. The Company would undertake to build a two storey plant, 50 by 150, and to give employment to 150 mea.

At the conclusion of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers on motion of Reeve W. J. Gillespie, seconded by Deputy-Reeve D. Young.

We learn since the meeting that the Company has dropped the idea of asking a straight bonus and would be satisfied with a loan. The matter will be further discussed at another public meeting in the Library Auditorium on Thursday evening, February 2nd. Everybody is invited to come and take part in the discussion, either by asking questions or letting the meeting have the benefit of their ideas. Mayor Hewson will occupy the chair.

IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

On Sunday evening a large congregation heard the pastor Rev. F. W. Mahaffy deliver an excellent discourse on the subject, "Three Safeguards of Ancient and Modern Society." The sermon was based on the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Commandments. Next Sunday night Mr. Mahaffy will speak on "The Mischief Maker in the Community," basing his sermon on the Ninth Commandment.

The lowered "cut prices" we are now making on our standard, reliable overcoats, suits, underwear and all kinds of furnishings will absolutely COMPEL you to buy when you come into our Store.

We want to move out quickly every piece of winter goods we have left and we are making the CUT PRICES which will do the job in a "jiffy."

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

A large crowd turned out on Monday evening to hear Rev. Dr. F. C. Stephenson speak at the Epworth League meeting in the Methodist Church. Dr. Stephenson gave a splendid address on Foreign Missions. One of the very interesting things explained by the speaker was the question of how money given to Missions is spent. Here it is: Out of every dollar subscribed 48 cents is spent on Missions in Canada, 39½ cents goes to Japan and China, 4 cents for administration and overhead expense, 5 cents on education along Missionary lines and the rest is used for miscellanous expenses.

On motion of Dr. W. J. Price, seconded by Mr. W. H. Kearns, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Stephenson.

The choir assisted in the musical part of the meeting. Mr. Wilson McConnell, the President of the Society, was chairman.

We understand that the price paid is $16,000. Mr. Sloan has only been on the farm a year. He bought the place for $9,000, so that he will clean up a $1,000 on the deal. The sale was made by J. B. Irwin, Auctioneer and Real Estate Dealer, Orangeville.

ROSEMONT

Again the call inevitable has come. Another of the grand old generation who built those solid foundations on which the character of this young country is built has passed to the great beyond. In the late Mrs. Cumberland we find a beautiful example of true and pure motherhood and helpmate. Born in Toronto, 78 years ago, she with her parents moved to the county of Simcoe near the old then thriving burg of Rosemont where she grew up and joined her life mate, Mr. James Cumberland, one of the best known pioneer businessmen of his time. Her husband predeceased her some thirty years ago and when the family grew up Mrs. Cumberland moved to Toronto where she resided up till the time of her death. Deceased was a woman of quiet, retiring disposition, always her first thought being of her flock, but always ready with heart and hand to give where trouble or need of any kind was known. Ever standing rigidly for right and truth and brotherly love her influence will leave an impression to the end. We can surely sympathize with the family in their great loss of a mother of mothers but this great consolation lies in the fact that she is only gone a little ahead of them and the great reunion will only be the sweeter. The old village and surrounding community all join in loving sympthy.—Alliston Herald.

Bad weather and other unfortunate conditions resulted in the Woodbridge Agricultural Society ending the year with a deficit of $500, according to the financial statement submitted at the annual meeting.

BUILDING CHANGES HANDS

Charlie Young, the Chinaman who conducts the cafe in Main St. South, opposite this office, has bought the three story building from the owner, Mr. Jos. Dawson, for $6,500. This building was sold by J. P. Clark in 1883 to Donald M. McDonald for $10,000, six thousand of which was cash. An old country insurance company had a mortgage for the balance. After a while the Confederation Life, who had a second mortgage, acquired the building at a cost of over $9,000. In the ups and downs of real estate in Brampton they were glad to sell out to James Heatley in 1906 for $2,500 Mr. Heatley held on until 1914 when Mr. Dawson bought for $5,000. At present the building is paying a big dividend in rental.—Brampton Banner.

A HOODOO DAY

Thursday of last week was a hoodoo day for Bert Fawcett, liveryman, stage driver and mail carrier. He took a traveller to Eugenia, and while there, the horses ran away and brought up against a wire fence. Both animals were out to such an extent that a veterinary had to be called in. Then coming from the station in the evening with the mail he met a heavy load of logs, the driver of which was unable to swerve the sleighs and the logs crashed endwise into one of Fawcett's horses, breaking three ribs and injuring it so badly that the vet thought it would not recover. However, we believe that all the animals are on the highway to renewed usefulness.—Flesherton Advance.

THE TELEPHONE QUESTION

On Tuesday of last week, Reeve Wilson, Councillor Gibson and Municipal Clerk Conboy went to Toronto, where they had an interview with the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, regarding the difficulty in connection with the Erin Municipal Telephone System.

For some time the commissioners in charge of the system have been endeavoring to get the citizens in the village to sign up and become petitioners to the system and naturally, in view of what took place in the township, they hesitate and in some cases refuse to have anything to do with the proposition, other than rent the privilege of using the system. The commission, being anxious to reach a decision of some kind, met the citizens of the village at a meeting in the Town Hall last December, and it was then arranged that the local council have a representative of the board come to Erin and explain the whole affair to the citizens. This fell through and an interview with the Board was arranged.

The result is pleasing to one side of the question—the village, which does not, as a municipality, necessarily have to become responsible for the liabilities or part thereof of the Erin Municipal Telephone System. As a Municipality the Council Board do not wish to interfere and take any action or become responsible in connection with the system.

The petitioners are to meet at Hillsburg on Saturday, the 28th, when the matter will no doubt be brought before the meeting.—Advocate.

10 Years of Eczema A Sample Relieved Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Hovey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire.

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.00 a bottle. Try D D D. Soap, too.

FIRE NARROWLY AVERTED

What would have been a bad fire was narrowly averted on Tuesday morning, when, in an unknown manner, a fire started in the barber shop of Mr. H. C. Lyons. Mr. Lyons has an apparatus for heating water and while he was out, it evidently exploded and when discovered the fire was making great headway. A large patch of paper was burned off the wall, and some of the furniture scorched. Mr. Lyons with the assistance of neighbors, got it under control before much damage was done, but in doing so, Mr. Lyons suffered a bad burn on the forehead and his eye-brows and hair was singed. Had the contents of the tank used in connection with the heater been large, nothing would have saved the building, in which Mr. Lyons has his barber shop and residence and Mr. G. T. Scott a flour and feed store.—Advocate.

OLDFIELD—NEITHERCUT

A very unique but quiet event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Neithercut, Dundalk, at 1 p.m., Wednesday, January 18th, 1922.

It was the occasion of the marriage of their daughter, Minnie E. to H. Harold Oldfield, son of Mr and Mrs. R. B. Oldfield, of Corbetton.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a wedding dress of white silk crepe-de-chine.

They were married beneath an arch of evergreens and were unattended. Miss Merle Oldfield, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews performed the cermony in the presence of a few immediate relatives.

After dinner the young couple left on the evening train, amid showers of confetti and the good wishes of their many friends. They will visit friends in Toronto and Kitchener, and upon their return will reside at Corbetton.

The young couple are held in highest esteem and have the best wishes of all who know them.—Dundalk Herald.

Mystery surrounds the death of John Munro, a Sydenham Township farmer and bachelor, aged 73, who was found in his barn with a fractured skull, and later died in Owen Sound Hospital.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Crosbie of Everett, on Wednesday, January 25, when their only daughter, Lena M., became the wife of Mr. Oakly Reid of the firm of Reid and Reid, grain merchants. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. J. Bailey under an arch of evergreens.

IT MADE A DIFFERENCE

Robert, aged 10, owned an Irish terrior, named Laddie, to which he was much attached. An automobile got in the dog's way, however, and when Bobbie came in at noon his mother broke the news sorrowfully that Laddie was dead. "That's too bad," said the young hopeful, as he trudged off to school. At 4 o'clock he returned, crying as if his heart would break. "What's the matter?" he was asked. "Laddie is dead. Laddie is dead!" he sobbed. "Well, I told you that at noon, and you did not seem to mind so much," mamma pointed out. "I thought you said 'daddy,'" came the plaintive response.

MORE WORK FOR COUNTY SHERIFFS

The sheriffs of Ontario are not going to be added to the list of unemployed. There is not the slightest likelihood of this ancient and honorable office being abolished. When questioned the other day respecting the possibility of such a step being taken, Attorney-General Raney replied that the office was to be strengthened and made of more importance.

Do you realise the risk you run riding in a crowded train or street-car without a Peps tablet in your mouth?

Every sneeze, every cough, fills the air you breathe with countless disease-germs that immediately make for any weak spot in your throat and chest. Be wise, always carry Peps, and occasionally let one of these germ-killing tablets dissolve in your mouth to ward off the attack of influenza, pleurisy or pneumonia superventing.

Just as you breathe in the germs that cause tonsitis, throat and lung ailments, etc., so you must breathe in the soothing germicidal medicinal vapour out the germs before they can cause serious trouble. Not some harmful drugs, Peps are the safest and best remedy for sudden colds and chills, grippe, sore throat, laryngitis, hight-cough, hoarseness, wheeziness, bronchitis and chest weakness in old and young.

Of all Chemists and Dealers, or the Peps Co., Dufferin St. est. Toronto. Sic. box, 3 for $1.25. Imitations are worthless.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

Now Works Nine Hours a Day.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."—Mrs. L. A. GUIMANN, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.

GEORGE LITTLE

Prominent Mono Man Called Away Last Thursday

George Little, a prominent resident of the Township of Mono, passed away at his home, on lot 26, west, near Elba, on Thursday last, aged 72 years and 8 months. Deceased, who was an active, vigorous man in earlier life, enjoyed good health until nine years ago, when he was stricken with heart trouble and rheumatism. For the last three and a half years he was confined to his bed by physical infirmity, but was always cheerful, ever patient and was tenderly and faithfully cared for by his devoted wife. Despite bodily weakness and infirmity he retained the full use of his mental faculties to the last and manifested the keen and intelligent interest in the events of the time that had been characteristic of him in his earlier life.

The late Mr. Little was born on lot 5, Centre Road, Mono, and was therefore a lifelong resident of that township. At the age of twenty-two he married Miss Mary Ann Baker, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, of Mono, and settled on lot 26 on the Prince of Wales Road, where he had resided ever since. Only last October Mr. and Mrs. Little and the members of their family had the pleasure of celebrating the golden wedding of the aged couple. He is survived by his sorrowing wife and a family of four sons and five daughters, namely Joseph G., of Shelburne; Wm. John and Mrs. R. J. Small, Toronto; Mrs. Robt. J. Bailey, Saskatchewan; Mrs. S. G. Shaw, Beeton; Mrs. Fred Buchanan, Mrs. Herb. Linsay, and Robert, of Mono, and Thomas, on the homestead.

Mr. Little took a keen and active interest in municipal and general politics. He served in the Mono Township Council for four years. In general politics he was a pronounced independent, preferring the character of the candidate to the welfare of any political party. He was a staunch supporter of the Patrons of Industry three decades ago and was frequently heard from on the public platform. He was a ready and fluent speaker and his intimate knowledge of the question he was discussing made him a dangerous opponent. During the stirring Cardwell bye-election in the autumn of 1895, when the Manitoba School Question was the great issue, Mr. Little met the Hon. Chas. H. Tupper, then a Minister at Ottawa, in joint debate in the Prince of Wales Road Orange Hall. It was a trenuous encounter and those who were there to hear and see were pretty well agreed that the Minister did not have the better of the argument. Mr. Little was a man of sterling honesty and high moral character. He took a keen interest in the well-being of the young and was forty years Superintendent of St. James' Church Sunday School at Primrose. He was a member and staunch supporter of the Anglican Church.

Mr. Little was many-sided in his interests and activities. He was one of the founders of The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company and a Director of the Company for twenty years. For thirty years he acted as Secretary-Treasurer of S. S. No. 12, Mono and Amaranth. At the time of the Fenian Raid as a young man he showed his loyalty to Queen and Country by enlisting in the Orangeville Company of the 36th Battalion. Deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and at the time of his death was an honorary member of Primrose L. O. L. No. 1277, of which he had been a member by certificate for fifty years. He was initiated in Prince of Wales L.O.L. 320, in which he was an active member for some four years. The late Mr. Little took an active interest in the United Farmer Movement and was an honorary member of the Primrose United Farmers Club.

All of the members of the family were present at the funeral, which was held from his late residence to Shelburne Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Service was held at the house by Rev. Hartley of Shelburne, assisted by Rev. W. Coutts of Camille. Mr. Hartley delivered an impressive discourse from Job 19: 25-27. The attendance of friends and neighbors was unusually large and on every hand were to be heard expressions of sorrow at the passing of one who had always filled a useful, active and honorable place in the life of the community. The pallbearers were Messrs. T. B. Lewis and James Thompson, of Orangeville, Jesse Fremantle, Samuel Buchanan, and Charles Wilson, of Mono, and John Little, of Shelburne.

DUFFERIN COUNTY L. O. L.

There was a representative attendance of the Orangemen of the County at the annual meeting of Dufferin County L. O. L. held here on Tuesday afternoon. The County Master, W. Bro. T. H. Bullock, presided and delivered a comprehensive address dealing with the activities of the Order during the year. A good deal of important business was transacted. Reports showed that the Order continues to flourish in Dufferin. The brethren recognized W. Bro. Bullock's zeal and activity by unanimously re-electing him for a second term. The other officers of the past year were also re-elected.

INSTITUTE PRESENTATION

Mrs. W. T. Johnston, York St., was pleasantly surprised last week to receive a gift from Mrs. J. Kinsley and Mrs. Farnell, of the Whittington Women's Institute, who presented her with a beautiful salad dish and the following address:—

Dear Mrs. Johnston,—

Some time has passed since you left our community but we have not forgotten you. We miss your cheery smile and your help in our Institute. For years you have been a member of our Institute and always tried to make our meetings a success. When any work was to be done you were always ready to do your part and during the war many a soldier received comfort due to your gladness to help. You will be greatly missed and will always be remembered by us as a faithful and willing worker. We cannot tell you how much we have appreciated your help in the past, but we ask you to accept this gift as a token of remembrance from the members of the Whittington Women's Institute and we wish you every happiness in your new home.

Signed on behalf of the Whittington Women's Institute.

Snowden, Lewis Johnston, Inspector W. R. Liddy and G. W. Lynd.

On motion Mr. Lewis Johnston was appointed chairman and G. W. Lynd secretary of the meeting.

Inspector Liddy was then called on for an address, who, after reading several replies that he had received in answer to an enquiry, which he had sent to the various consolidated sections in Ontario, placed on the blackboard an estimate, he had prepared, of the cost and revenue to be expected from the consolidation of Sections 3, 4, 10 and 17, of the Township of Amaranth. This latter was discussed at length by those present.

Mr. Liddy's estimate:—

COST:

Principal Teacher	$1,500.00
Assistant Continuation Teacher	1,200.00
Six Public School Teachers	2,700.00	$5,400.00

The assessment of the four sections is $535,816.00. This would mean a [illegible] rate.

[illegible] at 6 per cent for 20 years would mean an annual payment of principal and interest of $2616, and a tax rate of a little less than 5 mills.

Moved by Mrs. E. Richardson, seconded by Mr. J. A. Hughes, and be it resolved that the minutes of this meeting, including the estimate prepared by Mr. Liddy, be published for distribution throughout the Section, and that the Secretary-Treasurers of the four sections be a committee to have [illegible] with Mr. Chas. Carried.

Moved by Mrs. W. R. Grosskurth, seconded by Mrs. M. Curry, that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to Inspector Liddy for compiling the above estimate, and for coming out to present the matter to us. Carried with hearty applause.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

DO YOU FEEL WEAK AND RUN DOWN

In This Condition a Tonic Medicine is Needed.

The condition of being "run down" is one that doctors do not recognize as a disease. But those who are run down in health know that it is not a fancied affliction.

The expression "run down" applied to health means a condition in which the bodily functions are enfeebled. Appetite fails, the digestion is impaired, the nerves are impoverished, the complexion becomes pale or waxy, there is no animation, but rather worry and mental depression. No particular organ being affected, you must look fo relief to the blood. As it circulates through every part of the body, any improvement in the condition of the blood is quickly felt throughout the entire system. In cases of this kind a tonic medicine is what is needed and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized as a valuable tonic because of their direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nerves, giving tone to the system generally and restoring vigor. Where the system is run down the value of this medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Gregory J. Murphy, Lower Ship Harbor East, N.S., who says: "About a year ago I was completely run down. I was so nervous and weak that I could scarcely do my housework, and the least exertion left me breathless and tired out. A neighbor advised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and so much good did they do me I feel quite like a different woman. I hope some other suffering woman may benefit by my experience."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CALEDON

(Intended for last week.)

Has anyone seen a robin, or is sap runnin'?

The Caledon Club of the U. F. O. held a very successful meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Speers. The President gave an address on Co-operative Buying. Mr. Homer Hillyard recited "The Cremation of Sam McGee" to the satisfaction of all present. The young people sang a U. F. O. chorus. Miss Reta Speers gave a reading, which was much appreciated, while the violin solos by Miss Lila Dodds brought forth loud applause. Jas. Hillyard gave a splendid report of the recent U. F. O. Convention and the Misses McCormick gave the Highland Fling in grand style. There was a large crowd present and a most enjoyable time was spent. The meeting on the 8th inst. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Dodds, when another good time was spent by the members of the Club.

Mr. Pat Lorin, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Lord Dufferin Hospital, is now, we are glad to state, doing well.

Messrs Joseph Nesbitt and Earl Warnock have been very successful in rounding up a number of foxes lately. Earl says he would like to get a "Grey" one.

Dr. Thomas took Mr. William Duncan to Toronto General Hospital, where a very serious operation was found to be necessary. Mr. Duncan is somewhat advanced in years, but decided to take the physician's advice and we hope for the best.

The Union Young People's Society had another splendid meeting on Tuesday night. Mrs. Albert Smith read the lesson. Rev. J. F. G. Morris gave a very interesting and instructive address on the Old and New Testaments and Miss Lillian Coleman and Mr. Norman Harrison sang a number of duets in their usual capable manner. The next meeting will be Educational Night, when a very interesting debate is being prepared, the subject being, "Resolved that Henry Ford has done more for the Good of Humanity than has Thomas Edison."

Mr. Fred Giles has been somewhat indisposed of late, but we believe he is now improving.

Mr. Albert Smith has been doing some detective work, which should be a blessing to our community. Two sneak thieves have been run down and given terms of six and eight months at the Guelph Farm.

BLOUNT

The members of the Blount Women's Institute held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. John White on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Chas. Crombie presided. The meeting opened with the singing of the Opening Ode. After a lengthy discussion of Quilt Making, Mrs. Geo. Woods gave a Reading on the Twilight Hour. A delightful duet was contributed by Mrs. French and Miss Monaghan. Miss Myrtle Dodds acted as accompanist. A contest followed and then the meeting was closed with all present repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Blount Women's Institute will present the Play, "The Young Country Schoolma'm" in the English Church Hall at Mono Mills on Friday evening, February 10th. Good music between acts. Admission, 35c. for adults and 25c. for children.

SPEERS—LUNDY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lundy, of Adjala, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, January 25th., when at four o'clock their second youngest daughter, Alice Jane, became the bride of George W. Speers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Speers, of Mono. The ceremony took place in the parlor under an arch of evergreens. The bride was attended by her youngest sister, Florence A. Lundy, and the groom was supported by Mr. Clarence Baxter, of Adjala. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Matheson, pastor of Mono Mills Presbyterian Church, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Matheson. The bride was daintily gowned in white satin trimmed with pearls and wore the gift of the groom, a gold necklace set with pearls and peridot. She carried a bunch of pink and white carnations. The bridesmaid was dressed in rose silk. After the marriage ceremony the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served. The evening was then happily spent in dancing and other amusements. The gifts received by the bride were both numerous and costly showing the high esteem in which she is held by her numerous friends. The young couple left for a short trip to Toronto, the bride travelling in an embroidered velour dress with coat and hat to match. On their return they will take up their residence in their future home on the 7th line Mono. The good wishes of all their friends are extended to the happy couple.

MOFFITT—STILL

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Still, of Mono, on Wednesday, February 1st., when their oldest daughter, Olive B. M., became the bride of Thomas Clifford Moffitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Moffitt, all of Glencross. The bride, who was given away by her father, was unattended and was becomingly gowned in her travelling suit of navy blue tricotine trimmed with fur and embroidery. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, orange blossoms and maiden hair fern. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Wm. Coutts, of Camilla, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom, the happy couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast awaited them. The gifts were numerous and costly and included several cheques. Amid showers of rice and confetti the happy young couple took their departure by motor to Orangeville, where they left by train for Toronto. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm on the 3rd line, Mono.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. S. Montgomery, who passed away on January 28th., 1920.

Oh, how we miss her, words cannot tell,
Her bright, happy face we all loved so well;
The sweetest of memories is all that is left
Of our dear mother gone home to rest.

Not dead to us we love her still,
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory still,
And will for evermore.

Casement Caught Between Devil and the Deep Sea Says the Princess Blucher

AN interesting sidelight on the wartime activities of Sir Roger Casement is thrown by Princess Blucher in her diaries, published under the title "An English Wife in Berlin." People who like to follow the comings and going of title folk will remember that Evelyn, Princess Blucher, was an Englishwoman who married Prince (then Count) Blucher in 1907. The prince, who was the great-great grandson of the "night or Blucher" officer of Waterloo fame, lived with his wife in London a good deal of the time, and they were well known in English society before the war. After 1914 they made their home at the Esplanade Hotel in Berlin, the headquarters of a colony of recognized "internationals," and two other Englishwomen in the same plight as herself, Princess Munster and Princess Pless, aided Princess Blucher in her efforts to assist the British prisoners and wounded.

Her version of many historical events will accordingly have considerable value in the making of history, and what she tells of the position of Casement indicates that the Irishman got himself into a strange predicament when he went into Germany. Sir Roger was not welcomed with open arms. The better type of German, the aristocrats among whom he probably hoped to mix, despised him as a traitor. Princess Blucher tells of one noble lady who said: "If you ask me what I think of Sir Roger Casement, I think him a blot on the earth." A great many people, apparently those in charge of military affairs, regarded him as a spy who was only pretending to be a rebel, and others laughed at him as a man who was peevish because he had failed. Princess Blucher told Casement that he had made a mistake when he entered Germany. In due time he found out that she was right. The military party, who suspected him of being a spy, hit upon a scheme to test him, and it was one that practically put him between the devil and the deep sea. If he had refused to do as they suggested he would probably have been shot sooner or later for being a spy, and as the plan was one which he knew would not work, he had to face the alternative of being hanged in England as a traitor. Sir Roger's predicament may seem to some people almost like cruel comedy, and to others like cynical poetic justice. We know the choice that he made, and the sequel.

There was something like a medieval sense of humor in the German test of Casement. It suggests those trials of witches and others that proved fatal whether they convicted or acquitted the accused. That he realized how disastrous was his mistake is indicated by the account which Princess Blucher gives of their final interview before he started on the expedition to the west coast of Ireland that brought him to the gallows:

"The poor man came into the room like one demented, talked in a husky whisper, rushed round examining all the doors, and then said: 'I have something to say to you, are you sure no one is listening?'

"For one moment I was frightened. I felt I was in the presence of a madman, and worked my way round to sit near the telephone so as to be able to call for help. And then he began: 'You were right a year ago when you told me that I had put my head into a noose in coming here. I have tried not to own you were right, and I did not like to tell you when you kept on urging me to get out of the country, that I realized from the moment I landed here what a terrific mistake I had made. And also I did not want to tell you that in reality I was a prisoner here. I could not get away. They will not let me out of the country.

"'The German Foreign Office have had me shadowed, believing I was a spy in the pay of England, and England has had men spying on me all the time as well.

"'Now the German Admiralty have asked me to go on an errand which all my being revolts against, andy I am going mad at the thought of it, for it will make me appear a traitor to the Irish cause.'

"And at these words he sat down and sobbed like a child. I saw the man was beside himself with terror and grief, and so I tried to get a few more definite facts out of him, and told him there is a way out of every difficulty if he would only tell me more.

"But he said, 'If I told you more, it would endanger the lives of many, and as it is, it is only my life that has to be sacrificed.' I made all has to be sacrificed.' I made all sorts of suggestions, but all he would say was: 'They are holding a pistol to my head here if I refuse, and they have a hangman's rope ready for me in England; and so the only thing for me to do is to go out and kill myself'."

Degrees of Meanness.

Two small boys were discussing the various excellencies of their respective parents, and their conversation had reached a highly critical stage. "Well," remarked Tommy Stubbs, "you can say what you like, but I reckon your father's about the meanest man who ever lived. Think of his lettin' you walk about in them old shoes, and him a shoemaker, too!" "Is that so!" replied Bobby Roberts. "My father ain't near so mean as yours, any way. Why, just think of him being a dentist and your baby only got one tooth!"

The Elba Women's Institute are to be congratulated on the success of their Play, "Valley Farm," which was presented to an appreciative audience in Primrose Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, January 25th. Harold Rutledge, a young New Yorker.... Clarence Wonder
Perry Deane, a son of the soil.... Elroy Wilson
David Hildreth, a New York lawyer Thomas Lindsay
Silas Holcomb, owner of Valley Farm Robert Little Azariah Keep, a clock tinker..... Norman Lindsay
Jennings, butler at the Rutledge mansion.... Herb Elgie
Hetty Holcomb, a country flower transplanted to city soil. Ruby Henry
Isabel Carney, niece of David Hildreth.... Ettie Elgie
Mrs. Rutledge, Harold's mother.... Bertha Buchanan
Alvira Holcomb, sister of Silas.... Alma Dean
Lizzie Ann Tucker, who borrows but "never gossips".. Violet Buchanan
Verbena, hired girl at the farm.... Mabel Elgie

A good musical programme was given between Acts, the numbers consisting of selections by the Primrose orchestra, solos by George Buchanan and Lolo Wooder, violin solos by Alvin Dermott and Highland dances by the Harding sisters. The chair was ably taken by Mrs. Sidney Banks, of Shelburne, District President of the Dufferin Women's Institute.

A BUSH ACCIDENT

Former Caledon Boy Badly Injured While Felling a Tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Rayburn, of Caledon, have received the following letter from their son, Garfield, a returned soldier, who is now living in the Peace River country. The letter narrates the circumstances attending a very serious accident to the writer and his trying experiences subsequent to the accident. The communication reads:—

Spirit River Hospital, Alta.,
January 16th., 1922

Dear Mother,—

I received your letter to-day and was very glad to hear from you.

I am now able to tell you myself how I got hurt, I got a bad gash in the head. Another fellow and I were felling a tree. It was a big spruce and it fell on a little birch and lodged in the shape of a rainbow. I went up beside the big spruce tree to limb it and the other fellow went and cut the birch. Whatever happened after that I don't know, I was carrying a double belt axe and I think the little tree hit me on the head and I fell and hit my head on the axe. It was on Friday that I was hurt and I was unconscious until Sunday. In the meantime the doctor had come and put a couple of stiches in my head and I never knew anything about it. We left the camp on Sunday for the hospital, a distance of sixty miles, and were a day and a half making the journey. The nurse said when I got here that I was pretty nearly frozen and I was alright when I got in.

The doctor comes to see me once a day. I get the very best of care in this hospital. I can only see out of one eye yet, but I think in a couple of weeks I will be able to see out of both, and I will be a lot better. My head is both swollen and sore yet and I am too weak to get up. I think I'll be alright in a couple of weeks and shall hope to hear from you shortly.

With Love From Garfield.

The pipe had to be taken down before the bird could be released and the service proceed. The pastor thinks it was the right church but the wrong pew.

ONLY FAIR

"Vell, Ikey, my poy," said Sol to his son, "I've made my will and left it all to you." "That's very good of you, father," remarked Ike, eyeing him suspiciously. "But bless you, it cost a lot of money for the lawyer and fees and things!" "Vell?" said Ike more suspiciously. "Vell, it ain't fair I should pay all dot, is it? So I'll shust take it off from your next month's snary."

"I fell into bad company," he said, excusing himself in the police court.

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements.

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefitted generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

"THE LOTUS MOON"

Will Shine in Orangeville on February 13 and 14.

What will undoubtedly be the musical event of the season will be presented in the Opera House, Orangeville, on February 13 and 14, when the Lord Dufferin Chapter, I. O. D. E., will offer Louis George NeVille's latest and best Musical Comedy, "The Lotus Moon." This Play which is being produced by the NeVille Productions, is a colorful, Oriental musical comedy with very funny situations and startling climaxes. With a caste of sixty, special tropical scenery, beautiful costumes, snappy singing, real ballet and pony dancing the citizens of Orangeville have in store for them a rare treat and one long to be remembered. Following is the story of the Play:—

"Ki Ku San, a beautiful young Japanese maiden and daughter of Count Tomoka, formerly an ambassador to England, was stolen from her father's gardens by Chinese pirates taken to India and held for ransome. She escapes and wanders into a portion of the country inhabited by moon worshippers. These people are making preparations for their great celebration, the feast of the Lotus Moon, which consists of burning some more beautiful maiden in their midst. This honour has been bestowed upon Ki Ku San. Count Tomoka appeals to England for assistance. England despatches a young Canadian naval officer to India, who rescues Ki Ku San. Incidentally he discovers that Ki-Ku San was a coed at Varsity at the time he was a student there. They all return to Japan, arriving there in time for the Fete of the Chrysanthemums. In the end Ki-Ku San becomes the wife of her noble rescuer."

The ladies of the I. O. D. E. assure us that this Play will surpass by far anything ever attempted by local talent in Orangeville and we trust that the good citizens of Orangeville and the surrounding country will turn out and pack the Opera House to the [illegible] The price of [illegible] and 75c., is within the reach of all. KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright, the next one cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds, and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves It

What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your Indigestion or Dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

MONO MILLS

(Intended for last week.)

The annual meeting of the Mono Mills Telephone Company was held here on Wednesday afternoon, January 25th. There was a big attendance of the shareholders and the best of good feeling prevailed throughout the meeting. The financial affairs of the Company are also in a splendid condition, the books showing a balance of nearly $800 on hand over all liabilities and about $500 of accounts on the books, which are being paid in. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Wm. Meek, one of the Commissioners from the Caledon Municipal Telephone Co., with a view to a possible readjustment of some of the overlapping territory between the two Companies. Mr. Meek's proposition seemed to be very favorably received.

The following officers were re-elected for the year 1922:—President and Chairman Board of Directors, Mr. Jno. S. Meek; Vice-President, Mr. Wm. Donaldson; Directors, Messrs David Potter, Robert Rawn, Isaiah Hammond and Wesley Kee.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the presentation of an address of appreciation to Mr. Jno. A. Vance, who has recently removed to Brampton, in recognition of his services to the Company since its organization. Mr. John E. Jackson read the address, which was worded as follows:—

AN APPRECIATION

To Mr. Jno. A. Vance—

Thirteen years ago the Mono Mills Telephone Co. was first organized. You were its Secretary and have held that position almost continuously up to the present. During these years our Company has experienced a constant, steady growth and has developed from a handful of shareholders, banded together for mutually co-operative purposes, to a fully incorporated Company doing business in a manner fully approved of by the laws of our Province.

Those of us who have been most intimately acquainted with the growth of our Company do not hesitate to place to your credit much of the honor for the progress we have made. When first organized it was merely for the purpose of gaining long distance connection with outside points, but soon our Company had reached decidedly increased proportions. All this meant a vast amount of work, but we were indeed fortunate in having among our shareholders a man like yourself, who not only understood line-building, 'phone installation, repair wirk etc., but who possessed in a marked degree the qualifications of an efficient Secretary. In this capacity your clear-headed and farsighted judgement has no doubt solved many knotty problems for us.

In looking back over the great amount of work which you have accomplished, much of which you never received sufficient remuneration for, we feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass without an expression of our appreciation of your services, so well and truly rendered.

In your new home we wish you every enjoyment and if at any time you should decide to again take up your residence here we will be most pleased to have you once more identified with our Company.

Signed on behalf of the Mono Mills Independent Telephone Co.

J. S. Meek
Isaiah Hammond
D. N. Potter
R. J. Rawn
W. A. Donaldson

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence healing.

FREE TRIAL Cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c. stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c. box.

PRESBYTERY NOTES

At the January meeting of the Orangeville Presbytery Rev. John McCartney, of Keldon, was appointed Moderator of Presbytery for the ensuing six months.

Rev. P. W. Spence, M. A., B. D., Phd., of Claude, was nominated for the vacant chair of Systematic Theology and Apologetics in Westminster College, Vancouver.

Letters of sympathy were sent to Rev. W. M. Morris, Toronto, and to George Torrance, representative elder of Shelburne, on account of their recent bereavement. Presbytery also learned with sorrow of the deaths of Rev. J. J. Elliott and Rev. A. E. Neilly. Mr. Elliott was one of the former pastors of Hillsburg, and Mr. Neilly, of Hornings Mills. Letters of condolence were sent to Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Neilly.

A good deal of the afternoon session was taken up with a Conference which had in view the advancement of the religious life of ministers and congregations. The addresses exhibited deep thought, careful preparation and mastery of great subjects. The Conference was led by Rev. F. G. Fowler, B. A., of Flesherton, and addresses were delivered as follows: Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, "The Culture of the Inner Life;" Rev. W. N. Carr, "How can we Plan for Seasons of Quiet Thought?" and Rev. C. S. Jones, "How can we Promote Young People's Work in the Congregation?"

A history of the Waldemar congregation, prepared by Rev. J. A. Ross, now of Kilsythe, was read by the member of the Historical Committee, Rev. Dr. Lang, of Maple Valley.

It is expected that some of our congregations are to be visited soon with a view of co-operating with the Methodist Church wherever possible. This has been done in other places with marked success.

WELLINGTON WARDEN

Reeve of Erin Township, This Year Elected Warden of Wellington County.

The Guelph Herald had the following pen sketch of this year's Warden of Wellington County:—

Reeve James Milloy, of Erin Township, who was this afternoon honored by his fellow members of the Wellington County Council with the Wardenship for the year 1922, has been for a great many years a resident of the County of Wellington, and is considered one of the ablest business men in the County Council. He was born in East Garafraxa, where he resided for 21 years before he removed to Erin Township, where he now occupies a 110 acre farm on the 8th concession of Erin. He has been a member of the Erin Township Council for the past six years, and for the past four years has been a member of the County Council, and as a member of that body has rendered valuable service. In 1898 he resided in Guelph, where he occupied a position as bookkeeper for the late T. J. Day, but preferred the farm and went back there, where he has resided ever since. He is a graduate of the Guelph Business College. He has held places on some of the most important of the committees of the council and is well qualified for the high position to which he was elected this afternoon. He is an ardent member of the U. F. O. and was one of those who was mentioned as a possible candidate in the recent Dominion election; but withdrew his name before the vote was taken. He has a family of two daughters and one son. He is popular among the other members of the County Council and under his guidance the council should adequately safeguard the interests of the whole county.

JAMES MILLOY

The following is from the Guelph Evening Mercury:—

Reeve James Milloy, of Erin Township, was elected Warden of Wellington County at the inaugural session of the 1922 County Council of the Court House this afternoon. His election came on the second ballot when he secured 12 of the 22 votes in the Council. The other aspirants for the office were Reeve W. H. Richards, of Drayton, and Reeve John Wilson, of Erin Village.

Warden-elect Milloy is regarded as one of the outstanding men in county affairs, and is very popular with his colleagues on the Council. He has had several years of municipal experience, and is almost as well known in Guelph as he is in the rural districts. Born at East Garafraxa 48 years ago, Warden Milloy spent his early life in that Township. Fifteen years ago he took up farming in Erin Township, his farm of 100 acres being located on lot 31 concession 8, three miles north of Hillsburg, where he resides with his wife and three children, and where he is very active in everything that has for its advancement the welfare of the community. In 1892 the Warden-elect was a student at the Guelph Business College, and during 1893 he acted as book-keeper for the late T. J. Day.

For the past six years Warden Milloy has been a member of Erin Township Council, serving two years as Councillor, one year as Deputy-Reeve and three years as Reeve. In the County Council he has served on all the important committees.

WARDEN SIMPSON

Thos. F. Simpson, Reeve of Amaranth, who was elected Warden of Dufferin County at the recent sitting of the County Council, is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, early settlers in East Garafraxa. He was born on the 11th line in that township. While he was quite young his parents moved to lot 19, con. 10, Amaranth, then a bush farm. This farm the present Warden helped to chop, log and clear and still resides on the place. Mrs. Simpson was Miss Addie Still, a daughter of the late James Still, of Mono. Warden and Mrs. Simpson have a family of two sons and two daughters. One son, Elgin, is married and resides in Guelph.

The present Warden served the electors of Amaranth two years as Councillor, two years as Deputy-Reeve and is now occupying the Reeve's chair for the first year. He is a member of Campania Methodist Church, an Orangeman and a Conservative. He is a member and a Past Master of Campania L. O. L. No. 433, and a member of Grand Valley Preceptory, Royal Black Knights, in which he was Worshipful Preceptor for two years. Warden Simpson is modest and usassuming and bears his new honors easily. He is genial and pleasant in manner and quite popular with his fellow-members of the County Council. He is above all a man who is practical in his ideas and methods and this characteristic ensures a year of acceptable service in the Wardenship. The Banner congratulates Warden Simpson upon his elevation to the Wardenship and wishes him a pleasant and successful year in his exalted office.

HOSPITAL NOTES

TO THE CITIZENS OF ORANGEVILLE.

The Lord Dufferin Chapter, I.O.D.E. desire to express to you their appreciation for the splendid support given to "The Lotus Moon." Once again you have helped us to "go over the top." To the mothers who allowed their little daughters to come and help us, the orchestra for their valued assistance, Mr. Kentner for the piano for rehearsals and all others who helped, our very best thanks—and to every member of the caste we can only say that the splendid way in which you came to the practices, sacrificing all your pleasures to a sense of duty, to keeping your word and helping in a good cause, cheered us in a colossal undertaking—YOU made it a success and YOU have our deepest appreciation.

A donation of $10.00 from the Dufferin County Loyal Orange Lodge is thankfully acknowledged as is also a cheque of $3.00 for the linen fund from Miss Mildred Hanna.

The need for more accommodation is again brought home this week with seventeen patients in the hospital, when there is only supposed to be bed accommodation for ten.

Y. P. S. MEETING

The Literary Committee is preparing an excellent programme on Canadian Authors for the meeting next Monday night. Do not miss this, young people. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Members are asked to wear something to represent one of L. M. Montgomery's books.

—Next Sunday morning Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, will commence a series of Sunday morning sermons on the Gospel of St. John.

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which we have during February and March is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them in the house. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep its stomach and bowels working regularly. This will not fail to break up colds and keep the health of the baby in good condition till brighter days come along. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CONFIRMATION SERVICE

The Bishop of Niagara will (D.V.) be at St. Mark's Church on Sunday evening next, February 19th., and will be the preacher at the service.

CO. MASTER'S ADDRESS

To the Officers and Members of the County Orange Lodge of Dufferin.

Worshipful Sir and Brethren,—

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to this, the Annual meeting of our County Lodge, and I trust that under the guidance of God our meeting may be the means of a mutual strengthening of our powers and of our determination to carry on the work before us—a work that does not become any lighter or less necessary as each year goes by.

Our Order has this year taken a decided step forward in establishing a Central Committee, which is closely watching all suggested legislation, whether in the Dominion or Provincial parliaments, and is taking the necessary measures to safeguard our Protestant freedom, both civil and religious, from the unceasing attacks of the Roman hierarchy.

This Committee has in hand also the matter of propaganda, both inside our Lodges and befor the public, for which purpose they have appointed nine Organizers, or Field Secretaries, who are, as far as is possible, covering the whole Dominion. One of these Field Secretaries Rev. Dr. Simpson, is at present working in Dufferin County. I have not been able to be with him since his first meeting at Shelburne but from what I saw then and have heard since I am confident that his work here will have the desired effect of strengthening our Lodges and evoking renewed interest in our work.

There have been three great outstanding events during the past year. The first was the judgment rendered by the King's Privy Council in the Tremblay marriage case. For ten years every delay that the law permitted was used to prevent a judgment being given, even, at the last, an offer to have the parties remarried, but our Legislation Committee, in view of the supreme importance of the issues pressed for a judgment, which when it was finally given, surprised all the Protestant public by the complete and all-embracing nature of its terms and possibilities. Among other things it declared that M. Henri Bourassa was far from the truth when at Montreal in 1910 he, as a Cabinet Minister, informed the Papal representative to the Eucharistic Congress that "in Canada the State bows before the Church." It is to be regretted that the Provincial Attorney-General Hon. W. E. Raney, is advocating the abolishment of the right of appeal to the Throne. The main credit for the obtaining of this judgment rests with the late William Banks, who literally wore himself to death by his unceasing work. Another great loss to our Order during the year was that of Bro. Wm. Crawford, who was happiest when in the thickest of the fight and whom it will be very hard to replace. General Sir Sam Hughes, too, his great work done, has been called to his reward. His great record in the first years of the war did much to attract the attention of the world to this Dominion. Such men as these, and others who have worked as strongly, if less publicly, must inspire us all to a greater earnestness and a stronger perseverance in our work.

In May last Archbishop McNeil, of Toronto, launched an open attack on our Public School System by demanding that such an alteration be made in the Assessment Act as would cause the payment of huge sums of Protestant money to the teaching of Romanism in Separat Schools. The Separate School Act, which was forced on Upper Canada in 1863 by the votes of Quebec members of Parliament, was accepted, as a final settlement of the strife which had existed for many years, by the Archbishop of Quebec the Hon. D'Arcy McGee, Sir John A. Macdonald, the Hon. George Brown, and Dr. Egerton Ryerson, the founder of our Public Schools system. The Roman Church now says that the settlement was only final until she saw a chance to grab more. I am glad to know that Ontario is rousing, that the Protestants of Ottawa, Kingston, North Bay, Brantford and other places are already joining forces to repel this attack of the Roman Church on our public school system. These public schools are the life blood of the country, and if this Dominion is to accomplish its high destiny its life blood must be kept pure and rich.

I trust and hope that the present Conferences, which are being held between Sir James Craig and Michael Collins, are heralds of a happier time in Ireland, and the fact that Sir James, representing Ulster, and Lord Middleton, the recognized leader of the Southern Protestants, are trying to bring order out of chaos justifies, I believe, that hope.

During the year I attended the Provincial Grand Lodge at Niagara Falls, where much useful discussion took place and where it was decided to pay one way railway fare to an accredited representative of each Primary Lodge in the Province. I hope as many Lodges as possible will be represented by their W. M. or a proxy at the meeting in Sarnia in March.

The Grand Lodge of British America met in Toronto in July and I had the honour to represent you at that gathering. I am very sorry that I was the only member of a Dufferin County Lodge present. The Legislation and Organization Committee presented an exhaustive report showing the enormous amount of work they have to undertake. The various Organizers spoke of the special work and special difficulties facing them in each Province and convinced everyone present that they were well earning their salaries, whether one judged by work done or by results obtained. The Insurance Department was subjected to a lot of criticism, but satisfactory explanations were forthcoming. The Fund had been refused a Certificate of Solvency by the Government Inspector. Its insolvency was brought about by carrying insured members through the War by orders of the Grand Lodge in spite of the extra hazardous risk that the enlisted men took. The upshot was that $85,000 had to be paid in claims as a result of deaths in action. Grand Lodge ordered the payment of a portion of this at once and guaranteed the balance, so that the Government Inspector was able to issue his Certificate and the Insurance Fund is formally, as it always was actually, 100 per cent. solvent. There are many officers' amendments to be submitted to the next Grand Lodge at Kingston, and I hope a special Committee of this Lodge will be appointed to consider them.

I also attended a meeting of the County Masters and other leaders of the Association in London last week where matters of importance were discussed but which do not properly enter into this address.

The 12th of July Celebration in Orangeville will long be remembered as one of the best ever held in Orangeville and the local Committee are to be congratulated on the magnificent success which attended their arduous work. I wish to call attention to the report of our Order, The Sentinel, whose columns are full of facts, which every Orangeman should have at his immediate command if he is to intelligently discuss the various matters which arise from week to week.

Altogether I attended over fifty meetings of Orangemen, Lodges and other gatherings. I regret that I have not been able to visit every Lodge in the County. I have, however, done my best and with confidence now lay down the office with which you entrusted me a year ago. I thank all those with whom I have come in contact for their kindness and ask you to extend that same kindness to my successor who, I feel, will have the time and ability to do the County Master's work more efficiently than his immediate predecessor.

Fraternally yours,
T. H. BULLOCK.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear grandfather, George Dawson, who passed away on February 13th., 1918.

We grieve to part with those we love,
With those we hold most dear;
O may we one day meet above,
Without a doubt or fear.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cole.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Aikens, who departed this life on June 29th, 1921.

Six months have passed and gone, since our dear father was taken away;
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought his death so near;
And only those who have loved and lost, can tell
The pain of parting with one loved so well.

It was hard to lose our father, dear,
But God, Who knoweth best,
Held wide His loving arms and said, "Come unto Me and rest."

A loving husband and father true and kind,
A beautiful memory left behind;
Loved, and respected, one of the best,
May he be granted Eternal Rest.

Our hearts, our home seems empty,
For the dear one who is not here;
And in the lonely days that pass,
How we long for you, father, dear.

Dear is the spot where father is laid,
Sweet is the memory that never shall fade;
Fond hopes we cherish, that one day we will meet,
Kneeling together at Jesus' feet.

In private houses, four rooms small."
The postman's eyes grew weak and sore,
And weaker grew the hearts of some,
When the box was empty and Cupid cried,
"Next year your's will come."

JAMES WATSON'S DEATH

Andrew M. Watson, of McTaggart, received news from Vancouver on Tuesday that his father, Mr. James Watson, had died there on the previous day after reaching the fine old age of 92 years and 6 months. The late Mr. Watson was very well known in the Weyburn district, he having homesteaded ten miles south west of the present city in 1900, when the great trek westward was taking place. He was born at Orangeville, Ont., and leaves to survive him one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Bennett, of Weyburn; and three sons, Andrew M., of McTaggart, and John and Wesley, of Vancouver.—Weyburn, Sask., Review.

JOHN SAGE

John Sage, a well known and highly respected farmer of Caledon Township for the past sixty-five years, passed away on Monday, February 6th, after an illness of less than a week. Mr. Sage was in his 78th year, and despite his advanced years, was a very active man up to the illness that resulted in his death. He was born in Devonshire, England, coming to this country with his bride sixty-five years ago. They settled first a short distance from Campbell's Cross. Four years later he moved to the townline and engaged in droving and butchering. For eighteen years he lived in that section of Caledon, and then moved to the first line, east, Caledon, where he had resided continuously since. His wife predeceased him three years ago, and their only son died in 1911. Mr. Sage was an active worker of the Claude Presbuterian Church, and in his lifetime had witnessed many changes in the congregation. In politics he was a Liberal. Four daughters survive: Mrs. James Stevenson, Stayner; Mrs. Jas. Balmer, of Toronto; Mrs. Donald McLaren, of Caledon, and Miss Annie at home. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon following his death, to Boston Mills Cemetery and was largely attended.

WILLIAM BRYAN

In the death of Mr. William Bryan, briefly noted in last week's Banner, the township of Amaranth has lost another of its early settlers and a resident who was held in universal respect. The sad event occurred very unexpectedly at his late home, lot 2, con. 5, on Sunday, February 5th, after a very short illness. Although in his 76th year Mr. Bryan was active and able to go about until a few days before his death, when he suffered a stroke, which eventually proved fatal. Deceased was born in Cork, Ireland, but came to this country with his parents when a small boy. The family settled in Albion township, where he spent the remainder of his boyhood and where he also taught school for some time, before he moved to Amaranth about 45 years ago. Upon coming to this county he settled on lot 2, con. 5, Amaranth, where he has since resided. He is survived by one son, James, living on the farm, and three daughters, Mrs. Wilson Dynes, Amaranth, Mrs. William Brown, Orangeville, and Mrs. Alex. Bunk, East Garafraxa. Deceased was an intelligent, well-informed man, a successful farmer and very honorable and straightforward in all his dealings. A sister, Mrs. William Woulfe, of Amaranth, is now the last surviving member of a family of four brothers and two sisters. Mr. Bryan was an Anglican, a Conservative and a staunch Orangeman. He was initiated in Enniskillen Lodge in Albion in 1866 and had been a member of L. O. L. No. 330, Laurel, since he moved to Amaranth. There was a large attendance of neighbors and friends at the funeral, which was held from his late residence to Greenwood Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, February 7th. Rev. G. W. Lynd and Rev. J. A. Reddon, of Laurel, conducted the services at the house and grave. Deceased was buried with Orange honours, the burial service of the Society being read by County Masters John Bryan and J. A. Hughes and Bro. Lewis Johnston, all members of the Laurel Lodge. The pallbearers were the three sons-in-laws and three nephews, Messrs J. J. and Hugh Bryan and Chas. Woulfe.

MRS. DONALD BLAIR

The death of Mrs. Margaret Blair, relict of the late Donald Blair, occurred at her home at Tarbert on Friday, February 3rd. The late Mrs. Blair was born near Tarbert, Scotland, in 1839 and came to Canada with her parents in 1847. Her father owned the farm at the Horseshoe Curve in Caledon, where she lived until her marriage to the late Donald Blair, also of Scotland, in 1860. The newly married couple lived in Caledon East for several years, afterwards moving to the west of Caledon, where they resided until 1876. In this year they moved to a farm in East Luther, where the subject of our sketch continued to reside until her death. Deceased was reared in a Christian home and was for many years a faithful worker in the Presbyterian Church of Grand Valley and later of Tarbert.

She is survived by a family of nine, all of whom were present at her deathbed. They are Peter, of Rosemont; Alex., on the homestead in East Luther; Dr. J. K., of Arthur; Mrs. E. A. McDougall and Mrs. D. Barbaree, of East Luther; Mrs. Cowie, of Preston; the Misses Mary and Maggie at home, and Miss Lilly, teacher in S. S. No. 1. A large number of neighbors assembled at the home to pay a last tribute of respect to one, whom they had known so well and esteemed so highly. Among the many relatives present at the funeral were Mrs. J. R. Hughes, Orangeville; Mr. Angus Blair and Mr. Geo. Blair, Belfountain; Miss Etta Blair, Toronto; Mrs. J. Graham, Brampton; Mrs. J. Watson, Orangeville; Mrs. A. Davison, Alton; Miss Margaret McLeod, Belfountain; Messrs. Alex. and Allie McLeish, Caledon; Mr. Allen McKinnon and Miss Kate Blair, Orangeville; Mr. and Mrs. McGregor and Miss J. Redmond, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Angus Norris, Orangeville, and Mrs. N. McQuarrie, Caledon. The pallbearers were her nephews, Messrs. Alex. and Allie McLeish, and her grandsons, Messrs. Hector, Arthur, Herbert and Wilfrid McDougall. The services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. S. Lundie, of the Presbyterian Church, Grand Valley. Interment took place in the old cemetery at Tarbert, where the remains were placed beside those of her late husband.

MRS. MARY A. DUKE

Following a year's illness the death occurred on Sunday morning at the home of her son, Mr. J. E. Duke, 70 Salem Ave., Toronto, of Mrs. Mary A. Duke, widow of the late Wilson Duke, of Toronto, and formerly of Orangeville. Deceased, who was in her 76th year, was born near Orangeville and was a daughter of the late William and Jane Curry, pioneer settlers in Amaranth township. She was a sister of the late Robert Curry, of Whittington, and the late James Curry, of Toronto. The remains were brought to Orangeville by motor for interment on Tuesday, the burial taking place in Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy conducted the sevice at the grave. A large number of beautiful floral tributes bore testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held and the sorrow which her demise has occasioned. Mrs. Duke is survived by three sons, James E. and Ernest W., of Toronto, and John H., of Winnipeg. Mr. Thos. J. Henry, East Broadway, is a nephew.

MISS MARY BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brown, West Broadway, have the sympathy of their numerous friends in the trying bereavement that visited their home this week in the death on Sunday morning of their little daughter, Mary (Dimple) a bright and winsome child of four years and four months. The little one had been in delicate health for a considerable time, suffering from an affection of the heart. She was survived by the sorrowing parents, two brothers and two sisters. She was the second youngest of the family. A large number of friends and neighbors attended the funeral, which was held to Greenwood cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Numerous floral tributes bore mute testimony to the sorrow and sympathy of friends of the family. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, had charge of the service and was assisted by Revs. J. A. Reddon and G. W. Lynd, of Laurel. The loss is peculiarly trying on the bereaved parents on account of the death only a week previously of Mrs. Brown's father, the late Mr. William Bryan, of Amaranth.

GEO. M. NODWELL

Mr. George M. Nodwell, a well-known East Garafraxa farmer, died at his home on the 15th line of that township on Sunday morning after a short illness from pneumonia. Deceased, who was about 55 years of age, was a son of the late John Nodwell, 15th line, East Garafraxa. He leaves a widow and two sons. We understand that one of the sons has also been ill with pneumonia, but is recovering. Andrew, W. O., and Morgan Nodwell, farmers in East Garafraxa, John Nodwell, Grand Valley, and Edward Nodwell, of Erin, are brothers. Mrs. Frank Heppenstall, of Owen Sound, is the only sister. The funeral, which was private, was held to Price's Corners Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

GAS EXPERT PLEASED

Mr. F. L. Snively of Hamilton, one of the foremost oil and gas drillers of Canada, visited The Dover Oil Company's property at Caledon Tuesday morning.

He found, instead of the daily flow of 50,000 cubic feet of gas, which the company claimed, that the Henry well is producing at the rate of 106,000 feet per day.

As this flow is coming through a fissure in the shale overlying the gas bearing "Trenton", about five or six hundred feet lower, one can form some idea as to the possibilities of production when the gas bearing formation itself is reached.

Mr. Snively stated that the quality of gas produced is the finest he has ever examined and that in his opinion, the field will yield a large supply for many years.

The Dover Oil Company has made a location for another well and the successful development of this field is assured, together with the delivery of gas to users, in the near future.

TREAT RHEUMATISM THROUGH THE BLOOD

Liniments and Rubbing Only Give Temporary Relief.

Rheumatism is a trouble extremely difficult to get rid of. If a tendency to rheumatism is established in the system it makes itself manifest by a return of the acute pains with every spell of bad weather. This is why so many people think the trouble is due to cold or damp. The fact is known, however, to medical men, that with the appearance of rheumatism there is a rapid thinning of the blood, and that the rheumatic poisons are only expelled from the system when the blood is restored to its normal condition. This means that to drive rheumatism from the system it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been very successful, as they build up and enrich the blood, thus easing the aching, swollen joints, and benefitting the health of the sufferer in other ways as well. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have satisfactorily used this medicine is Mrs. James Gillan, Charlottetown, P. E. I., who says: "For three long months I suffered terribly from rheumatism. I was so bad that I could not do my housework, and even to attempt to walk caused me agony. I spent a great deal of money on liniments and medicines without getting the least benefit, and my condition was pitiable. At this stage my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking this medicine, and shall always praise the day I did so. Before long there was no doubt that I had at last found something that would give me relief. I gladly continued using the pills with the result that I am now as well as ever I was, able to do my housework and care for my children. Since that time one of my daughters fell into an anaemic condition and was obliged to discontinue going to school. I gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and now she is as healthy a girl as there is in the city. You may be sure I lose no opportunity in praising this medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORANGE SERVICE

Grand Lodge Field Secretary Addressed local Orangemen in St. Mark's Church

The Orange Lodges of the Orangeville District have been entertaining an interesting and gifted visitor during the last week in the person of Rev. Dr. Simpson, one of the Field Secretaries of the Order. The Orangeville Lodges took advantage of the opportunity to arrange for a service in St. Mark's Church on Sunday morning, when they and the congregation were addressed by Dr. Simpson, who preached earnestly and impressively from the familiar Bible passage, "Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses." Present day Canadians and Britishers enjoyed a noble heritage of freedom—a freedom that had cost them nothing. But what was the price paid for this liberty by our fathers? To-day we enjoyed life with liberty because our fathers refused to live without liberty. As instances of the nature of the age-long struggle for our present day freedom, Dr. Simpson instanced the great fight that Paul fought at the very beginning of Christianity. Paul, he described, as preeminently a Christian warrior. The speaker gave a vivid word picture of Rome and the conditions that existed under the regime of Nero, the most depraved and most cruel monarch of all history. Then there was the fight fought by Martin Luther, whom the speaker described as one of the precious and choice spirits of the world. The keynote of Luther's life and Luther's success might be summed up in the words, "The just shall live by faith." Coming on down to middle age England another great fight was fought by the seven Bishops of the Church of England against the tyranny of James and his Popish advisers. Then there was the glorious fight, which Rev. George Walker and those associated with him fought during the siege of Londonderry. The defence of Derry, Dr. Simpson described as being one of the greatest and most glorious instances of heroism recorded in the pages of history. The great hope for permanency and stability in our institutions rested upon the religious life in the hearts of the people. True patrotism consisted in doing all we can for God and our fellow-men. In his concluding remarks Dr. Simpson made an eloquent appeal for leaders, commanders and counsellors to guide the people of Canada through present day perils and temptations into a higher and a nobler life. It was the duty and a paramount duty of the people of Ontario to pass on to their children unimpaired the Public Schools system which the Province now enjoys. The people of the present time would never take another forward step either as a nation, as a church or as a fraternity unless they have the same spirit and the same divine vision that those great leaders of the past possessed.

At the conclusion of the service the brethren, some sixty strong, reformed and marched back to Aaron L. O. L. 427 hall, were resolutions were unanimously passed thanking Dr. Simpson for his excellent discourse, the choir of St. Mark's for its assistance and the officials of the church for their kindness in placing the edifice at the disposal of the Order for the service.

ALTON

The Concert given in the Alton Town Hall on Friday evening, February 10th., under the auspices of the Alton Women's Institute was a decided success in every way. The popular Hill Bros. Quartette, of Hamilton, supplied a very delightful programme. This was the second appearance here of this very fine Quartette and the Hall was taxed to capacity. The first part of their programme was all in one act and was entitled "A Night at Home," and featured each of the members of the Quartette and also their excellent pianiste, Mr. H. Wiltshire. Mr. Trudman Hill, the high tenor, gave some very pleasing numbers, accompanying himself on the ukulele, and brought forth round after round of applause. Mr. Roscoe Hill gave two fine saxophone solos, which were also greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Russell Hill was just as entertaining as at his last appearance here. One song particularly good was "The Old Town Hall," which seemed to fit in to the occasion perfectly. Mr. Fred Hill sang "My Ain Folk" and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" in a very pleasing manner. Altogether their programme was of a more humorous nature than on their last appearance and seemed to possess greater variety, which made the whole concert pleasing to young and old. It might be mentioned here that these four young men were born and brought up in Alton, which makes us doubly proud and pleased to have them come home to entertain us in this artistic way.

The many friends of Mrs. P. V. Lemon are sorry to learn of her serious illness and hope she will soon be about again.

Miss Dorothy Dods spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Dods.

TO GUELPH

Charlie Brown Receives Important Promotion.

All Hamiltonians, who knew Charlie Brown, collection supervisor in the local Bell Telephone office, will regret that he is leaving the city today for Guelph, but will rejoice at his promotion to the post of chief clerk in the Bell office in that city. Charlie became quite popular locally during the three years he worked in the local office after his return from overseas, where he served for nearly three years, enlisting shortly after joining the Bell Company in 1914.

As a token of the esteem in which he is held among his fellow employees the local Bell staff surprised Charlie just before he left for the Royal City to-day by presenting a gold watch to him.—Hamilton Herald, Feb. 9th.

Mr. Brown is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Brown. His friends here congratulate him upon his promotion.

DRUGGIST, ORANGEVILLE

Death's summons came with terrible suddenness to Mr. George W. Irvine, a well known farmer of Mt. Charles, last week. About 3.30 Mr. Irvine and his brother, William, were in their barn hand-threshing some peas. They were chatting and talking about their work and the news of the day, when suddenly George dropped his flail and clasped his hand to his breast. William exclaimed, "Did you hit yourself?" "No," replied George. "I didn't hurt myself," and his body slumped to the floor and when William went to help the stricken man he realized that death had called his brother.

NOTHING NEW IN H. C. O. L.

People of the Long Ago Raised the Same Wail, Apparently to As Little Purpose.

It is always soothing to learn that our ancestors were kicking about the same things that rile us today. Next time you are inclined to believe that high prices have been sent by the powers above to vex this day and generation alone, just ponder upon these words written by John F. Watson of New York city in 1843, under the heading "Changes of Prices," in a book of his published in 1847:

"It is curious to observe the changes which have occurred in the course of years, both in the supply of common articles sold in the markets and in some cases in the great augmentation of prices—for instance, Mr. Brower, who has been quite a chronicle to me, has told me such facts as the following, viz.:

"He remembered well when abundance of the largest Blue Point oysters could be bought, opened to your hand, for 2s a 100 such as would now bring from three to four dollars. Best sea bass were but 2d a pound, now at 8d. Sheephead sold at 3d to 1s 3d apiece, and will now bring $2. Rock fish were plenty at one shilling apiece for good ones. Shad 3d apiece. They did not then practice the planting of oysters. Lobsters were not then brought to market.

"Mr. Jacob Tabelee, who is as old as I, and of course saw earlier times than the other, has told me a sheephead used to be sold at 6d, and the best oysters at 1s a 100. In fact they did not stop to count them, but gave them in that proportion and rate by the bushel. Rock fish at 3d a pound, butter 8d to 9d. Beef by the quarter in winter 3d a pound, by the piece 4d. Cows about 9d apiece. Wild fowls in great abundance. He has bought many pigeons in their season for one shilling; a goose was 2s. Oak wood was abundant at 2s the load.

Thus Mr. Watson of the early nineteenth century thinks longingly of how easy it must have been to live when Brother Tabelee was young. He continues:

"In 1762 the market price of provisions was established by law and published in the Gazette. Wondrous cheap they were, viz: A cock turkey 1s, a hen turkey 2s 6d, a duck 1s, a quail 1½d, a heath hen 1s 3d, a teal 6d, wild goose 2s, a brant 1s 3d, snipe 1d, oysters 2s a bushel, sheephead and sea bass three coppers per pound, milk per quart 4 coppers, clams 9d a 100, cheese 4½d.

"Those celebrated 'Blue Points' were destroyed by an intended kindness. A law was passed to exempt them from continual use, and by not being continually fished up they got embedded in the mud and wholly died out!"

Mother's Gratitude.

Somewhere in America there is a nurse from overseas who wears a short strand of small, round pink beads. She calls it her "croix de guerre." Just before Chateau-Thierry, when the refugees were pouring out of eastern France, a young girl with big, dark eyes came with a sick baby to one of the hospitals behind the lines. During the first few weeks at the hospital the baby whimpered and wailed constantly, but with the nurse's unremitting care it gradually grew well and strong.

The day the little mother was leaving she sought out the nurse whose untiring patience and kindness had meant the return of her baby's health. "This, ma'm'selle," she said, holding a string of pink beads in her outstretched hand. "I want you to have it; it is the only thing I have left besides my baby, and you have saved him for me."

"Just a tiny happening in the big story of the world war," says the Modern Hospital in relating the incident, "but one which will long live in the memory of the nurse whom it so closely touched."

Will Give Radium Treatment.

A radium institute is in the course of erection at Los Angeles, Cal., which will make use of about $150,000 worth of radium. King C. Gillette is the president of the organization, as well as the financial backer. It is the only institution of this character in the West. The main building will cover an area of 65 by 38 and 50 by 36 feet. In addition to its offices and elaborately equipped laboratories, it will have a large number of beds for patients who find it necessary to remain at the institute for a time. The purpose of the institution is to provide facilities for radium therapy, and the study and treatment of neoplastic disease. The benefits to be derived will be available to all requiring such treatment and a fee consistent with the financial condition of the patient will be charged.

Bees Had Left Rent.

Last July Fred N. Burton of Corry, Pa., found bees were buzzing around a cornice of his home and drove them away by using an oil torch. Recently he decided to put a new roof on his house and while the work was in progress he found honey that had been hoarded by the bees he had driven away. It weighed 84 pounds.

A Pertinent Inquiry.

"What did the editor think of that story you submitted for his approval?"

"I'm afraid he didn't think much of it."

"Did he say that in so many words?"

"No. He merely wrote back, 'My dear sir: Do you realize that there is a white paper shortage?'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ONE MAN'S EVIDENCE GETS ANOTHER INTO TROUBLE

George Burtch Swears He Got Whiskey From Another Man.

Robert Holden, a Collingwood township resident, appeared before Police Magistrate Cressor at Owen Sound, charged with a breach of the O. T. A. The case arose out of the evidence given by George Burtch, who was sentenced to three months in jail on the previous Monday, following a conviction on a similar charge.

Burtch was brought up from the jail and was the first witness for Inspector Beckett who was conducting the case against Holden. Burtch lived on Holden's farm in Collingwood until about last Christmas when Holden ordered him off for not making payments. Burtch said Holden had brought over a bottle of whiskey to his place about the middle of December. Burtch did not pay for the whiskey. The next day Burtch took the whiskey to Reid's and as a result is spending the rest of the winter in jail. Burtch said he had never made any liquor and that he had no grudge against Holden.

Holden, when put in the witness box, denied that he had taken any whiskey whatever to Burtch's. He said that Burtch had treated him to swamp whiskey several times but that he, Holden, had never in his life taken liquor to Burtch. Holden had known that Burtch was making whiskey and he had warned Burtch's son to get out before his father was arrested. The son had told Holden that his father had a still in the barn and that the mash was made from flour, brown sugar and potatoes. It was the boy who had squealed to the officers that his father was not complying with the law. As the evidence was of such a directly opposite character the case was adjourned until Thursday afternoon.

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this latter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

Made London Laugh.

I was working in American headquarters in London in March, 1919. As we were quartered on the opposite side of the city, we had quite a little ride or walk to where we worked. I arose one morning rather late and rushed off half cocked to work. On the way I noticed that every one around me was smiling, some actually laughing. Imagine my chagrin when in the busiest street, at Trafalgar square, to have a major touch me on the shoulder and call my attention to the fact that I had neglected to put on my leather leggings, which left about two inches of white sock and two inches of equally white underclothes between the shoes and trouser legs.

Believe me, it did not take me long to climb in a taxi and get back to my lodging house.—Exchange.

"THE LOTUS MOON"

Successful Performances in the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday Nights.

The performance of the NeVille musical production, "The Lotus Moon," attracted capacity audiences to the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday nights. The Play was accorded a hearty reception and the general verdict seemed to be that it eclipsed the preceding production, "The Isle of Love," given here early last autumn. The costumes were beautiful, the dancing artistic and the music catchy and pretty. One of the strong features of the performance was of course the songs and choruses and too much praise cannot be given the artists for the finished manner in which these were given.

The story of "The Lotus Moon" centres about Ki-Ku-San, a beautiful young Japanese maiden, who was stolen from the gardens of her father by Chinese pirates and taken to India, where she was held for a ransom. The father of the young lady is Count Tomoka, formerly an ambassador to Great Britain and who, while in England was rescued from drowning by a young midshipman. Ki-Ku-San escapes from her pirate captors and wanders into a portion of the country inhabited by moon-worshippers. These people happened to be making preparations for their great celebration, the feast of the Lotus Moon, which included in its ceremonial the burning of the most beautiful maiden in their midst. The unhappy Ki-Ku-San was selected for this difficult honour. In the meantime her father had appealed to England for assistance in recovering his daughter. The British naval authorities despatched a young Canadian naval officer to India, who arrives in the domain of the moon worshippers at the right moment to save Ki-Ku-San. After making the rescue he discovers incidentally that the young lady was a co-ed at College at the time he was a student there. The discovery revived a mutual attachment formed in the College days. This culminated in the engagement of the young couple. Count Tomoka refused to allow his daughter's marriage until he learned that the young man to whom she had pledged her affections was his rescuer in England, when he gave his consent and ordered a general fete in honour of the happy couple. The performance was given in two acts, the first taking place in India a short distance outside the city of Bombay and the second in the gardens of Count Tomoka in the City of Tokio.

The role of Ki-Ku-San was admirably taken by Miss Audrey McLean, whose singing and acting were of a high order. Miss Kathleen Reid gave a charming impersonation of the parts of Hyieto and Virginia Fair and Miss Winnifred Bennett was graceful and versatile as Reta Ross. Little Miss Margaret Irvine was delightful in the role of Wanawana and Miss Ruth McGuire acted exceedingly well in the difficult part of Ida Know, a colored lady. Mr. Wm. Clowes looked and acted the part of Lieut. Rankin, the officer and gallant naval officer with effective style and Capt. Adam gave a capital impersonation of the dignified and rather haughty Indian rajah. Mr. Walter Dahl was realistic in the role of Au Fu Chow, the pirate bold, who abducted the beautiful Japanese maiden, and was cleverly abetted by Mr. Douglas Hogg in the part of No Sing, a wily and devious minded Chinese. Mr. Robert McLagan looked and acted the part of Count Tomoka in finished style and Mr. Stewart Porter was apt and facile as Prince Ito. The comedy of the performance was furnished by Mr. Gordon Hayes in the part of Corp. Waite, colored, Miss Ruth McGuire as Ida Know and Mr. A. J. Markey in the double role of M. Louis Mouillesseaux, an excitable but very polite and gentlemanly Frenchman, and Sailor Murphy, a talkative and irrepressible Irishman. Mr. Hayes was inimitable in his part and Mr. Markey showed that he is a finished and an experienced actor. Some of the dialogues between the Irish sailor and Corp. Waite were extremely funny and convulsed the audience. Miss Minnie Rhomer sang and danced prettily as Gertie and Mrs. Alex. Walker acquitted herself with credit as Noona. One of the features of the programme was the Love Dance by Mr. Markey and Miss Bennett, a difficult performance skilfully done.

We reproduce the list of the musical numbers, which will give our readers some idea of the varied character of this part of the entertainment:—

The following are the names of those who appeared as moon worshippers, Moonbeams, Geisha, girls, marines, Chinese girls, College girls, Japanese girls, pirates etc:—

Misses Luella Johnston, Mary Clark, Nora Campbell, Kathleen Connell, Gladys Irwin, Dorothy Barber, Joyce Walker, Alda Tuck, Mildred Youmans, Ruby Allen, Miriam Leighton, Coral Irwin, Bessie McQuarrie, Bertha Boyce, Phyllis Smith, Mae McDermid, Emily Bennett, Marguerite Arnott, Eileen Daniels, Margaret Irvine, Doris Hopkins, Nan Marshall, Margaret Price, Margaret Willoughby, Gwen Parsons, Louise Bethley, Bessie Davidson, Grace Laverty, Mamie Lewis, Mary Hughes, Wilma Allen, Florence Watt, Alice McGuire, Dorothy Fisher, Helen Wheelock, Lola eve, Irene Murphy, Helen McConnell, Kyles, Bernice Rowan, Waneita Good-Isabella Price, Minnie Rhomer, Barbara McNaughton, Irene Sproule, Ethel Trimble, Miss Hewat, Mrs Hogg Mrs. Macleod, Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Arnott, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Sproule, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Island.

Our report would be incomplete without some reference to the work of the orchestra and the musical directress and accompanist, Miss Vera Hogg. The music was very pretty and was given in finished manner that told of faithful and consistent practice on the part of Miss Hogg and the orchestra. On all hands the Directress and orchestra came in for the highest praise for their fine work and the invaluable assistance they gave in making the performance the success that it was. Members of the orchestra were:—1st violin, Miss Clara Hulse; 2nd violin, Miss Delia Hulse; clarionet, George Morrison; cornet, Amos Mason; trombone, Thos. H. Greenis; bass violin, Jos. H. Hulse; drum and traps, Clarence McConnell; pianiste, Miss Vera Hogg.

"The Lotus Moon" was given under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire who looked after all the necessary arrangements in their usual capable manner. At both performances members of the Order, dressed in becoming kimona costumes as befitted the oriental setting and atmosphere of the Play, looked after the sale of tickets, the door and the ushering, and their work in most acceptable manner. The net proceeds, which amount to a handsome sum, will go to augment the funds of the Lord Dufferin Hospital. The ladies of Lord Dufferin Chapter deserve praise for their courage in undertaking such an ambitious performance and hearty congratulations upon the successful outcome of their undertaking. Much praise is also due to Mr. A. J. Markey, under whose direction the performance was staged and who proved himself a courteous and thoroughly capable director.

Tuesday afternoon a matinee was put on for the benefit of the school children of the town, who took advantage of the opportunity to attend the performance in large numbers. Needless to say the little folk were delighted with the music and the songs and dancing. At the close of Tuesday night's presentation the young people and others who had assisted in the performance were entertained to a Supper followed by a delightful dance.

(Intended for last week.)

The Short Course came to a close last Friday night after several weeks of instructive practical studies and demonstrations in farm work, stock judging, house-keeping home-nursing etc. The real benefit of the course will be seen when the knowledge gained is being brought into practice. Hillsburg's course was said to be the best yet for enthusiasm, interest and enrolment, among all of the 52 similar courses now being held. We told you so.

The young people's Dramatic Club of Hillsburg are putting on the Play "Hearts and Diamonds" in the hall on Tuesday evening, February 7th. It will be a moonlight night. Nuff sedd.

Next Sunday night, Rev. F. C. Harper will begin a short series of sermons on "The Refusals of Christ," the first being "When Christ refused to Answer." (Luke 23:8.)

On Sunday, February 12th, at the morning service, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in St. Andrew's Church. The Preparatory service will be held on the preceding Friday night, at 8 o'clock.

"Say Mother, this is Great!"

"I wonder if Frank is ill? I can't understand why we haven't heard from him."

"Don't worry, Mother, he's all right. He has just forgotten to write."

But Mother couldn't help worrying. No letter for ten days from her "boy" at College!

"Call him up right now," said Father—"just ask for the number. The landlady will get him to the phone. It's half-past eight and you'll get the evening rate on a Station-to-Station call."

In just six minutes Mother and son were having a heart-to-heart talk. Frank had written a week ago—but—had forgotten to post the letter!

"Well, what a relief," said Mother, as she turned from the telephone, "and to think how simple it was to set our minds at rest. I think I'll call him every week."

She does. Both look forward to those happy few minutes, from week to week. The reduced evening rates on her Station-to-Station calls are so very low that, as Mother says, "it would be foolish to deny myself the pleasure."

THE FARMERS' MUTUAL

Another Successful Year Reported at Annual Meeting in Shelburne.

There was a splendid gathering of the policy-holders of the Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. at the annual meeting of the company held in the town hall, Shelburne, on Saturday afternoon last, and these, augmented by several other interested listeners swelled the attendance to over 200. The President, W. J. Jelly, called the meeting to order, and seated on the platform with him were Fire Marshall G. F. Lewis, of Toronto, and the Secretary and Manager, Thos. Whalley, of Shelburne.

The Auditors' report of the Company, as read by Auditor Samuel Patterson, showed that during the year $20,731.74 had been paid to the policy-holders through fire, being greatly in excess of the previous year. In most cases the losses were by lightning. The amount of insurance in force on Dec. 31st last was $6,502,316.00 and the number of policies 2226. The total receipts for the year amounted to $32,281.03. The expenditure for the year, including losses of $20,731.74, was $29,180.10. The total assets of the Co. are as follows: Cash in banks, $3,150.93; notes of Corporation of Shelburne, payable on demand, $1,500.00; Victory Loan Bonds, $3,000.00; premium notes in force after deducting all payments on same, $208,251.80, making the total assets $215,902.73, with no liabilities. The total losses paid to date since the organization of the Co. are $156,461.81. The Dufferin is now one of the strongest Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Companies in Ontario and its policy holders are particularly fortunate in this respect.

The four retiring Directors, Messrs J. A. Marshall, Mono; John Johnston, Amaranth; Geo. Lyon, East Luther, and Wm. Park, East Garafraxa, were re-elected and Thos. Best was elected to fill the unexpired term of one year made vacant by the death of his brother, the late Geo. Best of Mulmur. Other candidates for the vacancy were Messrs. Rice Hill, Geo. E. Foster and Jas. Barber. Mr. Best had a comfortable majority over the latter three and was declared elected.

Messrs. Samuel Patterson and W. E. Reid were re-appointed Auditors.

Fire Marshal George F. Lewis addressed the meeting and for almost two hours kept the audience not only interested but thinking deeply on the subject of "Fire Prevention on the Farm." Mr. Lewis gave a summary of conditions in 1921 as compared with 1920. In 1921 there were 922 barn fires with a loss of $2,033,000, an increase in number of 300 fires and in cash of $800,000, or an increase of 86 per cent. over 1920. Farmers refused to take any action to curtail such loss until the fateful damage is done. He recommended the hanging of lanterns in various places in the barn when employed doing work therein instead of placing the same on obstacles from which they might easily be upset. He also discouraged the use of the barn as a garage. Purely accidental fires are not as great in number, while matches and smoking caused 15 per cent. of all fires occurring in the province. Lightning rods of standard weight are an efficient means of preventing fires from lightning. Statistics prove this fact. 50 per cent. of Ontario fires are caused by lightning. With the aid of a static machine the speaker then demonstrated in a practical way the workings of lightning on houses and barns which were rodded and unrodded.

Following his address it was moved and seconded and carried unanimously that a vote of thanks be extended to Mr. Lewis for his able address.

Following are the officers re-elected at the directors' meeting: Pres., W. J. Jelly; Vice-Pres., Samuel Barber, Rosemont; Adjustor, John Johnston, Laurel; Secretary and Manager, Thos. Whalley, Shelburne.

At the directors' meeting the following resolution was moved by John Park and seconded by Thos. Stone:—

"Whereas, the losses from fire sustained by the Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. during the year 1921 have been more than double the amount of any previous year and,

Whereas, it appears from the Fire Marshal's reports, that a large portion of said losses were caused from spontaneous combustion in hay mows, therefore, be it resolved that the Provincial Government be, and are hereby requested, to provide funds so that the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph may be enabled to study the question of spontaneous combustion in farm barns and do such other experimental and research work as is necessary to provide the farmers with information of a practical character, to the end that losses from this cause may be prevented.

Be it further resolved that copies of this memorial be sent to the Prime Minister, the Minister of Agriculture and to the Provincial Treasurer, by the Secretary of the company."—Free Press.

PERFUMES OF FRANCE

Important Industry Suffered Greatly During the War.

The rare perfumes of France suffered severely during the war, and only the industry and thrift of the French prevented them from dying out altogether. This would indeed have been a world-wide calamity, as the French perfumes are noted for their delicacy and fragrance.

"Cannes and Grasse," says a writer in the Illustrated World, "are the centres of the French perfume industry, which is situated in southern France along the Mediterranean. In that 'flower garden of the world' there is only one formula used in making perfumes. It is very simple: the scents shall be unique and shall be produced in limited quantity; therefore they will be expensive. Essence of rose, in the Riviera raw material market, is often quoted as high at $750 for two and one-fifth pounds.

"The attar, or the essential oil, of a flower is obtained by crushing the leaves or petals and boiling them in a copper cauldron. The residue from the boiled leaves and petals is mixed with clarified pork fat, and the mass is stirred with wooden paddles. Boiling the extract with fat concentrates the perfume. After boiling, the grease is churned with refined alcohol until the latter absorbs nearly all the odor. The residue of fat is made into fine soaps that have a high commercial value. The old method, which is still practical, consists in saturating a coarse linen cloth with olive oil and stretching it over a frame; thin layers of flower petals are then placed on the cloth until it has absorbed the essence of the flower. The cloth is then treated to an alcohol bath that in turn absorbs the perfume. In this process the flower petals must be changed frequently.

"Grasse still uses the enfleurage method, by which the delicate essence of the rarest flowers slowly filter through a quarter-inch layer of fat in shallow pans. The process takes from twelve to seventy-two hours, depending on the variety of the blooms and the season of the year."

Point of View.

Flatbush—I see by the papers that there is a great shortage of coal.

Bensonhurst—What of it? There are worse things than that.

"What, f'rinstance?"

"Why, they say there is a great shortage of moving picture houses, and a movement is on foot to furnish the world with 10,000 more."

BEFORE BABY COMES

Watchful Care Necessary

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and should be taken by the expectant mother. It will assist her in keeping well and strong. This is very necessary, not only for her own comfort but for the future as well.

Read the experience of Mrs. Barton of New Brunswick, and please bear in mind that every letter published recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine and unsolicited. It is the expression of gratitude from women who have been helped.

Cumberland Bay, N. B.—"I was troubled with weak feelings, headache, all the time, a cough, fainting spells and pains in my back and side. I could not do a single bit of work and had to be helped out to the hammock where I lay in the fresh air from morning until night and I had to be carried up and down stairs. After other medicines had failed a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she said it was excellent for anyone in the family way. Before the first bottle was taken I could walk alone and as I kept on with it I got stronger, until I was able to do all my work. My baby is now six weeks old and is a big fat healthy fellow. I am sure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and I recommend it."—MRS. MURRAY J. BARTON, R. R. No. 1, Cumberland Bay, N. B.

Georgetown's oldest citizen, Henry Sherman, was laid to rest a week ago Saturday afternoon in his 88th year. Mr. Sherman came to Georgetown 80 years ago, when it was but a hamlet. At that time many stumps decorated its principal streets, and numerous wild animals — wolves, bears and deer—roamed the hills and valleys nearby. No railway connected Georgetown with the outer world in those pioneer days. All travelling had to be done on foot, horseback or stage, and Oakville was the nearest shipping point. Everything had to be taken to and from there. One son, Henry, of Milton, and three daughters, Mrs. D. A. Scott, Primrose; Mrs. R. R. Gardener, of Galt and Miss Jennie, at home, survive.

BUILDING HOMES

Costs are as much as $1,000 less than a year ago on a $3,000 home, say building supply men.

For those who have been turning over in their minds during the last few years the momentous question of building a home, the lumber and building supply men have some good news. Many have been kept from building during 1920 because of the falling market of lumber and supplies.

The manager of one company was able to give a very concrete idea of the present position of low prices. He said: "We made a practice of selling the complete outfit for construction of a thoroughly well-built home. Last year, take for instance, this home would have cost you $3,648.80. We have just set our prices for 1922. They stand at $2,677.66; or, in round figures, one-third less than last year. Here's another—last year, $2, 237.99, and this year $1,557.79. The reason is that lumber prices have hit the bottom—in fact, are trending higher again. Other minor necessities are still due for a slight fall in prices, but anyone who waits for all prices to reach bottom will get nipped, because of the upward tendency of the lumber market—for lumber is the major element in construction of a home. Lumber prices on the upward trend will more than offset the small gain in cheaper general supplies."

His judgment is upheld by the trade in general. Renewed activities of contractors and builders throughout Canada would indicate that they are preparing for more building this year.

LADIES AID MEETING

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church will hold its regular monthly meeting in the schoolroom of the Church on Friday afternoon, February 24th., at 3.30 o'clock. The Society is planning to put on a musical comedy on the evening of March 17th.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE

Mr. Sam Barbour's Auction Sale in Caledon on February 3rd realized over $3,000 and Mr. Barbour estimates that he has fully $2,000 worth of chattels that were not put up. In many cases prices were unusually high for this year. One cow brought $147, a horse was sold for $250 and its mate was knocked down for $165, making $415 for the team.

REALIZED $3,000

Mr. John Curry's auction sale on the Prince of Wales Road, Mono, on Wednesday of last week, attracted a very large crowd. Bidding was brisk and Mr. Curry realized excellent prices for this year. Milch cows were bid as high as $100 each. The total proceeds were in the neighborhood of $3,000.

A FARM DEAL

Mr. Geo. W. Hepton, of Shelburne, formerly of Laurel, has sold his 200 acre farm, lot 26, con. 4, Amaranth, known as the Richard Fife homestead, to Mr. Alfred Ferrier, of Melancthon township. The price paid was $13,500. Mr. Hepton takes in exchange on the deal Mr. Ferrier's 100 acre farm in Melancthon. Immediate possession is given in each case.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels, and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

M'MASTER EVANGELISTIC BAND

FARM SALES

Mr. P. B. Norris has sold his 200 acre farm near The Maples, East Garafraxa, to Mr. Austin Buchanan, of the same neighborhood. Mr. Norris will hold a Clearing Auction Sale of his Farm Stock, Implements Etc., the later part of March. Watch for particulars.

Mr. W. J. Irwin has sold his 100 acre farm, the west half of lot 8, con. 2, west, Mono, known as the M. J. Leighton farm, to Mr. Arthur Crago, of Amaranth, for $9,300. The purchaser will get possession on the 1st of March. Mr. Irwin bought the farm from Mr. Leighton three years ago for $7,650.

CANADA FOLLOWING GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Grocers' Gazette for January 8th., states that the consumption of Tea in Great Britian and Ireland has increased 34 per cent. since 1913. They now use about nine pounds per head per annum in the United Kingdom, and the increase in 1921 over the previous year amounted to 17 million pounds. This enormous consumption accounts for the great rise in the price of tea.

The consumption of Tea in Canada only amounts to 4½ pounds per head per annum, but it is increasing.

CHANGE OF SUPERINTENDENTS.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company announces effective the 15th inst. the appointment of Mr. Robert McKillop to the superintendency of the lines comprising what is known as it's Bruce Division, including the lines from Toronto to Orangeville, Owen Sound, Teeswater, Alliston, the Muskoka District and other important places. Mr. McKillop succeeds Mr. F. M. Rutter, who has been transfered to the superintendency at London, Ontario.

Mr. McKillop has been in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company since 1905 and has had a varied experience in railway engineering and operation, having had charge of important divisions at Montreal, Woodstock, N. B., and London, Ontario. He comes to his new territory well fitted to take over the duties incidental to it.

Mr. McKillop served with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in France from 1916 to 1919, during which period he as captian, was in charge of one of the Canadian Railway Companies whose excellent work at the Front is so well and widely known.

Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, had charge of the service and was assisted by Revs. G. W. Lynd and J. A. Reddon, of Laurel. A large number of floral tributes bore mute testimony to the sorrow and sympathy of friends of the grief-stricken parents. These included sprays from Grandma Brown and Jimmy Golden, James Bryan and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. MRS. JOHN LINN

One of the earliest residents of Orangeville passed to the Great Beyond last week in the person of Mrs. Mary Jane Linn, widow of the late John Linn. The end came quietly and peacefully at her late home, First Ave., east, on Friday last. She had attained to the ripe age of 83 years and 5 months and was bedfast only three weeks prior to her demise. Deceased came of sturdy Irish stock. She was born in County Armagh, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKenna, emigrating to Canada when she was a girl of 9 years. Shortly after their arrival in this country the family settled on the Mono-Caledon townline, about two miles east of Orangeville, on the farm now occupied by Mr. Herb Allen. A few years later they moved to Orangeville, then a small village clustering on the face of the East Broadway hill. When a young woman the subject of our sketch was married to John Linn, an other of the pioneer settlers. Her husband has been dead for a number of years and she is survived by a family of four sons, David, living in the United States, Nathaniel and William, of Orangeville, and Daniel, in Montreal. The late Mrs. Linn was a Presbyterian and a quiet, industrious woman, who was well thought of as a neighbor and citizen. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy had charge of the funeral service on Sunday afternoon. Interment took place in the Forest Lawn Cemetery and quite a large number of old friends and neighbors were present to pay a last mark of respect to the departed woman. The pallbearers were Messrs Thos. Bennett, Geo. McAuley, Walker Smith, Allen McKinnon, John Bower and W. G. Cranston.

CALEDON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Clarke, a former well-known resident of Caledon, took place last Wednesday immediately after the arrival of the morning train from the south. Deceased had been living with her son, Fred, in Parry Sound for some time and died there. A goodly number of old friends were present to pay their last mark of respect to one who had lived so long in our midst. Rev. Burkholder conducted the services at the house and grave.

Mrs. A. B. Smith was taken ill on Saturday with an attack of acute indigestion, but with prompt attention we are happy to say that she is now out of danger.

We are to have in Caledon before long something quite out of the ordinary in an Old Maids or Spinsters Convention. This Convention has been a great success in a number of places and we are looking forward to a pleasant and jolly evening.

A Bad Case

Eczema All Over His Body—His Legs—His Arms Covered

John Clark of Brookville, N. B., crowds a story of great suffering into a few words.

"I was tormented beyond words. I could not sleep. You could not put a pin on my whole body. I tried several doctors. They said it was scrofula. Three dollar bottles of D. D. D. is all I used. I have not had a sore for five months."

Each week we are selecting a letter from some Canadian sufferer to show what can be done to itching, burning skin disease by the clear, purifying liquid wash, D. D. D.

Stop that itch today. You are not asked to use D. D. D. for weeks before you receive results. If you don't get relief from the very first bottle we hand your money back. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.
